A NOTED FIRM DISSOLVED.

Mr. Hutchinson and his Partners Agree to a Separation—A New Firm Organized.

William J. Hutchinson, who was expelled from the Stock Exchange, began a suit in the Supreme Court recently to dissolve the partnership existing between himself and Elihu C. Mitchell, George H. Brouwer, and George W. McGown. Justice Haight appointed United States Commissioner Lyman to take testimony regarding the firm's business, and to examine its books. Mr. Hutchinson's complaint alleges that the capital of the firm was $175,000, of which he contributed $100,000, and each of the partners $25,000; that the articles of copartnership prescribed that none of the partners should draw more than $4,000 from the firm in any year, and that, contrary to this agreement, Brouwer drew out $43,000, McGown $7,500, and Mitchell $5,000. Mr. Hutchinson further alleges that these overdrafts have impaired the capital stock of the firm, and that he cannot safely proceed with the business.

The defendants deny that they have overdrawn their accounts to the extent alleged in the complaint, but admit the existence of speculative accounts in the names of individual parties, through the medium of which the firm is carrying its stock. They also say that a personal hostility exists between the plaintiff and John R. Duff, who has an account with the firm showing an indebtedness of $500,000, for which the firm had as collateral security 11,000 shares of Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad stock, and that the plaintiff's real purpose in this suit is to crush Duff by a sale of his stock through a receiver.

The counsel for both plaintiff and defendants appeared before the referee yesterday. The defendants' counsel said that as Mr. Duff had sold his stocks he would no longer contest the plaintiff's right to a dissolution of the partnership, and, after further conference between the counsel, a formal paper dissolving the partnership on the 13th inst. was executed by the several members of the firm.

Mr. Hutchinson visited his office in the United Bank building on Wednesday for the first time since his expulsion from the Stock Exchange. He was accompanied by an accountant, and together they looked over the books of the firm. He had no conversation with any of the members of the firm. Mr. Brouwer said yesterday that they had been carrying for Mr. Duff 6,000 shares of Hannibal and St. Joseph at 55. This stock had now been taken off their hands at 42, and they were at liberty to dissolve the partnership. The accounts not liquidated by the 13th, the date set for dissolution, will go before the referee, and all the other capital of the firm will be placed with the United States Trust Company, subject to the order of the receiver. A new firm, under the title of Mitchell, Brouwer & Co., will begin business to-day, Messrs. Mitchell, Brouwer, and McGown being until Sept. 13 members of the two firms.

Nebraska Greenback State Convention.

LINCOLN, Sept. 7.—The Greenback State Convention finished their labors this morning. The nomination of the State ticket was deferred, and placed in the hands of a committee of thirty-five, who are to meet and confer with the State Anti-Monopoly Convention at Hastings on the 27th inst., with a view to combining all opposition to the Republican and Democratic parties. The Convention took strong grounds in favor of the submission of a prohibition amendment; against national banks; in favor of a Government currency to be full legal tender, embracing gold, silver, and paper; declared railways public thoroughfares belonging to the State and nation, and that they should be regulated; that land grants are a wrong to the landless millions and a curse to the country; against the appointing powers of the Government, and for the election of all important officers by a direct vote; declaring that labor when combined is entitled to the same protection of law as combined capital. Only about fifty delegates were present.

Alderman Jones's Delays.

Justice Barnard yesterday denied the motion to open the default taken against Alderman Harry O. Jones, in the suit of the city of Brooklyn and the Board of Education for $250,000 for money alleged to have been stolen by his brother-in-law, G. A. W. Stuart, the fugitive ex-secretary of the Board, and to have been shared by him. The Justice, in his opinion, says that Jones was given every reasonable opportunity to prepare for trial. He obtained two adjournments amounting to nearly six weeks, and then failed to show the trial Judge any cause for further postponement. The cost of preparation for trial was very great, and the defendant was bound to make great efforts to be ready. In this it seems that he has failed, and the Justice adds that a possible question of his good faith in the present application is justified from the proceedings. It is probable that an appeal will be taken to the General Term.

The Fire at Swampscott.

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—A large amount of silverware and other articles were stolen from the Ocean House at Swampscott during the fire last night. A colored waiter at the hotel rescued two young children, who were sleeping in one of the rooms. After the fire was under good headway there was an explosion of gasoline, but no one was injured. The Blaney cottage was set on fire in four places, and there were evidences in the lower portion showing that previous attempts had been made to fire the cottage. Mr. Blaney's loss will amount to $8,000. The Ocean House furniture was valued at $15,000.
