STEAMSHIPS IN COLLISION.

Crashing Into Each Other on a Clear Night in Halifax Harbor—Mistaken Signals.

HALIFAX, Jan. 25.—As the steamship Widdrington, Briggs master, from New Orleans for Hamburg, was going out of the harbor last night, she was run into, when off George's Island, by the steamship Canima, McLarren master (chartered by the Cromwell line), which was just coming in from New York. From statements made by those on board both vessels, the accident seems to have been the result of mistaken signals. Capt. McLarren says that when coming abreast of George's Island he saw the Widdrington right ahead. The Canima was then as close to the island as it was safe to go, and he thought that the Widdrington would pass her on the Halifax side, but just then she gave two whistles, which is the recognized signal of an intention to go to starboard. The Canima answered with two whistles, announcing her intention to also go to starboard and allow the Widdrington to take the side of the channel next to the island. As the Canima was coming up slowly she did not answer her helm quickly, but just as she came about the Widdrington had quickly rounded to port and lay right across their track. The Canima reversed her engines and ported her helm, but before she could lose her headway she ran into the Widdrington about amidships. The Canima rebounded astern and the Widdrington was forced obliquely toward the city shore, going into the gas company's wharf. The opinion on board the Canima is that the Widdrington ported after giving the signal to starboard. The Canima had no room to port, she was so close to the island.

Capt. Biggs of the Widdrington says that he blew his whistles continually after sighting the Canima, three miles distant, showing a red flag, and when nearing George's Island kept his helm aport. The night was clear and beautiful. The Canima, when abreast of the island, suddenly showed her green light, and the Widdrington then reversed at full speed. The latter kept aport as close to the Lumber Yard Buoy as possible, and was stopped when the Canima struck her. The pilot then starboarded his helm. The Canima struck her just abaft the fore rigging, rebounded, came ahead again, and struck her a second time just abaft the main rigging. She then backed off and asked if she had done any damage. Capt. Biggs says the Canima did not make any signal by whistling, while he was whistling continually. He said that there was plenty of room for the Canima to go between him and the island, and that the cause of the collision was the Canima starboarding her helm.

The Canima had her stern twisted and a few bow plates started, but beyond this sustained no very serious damage. The Widdrington ran into the gas wharf with a crash that might have been heard half a mile off. She was found with her bow two or three yards into the wharf and had settled aground her entire length. The decks were covered amidship, and were entirely covered at high water. All the perishable fixtures in the cabin and elsewhere are seriously damaged, but the extent of the damage to the vessel it was impossible to ascertain. The cargo, loaded at New Orleans, consisted of 65,000 bushels of Indian corn and 754 bales of cotton. As the vessel is full of water the corn will be totally damaged. The cotton is the most valuable part of the cargo, being worth about £9 a bale.

The Widdrington is of 1,327 tons register and 1,581 gross tonnage. She is twelve months old, was built at Newcastle-on-Tyne, and is owned by W. Johnson of North Shields. She is worth about £30,000 sterling.

PIGEON SHOOTING.

J. Brewer's Three Successive Victories in the Dexter Park Tournament.

Contestants from various parts of the country participated in the opening of a three days' pigeon shooting tournament given by Charles E. Dexter, at Dexter Park, yesterday. The weather was favorable for the shooters, and the shooting throughout the day was remarkably fine, especially that of J. Brewer of Philadelphia. Mr. Brewer entered into three different contests, and he carried off the three main prizes by killing 40 out of the 41 birds that he fired at.

The first contest was at 10 single birds each; 25 yards rise, 80 yards boundary. There were eleven shooters. J. Brewer and W. Wynn each killed 10 birds straight. In shooting off the tie at 3 birds each Mr. Brewer secured the prize by killing his first and second, while Mr. Wynn failed to kill the two birds that he shot at. Five of the competitors had each other for the second prize, with 9 birds killed. On settling the ties at 3 birds each H. Smith and E. H. Madison each killed three and divided the prize. Dr. Bowen Talbot killed 8 birds and took third prize. The fourth prize was divided between J. Lancake and F. Cornell, each having killed 7 birds.

The second contest was at 7 pairs of birds each; 21 yards rise, 100 yards boundary. Eleven marksmen again faced the trap. Mr. Brewer knocked over pair after pair of birds in rapid succession, making a score of 14, and winning the first prize. C. Hance, R. Robinson, and W. Wynn each killed 12 birds, and shared the second prize. Dr. Talbot again took third money, with 11 killed. H. Smith and G. Duryea killed 10 birds each, and divided fourth money.

