GREENE COUNTY'S PATRIOTISM.

Rousing Meetings in the Catskills—A Forecast by Col. Frederick A. Conkling.

CATSKILL, Oct. 9.—The political contest is carried on throughout this county of Greene with great energy, and the energy seems to be for the most part on the Hancock side. The Republicans appear to be disheartened and cast down, while the Democrats are full of vigor and hope.

I have just returned from a meeting which was held last evening at Gothic Hall, in Windham, twenty-six miles from here, which was one of the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in the county. The spacious building was packed to its utmost capacity, many eager listeners standing for hours. Milo C. Osborn, Esq., the popular and energetic member of the Democratic State Committee from this Congressional district, presided, and gracefully introduced the speakers. The meeting embraced both parties. Many came in from a distance, in buggies, carriages, and wagons, with single, double, and quadruple teams, and seats arranged for ten or twelve persons, including the ladies, who seemed to be the more earnest and enthusiastic part of the audience. Many venerable gray heads mingled with the gay colors of the ladies' bonnets. There was a band of music, and the intelligence and worth, as well as the beauty, of the village and surrounding country graced the seats and platform, which was profusely decorated with American flags.

The first speaker introduced was the Hon. Eugene Raymond, the able and learned District Attorney for this county, who has declined a renomination. His law partner, George H. Jones, is nominated as his successor. He made a few well chosen and courteous remarks, preferring to leave the time to the speakers from a distance.

The Chairman then introduced Col. Frederick A. Conkling, who spoke an hour with remarkable force and eloquence, addressing himself more particularly to his old companions in arms and in the Republican ranks, many of whom were present and joined in the generous applause.

The next speaker was the Hon. William E. Robinson of Brooklyn, who spoke an hour and a half with even more than his accustomed fervor and impressiveness. His speech called forth frequent and enthusiastic outbursts of applause. In the event of his nomination for Congress, the best wishes of his numerous friends in Greene County will go with him in his canvass. At the close of the meeting an old and honored leader of the unterrified Democracy of Greene expressed his regret that these distinguished speakers, who so admirably supplement each other, could not be heard in every county in the State before the 2d of November next.

Similar meetings have been held in the county at Athens, New Baltimore, Greenville, Durham, Ashland, Prattsville, Jewett, Cairo, and Catskill. The meetings are more largely attended than usual, and the number of hickory poles and banners raised for Hancock and English is larger than was ever known before. I think by Monday evening next the dispute about the member of Congress from this district will be amicably settled.

Col. Conkling has been doing great good throughout the county. He has driven around to the numerous beautiful and prosperous villages sleeping between these hills and mountains, where he is well and, it need not be added, favorably known, addressing meetings and conferring with the leading citizens. He has thoroughly posted himself on the canvass, and he predicts that the majority for Hancock in this county will be at least 1,200. If it falls below that it will be attributable to want of honest work or over-confidence of success. He predicts that the Hancock majority in this Congressional district, composed of the counties of Greene, Schoharie, and Ulster, will be from 6,000 to 5,500, at all events larger by some hundreds than usual, unless the Hancock men are lulled into neglect by too brilliant hopes and too little opposition. He thinks the increase will be sure to come from the number of soldiers who fought in the war with Hancock, and who are with him now, and from the number of Republicans who are disgusted with the candidates and principles, if principles there be, in their own party.

Michael Davitt's Reception.

At the Irish Land League meeting yesterday a committee, consisting of Messrs. Breslin and Connolly, was appointed to receive Mr. Michael Davitt, who is expected here from Ireland next Saturday. It was decided that no meeting of the central body should take place to receive him, but that the various ward organizations should invite him to speak at their respective headquarters. It was said he expects to pass only a week in New York, and then proceed elsewhere to make speeches.

Wanted—Females.
