ODDITIES OF JOHN BAIRD.

THE CHANGES A TRIP TO EUROPE IS SAID TO HAVE MADE.

Previously Most Economical and Circumspect, He is said to have Spent Money Aimlessly and to have Learned to Swear.

The commission and Sheriff's jury appointed to inquire as to the sanity of John Baird, the mechanical engineer, on whose designs the elevated roads of this city were built, and whose fortune is in the neighborhood of $600,000, was continued yesterday in the Supreme Court, Part II.

Mr. Baird had stayed at the Astor House over night with his brother and a servant of Dr. Barstow, in whose madhouse at Flushing Mr. Baird has been confined since December, 1882. Mrs. Baird and her children were again present, but Mr. Baird refused to talk to them. He chatted a few minutes with his son-in-law, Mr. Robert E. Stobo of the Produce Exchange, bought and read an evening paper while waiting for the proceedings to begin, and throughout the examination prompted his counsel. He did not again interrupt Algernon S. Sullivan who appeared for the family, and asked John S. Baird, the eldest son, a few more questions.

Young Mr. Baird gave an account of his stewardship of the estate, and produced a receipt from the Union Trust Company for his father's bonds and railroad securities. Their par value is $330,000. Nearly $200,000 more of property was accounted for. He told Lawyer Robert H. McClellan, his father's counsel, that on Tuesday he was appointed receiver of the property, but hadn't filed his bond yet.

In answer to Mr. Sullivan's questions Addison W. Baird, the youngest son, said that his father was in fair health before he went to Europe, in the spring of 1882, with his second wife. He was then an extremely careful and conscientious man. Honest and accurate in all his dealings and statements, and would not knowingly say anything to offend anybody. He was a devout Christian. On his return in October his eyes, cheeks, and temples were sunken, and he was nervous and moody. "He became quite profane," added Addison Baird. "damned and cursed at people, and bought several carriages and much silverware, for which he had no use. One Sunday in December, 1882, he said that his wife would die on Tuesday, and asked witness to make the funeral arrangements and order the flowers. He wanted him also to determine whether the funeral should be at the church or from the house. She didn't die Tuesday, and then he named several other days as the time set for her death. In that month he went to the Union League Club, of which he was a member, and took a drink at the bar, an unheard-of action on his part. He there ordered the elevator boy to take him to the kitchen on the roof, and, when the boy refused, said to him: 'That's all right; God Almighty would take me up if I asked him to.'

Mr. Baird took a notion that his wife would poison him, and he went to the Park Avenue Hotel, whither his son followed him. He had registered, but he wouldn't stay there because, he said, "the clerk didn't like Landlord Hoyt's eye. He insisted upon calling with me," added Mr. Baird, Jr., "on Mrs. Robert L. Stuart a few days after her husband died. The servant wouldn't let him see Mrs. Stuart, and father cursed him and said the house belonged to him, and that he had come to take possession. There was quite a scene."

While at Sanford Hall young Mr. Baird visited his father, and the latter told him that the doctors, servants, and everybody knowing him to be the heir of such vast estates wanted to poison him; that they put poison in his food, trousers, and hat band.

The examination goes on to-day.

OBJECTORS TO THE ARCADE RAILWAY.

Complaint in a Suit for an Injunction Served on the Company's Attorney.

The complaint in the case of various property owners on Broadway and Madison avenue against the Arcade Railroad Company was served on ex-Senator Thomas, attorney for the company, yesterday. The complainants ask that the Arcade Company be enjoined permanently from tunnelling Broadway and Madison avenue. No temporary injunction has been asked for or granted. The company is allowed twenty days to answer. Ex-Senator Thomas said he had intended to go off presently on his vacation, but he would postpone it and be ready to answer as soon as possible. The company wish to have the case tried at the first special term of court.

The suit is brought by the owners of some $17,000,000 worth of abutting property—the same persons who opposed the old underground project in 1870. The signers are:

John Jacob Astor, William Astor, Orlando B. Potter, the Williamsburgh City Fire Insurance Company, Henry Hilton, W. D. Sloane, the Methodist Book Concern in the city of New York, James Renwick, William H. Webb, Elias S. Higgins, the Chemical National Bank, the Kernochans, Joseph, Francis, and Catherine L. Wolfe, the Western Union Telegraph Company, the Park National Bank, James M. Constable, E. D. Adams, and J. Pierpont Morgan.

