BASE BALL.

The Signal Defeat of the Worcesters by the Metropolitan Team.

The Worcester League team, with their noted college pitcher, Richmond, arrived in town yesterday, and in the afternoon entered upon their first contest of the season, they having had no preliminary field practice, as their own grounds have been covered with snow. Despite this fact, however, they were very sanguine of "getting away" with the local team, the strength of which they very mistakenly underestimated. The weather being favorable there was a very good attendance, over 600 persons witnessing the contest. The Metropolitans went to the bat first, and they punished Richmond in the very first innings by scoring four first base hits and three earned runs off his pitching, and being assisted by a wide-pitched ball and a pass they added two runs to the three earned off the bat, a lead at the very start which practically gave them the game. The Worcesters could do nothing with Daly's effective pitching, and by the close of the fourth innings the totals stood at 10 to 2 in favor of the home team. Afterward the Worcesters played better, and the score of the last five innings' play of the contest was 1 to 0 in favor of the Worcesters, the last innings closing with the rather one-sided result of 10 runs to 3 in favor of the home nine. Two wild throws from third to first gave the Worcesters two of the runs they scored, as they only made five base hits in the entire game. Bushong's splendid catching and Sullivan's fine first-base play were the fielding features of the Worcesters, Brady and Ester taking the lead on the other side by their fine in-field play, while Kennedy and Clinton marked their out-fielding by beautiful running catches. The striking was very quick, and the game short, but few striking out. The two teams play their second game to-day, and the Worcesters will not be beaten so easily as they were yesterday. The umpiring was very good, and there was no "kicking" by the Worcesters, as there was by the Detroit team. The full score is appended:

PERSONATING A DETECTIVE,

And in that Capacity Falling into the Hands of an Authorized Officer.

Frank Wolf, keeper of a barroom at 26 Essex street, appeared yesterday in the Essex Market Police Court against Henry K. Moses of 21 Suffolk street, Samuel Schwartz of 389 Grand street, Solomon Moses of 118 Clinton street, Joseph Moses of 199 Broome street, and Charles Colman of 228 First avenue, whom he accused of entering his house on Saturday night and robbing him of money, clothes, and jewelry. He also charged Keeley Moses, father of the other prisoners of that name, with receiving the stolen property.

Wolf said that at about 10 o'clock on Saturday night his wife went from the barroom to their apartments in the story above, and found that they had been robbed of a ransack. While she was below but her husband was away. Wolf continued: "On Sunday afternoon Keley Moses, the father of the Moses boys, called upon me with his son Solomon and asked me to go to a saloon in Grand street. There they introduced me to Joseph Moses and told me that he was Detective Sergeant of the Police Central Office, one of the most trustworthy men on the police force. They said that they had traced my stolen property, but unfortunately one of the men implicated in the robbery was a friend of theirs. They asked me if I would be satisfied if they returned all the property except the money, I said that I would. They then told me that two men had already been arrested for the robbery, and that, if I did not appear against them to-day, within half an hour after the closing of the court all my property would be restored. I asked that it should be returned at once, and offered to put up $200 as a guarantee of my good faith. They refused.

Wolf said that when he arrived home he found Detectives Brady and Weeds there. He told them that some of the stolen property would probably be taken to his house by the men he had seen, as proof of their ability to restore all of it. Detective Brady secreted himself in Wolf's house. While he was there Solomon and Joseph Moses called, with Samuel Schwartz, and produced two purses that belonged to Wolf. The detective sprang from his hiding place and arrested the men. Keeley Moses and Chas. Colman were arrested later.

All of the prisoners were held for trial.

Tenement House Cigarmaking.

Assemblyman Cohen, who represents the Twelfth Assembly District of this city, has reintroduced into the Legislature the old bill to prohibit the manufacture of cigars in tenement houses. On Saturday last two of his colleagues, one from Cattaraugus and the other from Erie County, happened to be in this city, and Mr. Cohen took them to see seven or ten tenement houses where cigars are made. Mr. Cohen's account of this visit, Mr. Brandt, one of the senior partners of the firm of Lichtenstein Brothers & Co., said:

"Yes, that's another of those old bonds. I suppose those gentlemen from the country saw some dreadful sights. The men and women who work in our shops are subject to the rules and limit hours. In this room, where 10 persons are at work, the average floor space of 800 feet. These Assemblymen found a family of four adults and three children living in three rooms, on 10 by 12 feet and 7 feet high, and the average floor space of 800 feet, or an average of 50 square feet to each person, shadows and all, as against 500 square feet in the factory. In the factory large windows are almost continuous exposed, and the air is full of the odor. If it be necessary, we shall go to Albany, and express our Cohen's bill."

The Grand Jury Ahead.

When the Grand Jury filed into Judge Cowing's court yesterday noon, and handed up a batch of half a dozen only indictments, Judge Cowing said to them that they had dropped the consideration of prison cases last Friday to take up the street-cleaning matter, and he would suggest to them that they at least devote time enough daily to their duties to supply the two parts of the general Sessions with work. The cases in the Tombs awaiting consideration were accordingly called. The last Grand Jury, he said, had attended to 450 prison cases, and at the rate at which the present Grand Jury was working, Judge Cowing thought they would hardly dispose of fifty cases.

In less time an hour the Grand Jury filed in again, and handed up a little bundle of indictments.

"Gentlemen, you may now resume your duties," said Judge Cowing.

"Your Honor," replied the foreman, Simon Stevens, "we are now waiting for business."

"I will call the District Attorney's attention to the matter," said Judge Cowing.

"I'll see that they have plenty to do to-morrow," said Assistant District Attorney Bell.

Laudanum for Six.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE SUN—Sir: With reference to the poisoning of five gentlemen of the press in a down-town store, permit me to say that the drug store at 260 Broadway was one of my former places of business, and I am the only man of the name of Hegeman in the drug business. Please allow me to state to your readers that I am not now and since January, 1878, have not been in any way whatever connected with that store, 263 Broadway, nor is any member of the firm of Hegeman & Co. directly or indirectly, connected with it, of all the members of which firm I am the sole survivor. The persons now owning and conducting that store claim to be a "corporation," and have assumed the name of the former owners, Hegeman & Co. Respectfully,

New York, April 11. J. SYKES HEGEMAN.

A Boa Constrictor in an Ash Barrel.

A boa constrictor twelve feet long, belonging to George Peck, a showman in the Odd Fellows' Hall at Paterson, died, and was squeezed into the ash barrel in front of the hall and covered with ashes. When the ashmen undertook to empty the barrel yesterday there was a lively scampering as the snake rolled out. The ashmen ran the length of the block before stopping to look around. The crowd was equally amusing the spectators when they saw that the snake was dead, but until they were sure of it they kept at a distance.
