BATTLING FOR HOME RULE.

NEARLY $1,000 MORE ADDED TO THE SUN'S FUND.

Perth Amboy Parnellites Follow the Example of South Amboy Home Rulers with a Large Purse—The Last Day of the Fund.

The Home Rulers of Perth Amboy followed the lead of the Parnellites of their neighboring town of South Amboy yesterday, and forwarded to THE SUN fund the handsome contribution of $772.50. This makes a total subscription of $1,498.50 for the two enterprising New Jersey towns, and brings THE SUN'S fund, for the popular subscriptions, very nearly up to $30,000. The purse which the Perth Amboy Irish-Americans present to the fund was raised at a successful mass meeting which the patriotic townsmen held on the 13th inst. in City Hall Park, at which Mayor Dally, ex-Mayor John W. Garretson, the Rev. Dr. Kempshall of the First Presbyterian Church of Elizabeth, the Hon. A. A. Hardenbergh, Lawyer Joseph A. Beecher, and Father Peter L. Connolly made stirring speeches. Then Lawyer Beecher and Father Connolly appealed for aid, and the Home Rulers opened their pocket-books and gave willingly. The contribution was sent to THE SUN yesterday with this note:

In grateful recognition of the important help rendered to the home rule cause by THE SUN, it was resolved at the meeting that Perth Amboy's mite should be sent to Ireland through the medium of that paper.

The subscribers at the meeting were:

THE DONNINGTONS AT THE GRAVE.

Found Waiting There When the Relatives of Mr. Counsellor Came to Bury Him.

The funeral of Jeremiah Counsellor was held yesterday morning at 125 Broad street, Newark, where he resided for years with his wife, his daughter, and his son-in-law, George A. Meeker. The Rev. Mr. Robinson of Rahway conducted the services.

Miss Donnington, the winsome young friend of the deceased man, did not attend the services, nor was she seen in Newark. She would not have been allowed to enter Mr. Meeker's house if she had presented herself, as the undertakers were requested to keep her out. As an additional precaution, Detective Birth was present at the request of the family. Dr. Knight, who was associated with Mr. Counsellor in the Family Fund Insurance Company, was present, and many friends of the family looked on the dead man's face after the conclusion of the service. A hearse and four carriages were drawn up at the door. When the house was emptied of all but the immediate relatives, the cloth-covered casket was carried to the hearse by four porters, and the relatives entered the carriages, and were driven to the cemetery on Bergen street, near Clinton avenue, Rahway. There a middle-aged woman in deep mourning, a young woman, and a girl of 14 years stood watching two men who were hurrying to finish digging the grave. The burial was delayed for a quarter of an hour because the grave was not ready, and meanwhile the relatives stood at the side of the excavation while the three strangers stood at the other.

Everybody knew that the strangers were the Donningtons, Ursula, her mother, and her little sister. When the box enclosing the casket was lowered into the grave the young woman and her mother knelt down over and looked upon it while the minister said the burial service. When they raised their heads it was seen that both were weeping. They were the last to go away, and after the carriages were driven off, they returned to the side of the plot and watched the workmen fill in and round up the grave. Then they turned sadly away and walked slowly down the road to the Pennsylvania Railroad station, where they entered a train coming in the direction of this city. They did not speak with any one in the cemetery.

DOMINIE VAN DEN BROCK IN JAIL.

Arrested in the House of Reintje Looyengoed—Locked Up in Default of $200 Bail.

The Rev. Johannes Van den Brock, pastor of the Arminian Church in Paterson, whipped John Hartman, one of his parishioners, on Wednesday night, because Hartman had meddled with his affairs. The preacher was arrested early yesterday morning at the house of Reintje Looyengoed in Mulberry street. He and the woman were only partly dressed, and lay on separate beds, feigning sleep. Van den Brock was arraigned before the Recorder for assaulting Hartman and biting a piece out of his arm. He pleaded guilty, saying that he was very angry because of Hartman's interference with his affairs.

Reintje Looyengoed says that some years ago, while she was a domestic in Van den Brock's family, he wronged her, and the intimacy continued for some time, till Mrs. Van den Brock discovered it, and ordered the woman out of the house. When he came to this country he arranged, she says, for her to follow him.

Mrs. Van den Brock was in the court room when her husband was arraigned, and pleaded earnestly for his release. The dominie and his wife talked for a considerable time in the Dutch tongue. He pleaded guilty of many wrong doings and asked for forgiveness, which he granted. Thirty-two Hollandic persons near by who understood all that was said.

Van den Brock was unable to secure the $200 bail which Recorder Greaves required.

How Moses Mehrbach Drew a Check for $50.

Moses Mehrbach is a rich pawnbroker in Grand street and a Second Avenue Railroad capitalist, and it is generally believed that he has cut his wisdom teeth, but on June 23 he made out a check to Leopold Levy for "fifty dollars," in which "$50.00" appears on the scroll for numerals. Levy presented the check at the German Exchange Bank, and Chas. A. Watteau, the paying teller, paid him $50. Oddly enough, the book-keeper, in making a record of the day's business, put down the check as $500, and it was not until Mr. Mehrbach presented his book to have it balanced that the error was discovered. A demand was made upon Levy, who is a real estate broker living at 331 East Seventy-ninth street, for the return of the $450 overpayment. Mr. Levy said he would settle the matter with his friend Mehrbach, but as he failed to reimburse the bank he was taken before Justice Smith at Jefferson Market yesterday on a charge of grand larceny. He was bailed for further examination.

SHOCKING CRIME IN OSWEGO.

