THE NEW PREMIER'S SPEECH.

LORD SALISBURY ADDRESSES HIS PARTY AT THE CARLTON CLUB.

Hartington will Support the Government on Questions Concerning the Safety of the Empire—An Irish Bill to be Prepared.

LONDON, July 27.—Long before the time appointed for the meeting of the Conservatives to-day the Carleton Club building was surrounded by a large crowd. The people were evidently strong sympathizers with the dominant party, and cheered each leader as he appeared. Lord Iddesleigh, Lord John Manners, and Lord Charles Beresford were welcomed with applause that was specially enthusiastic. The applause which greeted the Marquis of Salisbury when he made his appearance amounted to an ovation. The new Premier was even more heartily received by the meeting inside.

He made an address on the political situation. He congratulated his hearers on the success of the Conservative party in the recent elections, and the wisdom and necessity of acting in accord with the Liberal-Unionists in Irish policy.

He formally announced that he had accepted the office of Prime Minister, and that he had previously, on behalf of the Conservative party, offered the Premiership to Lord Hartington, and that the Queen had approved the proffer. Lord Hartington, however, saw fit to decline the task of forming the Government; but he promised for himself and his colleagues that they would loyally support the Government formed by the Conservatives. Concerning the nature of this promised support, the Premier said that Lord Hartington had given assurances that the Liberal-Unionists would support this Conservative Government "on every question concerning the maintenance and integrity of the empire."

So far as the Irish policy of the Government was concerned, Lord Hartington had promised that the Liberal-Unionists would "give any measure proposed by the Government for the relief of Irish grievances most careful consideration."

"Concerning this subject," said the Premier, "I would inform the meeting that in any scheme of reform contemplated in the machinery of the Irish question I will do my best to obtain the cooperation of the Marquis of Hartington. [Cheers.] The Liberal-Unionists have reserved to themselves freedom of action outside these limits, but I need scarcely say that we can reckon on their support against vexatious and fractious opposition or obstruction without the giving of distinct pledges."

Diverting to the Irish question, at the conclusion of his speech, the Marquis said: "I might say also that the Ministry will forthwith prepare a bill to grapple with the Irish difficulty in the direction of extended local self-government."

Mr. Arthur Loftus Tottenham, Tory member for Winchester, here asked what protection would in the mean time be afforded to "the loyalists in Ireland whose lives were becoming a burden to them."

Lord Salisbury replied that the Government meant to "rigorously enforce the existing laws and apply for additional powers if necessary." "But," he added, "it is unwise to discuss these matters before the estimates are finished." Parliament would be at once summoned, Lord Salisbury announced, and would sit continuously during August for the purpose of passing the estimates.

He then asked those present to preserve absolute secrecy concerning all the statements of Government policy he had made, and requested the meeting to approve the action taken by himself and colleagues respecting the line of proposed mutual action between the Conservatives and the Liberal-Unionists.

The request was received with deafening applause.

The Earl of Iddesleigh (Sir Stafford Northcote), the Right Hon. Henry Cecil Raikes, member for Cambridge University; the Right Hon. Sir John Robert Mobray, member for Oxford University; Sir Henry Thurston Holland, member for Hampstead, and others followed Lord Salisbury, all warmly praising and endorsing his efforts to effect a coalition with the Liberal Unionists, and speaking with enthusiasm of the new Government's prospects.

Lord Iddesleigh received an ovation when he arose to address the meeting. Over 400 Tory peers and Conservative members of the new House of Commons were present.

Lord Salisbury, Lord Randolph Churchill, and Sir Michael Hicks-Beach had a long conference this afternoon. It is reported that Lord Salisbury is having great difficulty in the work of filling the post of Chief Secretary for Ireland, no suitable man desiring to take the office under the new Government. Lord Hartington had been consulted about the Irish Secretaryship before to-day's conference, and the hitch which has occurred over the question may necessitate his return from Goodwood, whither he has gone to attend the races.

WELCOME TO DAVITT AND O'BRIEN.

The Municipal Council Withdraws in President Egan's Favor.

