MISS M'LEAN JUMPS LIKE A BIRD.

Mr. Barwick Says she was not Sorry but Glad when their Troth was Broken.

Mr. Barwick was cross-examined yesterday in his suit to recover $10,000 from Miss McLean for breach of promise of marriage before Referee John Croak at 229 Broadway. He heaved a long, deep sigh and looked steadfastly at Miss McLean as he began his testimony. He said that Miss McLean had not told the truth about what she said on the Sunday evening when, when they quarrelled and the engagement was broken on account of her introducing a Mr. Hamilton as her cousin when he was not her cousin. She testified that she said it was all a joke. What she did say was that her relations with Mr. Hamilton were well understood between themselves. The witness had believed that Mr. Hamilton was Miss McLean's cousin until he learned from Mr. Hamilton himself that such was not the case. The two men were on the boat to return to New York city, but Mr. Barwick returned to Miss McLean and told her what he had learned.

"Did you jump up from the sofa, as Miss McLean says you did, and say twice, 'Then our engagement is at an end?'"

"No, I said no such thing." She said it. She had offered to return to me her engagement ring before that evening. She refused that evening to marry me, and it was not I, as she says, who said, 'I refuse to marry you.'"

Miss McL. an says she was very sorrowful on that evening. Is that true?"

Counsel for Miss McLean objected to the question because Mr. Barwick was not an expert. Question not permitted.

"What was her condition?" pursued Mr. Barwick's counsel.

"She was glad and excited because she had broken the engagement. 'My heart is cold like ice,' she said, 'and I should think you would have noticed it long ago if you had wanted to.' She carried on and jumped wildly." (Miss McLean burst out laughing.)

"How high did Miss McLean jump?" asked her counsel.

"About a foot. She jumped several times."

"An English foot or a German foot?"

"Twelve inches anyway. Two or three times she jumped out into the middle of the room, just like a bird."

"Just like a magpie?"

"I overrule the magpie," said the referee.

"Well, your honor, a magpie is the only bird which jumps in that way; an Irish magpie, anyway."

"I object. This question is irrelevant, ambiguous, and redundant."

"Well, did she jump as high on the third jump as she did on the first jump?"

"I did not measure the jumps. She threw up her arms as though she was going to fly like a bird," said the witness.

The testimony on both sides was declared to be all in, and to-morrow was set down for the arguments.

MR. WHITNEY AND THE POLICE.

Whatever Aid he Wants for Suppressing Crime he will Compel them to Give.

Mr. D. J. Whitney, Chairman of the Society for the Prevention of Crime, was summoned by Police Captain Allaire before Justice Duffy, at the Essex Market Police Court yesterday. The Court explained that Capt. Allaire brought there a letter from Mr. Whitney charging the Captain with neglect of duty.

"That's right, sir!" answered Mr. Whitney. "If you will look over that letter you will see that I notified the Captain that I had positive information about the open violation of the law in his precinct on Sunday, the 15th inst. That letter is only one of those sent to every police Captain in the city. We don't intend to do any more police duty; we have done so too long. We will compel the police from this time forth to do their duty, and we will invoke the law wherever we find just grounds for doing so. The Police Department have insulted us and been inimical to us ever since we were organized, and from this time forth we will act independently of them.

"I want the police to understand," he continued, "that I am not under the instructions of Superintendent Walling, the Inspectors, or Commissioners, or any one else connected with the department. If these notices are not attended to I shall take the proper legal steps to enforce the law."

Capt. Allaire replied that he could prove that the information in the letter was false. Mr. Whitney replied that he had answered Justice Duffy's summons, but had not come to reply to Capt. Allaire. He desired to know in what case he had been summoned.

"None!" replied Justice Duffy. "only Capt. Allaire asked me to summon you and the persons named in your letters."

"I have made no charge in court against any one," answered Mr. Whitney, "and do not propose to answer anything here unless under compulsion."

