REDDY, WHO WAS LYNCHED.

A Brooklyn Boy, 6 Feet 4 1-2 Inches Tall, Who Would Fight With Any Man.

The identity of the man known as Reddy, alias Big Red, who was taken from the custody of the Sheriff in Detroit, Michigan, while he was under arrest for the murder of Policeman Conway, and hanged by an infuriated mob on June 23 for killing the policeman, has been established. He was known in the West as William Keleher, but his real name was John Monahan. His father, James Monahan, lives in Brooklyn, where he is employed as a paver by the City Works Department. When the son left Brooklyn in November, 1875, he was 20 years old, and was then known as "Big Red," from the fact that he had red hair and was 6 feet 4½ inches tall, and weighed more than 240 pounds. His father had set him up in the liquor business in the Sixth ward of Brooklyn, but his violent temper got him into constant trouble with customers, and he sold out and went to San Francisco. In 1878 he settled in Montana Territory, where he assumed the name of Keleher, which was his mother's maiden before her marriage.

He corresponded with his family in Brooklyn under that name until May, 1883, when his father heard from him for the last time. He was then living in Jackson City, and, according to the accounts which he sent home, he owned 160 acres of land and an interest in valuable mining property. Mr. Monahan called on Police Superintendent Campbell for the purpose of taking measures to establish his claims to his son's property. Superintendent Campbell, at his request, has opened a correspondence with the Chief of Police of Detroit. Mr. Monahan says that in a stand-up or rough-and-tumble fight his son, even when he was in Brooklyn, would not turn his back on any man living. He was not, however, viciously inclined, and not likely to lose his temper, except while under the influence of liquor, in which condition he believed he must have been when he shot and killed the policeman.

BURNED IN A CHICAGO FIRE TRAP.

Two Lodgers Found Dead in the Ruins and Four Firemen Badly Hurt.

CHICAGO, July 5.—Fire broke out in the basement of 102 South Clark street at 4 o'clock this morning. The second, third, fourth, and fifth floors are fitted up for cheap lodgings. The upper floors were formerly used for storerooms, and were converted into apartments by frame partitions, making a veritable fire trap, in which over thirty-five persons were sleeping. Charles Spech rushed up the stairs and aroused as many as he could by shouting and pounding on the doors. He was soon driven out of the hotel by the smoke and flames. He saw ten or fifteen persons quit the house. One man, cut off from the stairway, forced the skylight and came out on the roof. Another tried the front fire escape from the fourth floor, but was driven to the roof. He was slightly burned about the head. Another man rushed from the rear fire escape and came down through another building. It was at first thought that ten to fifteen persons had been burned to death, but a subsequent search by the firemen revealed only two dead bodies. They were both men of middle age, who had been sleeping in the bunks. Both were found on the floor in the middle of the room on the fifth floor, and one was burned beyond recognition. Neither had been identified this morning.

In fighting the flames four firemen were badly hurt. The origin of the fire is a mystery. It is probably attributable to a Fourth of July celebration.

INOCULATED FOR HYDROPHOBIA.

Dr. Mott "Tries Pasteur's Remedy for the First Time in America.

Dr. Valentine Mott inoculated his first patient for hydrophobia at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Young Harold Newell, the son of Dr. Newell of Jersey City, who was bitten by a rabid dog on Thursday a week ago, was the patient. The dog was allowed to live until its disease terminated its life, with symptoms which Dr. Newell emphatically declares were those of hydrophobia. The lad has developed nothing alarming as yet. He will be inoculated every day for ten days.

On ty two other physicians besides the operator and the father were present. Dr. Newell signed a paper releasing the Carnegie Laboratory, where the operation was performed, and Dr. Mott from all responsibility in case of failure of the operation.

Dr. Mott declined to talk about Mr. Bergh's attack, published in a Sunday morning paper, but said that every assertion that the inoculations performed by Pasteur had caused the death of any one was untrue.

A GREAT DAY AT BREMEN.

The Whole City Celebrating the Fourth and Entertaining Our Grocers.

