QUARRELLING LIKE POLITICIANS.

Unpleasantness Among the Spiritualists Gathered at Lake Pleasant.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 20.—There has been great excitement among the spiritualists at Lake Pleasant to-day, growing out of the quarrel over the election of officers for the year. Notices were posted about the grounds at an early hour headed, "Let us have peace," and asking that no votes be cast for any one who approved of an aggressor on the grounds. Knots of people gathered here and there to discuss the situation, and a few industrious workers put in a little quiet "work" in behalf of their respective candidates. No one was admitted to the hall who could not show a member's ticket, and there was therefore some delay in opening.

President Joseph Beals read the call for the meeting, but the clerk had not certified to the posting of the call, and quick as a flash the excitement began with the point of order that no return had been made on the warrant, and that no election or proceedings under it were legal. A dozen persons were on their feet in a moment to speak, but the clerk quickly made his certification on the spot, and the troubled waters were smoothed for a time. The report of the Secretary, as printed, was then accepted, and a motion that it be adopted was declared carried amid some opposition, which clamored for the reading of the report. A motion to reconsider the adoption of the report was finally carried, and the clerk read the report, after which it was adopted unanimously.

The reading of the Treasurer's report next produced a scene. The Treasurer, supported by his friends, wished to read his views of last year's transactions as a part of the report, but the Chair stopped him and ordered him to give the financial statement only. Several persons opposed the order of the Chair and endeavored to get the floor. President Beals refused to recognize them. They persisted, and the Chair called on the police to quell the disturbance. An appeal was finally put on sustaining the Chair, and the President's order was overwhelmingly sustained. The financial statement was then read and adopted amid some confusion.

The balloting for officers occupied the rest of the morning. There were two tickets in the field, one representing the old Board, headed by Dr. Beals, and the other representing the opposition, including the free love element in the association. As soon as the polls were opened the balloting began in the presence of a committee agreed to by both sides, with more excitement than usually attends a political election. At 12 o'clock the polls were closed and an adjournment taken to allow the tellers to count the votes.

The afternoon meeting was not as large as that of the morning, and it proved more temperate in character. The report of the tellers showed that the old Board of officers had been reelected by about three to one. This report gave rise to another little fight, but was finally accepted, though so much time had been consumed that action on the proposed amendment to the by-laws had to be postponed.

THROUGH AN OPEN SWITCH.

Locomotive, Tender, and Cars Completely Wrecked, but No One Seriously Hurt.

BRADFORD, Pa., Aug. 23.—The brokers' express, consisting of an express and baggage car, one smoker and two coaches, loaded with passengers, ran through the switch at Red House, a small station on the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio Railroad, a few miles west of Salamanca, this morning. The accident was caused through gross carelessness, the switch having been left wide open. The train, according to the statement of T. A. Grant of this city, a passenger, was running at the rate of forty miles an hour. The engineer saw too late that the switch was open, but stuck to his post. The locomotive pounded over the ties for nearly two rods, and then jumped over a long and deep cattle guard. How it cleared the guard is a mystery. Had it come through the guard the loss of life would have been great. It was, as the details show, a most miraculous escape from an awful railroad wreck. The tender, just before reaching the culvert, broke and turned a somersault in midair, crashing into the express car, which was almost entirely demolished. The messenger, George Johnson, escaped with a slight scratch on the ankle. The baggage car was jerked out of its course, the wheels going one way and the car the other, landing right side up on the turnpike, one hundred feet from the railroad track. The trucks were forced out from under the smoker, the force of the concussion splitting the car half way down the centre. The passengers jumped wildly through the windows, carrying sash and all. One lady threw her child through an open window and made a vain attempt to follow. The car was landed on the roadway right side up. No one was badly hurt, but a scene of the wildest confusion followed. The trucks from the two coaches were also jerked out, but the cars were not tipped over. The passengers in these coaches also jumped through the windows. One lady was badly cut about the face by the broken glass. Everybody was shaken up. Several ladies fainted from excitement. The village postman was walking alongside the track when the train went off. He made the greatest jump of his life, and landed in a barbed wire fence and was severely cut. A train was sent from Salamanca and the passengers taken to their destination. Superintendent Dunbar of the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio Railroad, who was on the train, said it was one of the worst looking wrecks he had ever seen.

Woman's Work for Women in India.

