THE PHYSIQUE OF THE MEN.

MEASUREMENTS OF THE EIGHT WHO ARE TO WALK WITH ROWELL.

Hazael has a Little Brush with Rowell—Opinions of Peter Panchot's Backer and Others—What Rowell Says of his work.

"Yes," said Theodore Davis, backer of Peter Panchot, "the race will be the greatest ever seen. Peter and most of the others have been saying for years, 'Only give me a chance to meet Charles Rowell,' and now they have their desire."

"If they fail to beat Rowell," continued Mr. Davis, "they will have to shut up shop; there will be no excuse for them; they are all in fine condition; they are all champions; and they will have to admit that Rowell is the greatest pedestrian the world ever produced."

"I wouldn't surprise me," said Mr. Davis, finally, "if the winner is forced to make 650 miles. There undoubtedly will be at least four on the last day with big scores, crowding each other. You see they will have to make 525 miles to get a cent. Most of them have had to scrape hard to get the $1,000 entrance money. Their friends have clubbed together and put up about all the money they had. It required the joint purses of seven to get one of the men in. Of course they will do or die. It will be no amateur work. Rowell is in splendid condition. He is as fine as a greyhound."

As the time for the race draws near, sporting and betting men take a great interest in the contestants. They visit the training quarters and inspect the racers while at their work. Never were horses so carefully groomed and handled as are the pedestrians. They never walk while taking their exercise, but keep up a continual lope or trot. Their slowest gait is about 8½ miles an hour. When through with their exercise they are sponged and rubbed briskly, after which their bodies from neck to heels are anointed with oil and liniment. Rowell has imported three friends and relatives to look after his welfare. No persons, except his handlers, are allowed inside his quarters during a race.

Hughes finally decided to try his running qualities during the few days previous to the race. On Sunday he gained admission to the Rink, and ran twenty miles off the reel without a break. "I'll show the boys that I can run wid 'em," he said, while being groomed after his lonely race. He now takes a jog three or four times a day.

Mr. Albert Smith, who accompanied American pedestrians to England, and always takes a lasting interest in long distance races, visited Wood's Athletic Grounds at North Ninth and Second streets, Williamsburgh, the other day. Fitzgerald, Hazael, Vint, and Scott are training there. Mr. Smith thought well of Fitzgerald. Fitzgerald likewise took a run on Sunday morning and attended church in the afternoon. James Smith, Fitzgerald's trainer, says that his man will enter the race in as good a condition as he ever appeared for a contest. All the men exercising at Wood's are in excellent trim. He also expects to see at least four in the race reach the pinnacle of 600 miles.

While Rowell was running easily at his nine-mile gait in the Rink on Monday, Hazael appeared on the track and led Rowell for an hour, said a backer of one of the racers. Charley paid no more attention to him than a wheel would to a fly lighting on it. He knows he can down Hazael in a long run.

A friend said to Rowell: "Charley, how do you feel at the beginning of a six-day race?"

"I feel that I would like to have Saturday evening come around quickly."

"Do you ever become discouraged, and think that you will have to give up?"

"No; I am always confident that I can stand it as long as any of them."

Rowell will never mention what he has done, nor say what he thinks he can do. A gentleman who is in the ring of pedestrian backers, says that he had it on good authority that "Rowell travelled 630 miles in private before Sir John Astley sent him over in 1879. And that the reason he has not shown anything like it here is that he has never been pushed in a make-your-pace-as-you-please race."

The betting is 100 to 70 against Rowell. Mr. Peter Duryea, friend to Rowell and manager of the race, believes that the odds are not enough on Rowell, and that the chances are against him in such a field of champions. He probably knows as much about Rowell as any man connected with the race, having been with him for years, and spent months in England with him. Mr. Duryea says that he would not place any money on his man at the above figures. He has advanced $15,000 toward the expenses in Madison Square Garden. "The public can rest assured," remarked Mr. Duryea, "that everything connected with the race will be first-class. The men will have an equal show. The track will be protected by a fence on either side, trussed bridges will cross it, and no one but the men, handlers, referee, and judges will be allowed on it. Gilmore's Band will encourage the men every day of the race, and every care will be taken for the comfort of visitors, especially ladies. If the race should not prove a financial success I will at least have the satisfaction of having expended the money in a proper spirit."

