THE VENDETTA IN BAXTER STREET.

Justice Duffy has Another Settlement with the Cohens and Silverstein.

Jacob Fagan, who describes himself as a "puller in" for Harris Cohen of 8 Baxter street, asked at the Tombs Police Court on Tuesday that Louis Silverstein, who is an outside clerk for Mr. Jacob Silverstein of 6 Baxter street, be summoned to appear. Justice Duffy granted the summons, and the case was heard yesterday afternoon.

"I am," said Jacob Fagan, "whom I thought I could make a customer, turned from Chatham street into Baxter. Silverstein ran up and cried out: 'You Sheeny get away. You've no business here.'

"'I'm no more a Sheeny,' said I, 'than you are.'

"I tried to hold the customer, but he went away. Then Silverstein kicked me in the leg."

A witness for Fagan said that Silverstein cried out, after he had kicked Fagan, "I was a rich man. I am vorth more as $40,000. I can fix dings mit de Court."

"Fagan ketched one of our customers," said Louis Silverstein, "and I was calling him in. I couldn't stand that. I went over—"

"That'll do," Justice Duffy said. "We'll try to break up these disgraceful fights among the Silversteins and Cohens, if it takes every dollar they got. You're each fined $10."

Silverstein paid and Fagan was locked up.

Chief Clerk McAlenan says that since Jan. 1 the Silverstein family have paid $110 in fines, and the Cohens $90. Six of the Cohens and four of the Silversteins are under $300 bonds to keep the peace.

A Lunatic's Fatal Fall.

Robert Harris, a patient in the Passaic county lunatic asylum in Paterson, was found dead at the base of the building yesterday morning. Around him lay the remnants of a long rope made of strips of sheets tied together. An examination showed that in some way he had obtained possession of a knife, and cut away the casing of the window so that the iron screen could be removed. This must have been the work of several hours.

The window was about thirty feet from the ground. After he had made the rope he climbed out on the window sill, and shut the window down on the knotted end of the rope so that it would hold him, and then started to climb down.

The edge of the stone sill probably caused the cloth to tear at that point. His skull was fractured by his fall. He was seen in his room at the midnight inspection. He was not violent. He was considered one of the least dangerous of the patients.

Money for Mining Exchange Seats.

William T. Brown, on behalf of himself and other members of the American Mining Exchange who paid $1,000 each for their seats, has brought a suit against the Mutual Trust Company, who received the money, to have that company declared to have received it in trust, and to be bound to account for it to the members. The Exchange was founded in 1880, the members making payment under a circular issued by ex-Senators Thomas B. Jones and Alexander Mitchell, and others, in which it was stated that the $1,000 to be paid for seats was to be held in trust and invested and was to be liable only for the indebtedness of members to each other; but no reference to the trust was made in the by-laws. Judge Van Brunt, before whom the case was tried in Supreme Court, Special Term, yesterday, gave a decision in favor of the plaintiff, holding that the defendants were responsible for these moneys and must account to the members, and he directs that a new trustee be appointed.

Father Hauptman Presented with $1,000.

The Rev. John Hauptman, pastor of the Church of the Annunciation, in North Fifth and Seventh streets, Williamsburgh, celebrated yesterday the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination. There was a street parade by the societies and sodalities of the church prior to the celebration of the ordination mass.

Father Hauptman was presented with a purse containing $1,000. Last evening he was serenaded by a brass band and by members of the German singing societies of Williamsburgh. There was also a display of fireworks by the residents of the neighborhood, who had their houses decorated and illuminated.

Leave to the Manhattan Railway to Sue.

Judge Donohue yesterday granted leave to the Manhattan Railway Company to bring two suits against the New York City and Northern Railroad Company, one for $22,000 for the use of the plaintiff's tracks and certain equipment, and the other for moneys received by the defendant company through the sale of coupons which were accepted in lieu of fare upon the elevated railroad.

ERICSSON'S PET, THE DESTROYER.

The Hale Old Inventor Repels with Vigor an Attack on Her and Him.

"It is an infamous lie, sir!"