The opponents of the enterprise say that the law under which the company purposes to go to work is unconstitutional; that the Arcade road will reduce rents along Broadway and Madison avenue, causing a loss in rentals of $6,500,000, and in taxes of $1,000,000 through a reduction in the present assessment of $137,000,000; that the drainage, gas, and water pipes will be disturbed and perhaps ruined, and that the $3,000,000 bond required of the company is not enough security against damage and danger to houses through having their foundations undermined.

President Meiville C. Smith said:

"Our company is worth $20,000,000. Surely that is enough security for anybody. But there is no chance of our doing any damage. We are bound by the law of our creation not to disturb traffic on Broadway. We shall sink our shafts, and put up portable bridges, with car tracks over them, between 2 and 4 A. M., and work will go on under the bridges all day. A stout wall will be built under the curbstone as the excavation goes on. We expect to begin work this fall. The owners of $16,472,000 of property, out of a total eight times as large, have objected. The great majority want the road."

EX-CHIEF M'CABE'S SUCCESSOR.

Battalion Chief Reilly, Who Was in Command of the Harlem Fire, is Promoted.

Fire Commissioner Purroy disappointed his enemies, if he did not surprise his friends, yesterday, by procuring the promotion of Battalion Chief Reilly, instead of his own brother, to the place made vacant by the dismissal of Second Assistant Department Chief McCabe. The appointment was made on the recommendation of Chief Shay and Assistant Chief Bonner. Reilly has served in the department for nearly twenty-one years. Commissioner Croker alone voted against his promotion. He thought that no successor to ex-Chief McCabe should be chosen until the result of McCabe's appeal to the courts should be determined. Reilly will have to pass the civil service examination.

The name of Foreman John J. Cashman, acting Chief of the First Battalion, will be sent to the civil service examiners so that he may prove that he is theoretically as well as practically qualified to fill the vacancy made by Reilly's promotion.

Chief Reilly was in command at the Harlem fire when Chief McCabe arrived on the ground and turned in the "three 6s." He will get $3,000 salary in his new place, which is an increase for him of $800.

To Receive Davitt and O'Brien.

Home Rulers Michael Davitt and William O'Brien will start to-morrow for this country to attend the Convention of the Irish National League of America in Chicago, at which a successor to President Patrick Egan is to be elected. They come as the guests of the National League at its invitation. The two Home Rulers are expected to reach this port on Aug. 10, and the Reception Committee that Patrick Egan appointed to welcome them and which is now the executive committee that will receive them, will have a tug ready to go down the bay and bring them up to town with appropriate ceremony. The committee will consist of these gentlemen, named by President Egan: Michael Boland, Executive of the Irish National League of the State of New York; Mayor Grace, Mayor Whitney of Brooklyn, President John J. Delaney of the Municipal Council of the League, M. D. Gallagher, ex-President of the Municipal Council; John Reilly, President of the Brooklyn Municipal Council, ex-National League Secretary William Hows, James Mooney of Buffalo, Editor Patrick Ford, National Delegate of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, and Michael Kennedy, State Delegate of the same organization. The Home Rulers will be lionized in this city, and afterward Gen. Kirwan will escort them to Chicago. There President Egan, who is a personal friend of both the Home Rulers, will arrange a reception for them.

Secretary McCullok Removed.

At the meeting of the Aqueduct Commissioners yesterday secretary McCullok was removed and John W. Sheehan was appointed in his place by the votes of Commissioners Squire, Barnes, Ridgeway, and Fish, opposed to the protests of Commissioners Spencer, Dowd, and Baldwin. In the resolution of removal Mr. McCullok was spoken of as from New Jersey. Mr. Sheehan is a brother of Assemblyman Sheehan, 37 years of age, and has been a prominent Democrat of Buffalo. The salary is $4,000 per annum. The Board decided to employ Mr. McCullok at a salary of $1,800 per annum for two months to assist in land purchases. Commissioners Dowd and Baldwin gave notice that they would file a formal protest at the next meeting.

German Trout.