Capt. Allaire then produced a number of saloon and hotel keepers, all accompanied by lawyers, but Justice Duffy dismissed the summonses, as Mr. Whitney said he had made no charge against any of them.

Mr. Whitney's letter to Capt. Allaire says:

I will again call your attention to the non-enforcement of the Excise laws in your precinct on this last Sunday, April 15, by you and the men under your command, which is disgraceful in the extreme. These past holes are open and frequented by the low and dangerous classes, and the people of this city look to us as a police officer and citizen to see that an immediate and vigorous enforcement of the law shall be carried out. I think, if our officers do their duty, as they profess to do, least, to outward appearance, be made a little more respectable, and these foul dens of sin and shame be compelled to close their doors at hours forbidden by law, and that this foul curse of rum shall be compelled to suspend its illegal business on the Sabbath day in your precinct. We also call attention to the following places open on the 15th of April and doing business in your precinct.

Here follows a list of places, opposite the names of which in many instances are such phrases as "a notorious place," "very bad place," "the resort of thieves," &c.

Frost, Snow, and Ice.

READING, Pa., April 25.—It is feared that the heavy frost of last night has greatly injured the fruit crop in this region. The mercury fell to several degrees below the freezing point. The snow at some places was nearly two inches deep.

PETERSBURG, Va., April 25.—This city and the adjacent counties were visited last night by severe frost, and in exposed places ice formed to a thickness of half an inch or more. It is feared that much damage has been done to fruit.

WILMINGTON, Del., April 25.—The Every Evening specials indicate no material damage to the peach crop in Delaware and Eastern Shore of Maryland by last night's frost.

The Killing of the Ward Brothers.

GRAND FORKS, D. T., April 25.—Eleven persons suspected of being connected with the murder of the Ward brothers were arrested yesterday. It is said that the Ward brothers built a shanty on the claim of a man named Bell, who was residing thereon. On returning home on Sunday Bell was driven off by the Ward boys. He then called his friends and ordered the Wards to leave, when the latter fired upon the party. The fusillade became general, and the Wards were both shot dead. A man who was with the Ward brothers made his escape and identified the men who are under arrest.

Prof. Bandelier Captured by Indians.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 25.—News has been received here that on the 19th inst. Geronimo, one of the chiefs of the Juh's Apaches, captured Prof. A. F. Bandelier of the American Archæological Institute, S. F. Balder of Tucson, and a Mexican, near the village of San Cristobal, in the State of Sonora. The Apaches took the prisoners into the mountains, and it is nearly certain that they have been murdered. Prof. Bandelier had been investigating the Indian quarries in New Mexico and Arizona for several years. His father and family live in Highland, Ill., a few miles east of St. Louis.

Chloroformed and Abducted.

TROY, April 25.—A young woman named Lulu Post, who says she lives in Kingston, N. Y., informed the police to-day that three weeks ago a New Jersey drummer named Brooks enticed her on the cars at Kingston and chloroformed her. When she regained her senses she found herself in a house of ill-repute in Troy. Brooks had disappeared, and she alleges that she was held prisoner in the house until to-day, when she escaped. The proprietor of the house and an assistant have been arrested. The girl's story is discredited.

Redemption of Internal Revenue Stamps.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has just published the regulations governing the redemption of internal revenue stamps. Check and general proprietary stamps will be redeemed at their face value, less five per cent. The blanks on which stamps are printed will be destroyed unless the claimant requests their return, in which case the word redeemed will be impressed on the check or draft, which will then be returned. Stamps will only be redeemed when presented by a bona fide owner or a duly authorized agent.

A Lagging Investigation.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Manley and Cooper of Philadelphia, who made charges against Supervising Architect Hill, to which he replied, have declined to answer him, and say they will not press their charges at this time. Messrs. Mullett and Murch, who also accused Mr. Hill, declined to appear before the investigating committee as it was organized. The vacancy in the committee caused by the resignation of Mr. Robinson will be filled next week.

Bankers Arrested for Embezzlement.

PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—George F. Work and Samuel Work of the banking firm of Work & Co., which firm had charge of the transactions of the People's Passenger Railway Company, of which George F. Work was formerly President, were arrested this afternoon on the affidavit of Charles J. Harrah, President of that company, charging them with conspiracy and embezzlement of the funds of the company. They were held in $5,000 bail for a hearing.

Iron Mills to Resume Work.

READING, Pa., April 25.—Orders were issued to-day for work to be resumed at the sheet and rolling mills of the Reading Iron Works on Monday next, after an idleness of two weeks. About five hundred persons are employed in these mills. The dissatisfied pipe mill employees have been told that they may resume work if they desire to at the old rate of wages.

THREE FERRY LEASES.

The Advantageous Terms on which the Staten Island Company's Lease was Granted.

Comptroller Campbell presented to the Sinking Fund Commissioners yesterday a report which said that the lease of the Staten Island Ferry expired last fall, and that the annual rent had been $6,979.98 for the lease and the wharf property at the foot of Whitehall street. With the report was a resolution authorizing the Comptroller to let the ferry for ten years from May 1, 1883, at the upset price of 5 per cent. of the gross receipts of the company and $10,000 a year for the wharf property. Mr. William W. MacFarland of Staten Island objected to the resolution. He said that it proposed to impose a heavy burden on the company and on the residents of Staten Island. The proposed rent would be equal to 40 per cent. of the company's net income. In his opinion a fair rental would be 7 per cent. of the gross receipts, including the wharf property.

Gen. George W. Wingate said that the ferry company's gross receipts last year were only $222,000, and the net income only $30,000. The new company had expended $500,000, and expected to spend $1,500,000 more in building up Staten Island. They could not do this if the rent of the ferry was made larger than 7 per cent. of the gross receipts.

Recorder Smyth thought that the city should be liberal with the new company, which intended to benefit Staten Island. He thought the rent of the first five years should be $7,500 a year. Mayor Edson moved that the rent for the wharf property should be $10,000 a year for the first five years. The motion was lost. An amendment was carried, and the resolution as amended was adopted.

The Commissioners then authorized the Comptroller to let the franchise of the James Slip Ferry to Long Island City for ten years from May 1, for $4,000 a year, and the franchise of the ferry from Houston street to Brooklyn for five years for $6,000 a year. They also authorize the lease of the Seventy-first Regiment Armory, at Broadway and Thirty-fifth street, for one year at $16,000.

EMPTYING A SCHOOL HOUSE.

The Children Seized with Fear After a Fire had been Extinguished.

An assistant engineer in the employ of the Department of Education visited Public School 28 on Herkimer street, Brooklyn, yesterday morning to examine the ventilators. He used a kerosene lamp near a cold-air box in the cellar, and after he went away smoke was detected coming through the ventilator on the primary floor. Miss Ella Folger, the principal of the school, at once ordered the doors between the classes to be rolled open, and the children were marched out as usual. It being about the recess hour, many of them did not know of any special cause for dismissal.

The janitress, Mrs. Stewart, who had discovered where the fire was, said that it had burned a hole in the cold-air box, extinguished it with a bucket of water. The children were summoned back to their studies, and the school was quiet again, when a man who had heard that the school house was on fire, excitedly ran into the building, exclaiming:

"Dismiss the children; the school is on fire."

Although Miss Folger and her assistants tried to announce that the fire was out, a panicky feeling had taken possession of the children, and they started pell-mell for the stairways. The alarm spread to both floors, and the stairways were soon choked with the frightened pupils. Teachers stood at the schoolroom doors, telling the children not to hurt each other, but to go out as quietly as possible, as there was no fire, and other teachers stood at various points of the exits to pick up those who fell. Thus no one was hurt.

The school is a large frame building, but is well provided with exits. The man who gave the second alarm cleared out quickly and was not seen afterward.

