TWO CENTS FOR POISON.

A Son of France Has an Affair of the Heart, and Tries to Bite Inexpensively.

George Paul de Falk De Nera, Chevalier de la Légion d'Honneur of France, whose ancestors founded the Château Argenteau, in the département de l'Orne, mixed two bundles of one-cent-a-package sulphur matches in a half tumbler of water at 11 o'clock on Tuesday night in his room in the Hotel de l'Europe, 16 Clinton place, kept by Messrs. Louis Verneret and Fracher. The smell of the compound attracted a boarder, and Louis Verneret forced an entrance into the room of George Paul de Falk De Nera, Chevalier de la Légion d'Honneur of France, and found him cramped up from having swallowed the compound composed of the heads of the two bundles of one-cent sulphur matches. Mr. Verneret ran to the Mercer street police station, and Capt. Brogan, after telegraphing for an ambulance, went to the hotel.

George Paul de Falk De Nera, Chevalier de la Légion d'Honneur, whose ancestors founded the Château Argenteau, and who swallowed a compound of one-cent-a-package lucifer matches dissolved in water, was taken to the St. Vincent's Hospital, where the stomach pump was quickly applied, and Dr. O'Rourke, chief surgeon, said yesterday that he would quickly recover. The physician would not, however, permit any reporter to see the patient, as he is, according to the Penal Code, a prisoner, liable to not less than six months' imprisonment and $200 fine, nor more than five years' imprisonment and $1,000 fine.

Monsieur Louis Verneret, speaking of the Chevalier George Paul de Falk De Nera, said: "He came to this country two months ago. His family belongs to the haute noblesse of France. He is a good-looking man, but a little wild. He has served for years in the French army, and went through the war in Africa, in which continent he served, so he says, many years. The extreme heat of the climate affected his brain, and he was sent back to Paris. He was advised to come to America, as the ocean voyage would benefit him. On arriving here he came to the Hotel de l'Europe, where he has been stopping ever since.

"He was in love, he took absynthe, but he was a gentleman. He received letters from his home regularly, also remittances, but he had a little affair of the heart, and on Monday afternoon he was surprised mixing one bundle of sulphur matches in half a glass of ice water. He resisted being deprived the right of exterminating himself, but was told that the Hotel de l'Europe could not be disgraced by any of its boarders dying from swallowing its matches."

Capt. Brogan declined to permit any one to read five letters which were found in George Paul de Falk De Nera's room. They are written on gilt-edged, thick note paper, enclosed in ivory-tinted envelopes. Capt. Brogan said that if the Chevalier died the Coroner should read the letters first; if not, the Police Justice. The letters are addressed to personal friends, and one to a young lady residing in Brooklyn.

To one of his correspondents, Monsieur Thiebault of 263 Fulton street, Brooklyn, De Nera explains that he wishes to die, as the young lady who won his heart has refused him. For several days, he adds, he has suffered intensely, and while admitting that suicide under ordinary circumstances is cowardly, in a love affair it is justifiable.

George Paul de Falk De Nera, Chevalier de la Légion d'Honneur, will probably leave St. Vincent's Hospital to-morrow, when Capt. Brogan will take him to the Jefferson Market Police Court, where he will be charged with attempting suicide, by swallowing a compound of extract of one-cent-a-package lucifer matches in half a tumbler of water.

SECURITIES AT AUCTION.

Good Prices Obtained Except for a Few Cats and Dogs.

Adrian H. Muller sold some securities at auction yesterday, including many that are known in Wall street as gilt edged, and others generally described as cats and dogs. The auctioneer declined to say for whose account the securities were sold, but it is supposed that a large part, if not all, belong to the mass of hypothecated properties of bankrupt concerns, including Grant & Ward and George I. Seney. A block of $10,000 worth of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad bonds sold for 50 cents. Mr. Seney's favorite investment, was sold at 12, and 100 shares of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad Company preferred sold at 7½. In selling the shares of the Union Ferry Company the auctioneer remarked that they had lost only one passenger, Mr. F. Ward.

