PLEADING FOR LEIGHTON.

Judge Daniels Withholds Decision as to the Granting of a New Trial.

A motion for a new trial in the case of Augustus D. Leighton, sentenced to be hanged on Friday next for the murder of Mary Deane, was made before Judge Daniels in the Supreme Court yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Leighton had been brought from the Tombs under a writ issued by Judge Donohue, and listened to the arguments. Col. Spencer and Mr. Quarles appeared for the prisoner, and District Attorney McKeon and his assistant, Mr. Vincent, argued against the motion. But few were in the court room. Leighton, freshly shaved and neatly dressed, wearing a blue scarf about his Piccadilly collar, appeared grave and interested, but not disturbed. A number of his friends and acquaintances were present, and pressed forward to shake hands with him at the conclusion of the hearing.

Mr. Quarles, who is a colored man, addressed the Court, submitting two affidavits, which, he claimed, afforded new and material evidence. One of these was from Thomas Simmons, a sleeping car conductor, who affirmed that at the time of the murder he saw the woman strike the prisoner with a heavy curling iron. Leighton's counsel argued that this blow constituted a motive for his assault, and that he took the woman's life in the heat of passion. Counsel for the State argued that this was not new evidence, that Leighton in his own testimony had spoken of the blow with the curling iron, and that Judge Brady in his charge had assumed, according to the evidence, that this blow and the fatal blow by the prisoner were simultaneous. The second affidavit was by a man recently liberated from the Penitentiary, and was similar to the first. Several affidavits were presented bearing witness to the good character of Simmons.

Judge Daniels took the papers, and said he would render decision as soon as possible.

Made Ill by a Scratch from a Rose Thorn.

Funeral services for Allen J. Cuming were conducted in the Church of the Ascension yesterday by the rector, the Rev. E. W. Donald, assisted by the Rev. Drs. Morgan and Rylance. The interment was in Trinity Cemetery. Mr. Cuming was a Pearl street merchant, and a son of the late Thomas B. Cuming. He lived at 72 West Eleventh street. On Sunday, April 30, while arranging a bouquet he scratched his thumb with a thorn upon a rosebud stem. His hand and arm became swollen, and erysipelas in an aggravated form followed. While he was still suffering from this, an attack of pneumonia and pleurisy carried him off. The physicians believe that the blood poisoning consequent upon the scratch from the thorn, contributed to the fatal aggravation of the other diseases. Mr. Cuming leaves a wife and four children. He was treasurer of St. Marks's Chapel, and of the Midnight Mission.

Tracing Spurious Theatre Tickets.

Several persons who were arrested at Haverly's Fifth Avenue Theatre on Sunday night, April 30, for offering counterfeit tickets of admission to the sacred concert, told Police Captain Williams that they had bought their tickets of Adolph Nanum, an upholsterer and dealer in theatre tickets at 237 Sixth avenue. Nanum was arrested, and said he had bought nine dozen tickets of admission to the family circle, which he supposed to be genuine, from a man whom he described. On Sunday morning last at 2 o'clock Detective Schmitt, burger arrested Hugh McEvoy of 110 Greenwich avenue, whom Nanum identified. McEvoy said, at Jefferson Market yesterday, that he had bought the tickets of an employee of the theatre. He was held in default of $500.

Mrs. Duffy's Goat.

John S. Bacon, an employee of the Street Cleaning Department, residing at Riverside, bought a goat on May 8 of a woman living in East Eighty-eighth street. He paid $6 for the animal, and was told to catch it in the street. With the help of an expressman named Angevine he caught a goat, which proved to be not the one paid for, but one belonging to Alice Duffy of 109 East Eighty-eighth street. On learning of the mistake Bacon called on Mrs. Duffy, paid her $5, and told her she might have the other goat that he had paid for. Then she obtained a warrant charging him with stealing the animal. He was arraigned before Justice White, in the Harlem Police Court, yesterday. When he told his story the Justice discharged him.

The Funeral of Hugh Reilly.

Hugh Reilly, brother of ex-Sheriff Bernard Reilly and ex-Alderman John Reilly, was buried yesterday from St. Gabriel's Roman Catholic Church in East Thirty-seventh street. The requiem mass was celebrated by Father O'Gorman of the Church of St. Rose de Lima, and Fathers Mohahon and Brennan. Many politicians and public men were present. Among them were Register Docharty, ex-Senator John Fox, Aldermen Sauer, McAvoy, Keenan, Brady, and Kennedy, ex-Judge Duffy, Peter Gillespie, John H. Harnett, W. H. Maloney, Edward P. Hogan, and John Pyne. The interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

Capt. Berghold's Club Goes to Law.

On Saturday the Tattersalls Turf Club obtained a temporary injunction from Judge Truax, restraining the police from interfering, by arresting its members, with the business of the club, which is alleged to be the encouragement of hunting, fishing, and kindred lawful sports. This is the club that Police Captain Berghold joined by paying $1 entrance fee, and whose auctioneer he arrested for selling pools on horse races. Corporation Counsel Whitney will ask to have the injunction vacated.

Martin's Great Scheme.

A man who signed himself Richard Martin wrote to Inspector Esterbrook of the Bureau of Buildings last week that he had laid before Mayor Grace a scheme to tear down all the tenements in the city, and rebuild them of porcelain, with all the modern improvements, as his own funds were not sufficient, he asked permission to print paper money, backed by the city's credit, to pay for the work. His letter was returned with directions to apply at the Bloomingdale asylum in business hours.

A Little More Steel for the Bridge.

The Edge Moor Iron Company having finished its contract for a bridge over the Shoalhaven River, in New South Wales, the engineers of the East River Bridge hope that the steel for that structure will come now at more frequent intervals. A cargo was received on Saturday, and President Murphy yesterday learned that 100 tons more would be delivered to-morrow or Thursday.

Two Centuries Old.

The old Harrison pear tree has again blossomed. It was planted in 1726 by a member of the Harrison family. It stands on the south side of Newton creek, east of the West Jersey Railroad crossing.