The New York and Brooklyn grocers who left here recently for an excursion abroad are having a great time at Bremen. Mr. Henry Bishoff of this city has received these despatches by cable:

BREMEN, July 3.—American and German flags all along the streets, and houses decorated with bunting. Among the 400 Americans here is ex-Mayor H. L. Timme of Hoboken. Four thousand and fifty tickets have been sold for the festival, and eighteen hundred marks cash were taken in at the gate. The streets are so crowded at 11 P. M. that carriages cannot move.

BREMEN, July 4.—Matinee concert in Tivoli; brilliant audience. At 12 o'clock noon fifty two carriages start from Hotel Bremen with American grocers, Wulsheim and Belme in the first carriage with a ship of flowers representing the Elbe, from New York, redecorated. The second carriage with the Brooklyn committee and the third with the Bremen committee. Banquet commences 1½ P. M., three hundred people taking part. Music band of forty-two men. E. Schlage presiding; Chief and Lessing delivering the speech welcome; R. L. toasting the German Emperor; Vice-Consul Stive, President Cleveland; Dr. Lange, city of Bremen; H. A. Tinken, the editor, Herr Von Platen, our American friends; J. H. Wieman of Baltimore, Germany, and Robert Weisskittel, the managers of the New York Retail Grocers' Union. Eight o'clock P. M. distribution of prizes, Henry Hanschen of New York receiving the first prize, a silver goblet and a medal of honor worth ninety marks. Grand success; 18,000 people in the park.

LEHMAN ARRESTED FOR WIFE MURDER.

The Woman Told the Coroner that he Threw her Down the Air Shaft.

John Lehman, a German lumberman, living at 2,414 First avenue, was arrested yesterday on the charge of murdering his wife, Catharine. At midnight on Sunday he told a policeman that his wife had thrown herself out of the third story window of the air shaft in the house in which they lived. He said that when he came home at 7 o'clock he found his wife drunk and no supper ready. He scolded her, and she left the room. Shortly afterward he heard a cry, and running out into the hallway, he found that she had thrown herself from the window.

The policeman accompanied John to the house, and found the wife's body at the bottom of the air shaft. Her skull was fractured and her arm was broken. She was removed in an ambulance to the Ninety ninth Street Hospital.

At 4 A. M. yesterday she began to sink very rapidly, and Coroner Messemer was notified. He called at the hospital, and took her antemortem statement. She told him that her husband had thrown her out of the window of the shaft. She could say no more, and died.

Coroner Messemer notified Capt. Meyer, and Lehman was arrested at his home. He was arraigned in the Harlem Police Court before Justice O'Reilly and remanded. He denied his wife's charges and reiterated his statement that she had thrown herself from the window.

Two of his children, a girl aged 16 and a boy aged 11, called at the police station on Monday and told conflicting stories. The boy at first said that he saw his father push his mother out of the window, but afterward retracted that statement.

Bridge Street Station in Brooklyn is Not the Bridge Station.

On the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad passengers on their way to New York get off the trains at Washington street station to take the bridge trains. The station on the elevated railroad next before Washington street is the Bridge street station. Many New York passengers are startled at the cry "Bridge street," and slips of the tongue are sometimes made. A Scotchman said yesterday he would sign a petition to the Brooklyn Aldermen to have the name of Bridge street changed.

"It is a nuisance, I'm sayin," he said. "To have people rush out on the platform, and to have to turn them back one by one, while they glare at me as though it was my fault."

Annie Pixley's Only Son Dead.

Mrs. Robert Fulford, known by the stage name of Annie Pixley, telegraphed on Saturday from Port Stanley, Ont., where she and her husband live, to her aunt in Avon, Tioga county, that her son, Thomas, had just died there of pulmonia. He was an only child about 10 years old, and she doted on him. His death may affect Miss Pixley's relations to the stage. She always declared she would retire from the stage only to make him independent when he came of age, and that she had accumulated a sufficient income for herself. A friend of hers believes that she will now have a divorce her from the stage. Judge George G. Shea of the Marine Court is an uncle of Miss Pixley.

Mother and Children Drunk Together.