There were many bidders present, and special stocks were obviously sustained by bidders who came to look after them. The fate of Mr. Seney's favorite securities excited some smiles. The following were the prices obtained: 5 shares Fulton Bank, 125¼; 40 shares Jefferson Insurance Company, 124¾; 100 shares Tradesmen's National Bank, 108¼; 86 shares Bank of Commerce, 154¾; 100 shares Mechanics' National Bank, 148¼; 14 shares Merchants' National Bank, 131¾; 20 shares Mercantile Trust Company, 122¾; 50 shares Seventh Ward National Bank, 110; 50 shares National Bank of the Republic, 120; 100 shares Equitable Life Assurance Company, 92½; 10 shares Dry Dock, East Broadway and Battery Railroad, 30¼; $1,000 Dry Dock, East Broadway, and Battery Railroad scrip, 103½; $5,000 Florida Central and Western Railroad 5 per cent bonds, series B, 53; $2,000 Houston and Texas Central (main line) 1st mortgage 7 per cent bonds, 1891, 107½; 50 shares National Park Bank, 151; 15 shares Metropolitan Gas Light Company, 130½; 13 shares Continental National Bank, 117½; 20 shares Union Ferry Company, $100; 50 shares Central Park, North and East River Railroad Company, 130½; 100 shares Canton Company, 60; 38 shares United States Warehouse Company, 64½; 10 shares Union Trust Company, 331; 22 shares Fourth National Bank, 111; $10,000 New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad, first mortgage gold bonds, 101; $5,000 East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad first mortgage consolidated bonds, 80¾; $13,000 St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railroad Company consolidated mortgage 6 per cent gold bonds, 104¾; 100 shares Central Pacific Railroad Company, 41¾; 50 shares Cincinnati, Sandusky and Cleveland Railroad Company, 10; 20 shares Western Union Telegraph Company, 56¾; 100 shares Central Pacific Railroad Company, 41¾; 100 shares East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad Company preferred, 7¾; 150 shares Iron Steamboat Company, 13; 10 shares Second Avenue Railroad Company, 190; $2,000 Morris and Essex Railroad consolidated 7 per cent registered bonds, 1915, 120.

A LAW CLERK'S TRIAL.

He is Sent to the Reformatory for Stealing a Watch and Chain.

Gottfried Bonifacius, a young law clerk, small, pale, spectacled, and self-possessed, was tried yesterday in the General Sessions, upon the charge of stealing a gold watch and chain from Mrs. Honora Daly of 1,111 First avenue, on May 9. The evidence was that Bonifacius was sent by his employer to Mrs. Daly's to obtain her signature to a legal document. Her watch and chain were on the bureau of her bedroom, and he laid down his hat so as to cover them. When he went away, the watch and chain were missed. In January Bonifacius was charged with picking pockets, but was acquitted. The lawyer who defended him, moved by pity, took him into his office as a clerk.

"You were indicted for grand larceny in the second degree in January?" Judge Cowing asked.

"No; in the first degree," answered Bonifacius. "If a person is charged with picking a pocket, he is indictable for grand larceny in the first degree."

The jury convicted Bonifacius, and Judge Cowing committed him to the Elmira Reformatory.

Railroad Men Waiting for the Pay Car.

There was a very resolute ignorance at the New Jersey Central Railroad offices yesterday as to the movement, or rather lack of movement, of the pay car, which, it is said, should have gone over the entire road by May 12 at the latest. No one could tell when it would resume its interrupted journey nor even where it was. In the Jersey City depot there was almost an equal dearth of information, although much more willingness to discuss the matter. "The car is in Elizabeth," the train dispatcher said, "and has been there since it partly completed its last monthly trip. It is awaiting orders to move, and the orders have not come. The Superintendent and the Paymaster have their headquarters in Elizabeth."

"The boys are getting uneasy down on the lower end of the road," said an employee on one of the outgoing trains last evening. "Many of them are in straits for money. They don't know what to make of it."

Swindling Italians as an Industry.

Mrs. Angela Libertello of 145 Baxter street complained at the Tombs yesterday that Joseph Smith of 19 Chrystie street employed her to procure forty Italians to go with him to work on a railroad in Providence. The Italians collected in front of her house in Baxter street, and they each paid him $3.75. He ran away, and was caught on the Stonington pier just as he was about to start for Boston. He was held for trial.

Briasco Labriola of 14 Roosevelt street and Michael Lafone of 426 Water street were held at the Tombs for swindling fifty-two Italians, whom they sent to work on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at Baltimore and Ferrymen's last week, and from whom, it is charged, they obtained $7 apiece. Most of the men have returned.

Three Days' Grace for Each Child.

James Kennedy, Emanuel Ganz, and Charles Gerrit, policy dealers, pleaded guilty yesterday in the General Sessions. Kennedy and Gerrit had not been convicted before, and Recorder Smyth fined them $50 and $100 respectively. It was Ganz's second conviction upon his plea. His counsel asked for clemency on account of his age and because of his five children.

"I imprison uniformly for a second offence," said Recorder Smyth. "For the five children's sake, I will take off fifteen days, and sentence you, Ganz, to the City Prison for fifteen days, and fine you $100."