Hubert O. Thompson's Reply Not Satisfactory

Mayor Edson sent to the Council of Political Reform about a week ago Commissioner Thompson's reply to their charges against him, and a statement from Comptroller Campbell and an opinion of Corporation Counsel Andrews which in the main sustained the Commissioner's answer. The Mayor at that time told Commissioner Thompson that his reply was a complete and satisfactory answer to the charges.

The Council of Political Reform yesterday gave to the Mayor another document, in which they reiterate their charges, and say, that in purchasing supplies otherwise than by public letting the Commissioner paid more for coal than was paid by other city departments. They also charge that Commissioner Thompson construed the law to suit his own purposes, in giving the work of repairing sewers, pavements, and Croton water pipes to contractors without public letting. They say that the Commissioner's defence is disingenuous and full of special pleading, and add: "Our position is that when any appropriation is for a greater sum than $1,000, all the supplies thereunder must be furnished under one or more contracts at public letting, whether such contracts involve more or less than $1,000, unless in specific cases the Common Council authorize the work or supply to be otherwise done." The rest of the report urges the Mayor to thoroughly investigate the charges.

A New Automatic Car Coupler.

An exhibition of the automatic car coupler of the Excelsior Life Saving Car Coupling Company was given on Tuesday in the yard of the Erie Railroad. Among those present were Superintendent Hill of the Erie Company, Gen. Fitz John Porter, Jordan L. Mott, James F. Wenman, and George S. Prindle. Two box cars of the Lehigh Valley Railroad were fitted with the couplers. The coupling pin, which is bent, is attached to the drawhead with a ball and socket joint. When the link is forced into the drawhead the pin turns upward on its hinge until the opening in the link allows it to fall by its own weight into place again.

The cars were readily coupled, both on a straight track and on short curves. They were also coupled while both were in motion. The brakeman sometimes uncoupled the cars from the ground by raising the pin with a lever at the side of the car, and sometimes from the top of the car by a straight rod attached to a chain connected with the pin. The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has adopted the coupler.

Typhus Fever Patients.

Dr. McChesney of the Health Department discovered yesterday that Anne Lullas, another inmate of St. Stephen's Home, was suffering from typhus fever, and ordered her removal to the Riverside Hospital. Hearing that Alice Conner had been taken from the institution to her parents' lodging at 329 East Thirty-sixth street to be treated for what was supposed to be typhoid fever, he visited the patient and found that her disease was typhus fever. She also was removed to the Riverside Hospital. There are now seventeen children from the Home in the hospital. They are all doing well, and will recover. The parents of a number of other inmates of the Home also tried to take their children away, but were prevented by the Sisters in charge, who acted under instructions from the health officers.

A $6,000 Clerkship Vacant.

Charles Blackie, late Clerk of the Court of Special Sessions, who died on Monday, is to be buried to-day. His place will be filled by the Police Justices within a week. Among the candidates for the office is Mr. George M. Wood, the Mayor's Second Marshal. Mr. Wood is a son of Col. E. T. Wood, Tammany's leader in the Twenty-fourth Assembly district, and nephew of Mayor Edson. The Mayor has asked some of the Police Justices to give his vote for his nephew, and Col. Wood is actively engaged in urging the appointment. The Board of Police Justices is composed of five County Democrats, three Republicans, one Tammany Democrat, and one Independent Democrat. The salary of the clerk is $6,000 a year, and the new appointee will serve six years.

Sunday-Breaking Indictments Dismissed.

Mrs. Mary Meyer of 71 Catharine street was tried yesterday in the General Sessions on the complaint of a member of the Sunday Closing League for selling a few cents' worth of candy on Sunday, Dec. 24. Her defence was that she sold some cough drops. Judge Gildersleeve charged the jury that if they believed that the candy was intended for a medicinal use they should acquit. Without leaving their seats, they acquitted Mrs. Meyer. Assistant District Attorney Fellows, the prosecutor, then said that he had a batch of similar indictments. He moved that the ball in each instance be discharged and the indictment dismissed.
