THE OPEN BOARD TROUBLES.

The President and Treasurer of the New Stock Exchange Expelled.

The Open Board of Brokers held another special meeting yesterday relative to its difficulties with its President, Geo. W. McLean; Treasurer D. O. Wotherspoon, and the Chairman of its Finance Committee, J. Moses. At the last meeting, held on Monday, a resolution was adopted directing that a committee be appointed to wait on the officers mentioned, and request their resignations, on the ground that they had forfeited the esteem and confidence of the members. Mr. Miller of the committee reported that they had waited upon Mr. Moses, and presented him with a copy of the resolutions adopted. Mr. Moses said he would consider the matter. A copy of the resolutions was also presented to Mr. Wotherspoon, who vouchsafed no reply. The committee was unable to find President McLean, but left a copy with Mr. Wotherspoon, who promised to forward it to Mr. McLean. The Executive Committee reported that they had taken the cases of the officers in hand in their capacity as members. The three gentlemen had been served with notices to appear before the committee and show cause why they should not be expelled. Mr. Moses had appeared and endeavored to explain matters.

Mr. Wotherspoon sent word that he was indisposed on account of the hot weather, and sent his lawyer, whom the committee refused to recognize. He was not so seriously indisposed, the committee reported, but that he was able to write and send the committee a note, which arrived about half an hour after his lawyer had departed. In it he requested that certain moneys due him from the Board in his capacity of Treasurer be remitted to him at once.

Mr. McLean did not answer the service of the notice, and he and Mr. Wotherspoon were therefore summarily expelled. Mr. Moses's case will be continued. The Executive Committee was directed to take legal steps necessary to recover the funds and other property of the Board from its alleged delinquent officers, and a meeting was called for Monday, June 28, to elect officers in place of the deposed President and Treasurer.

MISSING SILAS BOONE.

Sympathy for the Wife of the Accused Deputy Revenue Collector.

Search is still being made for Silas T. Boone, late Deputy Collector of the Internal Revenue Department in Brooklyn under James Freeland, but the officers who have the warrant for his arrest on a charge of embezzling $19,000 from the Government do not expect to find him soon. It is believed by some that he took a steamer for Savannah, which sailed yesterday. His brother, who is an officer of the steamer, was at Silas Boone's residence, in Fourteenth street, Brooklyn, on Monday night, after Mr. Boone had been informed that if he did not produce the $19,008 in revenue stamps, which were still unaccounted for, the next morning, he would be arrested. Another clue points to his having gone to Boston, and both points have been covered. The question now to be determined is whether Mr. Boone committed the alleged embezzlement before or after the death of James Freeland, as upon this hinges the liability of Mr. Freeland's bondsmen for the amount of the deficiency. It is well settled that Mr. Boone was short of the stamps in January last, and that since that time he has escaped detection by clever deception.

Mrs. Agnes Boone, the fugitive's wife, is a refined lady, whose condition has elicited much sympathy. It is believed that she was in ignorance of the accusation of crime against her husband until the deputy marshal appeared at her house with a warrant for his arrest. When she learned this she fainted. Mrs. Boone is in ill health and has four children under ten years of age. She was left in needy condition, and Mr. Freeland, who is a bachelor, borrowed, a Wall street broker, who accidentally met her, made up a purse of $100 for her. Mr. Boone's bondsmen, Albert Daggett and Henry M. Birkett, will be called upon at once for $10,000, the amount of their bond, and if it is discovered that the alleged misappropriation occurred before Mr. Freeland's death, then the Freeland estate will be obliged to meet the rest of the claim.

Burned to the Water's Edge.

The Southern steamship City of New York, in which fire started at Roberts's stores, Brooklyn, on Wednesday evening, burned to the water's edge and went down in the East River about 300 feet from the pier yesterday morning. Her smokestack remained out of water for some time, but was at length carried away by the tide. Efforts are to be made to raise the hull, but F. Alexandre & Sons, the agents of the line, say that it is probably not worth rebuilding. The vessel was valued at $150,000, and the agents said that the loss is fully covered by insurance in foreign companies. About half the cargo had been taken out, but $40,000 worth of vanilla beans that had been on board the steamer at New York, and afterwards taken to Brooklyn by orders of the Custom House officers, were destroyed. The agents criticise the behavior of the firemen on board the destroyed steamer, saying that they did not arrive until an hour after the fire started, and went away while tugs were putting streams into the hold. The agents deny that the City of New York was an extra vessel, but Mr. F. Alexandre will sail for Europe next week to purchase or charter an iron steamship.

