ISAAC H. BURCH'S WILL CONTESTED.

A Suit which Revives Recollections of a Celebrated Chicago Divorce Case.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—A suit was begun in the Circuit Court to-day to set aside the will of Isaac Howe Burch, who, thirty years ago, was a prominent and wealthy merchant of Chicago, and who died in Nice, France, in 1883, leaving an estate worth $400,000. The complainant is Harriet C. B. Morgan, a daughter of Mr. Burch, and the story she tells in her bill of complaint will revive recollections of the most celebrated divorce case Chicago ever had.

She says she is the daughter of Mr. Burch and his wife, Mary Burch, now Mrs. Pomeroy. In 1857, she alleges, her mother invited one Mary T. Spaulding of New York to visit her home in Chicago, and Miss Spaulding remained a guest at the residence of the Burch family the greater part of the time until 1860. During that time, the complainant alleges, she conspired to alienate the affections of Mr. Burch from his wife and gain them for herself. In this, she alleges, Miss Spaulding succeeded so far that in 1860 her father sued for a divorce from her mother, charging infidelity, but the verdict of the jury was in favor of the wife. Then the latter sued for a divorce on the ground of desertion, and in 1863 secured a verdict in her favor.

After the divorce the complainant says her father went to Europe, taking with him Miss Spaulding and his daughter Mary, who subsequently married Alexandre Ribot, a Frenchman, and is now living in Paris. The Spaulding woman lived in the family of Mr. Burch until his death in 1883. His estate, with the exception of a few small bequests, was left to his daughter Mary Ribot; and the complainant, who had remained in America with her mother, received only $1,000.

The complainant charges that her father was of unsound mind for years previous to his death, and that he was unduly influenced by Miss Spaulding, who instilled into his mind the belief that his daughter whom he had left in America was illegitimate. She asks that the will be set aside and that her lawful share of the estate be given her. E. W. Blatchford and John de Koven, trustees of the estate, are made defendants to the suit, and the American Bible Association, which received a bequest of $1,000, is also among the defendants.

The long delay in bringing the suit the complainant explains by saying that she was young at the time of the alleged occurrences and had but little means to carry on an investigation of the facts.

Mrs. Burch was a niece of Erastus Corning of New York, and when she was sued for a divorce the case attracted a great deal of attention. It was tried on a change of venue at Naperville, in Du Page county, and the co-respondent was then a prominent Chicago lawyer. The Mary Spaulding mentioned in the bill was a prominent witness in the trial.

A VENERABLE COUNTERFEITER.

He is a Criminal of Benignant and Highly Respectable Aspect.

LITTLE ROCK, Aug. 27.—Francis Hungerford, who was arrested for making and passing spurious silver coin, is now in jail awaiting trial. He is said to be the oldest counterfeiter in the United States. He is 75 years old, tall and straight, with blue eyes and white hair, and he looks like anything but a criminal. He is intelligent, and a good conversationalist. He is a native of Oneida county, New York. He protests his innocence, but the detectives say they have positive proof of his guilt. He and his son, Andrew J. Hungerford, were arrested in Indiana in 1880 for counterfeiting. They pleaded guilty, and were sent to the Indiana State prison for two years.

It is said Hungerford is acting with a gang of counterfeiters that is operating in the Southwest. When arrested he was found on his farm near Walnut Ridge. Hungerford was in the field when the officer confronted him, and he was visibly affected when told that he was under arrest. He led the way to the house, and his wife ran into another room. Her husband called for his coat. The wife instantly reappeared with the garment, and with her right hand in one of the pockets. The Marshal stepped forward and seized her hand just as she drew forth a six-shooter. She struggled hard, but he wrenched the weapon from her. There was an affecting farewell when the old man left her. She clung to him, weeping bitterly; then rallying, she bade him be of good courage, as she would speedily effect his deliverance.

Hanging his Boy to a Post Because he Went Out to Play Without Permission.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Charley Vellek, aged 10 years, living at 15 Zion place, was tempted to run out and play last evening without his father's permission. The neighbors' boys with whom he had been playing, not hearing any sounds of chastisement, peeped in at the back yard to see what had become of their playmate after he had been dragged in by his father. They were shocked to see the little fellow hanging to a post in the wood shed, apparently dead. A rope had been passed around his neck and chest, and his arms were extended and tied to other points of the wall. He was black in the face and unconscious. A cry that Charley was dead or dying went up from the horrified children, and a domestic employed at the adjoining house went and to see what the matter was. She seized a hatchet and cut the child down. He was senseless. The girl carried him into her house, where means were taken to restore him to life. When these were partially successful he went into convulsions. It was an hour before he could stand up. His father had tied him up as a punishment for not getting permission to go out and play. Vellek, who is a Bohemian, spent the night in the police station, and this morning Justice White held him in $1,000 bonds until to-morrow, to obtain the testimony of the physician who attended the child before fixing the penalty or sending the case to the Grand Jury.