The speaker was a hale man of 80, tall and straight, solidly built, with keen, piercing eyes, a very Roman nose, and firm mouth. His iron-gray side whiskers and his general appearance were reminders of a fine old English gentleman. His name is John Ericsson. He is the man who unveiled the first steam fire engine, the first modern armed steam vessel, the caloric engine, the iron-plated monitor, and the solar engine, and has patented altogether about a thousand mechanical inventions in the past fifty years. He has not completed his latest invention, the Destroyer, a partially armored iron vessel, capable of navigating the coast in any weather, and designed to use submarine artillery capable of reaching the vulnerable part of armored ships, and of destroying in an instant any iron-plated vessel now afloat. Capt. Ericsson is very proud of his latest achievement, and his very energetic remark was occasioned by a perusal of a postal card which had been sent to THE SUN, and read as follows:

TO THE EDITOR OF THE SUN—Sir: Ericsson's torpedo was built by a clique company, largely composed of Government officials. Proved dead failure. Project now to indemnify these parties by shifting burden on the Government. Had it proved a success they would have held on to her.

"It is an infamous lie," thundered Capt Ericsson, in the voice of a middle-aged sea captain. "I do not know of an enemy I have in the world who could say such a thing. I am sure I never deserved such a slander. 'Government officials!' Why, they haven't any money to put into inventions like that, and I am not in the habit of going to them for my ideas. The Destroyer is mine. She is finished and lies at the navy yard now. She is all ready to go out and fight an enemy as soon as her explosive projectiles can be put on board. No stock company, chiefly composed of Government officials, has had anything to do with her. I built her and paid for her.

"'Proved a dead failure.' That is an infamous falsehood, and I cannot see what can be a man's motive in saying that the Destroyer is not a success. She has been inspected by many officers of the navy. The vessel has been finished six months, and is now in charge of the Government officers. If this Government wants to buy the Destroyer she is for sale. It does not matter to me whether any other Government buys her or not. The Secretary of the Navy wrote to me, asking me to submit plans for such a vessel, and I have done so. He also advised the Senate Committee that such a vessel ought to be built, and he favors the purchase of the Destroyer. If they purchase her they will save a year. That is all there is about it. The vessel is now well known all over the world. I have taken out patents in every country that can have a navy. I am now in negotiation with several Governments for the building of a vessel on this plan. I am notified that the Government is preparing our harbor against the incursions of monitors. There is not at present any means of resisting the armored ships of formidable character possessed by other maritime nations. Our seaports are helpless. The fact is, there was a very strong influence at work in Congress the appropriation to build three new turret vessels. Of what use would such vessels be when attacked by the Destroyer? They would not be capable of protecting our harbors.

"I think I have served the country enough to be exempt from such an attack. It is not at all strange that the Navy Department should come to me for advice in this matter. I have had a good deal of experience, and I know what I am doing is the only safe way to protect our harbor. There was a proposition made to me to have a trial of my vessel by a board of naval officers in a certain way, and one condition of it was that I should bear the expense. Why should I bear the expense? There is no reason why a private citizen should go to such expense, and I refused to do it."

Capt. Ericson still lives at 36 Beach street, where he has kept bachelor's hall for fifteen years. He is as active as a man of 50, and spends most of his time at home among the beautiful models of his wonderful inventions.

DR. CREAMER RESIGNS.

The Charity Commissioners Re-examine Man whom he Pronounced Insane.

Dr. Joseph Creamer, a physician widely known in Williamsburgh and an employe for seven years of the Commissioners of Charities and Correction in Kings county, was requested a few days ago to resign. Mrs. Patrick Daniels of 84 Devoe street, Williamsburgh, some time previously presented a certificate certifying to her husband's lunacy to the Commissioners. This certificate bore the signatures of Drs. Newman and Creamer. Mrs. Daniels also presented Dr. Creamer's receipt for $20, which she had paid for the examination of her husband.

Dr. Creamer was one of the paid physicians of the Board, and Commissioner Van Sicklen held that he had no right to charge a fee. The Commissioner questioned the woman, and ascertained that she did not know that Dr. Creamer had made an examination, but that Dr. Newman had told her that the certificate must be given by himself and Dr. Creamer jointly. Further investigation by the Commissioner showed that Daniels, who is an employee in a carpet warehouse in this city, was at work every day, and was a steady, industrious man. He alleged that domestic troubles brought about by his wife had caused her to seek her removal to an asylum. He asked for an examination as to his sanity. Drs. Young and Shaw examined him and pronounced him sane.

The following is Dr. Creamer's answer to the Commissioners' accusations:

60 SOUTH SECOND STREET,
BROOKLYN, May 28, 1884.

Commissioners of Charities and Correction

GENTLEMEN: I received your communication requesting my resignation. That you have not been satisfied for some time past with my actions as one of your employees is to me a matter of surprise, and is something new to me. You could at any time have demanded an explanation. But it seems you waited for some act which you possibly thought might justify a long and preconceived determination.