When the Municipal Council of the Irish National League met last night, Chairman James A. O'Gorman of the committee recently appointed to receive Home Rulers Michael Davitt and William O'Brien on their arrival in New York next month, presented a report signed by himself, T. P. Farrell, James Cox, Patrick Gleason, R. J. Kennedy, J. P. Ryan, P. J. Dooley, Dr. William B. Wallace, and M. L. Biggane, the members of the committee, asking to be discharged from the duty of receiving the Home Rulers. The report said that President Egan of the National League had entirely misconceived the facts when he assumed that the desire of the Council to fittingly welcome the Home Rulers was an attempt to interfere with his own rights as President of the League, and by his action had caused the withdrawal from the project to welcome the Home Rulers of many conspicuous New Yorkers who had sympathized with and aided the Irish home rule cause. The report advised the Council, however, to sacrifice all local pride and local rights, and prevent the slightest appearance of discord in the League ranks by retiring from participation in the reception of the Home Rulers arranged by President Egan.

After three delegates had spoken against allowing the committee to retire the report was accepted, and the committee discharged by a vote of 77 to 17. A motion to thank the committee was lost, and so was another declaring that the Municipal Council would acquiesce in the arrangements made by President Egan hereafter for the welfare of the Home Rulers.

When the Home Rulers arrive President Egan's committee will be the only ones on hand to receive them.

A Negro Woman's Remarkable Crime.

SAVANNAH, July 27.—The report comes from Tattnall county that one day last week a negro named Samuel Frick, living in the lower part of the county, left with a negro woman named Mary Hollenbeck, who was his neighbor, his little girl, as he had some work to do at a distance. The woman promised to take care of the child, and after holding the little one good by the father departed. That was the last he saw of his child.

Yesterday he returned. A search was given in the vicinity a day or two after the child was placed in the custody of the woman, and she was engaged to prepare the dinner. She deliberately murdered the child, cooked one half of it, and served it at the dinner. The other half of the remains were salted and put in a barrel.

The father, not finding his child, went to the woman's house and instituted a thorough search, when he found in the barrel half of a human body. The appalling discovery was at once made known, and created a great sensation throughout the settlement. The woman was at once arrested, and in her terror she confessed her fearful crime. The indignant negroes seized and burnt her at the stake.

Carried Over Niagara Falls.

BUFFALO, July 27.—The body of B. B. Crandall, the missing real estate man of this city, was found to-day in the Niagara River, at Queenstown. Mr. Crandall disappeared from home on April 2, and the next day his hat and coat were found on boat land, at Niagara Falls, and the indications were that he had leaped into the rapids above the American falls, and perished in the cataract. The finding of the body settles the matter beyond doubt.

"Cooper Graham, who told of the case, said that it would make some difference in his plans. "Of course," said he, "the body was not in buoyant as my cask would be, but I should not like to stay under water for nearly four months."

Terrible Storm in the Northwest.

FORT ASSINABOINE, July 27.—A great storm here yesterday blew the Quartermaster's store down. The loss is $30,000. The buildings all rocked as if in an earthquake.

HATTOCK, Minn., July 27.—The damage to grain by Saturday's hail storm amounts to 150,000 bushels in the country tributary to Argyl and 100,000 bushels in the country about Warren, together with as much oats and barley. A special from St. Thomas, Dakota, says 10,000 acres of wheat were destroyed in the same storm.

The Hop Crop Ruined.

CANANDAIGUA, July 27.—The last ray of hope seemed to be extinguished by the hop growers throughout New York State yesterday morning. During the night a heavy rain occurred. The growers thought that this would have a good effect but instead each which yesterday appeared green and healthy are now black and shrivelled. The growers destroyed their yards a week ago, and the example will now be followed generally.

Smash-up on the Canadian Pacific.

OWEN SOUND, Ont., July 27.—A Canadian Pacific freight train, consisting of twenty-two cars, ran off the track this morning at Sink Hole, causing a general smash-up. The cars were loaded with steel rails, and ten of them went over an embankment, the rails being twisted in every possible shape.

Barber Tail Figures.

BALTIMORE, July 27.—William Scott, colored, died in this city to-day. The certificate of his death placed his age at 153 years.

ALL THE WATER IN TWO COUNTIES.

A Syndicate which is Said to Own It and to Have Newark at its Mercy.