Tragic Death of Sister Eulalie.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 27.—Sister Eulalie, the Lady Superior of the Immaculate Academy at Newport, Ky., met a shocking death this morning. She was nearly convalescent from an attack of typhoid fever, and about 5 o'clock was trying to take some medicine, when the moonshine her took fire, and in a moment the bed was a mass of flames. She tried to get into the hall, but found the door locked, and in her fright could not find the key. Occupants of the house came to her assistance, and had to break down the door to reach her. She was so badly burned that she died in two hours. Her parents, named Gaynor, live in New York.

Cut His Wife's Throat.

YPSILANTI, Mich., Aug. 27.—Mr. Wells, a farmer at Willis station, cut his wife's throat yesterday. His mother-in-law held a mortgage on his farm, which she was about to foreclose. In the afternoon Wells and his wife got into a dispute about the matter. Their two children were at school. On returning they found the body of their mother in the yard. They alarmed the neighbors, and a search was made for the murderer. He was found in the corn crib and gave himself up without any resistance. He pleaded the insanity dodge, saying he "was looking for land."

Dunigan Held for Abduction.

John Dunigan of 89 Grand avenue, Brooklyn, was arrested on Wednesday night in the Bowery on the charge of abducting Mary Gaffney, 13 years old, of 238 Hudson avenue, Brooklyn. At the time of his arrest Dunigan gave the name of Schmidt, and the girl said hers was Lee. The parents of the girl were in the Essex Market Police Court yesterday when Dunigan was arraigned, and her father tried to strike him. Justice Patterson held the prisoner in $1,500 bail and put the girl in the care of the Children's Society.

Mrs. Harper's Home for Working Women.

The Seashore Cottage established by Mrs. Fletcher Harper, Jr., at North Long Branch, is still open for the reception of guests. It is a resort for the young working women of New York who are in need of rest and recreation, but who are unable to pay the usual charges of boarding houses. The prices are nominal. Applications must be made in person at 140 West Twenty-third street, from 11 to 1 o'clock, and 7 to 9 o'clock evenings.

Mr. Thorne Waits All the Crabs.

Mr. A. L. Thorne, a wealthy New Yorker, who recently leased the Cryder farm at Whitestone, L. I., with an extensive water frontage on Long Island Sound, has closed up the only road leading to the shore, and forbidden all fishing and crabbing in the waters off his shore front. The fishermen, who have for many years enjoyed the water privileges annexed, have petitioned the village trustees to compel Mr. Thorne to reopen the road to the beach.

Probationer George Law Begins Well.

James Cotterill of 537 East 118th street, with his 8-year-old daughter, Amelia, and 6-year-old son, Charles, were upset in the Harlem River, near 119th street, on Thursday evening. Mr. Cotterill was able to swim, but was not able to rescue the children and save himself. Policeman Shaller and Probationer George J. Law, who was traveling the beat with him, went in and saved the children.

A Clergyman Protests Against a New Saloon.

The Rev. John Parker, pastor of St. Luke's M. E. Church, Brooklyn, called on acting Mayor Olena yesterday, and in the name of his congregation protested against the granting of a license for a saloon at Lewis avenue and Lynch street, a short distance from the church. There were, he said, five saloons already in the immediate neighborhood.

Mrs. Jennings Resumes Begging.

The notorious Mrs. Susan J. (Edgar F.) Jennings of Conover, Catawba county, N. C., is again sending her appeals to benevolent and wealthy citizens of New York. The Charity Organization Society repeats its caution to the public against this shrewd and successful begging letter writer. It will be remembered that she was exposed in the public papers in 1885.

Mr. Vanderbilt's Return.

William K. Vanderbilt returned from his three months' travels in Europe yesterday in the steamship America. He was taken off at Quarantine in the tug Hamilton at 8 o'clock, and conveyed to the Long Dock Railroad depot, whence he went to his country seat at Oakdale.

Six $100 Fines for Aldermen to Pay.

The Aldermen could not get a quorum to pass the tax levy yesterday. Those who were absent—Lawrence, Quinn, Ryan, De Lacy, O'Neil, and Corcoran—are liable to a fine of $100 each for non-attendance. The Board is required to pass the tax levy before Sept. 1.