CHAUTAUQUA, Aug. 23.—Joseph Cook spoke at 11 o'clock this morning on "Woman's Work for Woman in Pagan Lands." He spoke of child marriage and enforced widowhood in India, declaring that the British Government should reform these features as it had abolished the crushing of men and women under the wheels of the car of Juggernaut. If the Christian women of America, England, and Scotland should unite in memorializing the British Government to abolish these wrongs, they would do a timely and dignified act. Woman in India suffers from the neglect of the education of daughters, the arbitrariness of divorce, the coarsest and severest physical toil, infanticide, and polygamy. The British Government is responsible for more polygamy than exists in the United States. Mr. Cook pointed out as the remedies the teaching of women by female missionaries, hence for temporary assistance to women, female medical missionaries, female schools, the admission of women to university examinations, the elevation of the child marriage, the girls being taught to the whole community, native Christian helpers in abundance, and a new fashion to be set by imperial courts and the upper classes.

Meeting of Catholic Bishops.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 23.—A meeting of the Bishops of the Province of St. Louis was held yesterday at the residence of Archbishop Kendrick, for the purpose of nominating a successor to the late Bishop John McMullen of Davenport, Iowa. The Bishops present were Louis Saint Fank of Leavenworth, Kan.; John Hennessey of Dubuque, Iowa; John J. Hogan of Kansas City, Mo., and James O'Connor, Bishop of Diboona and Vicar Apostolic of Nebraska. Bishop Ryan of St. Louis was also present but had no vote, being only Coadjutor. Bishop Archbishop Kendrick presided over the meeting, which was secret, and the names of the nominees will not be made public until after they have been passed upon by the Cardinal Prefect at Rome. It is said, however, that the nominee will be either Father Brady or Father Hennessy of this city, or Father Cosgrove of Dubuque, Iowa; but this is only a rumor.

Plagiarism in the Pulpit.

NEW HAVEN, Aug. 23.—The Rev. J. B. Bonar of the Congregational church in New Milford resigned on Sunday. Mr. Bonar has been preaching, it is said, very powerful and scholarly sermons, but it has been ascertained that they were not his own, but selected entirely from printed books of sermons. Mr. Mygatt, son of the Bank Examiner, discovered the plagiarism, and on Sunday, the 19th, he brought the printed book and followed the preacher word for word. Mr. Bonar offered as an explanation and apology that his wife was in poor health and he was so pressed for time that he could not write. If he had told them in advance that the sermons were not his own he says he feared it would create dissatisfaction. His resignation was accepted.

Saved from the Gallows After Sentence.

PETERSBURG, Va., Aug. 23.—Littleton Hatchett and Oliver Hatchett, colored, father and son, charged with the murder of Moses Young in Brunswick county, some months ago, have been discharged. When first placed on trial they were convicted and sentenced to be hanged. Subsequently their counsel obtained a writ of supersedeas from the Court of Appeals staying the execution of the sentence until the records in the case had been examined, which resulted in a new trial. At the last trial they were found not guilty and acquitted, but for some cause were rearrested and remanded to jail.

Throwing Himself in Front of a Locomotive.

PORT JERVIS, Aug. 23.—At Sparrowbush, three miles from here, to-day, a man threw himself in front of an approaching train on the Erie road, and at the same time lifted his hands, as though in prayer. The locomotive did not be stopped, and ran over him, completely severing the head from the body. A card was found on the suicide's person, on which was written, "W. E. Murty, blacksmith, Bergen." Last night he tried to get a man to cut his throat.

The New Cotton Crop.

MEMPHIS, Aug. 23.—Two bales of cotton, the first of this year's crop raised in the Memphis district, were received here this morning, classed as middling, and sold at auction at 25 cents per pound. They were purchased by W. A Prince & Co., and were shipped free by railroad to Boston and Providence.

Hurricane in Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 23.—A hurricane swept through the Ottawa district last night, doing great damage to the farms, fences, and crops. In Nepean two barns were set on fire by lightning, and a man named Renshaw was instantly killed.

Forest Fires in Massachusetts.

MILFORD, Aug. 23.—The fires in the woods at South Milford have turned over hundreds of acres, and dwelling houses are now threatened. The drought has become very serious.

AMERICAN WORKINGMEN.

Third Day's Session of Delegates from the Federated Unions.

The delegates of the Federation of Organized Trades and Labor Unions of the United States and Canada met again yesterday. The Legislative Committee was instructed by resolution to devote its especial attention this year toward organizing the factory operatives of the country. F. K. Foster of Cambridge, Mass., said that this movement was intended especially to apply to the New England factories. Only by combining could the workmen defeat the practice of the employers of blacklisting any member of a trades union.

