Monarch Locals.
 Private Charlie Sullivan, after a few days spent with relatives, returned today to Camp Wheeler, first artillery, Macon, Ga.
 Many of our folks attended the county fair yesterday. All are enthusiastic over it.
 Mrs. J. E. Haas was fortunate enough to capture the first cash prize of $10 on pantry supplies at the fair. Wouldn't you like to eat Thanksgiving dinner there?
 The Monarch Community booth took second prize at the fair. Monarch always gets there with the goods.
 We are glad to report that our people responded nobly to the distress of the fire victims of yesterday. A purse of about $129 was raised. Plenty of room to help out yet. How much will you add?
 Mr. J. H. Wyatt is about the most thankful man in Monarch this morning. The fire of yesterday scorched him on both sides, but yet spared him.
 Mrs. J. A. Whitener will return to her North Carolina home tomorrow.
 Mrs. Violet Bradburn and Mrs. Miley Smith left this morning for their new home at Columbus, Ga.
 Man shall not live by bread alone, as some of our busy meat markets proclaim.
 The finishing touches are being put on the Monarch school building today.
 Lonnie Lowe of Ottaroy goes to Spartanburg to accept a proffered position.
 Sam Lowe of Saskatchewan, Canada, writes the home folk of big snows and cold weather. He will visit Union this winter.
 Mrs. Henry Bramlett is visiting friends and relatives near Jonesville this week-end.
 Mr. Lucius Ray is the president of the newly organized B. Y. P. U. at the Baptist church. The first regular meeting will be held Monday night, the 19th inst.

Army Surgery Has Advanced.

The War Has Developed New and Startling Changes.
 (By Associated Press)
 Behind British Lines in France, Oct. 27.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The American doctors who are now at work in various parts of the British front find that army surgery has advanced just as rapidly since the beginning of the war as any other branch of war's activities. In the early days of the war, wounds were of an average gravity far beyond that expected from the experience of previous wars, while tetanus, gas-gangrene and severe suppuration, were general and hundreds died of comparatively trivial injuries for lack of early and adequate treatment.
 This situation has now been altered almost beyond recognition. Serum treatment has almost done away with tetanus, while earlier and more energetic surgical treatment has largely defeated gangrene. More and more of the major surgical work is being carried out in the casualty clearing stations, and some of the most famous of the American surgeons have spent most of their time since their arrival in advanced hospitals within sound of the German guns.
 The key to the whole improvement in surgical results has been the pushing of the surgeon nearer and nearer to the fighting lines. The enemy has endeavored to counter this by persistent bombing of the advanced hospitals, but the saving of life is more than worth the loss of life, and suitable defensive measures are being taken.
 The doctor, as distinguished from the surgeon, has also accomplished wonders in this war. The small mortality from disease in the British and French armies is due to his constant vigilance. His two great weapons have been sanitation and prophylactic inoculation. In a scene of unparalleled confusion and in an area of quite primitive sanitation, his exertions have resulted in an astonishing degree of sanitary efficiency. Refuse is destroyed or deeply buried; battlefields in many cases are cleaned up within a few days; pure water supplies are provided. Everywhere behind the immediate front, order and cleanliness are the rule.
 The rule of the Army Medical Officer is not always welcomed by the inhabitants, but it works with magnificent success, until camps and Wilson Proclaims Thanksgiving Day.

Washington, Nov. 7.—President Wilson issued tonight his 1917 Thanksgiving proclamation, calling upon the nation, even in the midst of the sorrow and great peril of a world shaken by war, to thank God for blessings that are better than mere peace of mind and prosperity of enterprise.
 The proclamation, fixing Thursday, Nov. 29, as Thanksgiving day, follows:
 Thanksgiving, 1917—By the President of the United States—A Proclamation:
 It has long been the honored custom of our people to turn in the fruitful autumn of the year in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for His many blessings and mercies to us as a nation. That custom we can follow even now in the midst of the tragedy of a world shaken by war and immeasurable disaster, in the midst of sorrow and great peril, because even amidst the darkness that has gathered about us we can see the great blessings God has bestowed upon us, blessings that are better than mere peace of mind and prosperity of enterprise.
 We Serve Mankind.
 We have been given the opportunity to serve mankind as we once served ourselves in the great day of our Declaration of Independence by taking up arms against a tyranny that threatened to master and debase men everywhere, and pointing with other free peoples in demanding for all the nations of the world that we then demanded and obtained for ourselves. In this day of the revelation of our duty not only to defend our own rights as a nation, but to defend also the rights of free men throughout the world, there has been vouchsafed us in full and inspiring measure the resolution and spirit of united action. We have been brought to one mind and purpose. A new vigor of common counsel and common action has been revealed in us. We should especially thank God that in such circumstances, in the midst of the greatest enterprise the spirits of men have entered upon, we have, if we but observe a reasonable and practicable economy, abundance with which to supply the needs of those associated with us as well as our own. A new light shines above us. The great duties of a new day awaken a new and greater national spirit in us. We shall never again be divided or wonder what stuff we are made of.
 "Pray for Liberty and Peace."
 And while we render thanks for those things let us pray Almighty God that in all humbleness of spirit we may look always to Him for guidance; that we may be kept constant in the spirit and purpose of service; that by His grace our minds may be directed and our hands strengthened; and that in His good time liberty and security and peace and the comradeship of a common justice may be vouchsafed all the nations of the earth.
 Wherefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the 29th day of November next, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and invite the people throughout the land to cease upon that day from their ordinary occupations and in their several homes and places of worship to render thanks to God, the great Ruler of nations.
 In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.
 Done in the District of Columbia this 7th day of November, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seventeen and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-second.
 WOODROW WILSON,
 By the President:
 Robert Lansing,
 Secretary of State.

towns which in previous wars would have been death traps, have a mortality as low as the most approved health resort. The routine work of these medical officers has probably saved more lives than all the other medical work of the war.
 Preventive inoculation has robbed typhoid and dysentery of their terrors, although in all previous wars, these two causes were responsible for far more deaths than shells and bullets.