In the case of Daniels as a private patient attended in consultation with my friend, Dr Newman, I had an unquestionable right to my honorarium, as fee for services rendered. As to signing certificate in his case, no charge was made for that, and, moreover, I saw him at Dr. Newman's office on Sunday morning, the 20th inst., which is the doctor's usual reply to those who call for information, which you have asked without bearing me. Respectfully, J. CREAMER, M. D.

The Wissahickon Murder Mystery.

PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—The searchers for the remainder of the mutilated body found some time ago in the Wissahickon Creek found a portion of the skull today in that creek. Arrangements have been made by Abraham Scheuringer to offer a reward of $1,000 for the arrest of the murderers of Frederick Wahl, the supposed victim. C. A. Dieterle, Stahl's employer, who was accused of the murder, began a civil suit today for $50,000 damages against Scheuringer and Wm. Stahl, the brother of the missing man, who made affidavits before the Coroner charging Dieterle with the crime. A capias for the arrest of the defendants was issued, and bail placed at $3,000 each.

Accused of Poisoning her Children.

DECKERTOWN, May 28.—Mrs. Courtright, living about two miles from this place, is accused of attempting to poison her two children this morning with Paris green put on some meat they ate for breakfast, soon after eating they began to vomit violently.

A doctor found that the children's recovery was doubtful. The mother at first denied giving the poison to the children, and tried to make the Justice believe that it had been done by Lewis Berry, with whom she has been living for a year and who, she said, did not like the children, but when Berry was brought into the room she said she had done it herself.

Justice Dennis arrested her.

A Doctor Convicted of Manslaughter.

WORCESTER, Mass., May 28.—Dr. Franklin Pierce was found guilty of manslaughter this morning. This was a case of malpractice. The defendant attended Mrs. Remis, and ordered her swathed from head to foot with kerosene bandages. The effect was (like fire) to entirely destroy the outer skin. On his second visit he caused kerosene to be poured on the bandages without removing them to see the effect of his treatment. The patient suffered tortures at first, but not so much on the second application, because sensitiveness had been destroyed. The woman soon died. Several of the doctor's patients testified to having used kerosene blisters with good effect. The jury were out only ten minutes.

Stage Robbery in Montana.

HELENA, May 28.—Two masked men, mounted and armed with Winchester rifles, robbed the Benton coach yesterday in the cañon at the gate of the mountains twenty-five miles from Helena. They rifled the mail bags and robbed the passengers. The treasure box was also sacked, but it contained nothing of value. The robbers rode suddenly out of the timber at the side of the road, and, with levelled guns, compelled the driver to stop. The passengers, C. W. Cooper, C. E. Dudley, and F. T. Bradley, were ordered out of the coach and placed in line. Cooper lost $75 and a silver watch, Dudley $140, and Bradley a small amount of money.

His Head Split Open with a Hatchet.

ST. LOUIS, May 28.—Matt Gibson and James Zimmerman became involved in a fight on the steamer John A. Scudder to-night, in which Zimmerman picked up a hatchet and buried it in Gibson's brain. The fight grew out of a dispute about work. Zimmerman charging Gibson with heeling him out of a job. Gibson's skull was split wide open, and he was taken to the hospital, where he died in a few minutes. Zimmerman was arrested, and will be held for murder.

UNDER GOV. PATTISON'S LEADERSHIP.

The M. E. Conference Wipes Out the Color Line in its Churches and Schools.

PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—In the M. E. General Conference to-day the Committee on the State of the Church called up its report for final action, and Gov. Pattison of Pennsylvania, Chairman of the committee, presented a report on marriage and divorce. It recommends that no divorces should be granted except on grounds justified by the Scriptures, and that a commission should be appointed to confer with the Governors of all the States to endeavor to secure the enactment of uniform laws on this subject. An amendment was adopted that it is the sense of the Conference that divorces should not be granted except for adultery, and any one divorced for such reason, if he be the guilty party, cannot be married again by any minister of the Church. The report as amended was adopted.

The portion of the report of this committee which it was expected would cause considerable debate was that referring to the "color line," as it is called. The committee presented a report declaring it to be the policy of the church that no member of any society within the church shall be excluded from public worship in any edifice of the denomination, and that no student shall be excluded from any school of the Church, on account of any color, or previous condition of servitude. A minority report declared that, in view of the action already had on the question, further action was uncalled for. The minority report was voted down. Gov. Pattison made a strong speech in defence of his report, and was frequently interrupted by loud applause. A woman called for a vote by orders. It was not sustained. Then a clergyman did the same thing with the same result. A motion to postpone was made and lost, and finally the main report was adopted by an overwhelming majority.

