KILLED BY A SINGLE BLOW.

AN UNOFFENDING MAN MURDERED IN A BILLIARD SALOON.

A Drunken Man, Without Provocation and Giving No Warning, Beats a Player at Table a Fatal Blow With a Heavy Cue.

Thomas H. Jones, aged 21, while playing a game of pool in Henry Dombrowski's liquor saloon, at 307 Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon, was struck over the head with a billiard cue and killed by John J. Dwyer, a drunken plasterer, with whom he had not exchanged a word. Dwyer, who was a stranger to Jones, had been on a frolic, and a few minutes before entering the saloon he tried to quarrel with some men in the street. He staggered into the saloon just as Jones and George Seccomb, aged 21, of 500 State street, ordered something to drink at the bar. These two men had finished playing a game of pool, and had ordered some soda water as Dwyer came alongside of them.

"I'll take whiskey," Dwyer said with a hiccough, but no one paid attention to him.

He repeated the words, and the barkeeper told him that he had no whiskey for him.

Messrs. Jones and Seccomb, having finished drinking their soda water, went back to the billiard room to resume their game. Dwyer followed them, and, going up to Jones, said, "I'm a sucker, am I?" Jones, it is said, made no reply, and, turning away, endeavored to avoid Dwyer, who seemed too drunk to be wholly responsible. Dwyer, evidently angered at failing to get an expected drink of whiskey, staggered over to the cue rack, and, seizing a cue weighing eighteen ounces, with a big butt, he returned with the small end in his hand. Although so intoxicated that he staggered, Dwyer concealed his purpose so cleverly that Jones had no chance to escape. Raising the cue, Dwyer swung it with terrific force against the back of Jones's head. Jones fell to the floor insensible, and he died within ten minutes. The billiard cue was split by the blow.

Jones was murdered so quickly that the other men who were in the saloon had no opportunity to interfere. Seccomb ran toward him as he fell, but Dwyer raised the cue and endeavored to strike Seccomb also. Seccomb then ran out of the saloon in search of a policeman, while Dwyer stood near his victim, holding the splintered cue in his hand and staring about in a stupid way, as though wholly unconscious of his terrible deed.

The news of the murder spread rapidly in the neighborhood, causing intense excitement. When the crowd began to surge into the saloon Dwyer seemed to realize that he was the object of pursuit, and as soon as a policeman touched him he offered desperate resistance. He kicked Sergeant John Eason and struck out right and left with great force. He proved to be unusually strong, but Policemen McCormack and Riley at length overpowered him without using their clubs upon him. He was taken to the Washington street police station. He was too much intoxicated to give his name and pedigree. Henry Dombrowski, his wife Mary Dombrowski, and George Seccomb were held as witnesses. They all agree that the murder was wholly unprovoked, and say they believe that Jones never saw Dwyer before he entered the saloon, and that he did not speak to Dwyer. Jones's father is a weigher in Front street, this city, and lives in Howard avenue, East New York. Jones lived with his parents, and had no regular employment, although recently he drove a milk wagon. Dwyer, who is 27 years of age, was a plasterer, at 337 Degraw street, Brooklyn. Jones's body was removed to the Morgue, and a post-mortem examination was ordered by Coroner Simms. It is thought that the blow fractured the skull.

THE HOME TEAM DEFEATED.

A Victory for the Worcesters Yesterday, for which the Umpire was Largely Responsible.

The League Club of Worcester, with their noted pitcher Richmond, fresh from victories over the Troy, Boston, and Providence teams, reached town yesterday, and in the afternoon played their first match with the Metropolitan team, at the polo grounds, in the presence of over 1,000 persons. The visitors were in excellent form for play, and they presented a formidable field for the Metropolitans to cope with, successful as the latter were with the Nationals. The New York team were out in their strength, and it was expected that they would at least keep their opponents' score down to small figures, if they could not punish the noted college pitcher. Unluckily, however, for their chances for success, they committed several damaging fielding errors in the first two innings, the cost of which was the giving to their opponents a winning lead of 5 to 1 at the end of the second innings. The trouble began with an erroneous decision of the umpire in declaring a foul tip ball "one strike," which error gave the visitors a chance to score two runs, instead of drawing a blank, which they otherwise would have done. In this second inning wild throwing let in two out of the three additional runs scored, the Metropolitans becoming "rattled" in this inning. After the game was practically lost the visitors took things easy, and the Metropolitans played better, but they were unable to do more than add two single runs to their score in the last seven innings, one of which was earned by a four-base hit by Walker. The Worcesters also added two singles to their score in the last seven innings, and so kept even with the home team. Only one of the seven runs scored by the Worcesters was earned off Daly's pitching. Two fine catches were made by Kennedy, but both he and Brady surprised their friends by each dropping a fly ball. The catching of Beasley and the short field play by Nelson, together with a good catch by Clinton, were noteworthy features of the home team's fielding. On the other side not an error was chargeable to the Worcesters's fielders, except in the case of Bushong's poor throwing. In pitching respects his catching was excellent. Had Daly had the fine field support which Richmond received, the score of the match would have been 1 to 1 only.