Mary Young, a widow, living at 335 East Thirty-eighth street, was arrested on Sunday night by Agent Young of Mr Gerry's society. Her husband died some time ago and left her several thousand dollars. Since then the neighbors say she has been on a spree tracked stores. She and her children have been drunk nearly all the time. Agent Young found the woman on the floor with her daughter Mary, aged 13, and her son William, aged 12, and daughter Mary, aged 9, were all drunk. In the Yorkville Court yesterday she was sent to the Island for six months. Will am and Mary were sent to the Juvenile Asylum, and Katie, aged 8, and Freda, aged 5, were sent to the Catholic Protectory.

Huckleberries Will be Plentiful.

The first blackberries of the season in New Jersey came to market yesterday. All varieties of wild berries will be plentiful. Huckleberry bushes are bending to the ground with their loads of fruit, and the berry itself is large and of good flavor.

A SAILOR'S ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

He Cuts his Throat Off Block Island, but the Cook Sews Up the Wound.

When the schooner Andrew J. Lock of Portland, Me., made fast yesterday morning to the Brooklyn Sugar Refinery wharf, at the foot of South Second street, Williamsburgh, the Captain nervously asked what he should do with a man on board who had cut his throat. He was sent to the Fourth street police station, where he said to Sergeant Burford:

"On last Thursday night Thomas Barker of Portland, one of my crew, complained that he was not well. He is a quiet fellow. Although not a drinking man, he acts like one. I let him sleep instead of putting him on watch. In the morning, while we were at breakfast off Block Island, we heard yells on deck. We ran up and found Barker forward with his throat cut and yelling like a pig. He held a razor in his hand. The cook, who said he had seen some cuts in his life, got to work and put in eight stitches in Barker's neck. Then the mate rowed over in a boat, for it was dead calm, to a yacht, and the people on board told him to go over to a summer resort near the Island and he would find a doctor. The mate did so and got a doctor, who added a few stitches to those made by the cook. Barker is now on the boat, and what shall I do with him?"

Barker was sent to the South Third Street Hospital. He will recover.

OUTRAGE IN MASSACHUSETTS.

A Young Swedish Girl Criminally Assaulted on the Shore of Lake Quinsigamond.

WORCESTER, July 5.—Yesterday afternoon two Swedish girls, named Josie Sunderberg and Jennie Sutterstrom, each about 18 years old, and quite pretty, visited Lake Quinsigamond. William Godfrey, an acquaintance of the Sunderberg girl, proposed a row on the lake, and introduced a friend, whose name cannot be ascertained. The latter secured another boat and took the Sutterstrom girl out into the lake and rowed to the opposite shore, where he made a criminal assault upon her. At about 7½ o'clock John B. Crowley, who was camping on an island near by, was aroused by cries of murder. He started in the direction of the cries, and saw the unknown man making an assault upon the girl, who was exhausted and helpless. On seeing Crowley approach the man made a dash for the woods and escaped. In a few minutes the man returned, and, being recognized by the young woman as her assailant, a fierce struggle took place between Crowley and him. Crowley threw him down, but he finally regained his feet, fled again, and escaped.

Godfrey refuses to divulge the name of the miscreant, but the police are on his track.

TAX RATE ABOUT 2.26.

Aldermen Meet and Receive the Assessment Rolls—Increased and Decreased Valuations.

The Board of Aldermen met at noon yesterday. They didn't want to, but they had to because the Consolidation act appoints the first Monday in July as the day for them to receive the report of the Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments. Fifteen Aldermen were present. The report shows the assessed valuation of the city by wards for 1886, and gives a comparison with the valuation for 1885. The total assessed valuation of the real estate is $1,202,941,061, against $1,168,443,157 last year. The only decrease in real estate values is the First ward, where the First warders claimed last year that the valuation was too high. It is reduced this year from $79,036,814 to $78,780,763. Every other ward shows an increase. The greatest increase is $12,126,152, in the Twelfth ward. The valuation of the personal property is $217,027,221, against $242,075,726 in 1885. There is a gain of $10,000,000 in the assessment of the personal estate of residents, and a falling off of $1,750,000 in the assessment on bank shares.