Fish Commissioner E. G. Blackford had on exhibition yesterday a magnificent German trout weighing three pounds, caught in Spring Creek, Mumford, N. Y., by Frank J. Anselon a Rochester banker. These fish were placed in Spring Creek some three years ago by Commissioner Blackford. They were hatched from eggs sent to Mr. Blackford by Herr von Behr of Berlin. They give every evidence of growing more rapidly than our native trout.

CAPT. BRINCKERHOFF WINS.

His Wife's Application for a Divorce Denied by Judge Barnard.

POUGHKEEPSIE, July 28.—The trial of the Brinckerhoff divorce case before Judge Barnard has been the sensation of the day here. The court room was packed with spectators, including nearly fifty ladies. The plaintiff had named Ida Crum as the co-respondent, and called a number of witnesses to show frequent visits night and day by Capt. Brinckerhoff to Miss Crum's house.

One witness swore that one evening, when the Captain entered the house, she saw a hand pull down the window curtain, and thought it was Miss Crum's, as the dress the woman wore was like Miss Crum's dress. Another witness, a man, swore that while he was in a factory near the Crum house one night at about 11 o'clock, fixing a fire, he saw the Captain come out of the rear part of the house and suddenly dodge behind a tree as though he heard some one coming, and the witness said he did see a man coming.

Then it was shown that after the plaintiff and defendant became estranged Ida Crum went to defendant's house, discharged the servant, and took charge of the house herself. This was replied to by defendant showing that as his wife had left him, and his mother, 89 years old, was there alone, and needed care and attention, Ida came at his and his mother's request.

Next plaintiff's counsel called Ada Shannon, who testified that she had been in company with Brinckerhoff in a disreputable house in this city several times since his marriage, and drank whiskey with him in the house. The defence called the housekeeper of the place, who swore that she never saw the Captain in the house. Ada Shannon, when cross-examined, confessed that she had served a term in the Albany penitentiary. She also confessed that she was to be paid $5 a day and expenses for her time and trouble in appearing as a witness. While she was on the stand counsel pointed at Abraham Brinckerhoff, who is Capt. Brinckerhoff's brother, and said: "Is that the man who was at that house with you?" She replied in the affirmative, amid great laughter. Then she corrected herself, and said in a low tone, "No, that must be his brother," amid more laughter.

One witness swore that he saw Capt. Brinckerhoff going in and coming out of the disreputable house once or twice, and he was corroborated by another witness. This closed the testimony for the plaintiff.

The defence called the Sheriff of Broome county, who swore that he wouldn't believe Ada Shannon under oath, and Capt. Brinckerhoff, who swore that he was never in the house in question, and never saw Ada Shannon before. Other testimony of a similar character was given for the defence, and then counsel summed up the case.

Judge Barnard denied plaintiff's motion for a divorce, and ordered the complaint to be dismissed.

THRASHED BY A DOZEN WOMEN.

Postmaster Rattigan Didn't Resist, but there is Said to be Fun Ahead.

PETROLIA, Pa., July 28.—Peter A. Rattigan is editor of the Herald, and also Postmaster at Middletown. Under the head of Butler Items he has been reflecting severely on the members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. Last week seven coach loads of temperance people visited Koester's Park at Slippery Rock and spent the day very pleasantly. An article appeared in the Herald Saturday giving a very uncomplimentary description of the party. The ladies were particularly selected as targets.

Yesterday evening, just before the hour of closing the Post Office, twelve or fifteen women, armed with whips, stationed themselves near the entrance and awaited Rattigan's appearance. As soon as Rattigan stepped outside of the door they began to belabor him, and only desisted at last through exhaustion. Rattigan quietly stood it, and offered no resistance. The affair has created no little feeling, and persons from that town say the end is not yet. The matter has got into the hands of the sterner sex, and, as Rattigan has innumerable friends, trouble is expected. The friends of Rattigan say that the women were instigated by their husbands and other gentlemen friends.

A TRIBUTE TO MATTIE RANDALL.

The Movement to Raise a Monument to the Murdered Girl.