Patrick Fitzgerald walks rapidly in training, with his head well forward, but with his trunk held erect. His stride is a long one. Of the competitors in the coming race he paces furthest both ways. That is to say, his feet are the biggest and his height the greatest. He measures twelve inches from toe to heel, and he stands 5 feet 10¼ inches in his training shoes. He weighs 155 pounds, which is less than Scott's avoirdupois. It is 42 inches around his chest, 22 round his thigh, 16 round his calf, and he has an ankle in keeping with his leg. He is 35 years old. In all probability he is the only man who ever gained flesh while participating in a six-day race. He gained three pounds while making the biggest score on record, 582 miles. James Smith, his trainer, says he can't explain that, but holds that it proves that Patsy did not suffer much on the track. According to this student of human endurance, it is worry, and not walking, that pulls pedestrians down.

Scott, the Cuttonian, took three spins in Wood's Athletic Grounds yesterday—one to get an appetite for dinner, another to digest his dinner, and a third with relation to his supper. He is almost as big a man as Fitzgerald. His height is 5 feet 9¼ inches, and he travels in a No. 8 shoe. He weighs 155 pounds, which is nine pounds more than Rowell, the next heaviest man. His chest measurement is 36 inches, and his calf, which contains a bunch of cast-iron muscles that protrude from the leg like a clumsy bit of padding, is 15½ inches in circumference. He is 35 years old, and carries himself as straight as a soldier, but without the ease or grace of O'Leary or Frank Hart. He looks as though he strained himself to keep erect, but he says the position is involuntary and natural. He never was in better trim.

"Little Vint," as he is called, is the shortest and lightest of the walkers, as well as the possessor of the smallest foot. He is 35 years old, stands 5 feet 3 inches on the track, and weighs 117 pounds. He is otherwise almost as well developed as the best of his rivals. His chest measures 3 feet; it takes a foot of tape to bind his calf, and his thigh is a foot and a half in circumference. He is said to be able to wear a No. 3 shoe. He leans forward when he walks, and moves with tiny little steps.

George Hazael exercised at the Athletic Grounds. He gives his age as 37. He is third in height, and stands 5 feet 6½ inches in walking dress. He weighs 152 pounds, and has a chest that measures 37 inches, an 18-inch thigh, 13-inch calf, and a No. 7 foot. It is impossible to describe his manner of walking, but it has been compared to Dundreary's celebrated personation of Bunny Mama, in the "Colleen Bawn." He assumes a more and more curious shape as a six-day walk progresses, and makes the last 100 miles with his body bent like a jackknife one-quarter closed, with one shoulder up and his head on one side. Nevertheless in this manner he has traversed 500 miles, and his friends say that he was never in better form than to-day.

As Mr. Bush has not yet been accepted as an entry, THE SUN reporter has not taken his measurements. Mr. Bush is the ambitious proprietor of a coffee and oyster saloon in the Bowery, and is training for the next match. He is desirous of a public test and acknowledgment of his speed and endurance. Until yesterday he had not obtained the $1,000 necessary to execute this wish, and yesterday he submitted to have the money covered, although he declared he had procured it. He has employed an assistant to rub him down, and he declares he will make 100 miles a day. The others say that he may make 100 miles, but they laughingly add that likely to be consumed in the making: five days beyond his estimate. For some reason, Mr. Wood, proprietor of the Athletic ground, declares he will have the pedestrians arrested if they take Mr. Bush's $1,000. A veteran trainer said that it was often a mercy to record entrance money from people who are entirely unable to lay their feet. He instanced the case of a lady who tried to employ man after man as trainer. Perceiving that Waide was determined, the others told Happy Jack Smith he might as well take the German in hand, since he no doubt would have to. Happy Jack did so, and served him faithfully, but before the Germania ale drinker was through he took him home to wife well-to-do, and his experience cost over $200.

Frank Hart, the colored champion, has got his pluck, and only needs to get the signatures of the other 39 men to be entered. It is said that he can be accepted. Rowell, Noremac, and Panchot have signed his petition, and too at least are said to have decided not to join the others. Nevertheless Hart, who is in good form, takes a spin of fifteen or twenty miles a day in order to be prepared for the best.

