TELEGRAPH CONTRACTS.

Judge Blatchford on Points in the French Cable Company's Suit.

The prayer for an injunction in the suit of the French Cable Company against the American Union, the Atlantic and Pacific, and the Western Union Telegraph Companies and the Union Trust Company, and for the appointment of a receiver of the property of the American Union Company pending the suit, was argued before Judge Blatchford, in the United States Circuit Court, yesterday morning. The French Company cites in its complaint a contract between it and the American Union Company for telegraphic facilities, and asks that the latter company be restrained from delivering, in pursuance of the agreement of consolidation of Jan. 19, any or all of its property to the Western Union Company, and that the Western Union be restrained from receiving the same.

Mr. Delafield, for the plaintiff, presented a rebutting affidavit of Paul de Cambourg, agent for the French line, who denies that the line had any arrangement or contract with the Western Union or any other company except the American Union. He also denies the statement of Norvin Green that the agreements made between the Western Union and the Anglo-American Cable Company, and the Atlantic and Pacific Company and the Direct Cable Company were not exclusive. He says that he never informed Gen. Eckert that the French Cable Company desired to discharge the operators in the office of the American Union Company in New York, and to bring out operators from London to take their places.

Mr. Everett P. Wheeler, for the defendants, said that the contract between the French company and the American Union was destitute of mutuality. He did not think the court could enjoin the American Union from making another telegraph connection, or not doing what the French Company might do.

Mr. Da Costa, for the plaintiff, said that it was not possible that the Western Union would carry out the three exclusive cable contracts.

Judge Blatchford said that the Western Union did not pretend that it was going to carry out three exclusive contracts.

Mr. Wheeler—That's what we state. All messages received over the Atlantic and Pacific line will be delivered to the Direct Cable Company, and all over the American Union line to the French Cable.

Mr. Da Costa—Are they lines of the Western Union?

Mr. Wheeler—They are.

Mr. Da Costa—Then how are you going to keep the contract with the American Cable and Telegraph Company?

Judge Blatchford—They do not pretend that they are going to give everything to Jay Gould's company, and afterward give you something.

Mr. Da Costa—Then the contract cannot possibly be fulfilled.

Judge Blatchford—If there is any conflict in the performance of the contracts, you are prior in time and entitled to the preference.

Mr. Da Costa—Then if our premises are right our conclusions must be right, and there can be no harm in an injunction.

Judge Blatchford—There may be no harm in some injunction.

Closing arguments were made by Mr. Swayne for the telegraph companies, and by Mr. Choate for the French company.

Judge Blatchford announced that if counsel would be in court this morning he would have something to say.

Chief Judge Sedgwick, in the Superior Court yesterday, gave a hearing to Mr. Robert Sewell for the plaintiff, and ex-Judge Porter for the defendants, upon settlement of the proposed order to be entered upon his decision on the motion to continue the injunction in the suit of W. S. Williams against the Western Union Telegraph Company, its directors, and the Union Trust Company. Ex-Judge Porter then asked the Court that the defendants be allowed to give bonds in any amount the Court might name to indemnify the plaintiff for any damages he might sustain in lieu of the injunction being continued restraining the issue of the $15,000,000 stock.

Chief Judge Sedgwick refused to entertain the application, and reserved his decision as to the settlement of the order.

STUCK IN THE QUICKSANDS.

The German Bark Auguste, with a $20,000 Cargo, Fast on the Romer Shoals.

The German bark Auguste, Capt. H. Hilmer, which stranded on the Romer Shoals in the lower bay in Monday's fog, will, it is feared, prove a total wreck. The sea was calm yesterday, and if it continues so to-day the wrecking company has a slight hope of pulling her off.

The Auguste struck on quicksands, and has sunk into them. She draws fourteen feet of water, but over her side the water was only nine feet deep yesterday. The sand closing in about her holds her fast. She left Bremerhaven on Dec. 15 and arrived in the lower bay on Monday. On account of the dense fog the Captain hired a tug to take him to a safe anchorage. In the fog the tug mistook the buoys and pulled the Auguste upon the shoals. There was a high sea running, and it was impossible to get near her until yesterday.

Her position was very dangerous until the sea moderated. A part of her general cargo was thrown overboard to reach a great mass of kieserit and chlorkalium (chemical salts), which was in her hold. A large quantity of these salts was thrown overboard.