The committee then reported a series of resolutions denouncing polygamy and declaring it to be the sense of the representatives of Methodism, in General Conference assembled, that it is the duty of the legislative department of the Government to proceed without further delay to enact laws such as will summarily dispose from political and official power in the Territories of the United States those who either practise or advocate polygamy as a civil or religious right.

An effort was made by the Rev. Drs. Buckley and Curry to amend the report by striking out the clause which proposed to deal out summary punishment, not alone to those who practise, but those as well who advocate the Utah system.

Gov. Pattison made a strong appeal for the report, and it was adopted without amendment. The report of the Committee on Book Concerns was presented. It shows that the profits accruing in New York and its depositaries were $281,022; in Cincinnati, $101,092, making $382,114 as the total profits. In addition to this sum, the two cities, which are known as the Eastern and Western Houses, paid dividends to the annual Conferences amounting to $45,000. In summing up, the report says that the affairs of the Book Concern during the past quadrennium were more prosperous than ever before.

An item in the report of the Judiciary Committee, declaring wrong and contrary to the law of the Church the action of the New York Conference in the election and ordination of Miss Anna Shaw as a deacon in the Church, was adopted. An item recommending that colored preachers in South Carolina be ordained was also adopted.

MR. MORTON AND THE COUNT OF PARIS.

London Truth Explains How he was Led Into Honoring the French Pretender.

LONDON, May 28.—Apropos of the gossip about the alleged special honor paid to the Count of Paris by Mr. Levi P. Morton, the American Minister at Paris, the other evening, London Truth says:

It is dangerous to touch French conspirators. Mr. Morton likes his guests to leave his house agreeably impressed. He thought it best, therefore, to please his orleanist guests by commemorating the Count's pretensions to the throne. A lady asked Mr. Morton to introduce her to the Count of Paris. Mr. Morton informed the Count of this request, and he intimated that he would be pleased to allow her to be presented. Mr. Morton thereupon said to the lady: "The Count of Paris permits me to introduce you to him." The Orleanists present made use of this incident to circulate the report through France that America admitted the sovereignty of the Count of Paris. Mr. Morton erred in inviting an active conspirator to his house, but he was led into it by American ladies, unworthy of America, who pose in Paris as leaders of society by virtue of their large fortunes and the fact that they are married to idle Frenchmen of ancient but doubtful nobility. Unfortunately Europeans as mean whites, and fancy that a nation without nobility is a garden without flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Morton are liable, however, to meet in royalist drawing rooms specified above who would not be admitted to respectable houses in New York.

PARIS, May 28.—A communique is published in the Paris papers to-day which pronounces the statement untrue that Mr. Morton gave the dinner in honor of the Count of Paris. He was neither present at the dinner nor was he invited. The fruit is that Count Orsini was present at a small soirée dansante after the dinner. The company at that was made up almost entirely of Americans.

The Quarrel Between Prince Jerome and his Son Victor.

PARIS, May 28.—An open quarrel now exists between Prince Jerome (Plon-Plon) and Prince Victor, his son. Prince Jerome expressed the wish that his son would make a tour of America and the East, and would abandon politics. Prince Victor having declined to respect the parental wishes, a decided rupture occurred. The result of which is that the father and son are living apart. Prince Victor has the assurance of an income of 400,000 francs per annum, but refuses to say whence it is derived. The Figaro says that the ex-Empress Eugenie, through a Bonapartist agent, has arranged for the reparation of "Plon-Plon" and Prince Victor, giving the latter a liberal income, and has declared that she will leave him the greater part of her fortune, in consideration of his rank and standing as successor to the Prince Imperial, passing altogether over the claims of Prince Jerome Napoleon.

German Attacks on England's Policy in South Africa.

BERLIN, May 28.—The Berlin papers continue their bitter attacks upon England apropos of the action of the Earl of Derby and Earl Granville in ignoring German rights in the Angra Pequena country. The Reichsfode says that the German Government will never permit itself to be influenced by the brazen tactics of such impudent, unprincipled statesmen as now rule the business of England. The insulted national feeling of Germany will, the paper says, rouse itself and tell the English people that the days of the disciplinarian, jealous measure, which is plainly stamped as of a hostile character. The other papers comment on the subject in the same tone, and argue that England is jealous of all colonial extension excepting its own.