Robert Howard of Fall River said that in many factory towns the black-list system is so strictly kept up by employers that it is almost impossible for trades union operatives to obtain work when they lose a situation. In Lawrence, Mass., instances were known where officers of mill corporations watched the doors of trades union lodges and took down the names of employees who passed into the lodge rooms. Workingmen in Fall River had been afraid to be seen talking with the speaker, as he was a well-known trades unionist.

On motion of Mr. Bland of the International Cigarmakers' Union all of the delegates residing in or near this city were made a committee to solicit money for the women telegraph operators unemployed because of the strike.

Delegates Frank K. Foster, H. S. Linker, Jean Weil, George Howard, and Fred Bland were appointed a committee to revise the plan of organization.

The question of arbitration between employers and employees was discussed. Opinions were divided as to its benefit to workingmen.

A recommendation was passed urging upon unions the necessity of shortening the hours of labor to eight hours a day.

The day of opening the annual session was changed from the third Tuesday in August to the first Tuesday in October. The Federation is to meet next year at Chicago.

SHORT FRANCHISES AT AUCTION.

Mr. Adams Suggests a Remedy Against the Encroachments of Monopolies.

Charles Frederick Adams, lawyer, addressed the United States Senate Committee on Education and Labor yesterday. He said that there should be open public competition, periodically renewed, for every franchise which includes public property or private property taken for public use. This would secure the purchase of the franchise free from legislative interference, would do away with the necessity for buying up legislators, buying the press, or maintaining a lobby, or of sustaining cuthroat or pretended competition. Where there was business for only one railroad, only one would be built. The price of freight and passage on a railroad run under such a franchise would be limited by the ordinary business rules, and by the ability of the patrons of the road to pay.

There should be constitutional prohibition of any alienation of the franchises belonging to the people without adequate compensation. If we are to allow one generation after another to monopolize many of the conditions of existence we must finally be compelled to become paternal and communistic enough to stop it.

Gabriel Edmonson, carpenter, said that some of the carpenters in Government employment are not paid as well as outside carpenters.

John Rogers, stonecutter, testified that organization had increased the wages of stonecutters and improved their condition.

Edward King, type founder, testified that the trade union movement in the United States is several years behind the movement in England. In England the trades unions have got over the stage of guerrilla warfare and of petty strikes in separate shops. They have attained to that point where it is not safe for a public man to speak disrespectfully of them. "The time is rapidly approaching," Mr. King said, "when religion and morals will enter into the management of business, and boss the concern."

Mr. King was asked by the Chairman to prepare himself to answer as to what the workingmen would do in case they came into political power. The committee meets again to-day.

INVESTIGATING TWO FAILURES.

Mr. Stedman's Assignee Waiting for an Accounting from Cecil, Ward & Co.

The Sub-committee on Insolvencies of the Governing Committee of the Stock Exchange began yesterday its investigation of the affairs of E. C. Stedman & Co. and Cecil, Ward & Co. Mr. E. C. Stedman furnished the committee with the following statement of the condition of his firm when it made an assignment:

Assets—Cash on hand and cash items, $7,313.39; securities on hand and pledged for loans, $64,626.75; balances due, $19,007.48; total, $90,907.62.

Liabilities—Due banks on loans secured by collateral, $85,000; due miscellaneous creditors, $62,940.83; total, $147,940.83.

Deficiency—$27,943.21.

Mr. Stedman explained that the amount due banks had been practically paid off by sale of the securities pledged, and that a balance would accrue to the firm from the closing out of the loans. He said that this statement was made after the firm had liquidated so far as it could by forced sales prior to making the assignment. Mr. Stedman said that he had no absolute legal proof that a large part of the securities of his firm had been used without his knowledge by Cecil, Ward & Co. He knew of it only by the statements of his son and others. Securities of the value of about $30,000 belonging to the firm had been pledged with the Wall Street National Bank by Cecil, Ward & Co., with whom they had been deposited by his son as margin. Mr. Stedman has not been able to recover these securities.

Mr. Stedman said that all of his contracts in the Stock Exchange had been closed out, and that his firm, as such, owed nothing in the Exchange except a balance of about $300 to Cecil, Ward & Co., which is a balance on stock transactions borrowed by the firm outside of his son's transactions with Cecil, Ward & Co. The assignee of Stedman & Co. has not been able to complete his statement, owing to the inability of the junior partner to obtain an accounting from Cecil, Ward & Co.

Mr. George W. Cecil was also before the committee, but the investigation of his firm was not completed.

CIGARS THAT SEEMED CHEAP.

Two Complaints Against an Auction Room Heard by the Mayor.