Commissioner Michael Coleman, who was present, said that the tax rate would be about 2.28 on the $100. Some thirty-five million dollars are needed for current and other expenses. It had been thought that all of it would have to be raised this year, but the decision of the Court of Appeals, which allows the city to issue additional bonds, will reduce the amount to be raised by taxation by some two millions and a half. The tax rate will not be settled until August. The report was accepted and referred to the Finance Committee.

After some debate, on the motion of Alderman Masterson the Aldermen adjourned to meet next Friday at 1 o'clock instead of on Wednesday, the regular day. The Aldermen want to have a long and glorious Fourth and fear that they will not be sufficiently recovered to get a quorum together on Wednesday. Last Wednesday there was no quorum.

FIVE CENTS AT STAKE.

An Italian with a Hatchet, a Greek with a Knife, and a Policeman in a Swoon.

J. B. Taylor, a truckman, had an Italian lad black his shoes in front of his stable at 256 Mott street yesterday afternoon. The boy didn't make the shoes shine at all, and Mr. Taylor refused to pay him unless he did the job better. The bootblack instead went and told his father, Martino Salvatore, a woodchopper living at 250 Mott street. Salvatore rushed out with a hatchet to collect the nickel. Taylor went into his stable and barred the door. Salvatore hacked a hole in the door. Meanwhile, however, Taylor had got out of a rear window and gone to the Mulberry street station for help. Policemen Connor and Hotaling caught Salvatore still trying to hack his way to the stable, while a crowd of his countrymen looked on approvingly.

Connor began to disperse the crowd, while Hotaling tackled Salvatore. The crowd didn't disperse readily, and gave Connor all he wanted to do. He was, therefore, unable to interfere when a Greek, known as Michael Skelly, who also lives at 250 Mott street, came to Salvatore's assistance, and cut Hotaling on the side of the face with a knife. Hotaling yelled to Connor and clung to Salvatore, and fought off Skelly as well as he could. Just as Skelly was about to get in another cash Connor disarmed and collared him. Hotaling fainted from excitement and loss of blood, but he will recover.

A Reunion of Orphans.

The third annual reunion of the former inmates of Leake & Watts's orphan house took place yesterday. There are just 100 boys and girls, all under 14 years, in the house at present, and something less than half that number of the alumni, so to speak, met at the beautifully located asylum in West 110th street yesterday morning. From the elevation just west of Ninth avenue the city could be seen lying below, and the sound of exploding crackers came over the Park. Firecrackers and torpedoes were distributed among the fifteen or twenty who are, and they celebrated the nation's birthday with a childish vim.

At noon they had a dinner of unusual merit in their eyes, and in the afternoon all the children and the alumni gathered in the school room, and Superintendent R. M. Hayden read a paper on the history of the orphan house since its foundation away back in the forties. Then there was singing by the children, and after supper there were fireworks to delight them, while their elders, many of whom had been children in this same house, watched the childish sports with a sentimental interest.

Society of the Cincinnati.

The New York State Society of the Cincinnati held its annual meeting yesterday at Delmonico's. Hamilton Fish presided. Four new members were received into the society: Minister George H. Pendleton from Ohio, George B. Howe from New York, William S. Ketchum from Plattsburgh, and Robert Burnett from Newburgh. Two members of the society have died during the past year: Gen. U. S. Grant and Gen. Winfield S. Hancock. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Hamilton Fish; Vice-President, Alexander Hamilton; secretary, John Schuyler; Treasurer, Alexander Jones Clinton; Assistant Treasurer, Edward W. Tapp; Chaplain, the Rev. Manchus H. Hutton, D. D.; Delegates to the General Society, Hamilton Fish, John Cochrane, John Schuyler, Alexander Hamilton, and Alexander Jones Clinton.

President Grover Cleveland was nominated as honorary member of the society. A lunch followed the business meeting.

Merchant Tailor Heckel Killed.

George J. Heckel, merchant tailor of 196 Smith street, Brooklyn, was killed by a train on the Sea Beach Railroad at 6¾ o'clock on Sunday evening, near the Franklin avenue crossing. The engineer says he blew the whistle and reversed the engine, but the man continued to walk toward the approaching train. Persons who witnessed the accident believed that Mr. Heckel either walked deliberately to his death or became so bewildered that he lost his presence of mind. He was 55 years old, was prosperous in business, and leaves a widow and two children.