In anticipation that Newark and Jersey City will soon be driven to seek a water supply from other sources than the filthy Passaic, a number of capitalists have bought several lakes and considerable territory in Sussex and Passaic counties, where they are said to contemplate the construction of a large reservoir. Dunkers Pond in Passaic county, near Stockholm, is small, but its foot lies between two mountains whose summits are 1,100 feet above tide. In this gorge these capitalists propose to build a dam fifty feet high and fifty yards long, which will back up the water over their recently acquired territory and form a lake more than four miles long, with a depth of about 75 feet. Other similar reservoirs are to be built in equally advantageous situations, but this is only a small part of the plan which Mr. Frank Hoxie and others of Paterson and Newark have in view. They have secured control of the ancient franchise of the Society for the Promotion of Useful Manufactures, and they give them the control of the waters of the whole of Passaic and Morris counties, including the overflow from Greenwood Lake and Lake Hopatcong, together with the Whippany, Rockaway, Pequannock, Ramapo, Pompton, and Passaic Rivers, draining nearly a score of small lakes and nearly 1,000 square miles of land. Agents of the new corporation have been working secretly for several months, and numerous surveys have been made.

The Society for the Promotion of Useful Manufactures was established at the Passaic Falls nearly 100 years ago. Alexander Hamilton directed the preparation of the charter, contracts, and other instruments. It enriched the Boudinots, Colts, and others. Power was supplied for the mills of Paterson for many years, and, in fact, a great deal of the power is still used and paid for at so much per square foot of intake from the race. Steam, however, has greatly lessened the value of the property, and it is now asserted that the society has either combined with the new water company or sold the franchise outright.

The Newark Water Board met last night, and received several propositions looking to the improvement of the water supply. The Hyatt Filter Company decorated the walls with plans, which were explained by a lawyer and an engineer. A Boston filtering concern entered another proposition, and the agent of the great water shed scheme referred to above put in a skeleton of the plan with guarded explanations. No action was taken.

SMUGGLED FIRE WATER.

An Ingenious Scheme for Supplying Rhode Island with Whiskey.

BOSTON, July 27.—A red faced, jolly driver of a two-horse truck got into trouble yesterday afternoon and unexpectedly revealed a secret. He was coming up Tremont street from the North End, and, when opposite the Common, got in a jam of truck teams, one of which tipped off a portion of his load. Among other things which fell into the street were three wooden shipping cases filled with eggs. The cases hold forty-nine dozen each. The cover of one case was knocked off, and the eggs went skipping over the pavement. Two newsboys rushed in and began to break and suck the eggs. A large boy cracked a shell and began to swallow its contents, when he suddenly made a wry face.

"Bad?" asked a bystander.

"Naw," was the reply; "but's a funny tasting egg's e'ver I seed."

The other boy, after tasting one or two eggs, turned to the crowd, and said:

"Taint an egg at all, it's nothing but whiskey."

Of course there was a scramble for the eggs, and the driver had hard work to get his box back. When his boxes were all loaded again, he said he had received six cases of eggs from a North End liquor dealer, who told him to take them to the Providence Depot, and cautioned him to be careful and "not hatch the eggs on the way," as they were for hotel use in Rhode Island.

Taking up one of the eggs and breaking it in front of the crowd, a ruddy liquid ran out, leaving nothing but a common porcelain shell such as is sold at agricultural supply stores for "nest eggs." Instead of albumen and yolk every egg was full of the best whiskey, each one containing about enough for a good drink. They were filled through a small hole in the big end, and the hole was closed with waterproof cemented cloth of the same color as the egg. By chalking the egg a little the deception was complete.

"Fellers are going to Newport and Narragansett Pier," said the driver, "and I'll bet lots of people will eat eggs down there who never liked them before."

DESIGNER OF THE GENESTA.

Mr. J. Beavor-Webb Arrives from England, and has No Fears for the Overdue Galatea.

Mr. J. Beavor-Webb, designer of the cutters Genesta and Galatea, arrived here yesterday from Liverpool on the Guion line steamship Wyoming, and went to the Victoria Hotel. He strolled into the rooms of the New York Yacht Club last evening, and was warmly greeted by the yachtsmen there.

He expressed no surprise over the non-arrival of the Galatea, on which are Lieut. Henn and his wife. He said the Atlantic had been unusually stormy this month, and the Galatea could not, therefore, be reasonably expected to make a quick passage. Her owner had said before starting from England that he would take his time in crossing.

A Discouraged Tailor.

The servant girl employed by A. Staub of 175 Eldridge street went into the cellar for coal yesterday morn ng and found the dead body of a man hanging by the neck from the gas pipe. The cellar was bare, and the girl stumbled against the body and screamed. Inmates of the house who heard her voice found the body in a dark corner of the cellar swinging to and fro, and the girl in a dead faint.