LITCHFIELD, July 28.—The movement looking toward the erection of a monument to the memory of Mattie Randall, the girl who was so brutally murdered in East Morris last Thursday, has taken shape within the last two days, and there is an excellent prospect of its success. Miss Sarah Cowell, the elocutionist, is passing the summer in Morris, and has taken much interest in the terrible tragedy. It is proposed to get up an entertainment of some sort for the monument fund and Miss Cowell has volunteered her services. A Japanese lady, who is also residing for the summer in the vicinity of Litchfield, as well as a lady who has had surprising adventures as a detective, will add their share to make the entertainment a success. It is hoped that in this way a nucleus for a fund may be created which will soon attract to it contributions from other quarters. The idea is that the fund shall come especially from the Sunday schools of the State, for the murdered girl was an earnest and exemplary Sunday school student, and it is felt that her pure and blameless life could not be better commemorated than by a monument erected by those interested in the Sunday school cause.

THE IRON AND STEEL INDUSTRIES.

Great Increase in the Production of Pig Iron and Steel Rails.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—The semi-annual statistical statement of the American Iron and Steel Association shows that our production of pig iron in the first six months of 1886 amounted to 2,954,209 tons of 2,000 pounds, or 2,637,687 tons of 2,240 pounds. The country has never before produced as much pig iron in the same time. Prior to 1879 it never produced as much pig iron in a whole year, and the production of 1879 was only 116,666 net tons greater than that of the first half of this year. The greatest absolute gain in production in the first half of 1886 as compared with the last half of 1885 was made by Pennsylvania, but among the States which are prominent in the production of pig iron, the greatest relative gain was made by Ohio and Alabama, each of which greatly increased its production. The stocks of pig iron on hand and unsold in the hands of makers or their agents at the close of the first half of 1886 amounted to 470,421 net tons, which was a slight increase on the quantity held in stock at the beginning of the year, namely, 416,512 tons.

Our production of Bessemer steel ingots in the first half of 1886 amounted to 1,073,663 net tons, against 938,418 tons in the second half of 1885, and 764,344 tons in the first half of 1885. Our production of Bessemer steel rails in the same period amounted to 707,447 net tons, against 622,101 tons in the second half of 1885, and 453,446 tons in the first half of 1885. Our production of open hearth steel rails was only nominal, amounting to 852 net tons. This country, the report concludes, will make more Bessemer steel, Bessemer steel rails, and more open-hearth steel in 1886 than in any previous year.

The Goods of the Crucys at Auction.

The auction sale, by order of the Surrogate, of the household goods of the late Miss Lucie Crucy, who, with her brother, committed suicide a short time ago, occurred at the Crucy residence, 60 Lexington avenue, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The usual swarm of dealers and auction-going women, with a few persons seeking relics of the tragedy, swarmed through the house from basement to cellar, and it was in every respect a commonplace, every-day sale. The furniture is old and dingy, and the carpets give out little puffs of dust under the feet. The two iron beds on which the dead bodies of the brother and sister were found, together with the carpet and all other furniture in the room, were knocked down to a dealer. A bronze equestrian statue in the parlor brought $28, and the two French clocks in the dining room and front parlor went for $31 and $35 each. As a rule, good prices were obtained.

Mrs. Campbell's Horses.

Annie Louise Campbell, from whom her husband, William Campbell, recently obtained an absolute divorce, sued him in the Superior Court for damages for having forcibly taken from her house and stable on Oct. 4, 1881, during her absence, her horses, carriages, and other property. Judgment was entered in her favor, on the report of a referee, for $12,843.34, to which paid was added a verdict for $1,000 with an extra allowance of $500. The fees of Herman Kobbe, the referee, who gave seventy-two hearings, were $1,300. The divorce was secured by Mr. Campbell in a suit brought by his wife in which he made countercharges.

Divorced from a Bigamist.

Mary Makin, a pretty brunette, was married to Charles C. Hampson in Haverstraw on Sept. 6, 1881. A year or more ago they removed, with their child, to Brooklyn, where Justice Cullen has just granted the wife an absolute divorce, on the ground of bigamy. She discovered, after their removal to Brooklyn, that her husband had another wife and child living when he married her, and when she demanded an explanation he disappeared. Her husband, however, was a correspondence kept up between them. Hampson declared that he had been divorced from his first wife in Chicago, but he was not able to produce the papers.

President Culver's Umbrella.