Nihilism in the Czar's Army and Navy.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 28.—A special commission will soon be organized, consisting of Gen. Vannovski, Minister of War; High Admiral Grand Duke Alexis, Minister of the Navy; Grand Dukes Nicholas and Vladimir, and several Generals, to inquire into the cause of the spread of Nihilism in the army and navy. Political arrests continue, but cease to attract much attention.

Moscow, May 28.—Placards were posted to-day throughout the provinces reminding the Czar of the Nihilist proposals of 1881, that, in order to avert his father's fate, he should grant a constitutional amnesty to political offenders. But the Czar accepted these proposals, the placards say, the Nihilists would have ceased their propaganda. The Czar is now warned that the Nihilists will continue their agitation with their accustomed vigor.

Marriage of Midgets.

LONDON, May 28.—The midgets, Gen. Mite and Millie Edward, were married this morning at the Registrar's office in Manchester. Both were carried up stairs enveloped in shawls and placed on a low office table. They were perfectly self-possessed and answered the usual questions and repeated the declarations distinctly, in a fine, piping voice. After the marriage they breakfasted at the Grand Hotel. The religious ceremony was performed in the afternoon according to the Presbyterian rite.

The French Blockade of Madagascar.

PARIS, May 28.—Prime Minister Ferry and Admiral Peyron have explained to the committee on the Madagascar expedition that the dilatory tactics of the Hovas had compelled the Government to act vigorously. The best results are expected. The French blockade of the Malagasy coast is almost complete.

The Earl of Euston to Apply for a Divorce.

Three Dollars to Grant's Fund of Honor.

ITHACA, May 28.—Thus far only $3 have been subscribed to Grant's "Fund of Honor," which was started in this place, and this was by the Chairman of the Democratic County Committee, the Postmaster of the village, and the editor of the Ithaca Journal. The generosity of Ithacans will be all the more surprised when it is known that a local revenue has contributed $1,400 to the Bartholdi pedestal fund and a $75 purse for the Watkins walking match.

Ploughing by Steam.

FARGO, Dak., May 28.—A number of wheat growers from all parts of northern Dakota were here yesterday to witness an experiment in ploughing by steam. A traction engine drew eight ploughs, turning a sod four inches thick as evenly and well as could be done by horse power, and at a rate of over twenty-five acres a day. This will mark a new era in wheat growing, as it will enable farmers to plough at a cost of not more than $1 per acre.

A DEAD HEAT IN THE DERBY RACE.

St. Gatlen and Harvester Together at the Finish—Queen Adelaide Third.

LONDON, May 28.—The race for the Derby Stakes for three-year-olds to-day at Epsom Downs did not excite as much interest as usual, owing to the fact that many of the best horses took no part in the race, such as Busybody, Scot-free, St. Simeon, and Archidue. Plunger Walton's Richmond was well liked before the race, and was thought to possess a chance of victory. Richmond is a chestnut colt, with a large star on his face and a white stripe down the nose. It was jokingly said that he carries the American escutcheon. The weather was cool and cloudy, and the course was like adamant. The race resulted in a dead heat between Major F. E. Brace's bay colt St. Gatlen and Sir John Willoughby's brown colt Harvester. Sir John Willoughby's chestnut filly Queen Adelaide came in third. The race was not run off, but the stakes were divided between the owners of St. Gatlen and Harvester.

An excellent start was made. After three strides had been taken Richmond assumed a slight lead. After a quarter of a mile had been covered Woodstock took up the running, Richmond following, and the pair went through the Furzes in front of Bedouin to the mile post, where Richmond again took command. They ran thus to the top of the hill. Going down the hill Borneo assumed the lead, followed by St. Gatlen and Richmond. Entering the straight Loch Ranza joined Borneo, Queen Adelaide and Harvester being close up. When a quarter of a mile from home Borneo was still leading, followed by St. Gatlen. The leaders continued in these positions to the distance pole, where Borneo was beaten. St. Gatlen was here joined by Harvester, and a tremendous race home ensued, the pair running locked together to the finish. Queen Adelaide two lengths behind. Waterford finished fourth, with Brest, Talisman, Borneo, and St. Modard following in the order named. Richmond was the ninth to cross the line. Woodstock and the Hopeful Dutchman came in last. The time of St. Gatlen and Harvester was 2 minutes 46 1-5 seconds. The following is a summary:

Renewal of the Derby stakes, of 50 sov. each, half forfeit; for colts, 9 st., and fillies, 8 st. 9 lbs.; for three-year olds; about a mile and a half, starting at the New High Level starting post; the owner of the second horse to receive 300 sov. and the third 150 sov. out of the stakes; 199 subscribers.