Mr. Staub recognized the body as that of Adolph Steinfroeder, a tailor, to whom he had given lodgings for the past year. He was 65 years old, and his wife died a year ago. Monday night he spent his last cent in an Eldridge street saloon, and then went home and hanged himself. Coroner Nugent found this letter in his coat pocket:

To my children, 107 Stanton street, Brooklyn:

I am sick so hard I can not work, can live no longer. Farewell, and forget me. My dues are paid to the benevolent society.

A. STEINFROEDER.

Love and Pistols.

William Harrigan, a young workingman, living in the tenement at 417 Cherry street, entertains, he says, a purely Platonic affection for a pretty girl in the same house. Edward Connell of Water street also thinks a great deal of her. He manifested his displeasure at Harrigan's attentions on July 4 by firing four shots at him. That did not stop Harrigan from sitting on the stoop with the young woman. Connell came around again on Sunday night and began blazing away at Harrigan, who got out of the way. Then Connell turned his revolver on Janitor Louis Warner, who happened to be in his direction, and ran away. Harrigan went to Essex Market on Monday, complained that he was tired of being shot at, and asked for a warrant for Connell. He got it, and Connell was arrested and held for trial. Harrigan says the young woman is too young and good for either himself or Connell.

TRIBUTES TO H. O. THOMPSON.

THE FUNERAL TO BE TO-MORROW FROM TRINITY CHAPEL.

His Aged Mother Passes the Day Beside His Coffin—Pall Bearers Appointed—The County Democracy Mourns Its Dead Leader.

Hubert O. Thompson's mother, gray haired and bent with years, went at 9 o'clock yesterday morning to the room in the Worth House where his body lay. Capt. G. Thompson, his father, came with her. No flowers had been received from friends. The mother strewed roses, lilies, carnations, and vines over the ice coffin. Mr. Thompson's sister Cora arrived from Maine, and his aunts, Mrs. J. Kennedy Smyth and Mrs. Alfred Nelson joined the family. The mother remained beside the body all day. Mr. Thompson's cousin, Police Court Clerk Conrad M. Smyth, and his private secretary, E. C. Donnall, had watched it during the night. The face of the dead man was composed, but wasted and not natural.

Secretary Manning sent a despatch from Albany in the morning asking Judge Truax to convey his condolences to the family. The Secretary's health will not permit him to attend the funeral. Allan Campbell telegraphed from Richfield Springs that he would be present to act as a pall bearer.

The arrangements for the funeral are in the care of Gilbert M. Speir, Jr., and Judge Charles H. Truax. There will be a private funeral service at the Worth House early to-morrow morning, and at half-past 10 A. M. a public service in Trinity Chapel, on the north side of Twenty-fifth street, a few doors from the hotel. The Rev. Dr. Samuel S. Seward, pastor of the Swedenborgian Church of the New Jerusalem, has been asked by telegraph to officiate. A special train will take the coffin and friends to Woodlawn. The pall bearers will be Mayor Grace, Secretary Whitney, E. Ellery Anderson, Judges Henry Wilder Allen, Charles H. Truax, and George P. Andrews; Police Justices Maurice J. Power, Edward Kearney, Gilbert M. Speir, Jr., Surveyor Hans S. Beattie, and Allan Campbell.

The coffin will be of velvet-covered red cedar, with silver handles and trimmings.

Collector Hedden, Surveyor Beattie, James W. Boyle, Richard A. Cunningham, E. S. Stokes, Senator Murphy, W. P. Mitchell, Police Commissioner John R. Voorhis, Maurice B. Flynn, James J. Kelso, Park Commissioner Henry R. Beekman, Civil Justice Kelly, E. Ellery Anderson, D. Lowber Smith, and Charles W. Dayton were among the many callers at the Worth House yesterday.

At 5 o'clock in the afternoon the New Amsterdam Club, of which Mr. Thompson was the founder, met, and Col. Fellows offered a resolution of regret.

"I was not aware," he said, "of the dangerous condition of this dearly loved personal friend, this trusted and honored political counsellor. I had supposed he was in the possession of his usual health, and my grief is sudden and inexpressible. Here where the atmosphere is pervaded by him, where everything is owed to him, in the club of which he was the founder, we feel as orphans."