Hazael, the star of the contest, never looked better than he does now. He is next to the youngest man in the race. He is only 26 years old, stands 5 feet 6 in his Mackinaw's, and weighs 152 pounds. His chest measures 37 inches and his thigh measures 22 inches, and he has the biggest thigh and calf in the profession. His calf measures 15½ inches and his thigh 23 inches. He has done his wonderful walking in No. 8 shoes. He made the sawdust fly for an hour or more yesterday morning, and spun off another string of miles in the afternoon. He has three assistants, who take as much care of him as a racehorse of the first order obtains, and after precisely the same methods.

Rowell's trainers learned yesterday that John Sullivan, who has been training at Saratoga, where he lives, had his jaw broken by a vigorous dentist, who had been employed only to remove a tooth. It was reported that Sullivan telegraphed these facts and asked his friends in Saratoga to have his entrance money returned to him. Sullivan is the youngest of the racers. He is 25 years old. He is 5 feet 4 inches high, weighs 125 pounds, and packs the tanbark with a pair of number sixes. He has a chest that measures 37 inches, and stout calves and thighs, measuring 14 and 19 inches respectively.

Panchot practised at the Rink twice yesterday. He is no longer the thin and angular country post boy that he was when he first entered the lists. He has rounded out and filled in, and looks better in actual and body, though he says his development has been in muscles and not flesh. He is the oldest man in the lists. He is 5 feet 4¾ inches tall, weighs 126 pounds, and treads in Indian moccasins, which, when compared with a No. 7 shoe, are found to be of the same length. Panchot's chest measures 33 inches, his thigh 17½ inches, and his calf 13 inches.

George D. Noremac feels so confident that he willingly signed Frank Hart's plea for admission. He is training earnestly, and wins praise from his rivals. He is 28 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall, and weighs 148 pounds, or only one pound more than Vint. He walks in No. 6 shoes, has a 13-inch calf, 18-inch thigh, and a 35-inch chest.

There is not apparent one weak member of the band of walkers. The friends and some of the competitors of Hughes "the lopper" claim that he is maligned by reports of his mental uneasiness and lack of interest in the race. It is said that he never felt, walked, or acted better. He has given some of the others trouble to beat his flying while exercising. Hughes is 34 years old, 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighs 149 pounds, and does his leaping in a number 9 shoe, with a 13½-inch calf and a 19-inch thigh.

Troy's Eleven-Year-Old Girl Thief.

TROY, Feb. 22.—Mamie Hays, the eleven-year-old thief who rifled a safe in thirty of $38, besides committing other thefts, and who accused a respectable West Troy young woman of complicity, made a full confession last night, admitting that she alone was responsible for the robberies. Before confessing, she threw some stolen articles in the area of the residence of the young woman whom she accused, and then caused the owners of the stolen property to be notified that it could be recovered at that woman's house. The girls had persuaded, as she says, by showing the articles in the area by Police Justice Grogan. When the young thief learned this she confessed all. At her home a large quantity of jewelry and other articles stolen from various stores has been found.

Parricide in Massachusetts.

WORCESTER, Feb. 22.—On Wednesday last Solomon Richardson of Charlton, a well-to-do farmer, was reported as having been fatally wounded by the accidental discharge of a gun while he was riding on a load of logs with his son and a neighbor named Allen. He died on Friday, and was buried on Sunday. Today the son confessed that he had shot his father, intending to kill him, and to throw the blame upon Allen, who was in charge of our order. He says that he had carried the gun for two days awaiting a favorable opportunity to shoot his father, and fired while Allen's back was turned.

Stabbed to Death by her Husband.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 22.—Two months ago Delia McGraw eloped with and married Victor Eloi. The cruel treatment of her husband drove the wife to seek employment as nurse, and yesterday, while passing Alvez Mansion, where she had lodged her employer's child, she encountered her husband, who, after exchanging a few words with her, plunged a dirk into her breast, killing her. The murderer was arrested and imprisoned.

Killed by her Divorced Husband.

MOORHEAD, Minn., Feb. 22.—Mrs. Tallif Hansen was shot and killed by her husband yesterday, from whom she had procured a divorce on the ground of cruel treatment. Hansen then made a weak attempt to kill himself, but will recover.