The last contest of the day was a sweepstakes at 10 single birds each, 25 yards rise. This brought out thirteen contestants. Five crack shots made a tie for the first prize, with 9 killed. In declining the tie at 3 birds each, Mr. Brewer again came to the front, killing all of his birds, and winning first money. Four men were on even terms for the second prize, with 8 killed. In shooting the tie off Mr. Wynn won an easy victory, killing 4 birds straight. A. Eddy and G. Duryea divided third money, with a score of 8 each. W. Selover killed 4 birds, and was awarded fourth prize.

A CRAFT THAT MAKES TROUBLE.

The Water-logged Hulk which has been the Cause of Many Alarms.

Months ago a ship called the City of Montreal, owned by Allan & Co. of Glasgow, sprung a leak while in midocean, and was deserted by her crew, who escaped in a jolly boat and were rescued before any lives were lost. The ship was laden with lumber, and although waterlogged will not sink, but floats about and is every now and then sighted. The result of this has been a variety of alarming rumors. Some weeks ago a three-masted schooner reported passing a wreck on whose stern port the words "City of Montre—" were plainly visible. At this time the Roman line steamer City of Rome and Thomas Durham & Co.'s ship of the same name were both on the high seas, and great anxiety was felt by those interested in the vessels, until they both arrived safely in port. Then it was discovered that it was the water-logged craft belonging to Glasgow which had created so much anxiety. A week or two later another vessel arrived with the information that the City of Montreal was wrecked. Again there was considerable anxiety until the safe arrivals of the unfortunate namesakes. Since then half a dozen reports have come in, and newspaper reporters have been sent in hot haste from one firm to another to see what City of Montreal was really wrecked. Only yesterday the Park William Gordon, from Rotterdam, reported that she left in ballast and abandoned a derelict ship on which were the letters "City of Montre—," and, as usual, there was much anxiety until it was discovered that it was the same water-logged hulk that has already caused so much trouble. The United States ship-of-war Yantic is even now on her way to hunt up the old hulk, having been ordered on the quest by the Government, as the result of the alarming rumors.

Mr. Sherman's Views on the Funding Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The Senate Committee on Finance this morning heard Secretary Sherman on the Funding bill. He took the position that it should be amended so as to make the funding bonds redeemable after five years, and payable in twenty years, from the date of issue, and to bear interest at a rate not exceeding 3½ per cent., the rate to be fixed in the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury. He expressed the opinion, however, that the Treasury funding certificates proposed by the bill, which he thought should be described as Treasury notes, can be floated at 3 per cent. interest, without change in the House provision for their redemption, at any time after one year from their respective dates of issue. In response to an inquiry whether or not, in his opinion, the bonds could be floated at 3 per cent. their term be fixed at thirty years without an option or earlier redemption, he replied that he was not prepared to answer that question.

The Pennsylvania Lynchers Alarmed.

EASTON, Jan. 25.—It is certain that those who took part in the lynching of the man Snyder, who murdered the Gocle family on the night of Dec. 26, will very soon find themselves in an unpleasant position. The effects of the murdered couple were sold on the premises on Friday last, and the Court has ordered the constable of the township not to allow anything to be removed until the premises have been inspected by the Grand Jury. The evidence of Detective Yohe, who will be called before the Grand Jury, and who was present at the lynching to prevent the beating, must necessarily implicate many prominent citizens, and some of them are in a high state of excitement.

A Pilot Carried Off to Sea.

QUEBEC, Jan. 25.—Couillard, the pilot, who took down the barbarine Farewell last fall, and was carried away by her to sea, has returned home. He says it was his being so late in reaching Quebec that caused him that he was unable to leave. The vessel was encountered heavy weather in the Gulf. On Dec. 14 Couillard was transferred to the barentine Royally from Leith for St. Thomas, where he landed, and arrived home via Porto Rico and Havana.

The Senate's Right to Make Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The point of order was some weeks ago raised in the House against several appropriation bills passed by the Senate, that the Senate had no right to originate such bills. The question was referred to the Judiciary Committee. That committee today decided that, while the Senate could not originate bills for the raising of revenue, it could originate bills for the appropriation of public money.