The Board of Managers and individual members of the club will attend the funeral in a body. Delegations or representatives from the New York, Manhattan, and Lambs' clubs, D. K. E., Montgomery Lodge of Masons, the Liederkranz, the Coney Island Jockey Club, and the Gentlemen's Driving Club will also attend.

When the Tammany Democracy met and the Executive Committee of the County Democracy to order last night there was an unusually large attendance. Mr. Purroy said a few words in tribute to Mr. Thompson's memory. E. Ellery Anderson also spoke, and Dr. Donlin offered resolutions which say:

Although he had not reached the fulness of his 38th year, Hubert O. Thompson had acquired a prominence in the public mind, by ability and service, which made his name known throughout our country. One of the founders of this organization, and its ever ready and untiring supporter, he enjoyed the confidence of its members and an influence in its councils which placed him in the lead of its active men. To him is largely due the success it has obtained. To say that he never erred in his views would attribute to him an infallibility that can be claimed by none. He was, however, blessed by nature with a wide intelligence, a sound judgment, and an unselfish devotion which his associates gratefully acknowledge and which we appreciate. We know with sorrow we realize that they have lost forever his invaluable aid. As a member of the Democratic State Committee his counsel was always potent and contributed greatly to the victory that followed his efforts. As a member of the Democratic National Committee his work was of inestimable value, and to no man is greater credit due for the triumphant result of the last Presidential election.

The Executive Committee resolved to attend the funeral, and it was recommended that the members of the several district committees also attend, and that a committee of thirty-eight be appointed to accompany the body to the place of interment. A memorial meeting of the members of the district committees and others will be held in the large hall of the Cooper Union on the evening of Aug. 10.

Assistant District Attorney Fitzgerald and Nelson J. Waterbury spoke. The committee of thirty-eight to accompany the body to Woodlawn will be:

Michael C. Murphy, Thomas F. Walsh, H. R. Beekman, Daniel Dougherty, Dr. Philip Dorlon, Dr. Lewis Sayre, J. Campbell, Arthur Berry, Patrick McCabe, Dennis Patterson, John R. Voorhis, Wm. P. Mitchell, J. Henry Ford, F. A. Stetson, L. B. Ferris, Patrick Keenan, J. G. Schmidt, Gilbert M. Speir, Jr., Henry Ehrlich, Samuel Sabin, Hayes, J. Keane, W. Wild, Michael Flynn, Thomas Costigan, M. J. Power, James Fitzgerald, Henry Murray, J. A. McAuley, Robert Ball, P. H. Mahoney, Wm. Walsh, John F. Dore, John R. Fellows, Patrick H. Kerwin, J. B. Kelso, J. D. Crimmins, R. R. Martine, A. J. White, Chas. W. Dayton, H. D. Purroy, J. J. Mooney, Wm. Cundwell, Chas. Reilly, Henry Clausen.

Accused of Bigamy and Attempted Suicide.

Bernard Miller of Glen Cove married a New York girl last winter, but after they had lived here for a short time he left her without telling her where he was going. He went back to Glen Cove, where it is said he married Miss Addie Wanser. On last Saturday his wife found out where he was and went to her home. It is said that after he had heard the opinion of Miss Wanser's father and others as to the kind of man he was he became despondent. He went down to the wharf and jumped off into the water. He was rescued without much damage. He was arraigned yesterday before Justice Foster on charges of attempted suicide, but the case was adjourned until Monday.

Labor Unions in Politics.

The Committee on Political Action of the Central Labor Union held another meeting last night in the hall at 141 East Eighth street. Credentials were received from upward of 100 unions which had voted to go into politics this fall on their own hook. Another proposition was passed that the trade and labor organizations of this county asking them to be represented at the Labor Conference on Aug. 5 at 7 P. M. in Clarendon Hall. Only organizations of six months' standing or affiliated with some central body will be admitted.

Beer and Music.

Policeman Bissert of the Fifth street police was instructed on July 7 to go to Jacob Blank's beer garden at Third avenue and Thirteenth street and arrest the proprietor or manager under the new theatrical law. Blank was out. Emile Freymueller was pointed out as the head waiter, and was arrested. Justice O'Gorman discharged him yesterday, holding that he was not responsible for the female orchestra whose music flows with the beer.