During the controversy between Andrew R. Culver, President of the Prospect Park and Coney Island Railroad, and Paul Bauer, in Bauer's Casino, on Coney Island, on Monday night, Mr. Culver, as it is alleged, struck M. A. Smith, a friend of Mr. Bauer's on the head with an umbrella. Mr. Smith says the assault was unprovoked, and he has begun a suit against Mr. Culver for $5,000 damages. The trouble all grew out of a dispute about a toy steam signal attached to Mr. Culver's carrousel, the music of which, as Mr. Bauer alleges, makes his guests miserable.

Bride and Groom Accidentally Poisoned.

At a dinner party given by Mrs. Moses Tichenor of Watsessing, N. J., on Monday evening, only two of the guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Van Houton, a bride and groom, of 101 Pacific street, Newark, happened to partake of some canned lobster that was served. Several hours later they became violently ill. Dr. Van Riper of East Orange, who attended them, thinks the lobster was not properly prepared before it was canned. They are now out of danger.

THE WAR ON BETTING.

The Race Track Commissioners Will Have a Breathing Spell.

James E. Kelly, Thomas Murray, John E. Stowe, Albert Cridge, Michael Murray, Mark Jordan, Dougal McDougal, John Kelly, James Donne, and David Johnson, who were convicted in Brooklyn, in 1884, of pool selling on the Sheepshead Bay track, have never been sentenced. Their case was carried to the General Term of the Supreme Court, which approved the conviction, and then an appeal was taken to the Court of Appeals, which has not yet rendered a decision. District Attorney Rudgway of Kings county a few days ago notified the counsel of the convicted men to appear before Judge Moore in the Court of Sessions this morning for sentence. They will not, however, be sentenced to-day, Chief Justice Barnard at Poughkeepsie having granted a stay of proceedings. Justice Barnard says there is a reasonable doubt whether the judgment of conviction should stand.

The present Grand Jury will be discharged to-day, and another will not be summoned before September, until which time the pool sellers and race track commissioners will have a breathing spell. Some additional indictments are expected to-day, and it is rumored that one of them will be against Albert Daggett for his alleged partnership in the pool room which used to flourish a couple of years ago in the basement of the Brighton Beach Hotel.

CAPT. ADAMS'S STRANGE STORY.

He Says he was Attacked and Robbed by Daylight in Madison Avenue.

A well-dressed man, who says he is Capt. A. S. Adams, a travelling man, and when in town lives at the Murray Hill Hotel, has made complaint at Police Headquarters that he was knocked down and robbed in Madison avenue at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. To a reporter of THE SUN he said:

"I ordinarily carry a good deal of ready money and some jewelry with me. On June 30 I went to the cyclorama, at Fifty-ninth street and Madison avenue. As I came out, at 5 o'clock, I was lighting a cigarette, when two men came up to me, and one behind hit me in the small of the back with a sand bag. I fell writhing to the ground. A carriage was waiting, and the two men put me in it and took me away. I do not remember anything more.

"When I became conscious I was lying in the mud at the foot of East 110th street, at the water's edge, where the rising tide revived me. My watch, $500, a scarf pin, and other jewelry had been taken from me."

Saloon Keeper Daly's Prolonged Opening.

Maurice Daly, a liquor dealer, opened a saloon at 2,103 First avenue on Tuesday night. He gave notice that an elegant free lunch and free beer would mark the event. The crowd that responded did honor to Mr. Daly's generosity in true First avenue style. The festivities were prolonged until long after 1 o'clock yesterday morning, the hour when the law directs all saloons to be closed. Policeman McCabe disturbed the jollity by arresting the proprietor at 2 A. M. In the Harlem Police Court yesterday Daly was held in $100 for trial. Bail was furnished.

$150 LOTS, $5 MONTHLY PAYMENTS.
The lots offered by me within the corporate limits of the charming village of Flushing (one than eighty miles from New York) at $150, payable $5 monthly, afford utterly unparalleled opportunities for obtaining a home near the city or for investment. Others with stone sidewalks, are marvellous bargains.
The property is located on one of the oldest and finest avenues near New York, amid handsome residences, and near schools, churches, and stores.
A policy of the TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY (capital $750,000), absolutely insuring the title, given free to each purchaser.
Do not say they are too cheap to be good, but devote part of an afternoon to their inspection. Parties leave my office daily (Sundays excepted) at 1:30 for the property. You are invited to accompany us or can meet agent on the train or later at Flushing.