Yesterday a lighter was fastened alongside and the work of transferring the cargo was begun. She had then three and a half feet of water in her hold.

The Auguste is of 920 tons burden and is owned by Schwoon & Co. of Bremerhaven. She was built in Baltimore in 1851, and was formerly known as the Annapolis. Her value is about $20,000. She carried an unusually valuable cargo for a sailing vessel, it being worth at least $20,000. It consisted of 250 tons of kieserit, 900 bags of chlorkalium, several hundred crates of crockery, empty bottles, glycerine, chicory, slate pencils, and marbles. The principal consignees are A. Klipstein, Bawo & Dotter, Th. Allesheim, Alfred Bergman & Co., Bernard Budde, George Parsons, L. Somborn & Co., and Geisenheimer & Co.

Her owners lost a similar vessel, the Melchoir, at Senhrlicht, in the great storm of April 29, 1880. The Auguste is said to be insured in Europe and the cargo in this city.

The schooner Carrie S. Webb, coming into port with sugar and molasses, ran aground yesterday forenoon on Romer Shoals, sprung aleak, and shortly afterward sank.

Sympathy for a Sailor Man.

Policeman McArthur arraigned before Justice Flammer, in the Yorkville Police Court yesterday, Alexander St. Clair, a jolly-looking tar, whom he had arrested for intoxication:

"I found him sitting in a chair on Canal street near Hudson," said the policeman. "He was so drunk that he could not see. Some people had placed him in the chair, and were fanning him when I arrived."

"You don't mean to say," queried the Justice, "that there is such a society which provides chairs for drunken people?"

"Oh, no. They thought that he had heart disease. Somebody wanted me to take a pillow for him to rest on at the station house."

St. Clair said that he had just arrived in this city from London, having had a twenty-five day's passage. One of the passengers treated him to brandy. He had often taken larger doses at home without being overcome. He was discharged.

The Funeral of Thomas Delano.

The funeral of Mr. Thomas Delano of Morrissania took place yesterday from the Episcopal Church of the Holy Communion, the pastor, the Rev. Henry Mottet, and the Rev. Mr. Hull of Morrissania officiating. The interment was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Delano died at the age of 75 years. He was a son of Jesse Delano, who took out the first patent in this country for iron safes, and continued in the business for fifty years. Jesse Delano died thirteen years ago. His son was in partnership with him but retired in 1860. The deceased man was once a Captain of the Fourth Company of the old Twenty-seventh Regiment, which was merged in 1847 into the present Seventh Regiment. Col. Morgan, its commander, was present at the funeral, together with Capt. Wm. H. Rabiet of the Fourth Company of Veterans. Mr. Delano left two sons. Two venerable brothers also survive him.

A Magistrate Accused of Malfeasance.

LANSINGBURGH, N. Y., March 2.—About three weeks ago it was openly charged that Edwin R. Smith, a Justice of the Peace of this village, was guilty of malfeasance in office. The Taxpayers' Association employed George L. Sims, an expert, to examine Smith's books.

To-day Mr. Sims appeared before Justice Jennyss in Troy and procured a warrant for Smith's arrest on a charge of failing to make a proper return of fines collected, and also for appropriating the moneys so collected to his own use. The accused magistrate will be arrested to-morrow morning. Smith was a candidate for reelection on the Republican ticket. Yesterday, although the town is overwhelmingly Republican, he was defeated. His examination will take place before Justice Jennyss to-morrow morning.

Verdict Against the New York Central.

The third trial of the suit of Fanny Semel, as administratrix, against the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company, to recover damages for the loss of her husband, Louis Semel, who was killed three years ago at Fordham, took place yesterday in the Court of Common Pleas before Judge Beach, and resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff for the full statutory limit of $5,000.

Mr. Semel, who was about to cross the railroad track at the station, stopped to allow a down train to pass, and then started to go to the other side as the last car passed him. He was struck by an up train, which it is claimed it was impossible for him to have seen, as the other train cut off the view. A judgment for $5,000 on the first trial was reversed, and on the second trial the jury disagreed.