Prince Sadanaru Going to See the President.

Prince Sadanaru Fushimi of Japan and suite left the city yesterday morning for Washington. They will be the guests of the Japanese Minister, and the Prince will be formally presented to the President to-day. The Prince will remain until Saturday. He will pass Sunday in New York, staying at the Windsor Hotel, and on Monday he will start for San Francisco, taking in Niagara Falls by the way.

Ladies' Day on the Yachts.

NEW HAVEN, July 27.—This was the New Haven Yacht Club's annual ladies' day. The yachtsmen and their lady friends sailed down the harbor in fourteen of the finest yachts in the afternoon and returned to the club house to supper. There were a band concert and fireworks in the evening.

Pool Seller Dugan Fined.

LONG BRANCH, July 27.—James Dugan, proprietor of the pool rooms on Broadway, who was arrested twice for selling pools on the Monmouth Park races, was convicted yesterday. Justice Morss fined him $100. His lawyers have appealed to the Supreme Court.

Hoboken Pool Rooms Closed.

The dozen or more pool rooms in Hoboken were closed yesterday by order of Prosecutor of the Pleas Winfield. The employees in all the rooms were discharged, and it is said no further effort will be made by the pool sellers to open again.

Heenid and Glynn to Box.

Articles were signed yesterday for a glove fight between Frank Heenid and Jack Glynn of Brooklyn. The match is to be eight rounds, the winner to take the gate money, and it will be fought at New Dorp, S. I., on Aug. 14.

Sporting Notes.

Harry Johnson, the famous sprinter, will try to lower the 100 yard record at Cleveland on July 31.

Jack Ashton of Providence and Jack Kilrain of Boston are to box at Rickewood Park, Brooklyn, on Saturday next.

J. E. Turner, of London, Ont., offers to jump any man in America, one sing e broad jump or three single standing jumps, for $500 a side.

Ashton was not permitted to spar McCoy eight rounds in Bridgeport last night, because he is to meet Kilrain at Ridgewood on Saturday next.

Four additional entries have been received by the Coney Island Jockey Club to the Realization Stakes, making a total of 217 nominations for the rich prize to close.

George Soleinne, the pedestrian, has challenged Weston to a 2-mile race, Soleinne to go as he pleases for the first mile, a day and Weston to walk ten hours, for $1,000 a side.

The heavy weight, Jack Welch of Philadelphia, who fought the Prussian for five hours, offers to meet Dominick Mc Caffrey in a room and will bet $500 of his own money that he will win in 30 minutes.

John Teemer, Wallace Ross, and George W. Lee sailed yesterday on the Alaska for London. They are entered for the amateur oarsmen's championship race over the Thames 4½ miles rather, to be rowed Aug. 30 and 31 and Sept. 1. The other entries are William Beach, the Australian who defeated Hanlan, George J. Perkins, Neil Matterson, Peter Kemp, and George Bubear. They will draw and race in pairs, no man rowing twice on the same day. The first prize is $1,200 and the second $600.

RACING IN SARATOGA.

The Events Won by Agnes, Jim Douglass, Volante, Richmond, and Zamora.

SARATOGA, July 27.—The track was in good condition to-day and the attendance was large.

First Race—Half a mile. Auction pools—Lizzie Kropps, $50; Agnes, $20; Swigert's pair, Prodigal and Violet, $20; the field, $20. Book betting—Lizzie Kropps, 6 to 5 against; Agnes 3 to 1; Prodigal, 3 to 1; Rebellion, 15 to 1; Violet, 15 to 1; Blessed, 20 to 1; Belle Broeck, 25 to 1. Agnes won, with Lizzie Kropps second and Prodigal third. Prodigal and Lizzie Kropps ran head and head to the three-quarter pole, where Lizzie Kropps got a slight lead. McLaughlin, on Agnes, made one of his desperate efforts down the stretch, joined the leaders in the last 100 yards, and, persevering, got the Dwyer filly across the line a neck in front of Lizzie Kropps. Mutuals paid $17.40.

