SATURDAY, Sept. 13.

Although the stock market has been heavy to-day, and the tend-ency generally toward lower prices, the progress in that direction was less rapid than yesterday, and the tone was feverish rather than absolutely depressed. These circumstances apparently corroborate the opinion that the selling of the last two days has been more largely for short than for long accounts. As long as the holders of stocks are the majority in the market, the market cannot fairly be seen that they would prefer to take stocks at a decline from those who sell short than long stock from one another at an advance, for the reason that there is far prospect of a profitable market for the stocks so acquired. And it is safe to assume that in a market so narrowed that which exists at present, every opportunity must be improved by those who sell those who sell short will be promptly improved. The most active stock to-day was St. Paul, and it was also the heaviest, yet it suffered a net loss of only ¾ ₩ cent., which was about the average decline in the active list. The pressure to sell was most pronounced in Oregon and Transcontinental, resulting in a decline of 1½ ₩ cent. The other features were the strength of the Vanderbilt stocks and Union Pacific. New York Central advanced ⅝ and Lake Shore ⅜ ₩ cent., while Union Pacific closed a shade higher. All of the coal shares were lower except Jersey Central. Of the specialties Oregon Railway and Navigation declined nearly 3 ₩ cent., to 70¼ after selling at 69. The close was irregular at a fractional improvement from the lowest.

The more important changes for the day were:

The production of anthracite coal for the week ending Sept. 6 was 63,352 tons, against 706,498 tons for the same week of last year. The quantity for the year so far is 18,629,065 tons, against 21,101,449 tons for the corresponding period of last year, a decrease of 2,472,384 tons.

Argument in the case of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company against the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway Company is making before Judge Collier, in the Common Pleas Court, at Pittsburgh, Pa. The principal request made of the Court is for authority to withhold payment of rental due the defendant company until they issue betterment stock, for which requisition had been made, and it involves the right to enforce a specific performance of contract. The report that the Pennsylvania Railway Company desires to "gobble up" the road, is denied.

Receipts of internal revenue to-day, $321,118; customs, $575,094; national bank notes for redemption, $206,000, making $1,711,000 for the week. National bank circulation outstanding, $336,218,535.