Wrecks on the Newfoundland Coast.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., March 2.—A severe storm of rain and wind has been raging in the Canadian provinces since Monday evening. The shipping has been greatly damaged along the coast, and a great number of vessels have been delayed in port by the storm. It has been ascertained that the three-masted schooner Irving G. Hall, hence to Cape Breton, was lost with all her crew, nine in number, at Flower Cove, on Feb. 3. The schooner Rome drifted from her moorings and became a total wreck. Every boat in the harbor was destroyed in the gale, which was the worst for sixty years. It is feared that the brigantines Margaret and Blanche, hence to ports in the Mediterranean, have been lost with all hands. They have been sixty days out.

CAVERLY'S SURPRISE.

The Unexpected Meeting of an Abandoned Wife and her Recreant Husband.

Mrs. Mary Caverly, aged 22, a delicate-looking woman, dressed in threadbare garments, and bearing an infant in her arms, applied at the Bergen street police station, in Brooklyn, on Tuesday night, for lodgings. She said that she had lost her home because she could not pay the rent, and that she had been deserted by her husband, John Caverly. He went away, she said, eight months ago, and since that time she had not heard a word from him. She told the story of her poverty with tears, and said that she expected the next day to apply for admission to the alms house. She was shown to the lodging room, where she went to sleep.

About 2 o'clock yesterday morning she was awakened by the doorman, who told her that she was wanted down stairs. Picking her sleeping infant up tenderly, she went below. Sergeant Metcalf, who had sent for her, asked her if she knew a rough-looking man who stood at the railing.

"Yes," she exclaimed. "That is my husband."

"My God!" exclaimed the man, "what are you doing here?"

"You drove me here," said the wife, "by abandoning me."

The man, who had applied for lodgings, gave the name of John Caverly, and said that he was a hatter, who had come from Newark searching for work. Remembering the woman's pitiful story, the Sergeant asked him whether he was married or single. He said that he was single, and then the Sergeant determined to bring him face to face with his wife. Caverly kissed his child, but refused to explain his conduct to his wife. He upbraided her. Acting under the Sergeant's advice, she made a complaint of abandonment against him. Caverly said that he didn't want to live with his wife any more, and that, while he expected to send her money when he went away, he was unable to get any work. He was locked up for the night, and yesterday Justice Bloom held him for examination. The commissioners of Charities and Correction took charge of the wife and child.

Cavalier St. Raymond.

An excited man flourishing a pistol on the Twenty-third street station of the Ninth avenue elevated railroad, caused a crowd to collect yesterday morning. Policeman Schmidt arrested him. Under his arm was the costume of a Spanish cavalier. In the Jefferson Market Police Court he said he was Gen. St. Raymond, an officer of the French steamship Magenta. On the preceding evening he attended the Mardi Gras masquerade ball in Metropolitan Concert Hall. He was getting over its effects when arrested. Justice Flammer fined him $5.

Set Free to Work for his Wife.

Judge McCue yesterday ordered the discharge from Raymond street jail of Charles Edward Drake, who was committed to the jail on Nov. 19 last for contempt of court in failing to pay alimony and counsel fee to his wife in her divorce suit. Drake is an engineer, and was attached to Henry Breevoort's yacht. He said that he was utterly without means, and that he could not earn anything while in jail. He promised to work to pay his wife alimony.

Murdered by her Divorced Husband.

GALVESTON, March 2.—Last night, just as the Momus procession was passing the "English Kitchen," two shots rang out, and Mrs. Elizabeth Percival, proprietress of the Kitchen, fell, shot through the lung and mortally wounded by her divorced husband, Richard Stevens. The latter acknowledged to the police that he had gone to the place with the deliberate intention of killing his former wife.

RACE OF THE CHAMPIONS.
ROWELL, O'LEARY, ALBERT, VAUGHN, in
SIX-DAY GO-AS-YOU-PLEASE RACES,
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, MARCH 7 to 12, 1881.
This is a test race between America and England, Daniel O'Leary (ex-champion of the world) competing against Henry Vaughn (England's acknowledged champion walker) in a 142-hour walking race; Charles Rowell, champion of the world, will compete against James Albert (the Unknown) in a week's run. As these men are the leaders of their respective styles, a great race is assured, and the best time on record will, without doubt, be beaten. The doors will be thrown open at 9 o'clock, when a grand sacred concert will be held.