SUICIDE OF R. C. CHAMPOLLION.

Grandson of a Famous Frenchman and Son-in-Law of Austin Corbin.

Twelve years ago René Cheronet Champollion was married to Miss Mary Corbin, the eldest daughter of Austin Corbin. He was a Frenchman, a native of Paris, and an artist. He was also a soldier and had served as an officer in the Franco-Prussian war. His real name was René Cheronet, but by a special act of the French Legislature he was allowed to use the name of Champollion. Champollion, the Egyptologist, was his grandfather on his mother's side.

After his marriage M. Champollion and his bride went to Paris to live. They resided with his mother, who is a wealthy lady, on an estate in the suburbs. He was very fond of painting, and is said to have done some creditable work.

He and his young wife frequently visited America and he had many friends in this country. In the early part of this summer M. Champollion and his wife came to New York and then went to Newport, New Hampshire. They stopped at the Corbin farm, just outside of Newport, Mrs. Champollion's birthplace. M. Champollion was suffering from blood poisoning, the result of several abscesses. These were caused by wounds which he had received in the French army, and which had never fully healed. He was also troubled with rheumatism and erysipelas.

On Thursday night the inmates of the house were alarmed by the explosion of a pistol. They ran to M. Champollion's room on the second floor of the farm house, and found him lying dead on the floor in a pool of blood. A revolver lay by his side. He had shot himself through the temple. It is supposed that his sufferings had made him insane for the moment. Yesterday morning Mr. Austin Corbin received a telegram at his office announcing the death of his son-in-law. He started at once for Newport.

There is one child, a boy, 7 years of age. Just before his death M. Champollion had completed a large oil-painting, entitled "The Beach at Dieppe," which he presented to the Oriental Hotel.

BUSINESS DULL WITH MR. DOUGHERTY.

Wandering Around for a Year in an Official Capacity, but Finding Nothing to Do.

In pursuance of his investigation of the Inspectors and Sealers of Weights and Measures, Comptroller Loew heard yesterday the testimony of City Sealer Michael J. Dougherty of the Second district. Mr. Dougherty's story was very simple. He was sworn in on May 18, 1885, but has not sealed any weights or measures and has not collected any fees. He assigned as a reason for this that he did not get his tools until about two months after his appointment, and when he did go around his district he found that his predecessor in office, Mr. Barry, had done his duty so thoroughly that it was not necessary to seal any more weights or measures. He estimated that he had visited places in his district three or four hours a day for four days in the week for about a year, which would include about three thousand stores, and yet he did not find any weights or measures to be sealed. He said that the storekeepers got the impression that the sealing was a sort of blackmailing scheme, and they often said to him, "How many more of you are to come?"

Fifty-two New Policemen.

The Police Commissioners yesterday ordered the following transfers of patrolmen: Becker, West Thirty-seventh street to steamboat squad; Doyle, Mercer street to Central Office; McNally, Mulberry street to Central Office; Lacour, Thirty-seventh street to Thirtieth street; Madigan and Quinn, Morrisania, detailed as precinct detectives; Finerty, steamboat squad to Prince street; Rice, Prince street to Sanitary Company; Clarke, Fifth street to Union Market; Sick, Union Market to Fifth street; Churchill, Elizabeth street to Thirty-seventh street. These patrolmen were appointed: James McKane, Virgil H. Winchell, Carll S. Duryea, Philip Herrlich, Jr., Robert Moore, Andrew Weser, Robert S. Powers, Wm. H. Cook, George A. Doran, James E. McBride, Harry J. R. Tabor, Michael J. Kein, Alonzo C. Winchell, Charles A. Place, Herman Lehr, Joseph M. Nicoll, Lawrence Swift, Patrick Duggan, Peter W. Dwyer, James O'Brien, Daniel Haggerty, Peter Doran, Isaac N. Partington, Thomas McLaughlin, Fred. J. Prange, Philip Kantz, John H. O'Neil, Richard Giles, Pile, John J. Hale, George Fennal, Jacob M. Young, Jas. Mahoney, John H. Murphy, Bernard F. Kehoe, Philip Oppenheim, John R. Robb, James T. McCabe, Peter J. Ham, Michael McEntee, Wm. E. Daly, Hugh O'Neil, Charles F. Piester, Thomas J. Farley, James Hoech, Thomas J. Dolan, John H. Lilly, Wm. Garner, James Burkard, Wm. T. Frost, James Fitzpatrick, Thos. Dolan, Ira Coles.