The Little Daughter of Lawyer W. W. Green Enticed from Home.

OSWEGO, July 23.—One of the most shocking crimes that has been committed in this city in many a day came to light this morning in the police court, when Henry Kennedy, about 28 years of age, was charged by 10-year-old Lottie Green with criminal assault. The victim is the daughter of Lawyer W. W. Green, one of the most highly esteemed men in the city, and widely known throughout the State.

Between 11 and 12 o'clock on Wednesday Kennedy met the girl on one of the principal streets and asked where her father was. The child replied that he was at home sick abed, and started to go on about her business. Kennedy showed her some money and told her to wait while he stepped into a store and purchased some candy. Instead of getting candy he took a big drink of whiskey and told the child to follow him, that he had some work for her to do at his house for which he would pay her well. The child did as she was bid, walking a short distance behind Kennedy. When they had reached the suburbs of the city on the bank of the Oswego River, Kennedy took the child by the hand and led her down the bank into a deep gully, which is hid from the road by a thick growth of bushes. Here Kennedy accomplished his devilish purpose. The child fought desperately and left the prints of her little finger nails on Kennedy's face, desisting only when threatened with death and worn out with exhaustion. Kennedy then ordered the child to go home and say nothing or he would kill her.

The child dragged herself up the steep bank and, strange as it may seem, walked a mile to the home of her father, who is an invalid, and related the details of the outrage. The father notified the police, and a description of Kennedy was sent out. Yesterday Kennedy was arrested on a charge of petit larceny, and late last night was bailed out by friends. While standing in front of Police Headquarters today he was spied by the child, who pointed him out to a policeman and he was arrested. He denied all knowledge of the crime, but the child was positive that he was the right person, and he was locked up. The prisoner is married, but does not live with his wife. The police say they have damaging evidence against the prisoner.

W. W. Green, the father of the child, was at one time editor of the Syracuse Courier, and is the author of "Via Morais Vincendi."

TORNADO IN PHILADELPHIA.

Trees Blown Down and Houses Unroofed—Several Persons Injured.

PHILADELPHIA, July 23.—The rain and wind storm which passed over the city last night about midnight did considerable damage, especially in that portion south of Reed street. The storm appeared to come up the river, gathering force on its way, and struck the city in the vicinity of Front and Mifflin streets, where for a short time it raged with great force. Trees were blown down, houses were unroofed, and the residents, fearing that the tornado which swept away so much property in August last had returned, ran into the street.

The fences, roof, and outbuildings of the stove foundry of Thomas, Roberts, Stevenson & Co. were first struck and badly damaged. A number of men were at work in the foundry at the time, and great excitement prevailed.

A three-story brick house in course of erection at Second and Tasker streets, owned by Louis Brower, was blown down and the débris scattered around for some distance. The roof of the dwelling 120 Tasker street and the roofs of the houses on Fourth street, below Morris, were blown off. Along Moore, Second, Mifflin, Third, and Morris streets and Moyamensing avenue awnings and chimneys were blown down, trees were uprooted, and considerable other damage was done. The police this morning reported that several persons had been slightly injured by being struck by flying missiles during the storm.

SHE CLAIMS $60,000 DAMAGES.

A Young Woman's Suit Against a Doctor for Criminal Assault.

CHICAGO, July 23.—Suit for $60,000 damages was begun by Miss Ezrene Fuller in the Circuit Court to-day against Dr. Stephen C. Deveney, who lives on Indiana avenue. Miss Fuller's attorney explains that the suit is the outgrowth of a former sensational charge against the Doctor. Miss Fuller is about 25 years of age, and has maintained herself by painting and fancy work. About a year ago she was suffering from a nervous disease and visited Dr. Deveney for treatment. It was alleged by her at the time that while being treated the Doctor gave her a drug which caused her to become unconscious, and that while she was in this state he made a criminal assault upon her. The case was presented to the Grand Jury, and it was alleged an indictment was found, but afterward withdrawn.

A YOUNG HUSBAND OVERMATCHED.

His Handsome Wife has Finger Nails and her Mother had the Rolling Pin.

Mrs. Annie Willey, a handsome young woman, accused her husband, Percy T., in the Harlem Court yesterday, of assaulting her. She bore no visible mark of injury. Percy's face was badly scratched.

"Those are her marks," he said, sententiously. "Her mother hit me with a rolling pin besides."

Annie admitted the truth of Percy's remarks, but added, with a toss of her pretty head, "It serves him right. He earns lots of money, but drinks it all up. He don't give me anything for my support. He has written a book, entitled 'Easy Method of Bookkeeping,' and it gives him an income of $1,500 a year."

Percy was let go on the charge of assault, and paroled to answer to a charge of abandonment.

Report on the Wrath of Capt. Williams.

Superintendent Murray made a report to the Police Commissioners yesterday about the unpleasantness between Capt. Williams and Lieut. Beneke of the Twenty-second Regiment on Decoration Day. The lieutenant charges that the Captain told him he lied, and spoke of him as "that thing in a white coat," because, in compliance with instructions, he wouldn't let some women friends of the Captain into the reviewing stand without tickets. Superintendent Murray's report merely rehearses the facts in the case in the form of statements by witnesses of the row, and expresses no opinion. It was referred to Commissioner French, and that is probably the last that will be heard of it.

Got a Bride and his Freedom.

Levy Carsone and Sophie Weill were married by Judge Nehrbas in the City Court yesterday. Carsone has been in Ludlow street jail for some time, in default of $5,000 bail in Miss Sophie's suit against him for breach of promise, and he concluded to keep his promise. Lawyer Steiner was best man.