To-day the two nines play on the Union Grounds, Brooklyn, the New York field being devoted to polo. They play on the polo grounds, however, on Wednesday and Thursday. The score of the match is as follows:

CRICKET AND BASE BALL NOTES.

The only other games reported yesterday in which a League team participated was that at Washington, in which the Nationals were again defeated by the Clevelands by the appended score:

Cleveland	0	2	4	0	0	0	0	—6
National	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	—1

Darkness stopped play at the end of the sixth inning. The Clevelands play the Metropolitans at the polo grounds on Monday next.

The Providence team was disbanded on Saturday, and some of their players were at the polo grounds yesterday.

The Oxford Cricket Club of Philadelphia will visit Staten Island to-day to play the first eleven of the Staten Island Club.

The Second District Justiceship.

It is expected that Edgar M. Cullen will be nominated at the Democratic Judiciary Convention, which is to be held in the Kings County Court House to-day to select a Supreme Court Justice to succeed Justice Erastus Cooke. Winchester Britton, who was conspicuous as a candidate, was yesterday said to be out of the race. The county delegates to the Convention have various candidates among them, being J. Lawrence Smith of Suffolk County, Benj. M. Dowling of Queens County, and E. F. Brown of Orange County. The Second Judicial District comprises Kings, Queens, Richmond, Westchester, Putnam, Dutchess, Orange, Rockland, and Suffolk Counties.

Two Daughters Disinherited.

The will of Dr. J. Sullivan Thorne, the aged Brooklyn physician who died on Sept. 1 in Brooklyn, was yesterday offered for probate in the Kings County Surrogate's office. He leaves $1,000 to the Long Island College Hospital, $1,000 to the Church Charity Foundation, and $1,000 to the Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum. One-third of the remainder of his estate is given to his widow, and the rest goes to his daughters Elizabeth and Louise. Two married daughters, however, are disinherited, and a contest has been begun in their behalf.

Sitting on a Log.

In the Warren Court of Inquiry yesterday Major Vanderbilt Allen, former y of the Engineer Corps, testified that he was on Gen. Sheridan's staff at the battle of Five Forks. At one time he saw Gen. Warren in conversation with Gen. Sheridan, and on another occasion, being sent in search of the former, he found him sitting on a log.

Gen. Hancock's Visitors.

Gen. Hancock was visited yesterday by Gen. Averill, Ethan A. Allen of North Carolina, the Rev. J. R. Hooker of Virginia, Police Justice Duffy of this city, and Gen. Beauregard. The latter is thick set, of medium height, with gray hair and a white moustache.

Yellow Fever in Havana.

HAVANA, Oct. 4.—There were fourteen deaths from yellow fever and eight from small-pox in Havana during the week ended last Friday. During the month of September there were seventy-eight deaths from yellow fever.

FAILURE IN THE LINEN TRADE.

The Long Established House of David Douglass & Co. Compelled to Make an Assignment.

The failure of David Douglass & Co., importers of linens at 91 Franklin street, one of the oldest houses in the trade, was announced yesterday. David and William Douglass, who are the firm, made an assignment, without preference, to William Whiteside. The failure was a surprise to the general trade, but their competitors in the linen trade knew that their business had gradually fallen off. Ten years ago they could have retired worth $250,000. Since then the whole linen trade has changed, and the importers' business has been largely taken away by the manufacturers themselves, who have agencies in this country for the sale of their goods. While many importers added other lines to the trade, Douglass & Co. kept on in their old way, and were cut into by their competitors. The firm had been in business thirty years and was regarded as one of the most upright and honorable houses in the trade. Mr. Whiteside took possession of the store yesterday, and it was closed. He could give no statement of the condition of the firm.

From John J. Adams, attorney for the firm, it is learned that the acceptances of the firm went to protest yesterday in London. He said that the liabilities were about $100,000, and he thought the good assets would amount to about $70,000 or $80,000. All the liabilities were abroad in England, Ireland, and Scotland, and nothing was due in this city.

Pork Packing Establishments Burned.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 4.—The extensive pork packing establishment and slaughter house of Foss & Homer, at Canton, adjoining the city limits, was burned this afternoon with all its contents, consisting of a large stock of meat. The fire communicated to the pork packing establishment of Paul Gable, adjoining, which was also destroyed, with its contents. The damage to Foss & Homer is estimated at $50,000, upon which there is $30,400 insurance. The damage to Paul Gable is estimated at $20,000; insured for $9,800.