The Hard Liquor Knocked Him Out.

Capt. Williams and Detective Price were standing at Broadway and Thirty-first street on Thursday night, when Tom Gould, who has reopened his dive, came up and said that a man with delirium tremens was lying on the sidewalk in front of his door. Williams and Price found Owen Lafferty, a father, 38 years old, of 552 West Forty-first street, rolling in the gutter. Lafferty had sobered up when he was taken to Jefferson Market yesterday, and he told Justice Ford that he had had been weak since his skull was fractured by a fall three years ago. He felt sick on Thursday night, he said, and went into Gould's and got a drink of "the best brandy." "I am not accustomed to drinking liquor," he said. "and the brandy knocked me out." Justice Ford discharged him. No arrest was made in Gould's.

The House and Two Servants Afire.

A can of benzine was upset on the kitchen range in the basement of Dr. Gouley's residence, 324 Madison avenue, yesterday forenoon. The flames enveloped Rose Garrity, a servant, 30 years old, burning her terribly about the body. Mary Kane, a servant, who went to her assistance, was burned on her right hand and arm. Miss Garrity ran up stairs screaming. William H. Renne, an employee of the Adams Express Company and an old fireman, who was passing by, heard her cries, ran into the house, and tore off her burning clothing. Miss Garrity will probably die. Both servants were cared for in the house by Dr. Gouley. The Fire Department put out the blaze, which did about $400 damage.

Died After a Thrashing.

John Cavanagh, aged 30, died at 109 Johnson street, Brooklyn, yesterday morning, as supposed from the effects of violence. On Aug. 17 he had a quarrel with Frank Scholt at the Edison Electric Light Works in Bridge street, where both were employed, and, falling backward, struck his head against an iron bar. He appeared to have received only a slight scalp wound, and continued to work for a week, making no complaint against Scholt. Dr. Frank H. Ross, the attendant physician, notified Coroner Menninger of the case, and stated that death resulted from hemorrhage, caused by injuries. Scholt has been arrested, and will be held pending the result of the inquest.

Persistent Attempts at Suicide.

Hattie Osborn, who, the police say, has made repeated attempts to kill herself, was taken to the Fourth street police station, Williamsburgh, yesterday, by a woman who said she had found her acting in a strange manner on a Grand street ferryboat. While in the cell the girl tried to strangle herself by winding her stocking about her neck and choking by jabbing a hair pin into her throat. She says she now lives in Jersey City. Since her removal from Williamsburgh ten years ago the girl has become well known to the hospital and police authorities of this city through many attempts on her life. She was placed in care of the Charity Commissioners.

The Journeymen Plumbers were Mistaken.

More than 100 members of the Association of Master Plumbers held a three-hours' secret session at 54 Union square yesterday, and discussed their differences with the journeymen plumbers. The journeymen plumbers were mistaken when they told a sun reporter that six of the boss plumbers had agreed to withdraw their signatures from the resolution declaring a general lockout on Sept. 1. Louis Stroh, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions and Pledges of the association, was the only boss plumber who withdrew his name, and the association at yesterday's meeting unanimously expelled him.

Geyer's Unlucky Change of Clothes.

Until yesterday George Geyer was a very natty clerk in Silverstein Bros.' clothing store at Newark. Now he is a prisoner at the Newark Police Headquarters. The clothes he wore in going from the store yesterday were not the same color as those he went to work in, and one of the members of the firm noticed the difference. He was arrested, and his old suit was found under a new suit which he donned in the back room of the store. Silverstein Bros. say that they have missed several suits recently.

Heading to Suicide.

John Criskai, a Swiss workman employed by Stephen Gilson at his hat factory in Bloomfield, committed suicide yesterday morning by diving against the pilot of a locomotive on the Bloomfield branch of the Delaware, Lackawanna, and Western Railroad. He expected a remittance of $700 from home, and was despondent because it did not come.

The Aldermen Will Please Subside.

The Police Commissioners were recently notified that the Aldermen had granted a permit for an advertising parade of trained horses. At their meeting yesterday they directed Chief Clerk Kipp to notify the Mayor that this was an encroachment upon the rights and privileges of the Police Board, who have authority to grant permits for parades.

Uncle Sam Will Pay Extra for Extra Work.

Acting Secretary Fairchild yesterday agreed with Collector Belden's suggestion that the fifty-eight laborers at the public stores should get 25 cents an hour for every hour after eight hours. They have been in the habit of working eleven and twelve hours a day for $2. The change will benefit them about $7 a week.
