ORLANDO GREENFIELD'S LAST CHANCE.

What is Viewed as an Effort to Break Down the New Evidence in his Favor.

OSWEGO, Nov. 16.—Dewitt C. Bartley, hotel keeper at Richland Station, Oswego County, was arrested and brought to this city last evening by a Deputy U. S. Marshal, on a warrant charging that he had sold liquor without a Government license. He was taken before U. S. Commissioner Perry, but, owing to the summary character of the arrest and the lateness of the hour, was unable to give bail and was committed. This is here alleged to be the initial movement in breaking down the affidavits recently made by about a dozen persons in the eastern part of Oswego County with respect to confessions by Royal Kellogg that himself, Alden Kellogg and George Hines killed Alice Greenfield, of which crime Nathan Greenfield stands convicted, and under sentence to be hanged on Dec. 12.

Bartley made affidavit that he acted as janitor and assistant to F. S. Lowe, late Sheriff of Oswego County, from about March, 1877, to June, 1878, at the Court House and jail in Pulaski; that in the fall of 1877 George Hines, Alden Kellogg and Royal Kellogg were for a long time confined in the jail at Pulaski for the alleged offence of having murdered Alice Greenfield; that Royal and Alden Kellogg were held to trial, and in default of bail were confined in Pulaski jail to await the action of the Grand Jury; that George Hines was during that time confined in the same cell with Kellogg under an indictment for burglary, grand larceny, and robbery; and while Alden and Royal Kellogg were confined together with Hines in the same cell he (deponent) heard a conversation between Royal and Alden Kellogg and Hines, and in the language following:

George Hines said: "Royal, you were a fool to write that letter from Michigan to the Sheriff admitting the murder of Alice Greenfield, and I am afraid we shall all hang for it."

Royal said: "I knew I was a fool for writing it, but I did not want to have an innocent man hung for our crime." Royal then added: "If I was a fool for writing that letter, you, Hines and Alden, were greater fools for delivering up Orlando's gun to Huntington and Reynolds for money. That gun matter is stronger evidence against us than the letter."

Alden Kellogg then said: "Hines, you and Royal were still greater fools for killing her, and we should not have done it had we not been drunk. We must not quarrel, but stand by each other, and we shall come out all right yet, because Lamoree says we never shall be indicted, and as he is District Attorney he can and will defend us."

The deponent says this conversation was all held in a very low tone between 11 and 12 P. M. in darkness; that there was no noise, and he (deponent) stood at the door of the cell, where he could not be seen, and heard the above conversation.

The news of the arrest has made another sensation, adding a new feature to the Greenfield case. Bartley having been viewed as a man of good standing, it is charged that the arrest was made at this time to cast suspicion on him and weaken his affidavit.

MIXED RESULTS IN BUFFALO.

In a Lively Quarrel as to Who Shall Be Superintendent of the Poor.

BUFFALO, Nov. 16.—Charles W. Fuller of the town of Lancaster was the Republican candidate for Superintendent of the Poor of Erie County at the late election, and was elected by over 4,000 majority. On the morning of election day the following appeared in the Buffalo Courier, Democratic newspaper:

Charles W. Fuller, the Republican candidate for Superintendent of the Poor, because of his being a Supervisor of the town of Lancaster, is ineligible to the office for which he is nominated, under the laws of the State of New York.

All votes cast for him are null and void.

In the Revised Statutes, chap. 9, title 4, article 1, sec. 22, occurs the following:

No Supervisor of any town, or County Treasurer, shall be appointed to hold the office of Superintendent of the Poor in any county in this state.

This law was passed in 1824, and has not been repealed. Mr. Fuller and his friends were not aware of it until the above appeared in the Courier, when it was too late to put another man on the ticket, and therefore he was voted for all over the county. It is admitted that he is ineligible. But Louis Fritz, the Democratic candidate, was, and is now also a member of the Board of Supervisors from the city of Buffalo. He, however, demands the office on the ground that his case is not embraced in the language "no Supervisor of any town," &c. Mr. Adams, the Greenback candidate, holds that both Fuller and Fritz are ineligible, and that he is elected, and he proposes to endeavor to enforce his claim to the office. Republicans hold that the office will become vacant on the first of January next, and that Gov. Cornell will have to appoint, and that Mr. Fuller will be the man.

Wanted, $10,000 Damages.

FARMINGDALE, N. J., Nov. 16.—A suit has been begun in the Monmouth Circuit Court by Dr. S. Johnson of Ocean Grove against Wm. W. Conover of Red Bank, charging the latter with slander, and claiming $10,000 damages. It is alleged that on Thursday of last week Dr. Johnson was approached in a crowded car of the New York and Long Branch Railroad by Mr. Conover, who said: "There stands a — — thief. You stole $700 from me," and added other offensive remarks. A passenger exclaimed, "Why, it's Dr. Johnson!" and Mr. Conover, exasperated, continued: "Yes, he's a pretty doctor; he'd kill a man for fifty cents or a dollar." Dr. Johnson once recovered $700 from Mr. Conover, alleged to have been paid to the latter as bribe money on votes discounted under conditions which were subsequently to the transaction declared illegal.

In a slander suit against Mr. Conover the late Daniel Bray recovered $5,000 some five or six years ago.