Major F. E. Brace's b. c. St. Gatlen, by Rotherhill, or The Rover, out of St. Editha (Wood) 1

Sir John Willoughby's br. c. Harvester, by Sterling, out of Wheat Ear (S. Lewis) 1

Sir John Willoughby's ch. f. Queen Adelaide, by Hermit, out of Adelaide (Webb) 3

The betting at the start was 12 to 1 against St. Gatlen, 14 to 1 against Harvester, 5 to 2 against Queen Adelaide, and 9 to 1 against Richmond.

Mr. Walton expects to return to America June 12. It is reported that he will take his horses with him.

A New York turfman who is identified in racing ventures with the American Plunger said to a SUN reporter yesterday: "To-day's Derby makes or breaks Walton. If Richmond is defeated he will lose a fortune."

Mr. Sibley's Gifts to Cornell.

ITHACA, May 28.—A letter just received from the Hon. Hiram Sibley of Rochester, now in Europe, directs President White of Cornell University to expend for him about $35,000 in adding to the building and equipment of the Sibley College of Mechanical Engineering. The main expenditure will be in adding draughting rooms, machine shops, mechanical laboratory and various machinery and apparatus. Mr. Sibley has also given Mr. White the set of models which on his circulating collection executed under the orders of the German government at Berlin, and has announced his intention of adding to the endowment of the Sibley College of Mechanical Arts, thus making his total gifts considerably over $150,000. Plans have been drawn, and Mr. Sibley expects to sail from England in time to be present at the opening of Cornell commencement next month to make a formal beginning of the building. The new memorial windows to Mr. Cornell Mr. Meigrave, and Mr. Fisk have not been received, and will be set up in the new Minor's chapel before commencement.

Sharon Recognizes his Resurrected Garments.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—The cross-examination of ex-Senator Sharon, the defendant in the celebrated Sharon divorce case, was resumed to-day. Sharon's resurrected garments, alleged to have been deposited in a newly made grave, by Miss Hill for the purpose of "charming" the defendant, were produced. Sharon recognized some of the articles as his property. In one of the sacks three pieces of paper, sewn together in the form of a cross, and a lock of hair were found. Sharon, with the consent of his counsel, admitted having been on terms of intimacy with other women subsequent to his knowing the plaintiff, but that he had treated none of them with the deference that he showed to her. The case closed the cross-examination. The court adjourned to July 14.

A Rich Harvest for the Lawyers.

ITHACA, May 28.—The hearing in the celebrated Fisk-McGraw-Cornell University suit was continued to-day before Surrogate Lyon, but aside from testimony as to the probable value of the university property nothing of any importance was done. To-morrow Mr. Perry, Superintendent of the Capitol at Albany, will be sworn as to the value of the buildings, and then the case will be adjourned until June 5. The plaintiffs will occupy pretty much the whole of the summer in presenting testimony, and as the defendants have a long list of witnesses, the fight will continue for a long time before a decision can be reached. The lawyers are reaping a big harvest, and a compromise would seem the only way of settling things within the next few years.

Indignity to an American at Havana.

HAVANA, May 24.—An American citizen, Mr. A. Du Bouchet, who had taken passage on board the American schooner Aaron Kingsland for Key West, was forcibly taken from the vessel by the Havana police on the charge that he was a suspicious character. After he had been thoroughly searched by the officers, who made him divest himself of all his clothing during the process, he was allowed to proceed on his voyage, nothing to sustain the charge having been found.

Murdered in a Cyclone Cave.

ST. LOUIS, May 28.—The body of John Gooding, a farmer, who lived two miles from Osborn, De Kalb county, Mo., was found yesterday in a cyclone cave on his farm with the head beaten to a jelly. The cave in which the murder was committed was lying near the body. Gooding was a bachelor and was supposed to have considerable money and jewelry. He was doubtless killed for the valuables. There is no clue to the murderer.

Fatal Fight with Moonshiners.

LOUISVILLE, May 28.—A Courier-Journal special contains intelligence of the death of Special Bailiff W. K. Killion. He was killed in Laurel county by a party of moonshiners while trying to arrest them. Four moonshiners fortified themselves in a house, which was attacked by officers. Eight or ten volleys were fired before the moonshiners surrendered, and Killion was shot four times, dying almost instantly.