James Follet Joyce.

Mr. James Follet Joyce, a prominent member of the Produce and Butter and Cheese Exchanges, died on Wednesday afternoon from having fallen from a window of the second story of his residence, 8 East Seventy-fourth street, into the yard. His spine was broken by striking against the iron frame of the basement awning. Mr. Joyce was the originator of retail tea companies in New York. He established the Empire Tea and Tea Company, and hired a Chinaman, in costume, who spoke English, to assist as salesman. The Chinaman was Quimbo Aupo, who subsequently passed several years in Sing Sing for murdering his wife, and is again there for killing a man who struck him during a gambling dispute. In 1867 he joined J. Howe & Co. in the butter and cheese business at 102 Broad street. Howe subsequently retired, and the firm became Joyce & Billings, as at present. Mr. Joyce held a controlling interest in the business at 81 Catharine street until five years ago. He leaves three sons and two daughters, all grown.

Suicide at Seventy.

At noon yesterday E. S. Mendel, Sr., one of the firm of E. S. Mendel, Jr., & Co., bankers and brokers at 15 Wall street, New York, and 778 Broad street, Newark, shot himself in the right temple with a revolver. He had been for ten years suffering from a complication of diseases, and in the past four years gave little attention to his business. Yesterday at breakfast he was in high spirits, and afterward he went to his son's office, in Newark, where he chatted pleasantly on various topics. At 11:30 o'clock he returned to his house, 184 Clinton avenue, after wishing his son a pleasant excursion to Sheepshead Bay. He went to his bedroom, where half an hour later his wife found him sitting dead in an armchair. The revolver lay on the carpet near him. He had a happy home, and it is not known that he had any serious business trouble. He was 70 years old, and leaves a wife and seven children. He was born in Holland.

Twelve Days Without Food.

A few days ago the engineer of a freight train on the Pennsylvania Railroad saw a man lying in a cluster of bushes near the track between Elizabeth and New Brunswick. The man was in a terrible condition, and his body was so emaciated that he was a mere skeleton. He was taken to St. Barnabas's Hospital, in Newark, where he lay in a critical condition yesterday afternoon. His name is Terrence McKelvey, and he told the Matron of the hospital that he was taken ill while walking from Philadelphia, and that he crawled into the bushes to rest. He became so weak that he could not call or even shout for assistance, and he had been twelve days without food when he was discovered by the engineer. Dr. Mercer, the Superintendent of the hospital, said he thinks the man cannot live.

A Story Told of a Priest.

At the trial of Patrick Dillon, the keeper of a liquor saloon in Cottage street, Bergen Point, N. J., on Wednesday afternoon, for violating the Excise law, an amusing story was related by the witnesses. On Sunday afternoon last Father Kileen, the parish priest at Bayonne and Bergen Point, heard loud talking and laughter in Dillon's saloon. He entered through the side door, and discovered the proprietor and a party of friends drinking at the bar. When the revelers saw the priest they ran into a rear room, leaving him in sole sun of the premises. The priest had a heavy umbrella in his hand, and with it he proceeded to break every glass and bottle and decanter in the saloon. Then he went and made a complaint against Dillon. The defendant was fined $20 for selling liquor on Sunday.

A Cruel Joke.

At Manhattan Beach, on Sunday last, a gentleman with limited cash and plenty of hungry friends took a seat at dinner with his friends at the table of a first-class hotel. A Paterson, N. J., joker, sitting at the same table, had deuteronomy placed a bill of fare of a third-rate restaurant before the young man, who, noting the low prices, ordered liberally. A scene ensued at the close of the meal, for in place of twenty cents for a beef steak $1.50 was charged, and other things in proportion. How the matter was settled the joker did not wait to learn.