He Will Have to Keep Sober Now.

John W. Pethard, the English civil engineer who shot at his wife a week ago, and swallowed chloroform and opium on Sunday night, was held yesterday for trial for attempting suicide. He went to Jefferson Market court in his shirt sleeves and a velveteen cap.

"My wife," he said, to Justice Smith, "robbed me of $250, a good watch, and a locket belonging to my little girl after she had me arrested for trying to shoot her. I never tried at her, and she admitted it the next day. I was sunstruck in India some years ago, and intended to end my miserable existence by poison."

The Court Sat Three Minutes.

Judge Gildersleeve presided in the Court of General Sessions yesterday morning. The law requires the court to be open the first Monday of every month. Capt. Curry, Crier Oakford, and Assistant District Attorney Davis were present. Nobody else was there except a reporter of THE SUN. Crier Oakford opened the court with the usual formula. Capt. Curry presented order. Mr. Davis said there was no business and that the calendar is clear. He moved that the court adjourn. Judge Gildersleeve seconded the motion, and in three minutes after the court opened it was adjourned and the Judge started off for Long Branch.

Lee Sing and the Deceptive Fantan.

Lee Sing, a Chinaman, went to 25 Mott street last evening to play the game of fantan (Chinese faro). Luck was against him until the third deal, when he staked a $100 bill. He won, but the dealers refused to pay up. Sing got angry and a row ensued. Sing had concealed about his person a cleaver, wherefrom policeman arrived and took him to the Elizabeth street station and locked him up. This is the first reported instance of a Chinese gambling house refusing to pay up.

The Improved Atlantic sas Another Trial.

The big sloop Atlantic and the schooner Grayling had a run over the Atlantic Yacht Club course yesterday to see what changes, if any, were needed before sailing in the Atlantic. The Atlantic beat by an almost half course. She left her anchorage shortly before 12 o'clock and got back by two o'clock. The breeze was ahead running out, and was very good outside the Hook. Capt. Joe Elsworth is more certain than ever that she has been improved by the alterations.

Last week of the merry opera,
THE CROWING HEN.
MONDAY, JULY 12—FOR ONE WEEK ONLY,
FALKA.
By the McCAULL OPERA COMIQUE COMPANY.

A SHAFT OF LIGHT like the most brilliant display of the aurora borealis suddenly shoots up to the heavens. In an instant the entire grounds were illuminated by all the colors of the rainbow, and the Electric Fountains at SAINT GEORGE were at work. From the surface of the bay a column of water rose to the height of a hundred feet, and then on either side a dense column was lifted into the air and fell in a golden shower.—World. AT SAINT GEORGE, STATEN ISLAND, TO-NIGHT.

THE COLOR changed constantly. At one moment it was crystal, the next presents, then successively green, blue, purple, gold, and from time to time the tints would blend, harmonize, and contrast with new charms at every change. It had all the splendid brilliancy of fireworks, with a softer beauty and grace peculiar to itself.—New York Sun. AT SAINT GEORGE, STATEN ISLAND, TONIGHT.
Take the boats for Saint George at the Battery, 7:30, 7:45, and 8. Return by boats at 9:40 and 9:50.

CASINO, Broadway and 39th st.

FIFTEEN JETS of water ascend, at SAINT GEORGE, 150 feet, and, being illuminated from the bottom by an aggregation of lights equal to 150,000 candle-power, produce brilliant and bewildering effects. All the colors of the rainbow come and go by turns, and the spectacle riveted the attention of the thousands who witnessed it.—World. AT SAINT GEORGE, STATEN ISLAND, TO-NIGHT.

THE ILLUMINATED FOUNTAIN is a wonderful combination of machinery and mechanical skill. The most beautiful effects are produced in dazzling changes, and the audience is kept spellbound in wonderment and admiration. Seventy-five feet in the air streams of water shoot up in a very variety of colors. Now the whole mass is white, like molten silver, curling upward and downward, and sending off glittering chips which fall back into the basin only to be renewed again with changed hue.—Star. AT SAINT GEORGE, STATEN ISLAND, TO-NIGHT.