J. F. Whitehead, a clerk for Simpson, Crawford & Simpson, complained to Mayor Edson that on Aug. 11 he bought from Joseph Young, an auctioneer at 693 Broadway, twelve boxes of cigars for $2 each, on the representation of J. Viles, assistant to Young, that they were Henry Clay cigars, and could be sold to dealers for $3; that, after he had ascertained that the cigars were not worth what he had paid, he returned them and demanded his money back, but could not get it. The auctioneer told the Mayor yesterday that he was licensed, and conducted business for one Hirsch. He was not in the store when those cigars were sold. All the cigars which he sold were consigned to Hirsch. Mr. Viles testified that he sold cigars according to the brand on the box. If the brand was false it was not his fault. He thought that the cigars which he sold to Whitehead were worth at least $3 a box.

The Mayor also heard the complaint of Charles Kalvarinski, who said that on Friday last he bought for $4.25, as he understood from the auctioneer, ten boxes of cigars, and being afterward told that the cigars were $4.25 a box, compromised with Mr. Young for $22. He added that just before the hearing before the Mayor, a friend urged him to settle the case, and offered him $6. He took the money in the presence of Mr. McDermott, the Mayor's Marshal.

Young and Viles said that the witness's last assertion was untrue; whereupon Marshal McDermott corroborated the witness. The Mayor will give Young a further hearing on Monday next.

Mrs. Johnson Resorts to a Pistol.

Sarah Johnson of 195 Eldridge street had her husband James arrested last week for abusing and neglecting her. Johnson was released on his promise to behave. Next day he was rearrested on a charge of beating his wife, and was held by Justice Duffy. He got out on bail. At about 4 yesterday Mrs. Johnson says she saw him walking with Mary O'Neil of 193 Eldridge street. Mrs. Johnson says she recognized some of the clothing Mary O'Neil wore as her own. Mrs. Johnson approached them. She says her husband made as if to strike her. She pointed a pistol at him. He had her arrested.

"Justice Duffy told me," she said to Justice Gardner yesterday, "that I had a right to use every method I could to protect myself from my husband's assaults."

"Sorry for you," said Justice Gardner, "but I must hold you for trial in $1,000 bail."

Mrs Johnson could not give bail and was locked up.

Few Bids for the Short Bonds.

Comptroller Grant advertised in the City Record that he would receive sealed proposals for $1,000,000 revenue bonds, in anticipation of the taxes of 1883, payable in sixty days from Aug. 25. Heretofore the revenue bonds have been taken by the sinking fund and a few banks or individuals. The Comptroller opened the proposals yesterday. The Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank offered to take $100,000, and the New York Savings Bank $150,000, each agreeing to accept 3 per cent. interest. The Citizens' Savings Bank offered to take $100,000 at 4 per cent. and $100,000 at 3.90 per cent., and the Greenbush Savings Bank $200,000 at 4 per cent. All the bids were accepted. Those of the Emigrant Industrial and the New York Banks were accepted. The rest of the bonds will be disposed of under the old method.

No News of the Big Lumber Tow.

The big timber raft which the seagoing tugboats Cyclops and Bertram F. Haviland are towing from St. John, N. B., along 600 miles of coast to this city was reported at Vineyard Haven on Sunday night, wind bound. From that time until last night nothing had been heard of the tow by Capt. C. C. Ellis of 60 South street, the manager of the project. He telegraphed yesterday to several ports between New York and Vineyard Haven without getting any news of the tow, and entertained some fears that the raft had been cast adrift by the towboats. The New Haven and Hartford boats which left Vineyard Haven yesterday afternoon had not seen it. The tow left St. John on Aug. 7, and was due here yesterday. The raft is of spilling logs 1,250 feet long and 80 feet wide.

Pretending to Deal in Smuggled Cigars.

Manuel Lastayo, a Cuban of good address, was arrested by Revenue Officer Brooks yesterday on a charge of peddling unstamped cigars. He visited bankers, brokers, insurance agents, and others fond of good cigars, it is said, and solicited their patronage, giving them to understand that he had a lot of smuggled cigars to dispose of, and would be pleased to take their orders. He carried samples, which he gave away. It is said that he had orders from more than 100 customers, and that the cigars that he supplied were inferior to those he furnished as samples. There were no duty-paid stamps on the boxes, and the prisoner had no license. He was held in $500 bail by Commissioner Osborn.

Speedy Extradition.

Johannes Wog, a confidential clerk and cashier for a banker at Rensaker, Norway, who was arrested on board of the steamship Alaska on Monday on a charge of forging his employer's name to drafts, waived examination, and was put on board of the steamship Leading yesterday to be returned. He denies the charge, which is based by the Swedish Consul on a cablegram.