Killing Thirty-six Snakes.

Thirty-one blacksnakes, three racers, and two rattlesnakes were recently driven by the heat of a bonfire at Beckertown, N. J., from their home in the rocks near by, and all of them were captured and killed. Some were five feet in length.

BEGGING HER WAY HOME.

Emma Androvette, who Eloped with Dr. Hunter of Hoboken and was Deserted.

Miss Emma Androvette, aged 22, the daughter of Cornelius Androvette, a well-to-do carpenter of Huguenot, Staten Island, who some months ago eloped from Hoboken, N. J., with Dr. William Hunter, who left a wife and several children, has returned to her father's home. Miss Androvette made the acquaintance of Dr. Hunter some two years ago, when he was a practising physician in Tottenville. When Dr. Hunter removed from that place to Hoboken, Miss Androvette continued to visit his house. It was supposed that she went to see Mrs. Hunter, and she was not suspected, up to the day of the elopement, of having improper relations with the Doctor. The couple on running away took passage on the steamship Bermuda, registering themselves as Mr. and Mrs. Huntington. The day before the ship's arrival at Bermuda the Doctor, in signing the paper complimenting the officers of the vessel, forgot himself and wrote "Dr. William Hunter." Some of the passengers then showed him newspapers containing accounts of his elopement. The Doctor during the rest of the voyage kept to his stateroom.

About a month ago Mr. Androvette received a letter from his daughter, dated Cuba, saying that Dr. Hunter had deserted her, leaving her in destitute circumstances, and asking for money to pay her passage home. Mr. Androvette, believing that the letter was a ruse of Dr. Hunter's to get money, and that it was written at his dictation, refused to send the money. He was not a little surprised by his daughter arriving home on Saturday night last. She told her father that she had been compelled to beg her way home.

Mrs. Hunter, who is living in New Jersey with her children, occasionally visits friends on Staten Island. She is studying to obtain a diploma to practise medicine. Dr. Hunter's whereabouts are unknown.

Columbia Yacht Club Race.

The thirteenth annual race of the Columbia Yacht Club was sailed yesterday, and proved a great success. There was a fine breeze from the westward, and the pretty craft made quick time over the course, which was from off the club house, Eighty-sixth street, North River, to Yonkers and return. The judges were Benjamin Weaver, R. P. Griffin, and S. N. Simpson. The start, finish, elapsed and corrected times are appended:

College Boys at Cricket.

Yesterday a match at cricket took place in Hoboken between an eleven of the St. George Club and a team captained by Mr. Duncan of Princeton College. The latter, not being able to collect a full college team, were assisted by players of Columbia College, St. Paul's School, &c. The St. Georges went to the bat first and scored 111 runs, of which young Giles made 48 and Conover 17. Clarke bring bowled for 8. The Princeton team then went in and scored 59, Allen, Eyre, and Vaughn scoring double figures. Duncan led in the bowling, and Giles in the field. The second inning was begun, but before it could be finished the time arrived for drawing stumps.

Superintendent Dudley to be Indicted.

The Grand Jury concluded yesterday its investigation as to Mayor Cooper's charges against Superintendent Henry J. Dudley of the Department of Buildings, ordering an indictment for malfeasance in office against Superintendent Dudley and Deputy Superintendent Robert McGinnis. Many witnesses, including Mayor Cooper, were examined. Many more were ready, it is understood, to testify, but Foreman Selden B. Wales, believing that the Grand Jury had secured sufficient evidence to justify indictment, returned a long list of witnesses to the District Attorney's office, and summarily closed the investigation. The indictment will probably be ready by Monday.

An Accident to the Hoosac Tunnel.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., June 24.—This morning about 1 o'clock, in the Hoosac Tunnel, the timbers and upper flooring of the central shaft, which was used to keep loose stones from falling, gave way, precipitating a large quantity of timber and such fragments of rock as had collected on the floor in the past five years. Luckily workmen were not near it, and no trains passing at the time. Trains were delayed about four hours until the rubbish was removed from the track. There was naturally great excitement over the reports, and all sorts of exaggerated stories were circulated. There is no damage done, as the removing of the flooring was about to be made.