Second Race—Three-quarters of a mile. Auction pools—Test, $25; Fletch Taylor, $16; Jim Douglass, $11; the field, $12. Book betting—Test, 7 to 5 against; Fletch Taylor, 9 to 5; Jim Douglass, 5 to 1; Brambleton, 8 to 1; Katrina, 12 to 1; Harefoot, 15 to 1; Bess, 20 to 1. Fletch Taylor took a good lead at the start, and at the turn for home was three lengths before Brambleton, with Harefoot running third, and Bess, Test, and Jim Douglass following. At the three-quarter pole Bess rushed to the front. The others, however, were all well up. There was an exciting race to the grand stand, where Jim Douglass, coming strong on the outside, easily took the lead, and, holding it, won by two lengths, well in hand, with Harefoot two lengths before Fletch Taylor. Test ran fourth. Time, 1:16. Mutuals paid $24.40.

Third Race—One and one-quarter miles. Auction pools—Volante, $100; the field, $23. Book betting—Volante, 5 to 1 on; O'Fallon, 6 to 1 against; Joe Cotton, 7 to 1; Silver Cloud, 10 to 1. O'Fallon led from the start to the home-stretch, but here Volante easily passed him and, coming on, won under a pull by two lengths. O'Fallon second, Silver Cloud third. Joe Cotton was beaten off. Time, 2:12¾. Mutuals paid $3.

Fourth Race—One mile and five hundred yards. Auction pools—Hidalgo barred; Richmond, $50; Elkwood, $23. Book betting—Hidalgo, 5 to 2 on; Richmond, 2 to 1 against; Elkwood, 5 to 1. Elkwood and Hidalgo ran head and head from the start to the turn for home, where McLaughlin brought Richmond up, and a beautiful race ensued down the homestretch to the betting stand, where Hidalgo fell back beaten. Richmond had Elkwood well in hand, passing the grand stand, and crossed the line a winner by a length. Elkwood second, two lengths before Hidalgo. Time, 2:16¾. Mutuals paid $13.

Fifth Race—One mile. Auction pools—Zamora, $35; Bramble—Arnica filly, $33; Isiette, $25; Boreas, $11. Book betting—Bramble—Arnica filly, 8 to 5 against; Zamora, 2 to 1 against; Isiette, 2½ to 1 against; Boreas, 6 to 1 against. Isiette was the slow pace and held the lead to the lower turn, Boreas second, and the others lapped. In the homestretch Zamora came through and took the lead in the last 100 yards, winning by two lengths, Boreas second, a length ahead of Isiette, third. Time, 1:45¼. Mutuals paid $10.20.

THE NATIONAL GAME.

The New Yorks Win—A Brilliant Game at Staten Island—Other Games.

The New Yorks added another victory to their credit yesterday, while the Chicago and Detroit clubs both had an off day. This makes the record as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	Played.	Per cent. won.
Detroit	53	14	65	.784
Chicago	41	15	64	.762
New York	44	21	65	.670

The tail-enders allowed the New York Giants to send eight men around the bases in the game at Washington yesterday. The New Yorkers batted Barr all over the lot, and apparently got tired running bases after they had secured a good lead. The Washingtons could do nothing with Welch, and had it not been for Carroll the home club would have been completely shut out. On several occasions Welch was sent home safely on a Washingtonian to first base on balls, but when they reached the base they positively did not know enough to do so. In the eighth inning Barr exhibited his abilities as a base runner, to the disgust of the crowd, and at the same time to the detriment of his club. In this inning Welch went home on first base on balls, and then Barr made his way to the first base safely, and then carried a hit for second base, which derelict made a phenomenal catch of, Gerhardt, in catching the ball, fell down and rolled over, and was apparently hurt. Barr was too much interested in Gerhardt, and stood on the base watching New York's second baseman roll over the ground in pain, when he could easily have scored another run. In the same inning he made another error equally as bad. The score:

The Metropolitans played well against the Pittsburgh team at Staten Island yesterday, their field work being sharp and their batting heavy. Caldwell, for the first eight innings, held the visitors down without a hit in the last inning, however, eleven got in a single, the only one on the part of the visitors during the game. It brought in a run, however. The only error made by the home team was an excusable one by Beckley. The score:

One inning settled the game between the Brooklyn and Cincinnati clubs at Washington Park. The first five innings of the game were well contested, but in the sixth inning the Cincinnati team became rattled, and errors by McClure and Fenton in the field, Moon on balls, and four hits well placed gave the Brooklyns eight runs. After this the visitors settled down and played a really fine uphill game, but their inability to hit the clever pitching of Porter prevented their regaining lost ground. Kennelly was rather weak in his work, and his errors came dear. The score:
