NOT QUITE $600,000 ALL TOLD.

THE SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR JOHNSTOWN'S RELIEF BEGINNING TO FALL OFF.

About $6,000 Received by Mayor Grant's Committee Yesterday, and Money Still Coming in From the Exchanges.

There was a perceptible falling off in the contributions received at the Mayor's office yesterday in aid of the sufferers in the Conemaugh valley. Less than $6,000 was received. At the meeting held in the afternoon Treasurer Edward Simmons made a report, which this table will make clear:

| | |
|---|---|
| Balance in the hands of the Treasurer | $288,712 14 |
| Amount delivered to him from collections from 2½ o'clock on Monday to 2½ o'clock Tuesday, and not yet reported | 11,891 52 |
| Amount collected by the Chamber of Commerce, which will be delivered to the Mayor's Committee—about | 53,000 00 |
| Amount sent to the scene of the disaster by the Chamber of Commerce, and on account of Gov. Beaver's draft—about | 52,000 00 |
| Amount collected by the Produce Exchange, to be delivered to the Mayor's Committee—about | 15,000 00 |
| Amount collected at the Mayor's office yesterday afternoon—about | 2,000 00 |
| Estimated contributions from various Exchanges, firms, and individuals—about | 100,000 00 |
| Grand total—about | $582,103 66 |

Treasurer Simmons said that many large corporations had donated generous sums of money, and were only waiting for their executive Boards to meet, when it would be turned over. The Committee on Transportation has frequent inquiries regarding the proper place to which to send contributions of wearing apparel. Information concerning this subject and the address of the headquarters of the committee has been printed almost daily. The headquarters for the receipt of contributions other than money are at the People's Theatre, 201 Bowery. This telegram was received from Gov. Beaver yesterday:

ROSS GRANT: Have been to Johnstown and thoroughly inspected matters there. Loss of life will probably not exceed 5,000. Desolation much greater than expected. Little danger to be apprehended from immediate outbreak of pestilence. I have contracted in behalf of the state to remove all debris which threatens public health or safety, and have, I think, a thoroughly good business organization for doing the work. This gives a problem which has annoyed me somewhat, but which is happily out of the way, and gives no doubt as to the direct application to the individual sufferers of all money contributed for charity. There feeding there some 2,000 people daily. This number however will gradually decrease, as the Cambria company are now employing and paying all their employees, and will, I hope, soon open their supply stores for sale of provisions and other necessaries. The immediate relief of absolute necessities must go on for some time. The people cannot yet think of trying to get on their feet. That is a problem to which I now propose to turn my attention, and will call to my aid a number of gentlemen of practical business experience to constitute a commission for determining just how and for what purposes money relief will be afforded.

I note in a late telegram what you say about the neglect of the German population, and have had the attention of the authorities at Johnstown particularly paid to it. Col. Spangler, in charge of the Charity Bureau, speaks German, and will, I know, tolerate no dissension.

I am doubtful whether supplies in kind should be forwarded for the present. It is probable that the work of distribution will be gradually transferred to my military staff, which is upon the ground rendering most efficient service. Will be glad to have any suggestions from you or answer any questions which may occur to your mind. JAMES A. BEAVER.

A car load of cots and mattresses has been sent to John-town. Here is a letter from a very good little girl:

DEAR MAYOR GRANT: I am a young girl, and I am getting paper weeks and I think it no more than right every young girl that is working should contribute something toward the Johnstown sufferers. Therefore, please find enclosed $4., which I give with a good heart. MAMIE BAIN.

The American Society of Civil Engineers appointed this committee at its last meeting to visit John-town and report the results of its examination of the broken dam and valley: Mr. Becker, President; Mr. James B. Francis, Ex-President; Mr. William E. Worthen, President, and Mr. A. Fteley, Vice-President. This gentleman, introducing the committee, was sent by Mayor Grant to Gov. Beaver:

This men are of high standing in the profession, and may rely upon their integrity and ability. If you wish yourself in communication with them they will, I think, be able to render any service in their profession that you may require

Among the big contributions to the fund yesterday were $1,100 from the employees in the Register's office, $188.08 from the Madison Avenue Baptist Church, $200 from P. and F. Chilman, and $80 from the Union Reformed Church of High Bridge.

The fund of the Real Estate Exchange was increased $250, making a total of $1,955.

The Board of Trade received $200 additional, making its total fund $3,470.

The Maritime Exchange fund, by an addition of $125, reached a total of $13,258.25.

The Fire Commissioners and the employees of Fire Headquarters have contributed $502. The uniformed force has sent in $1,115.25.

On motion of Alderman Flynn, the Board yesterday ordered that the city's ballot boxes be put up at the elevated railroad stations, ferry houses, and other places for the reception of contributions. The Mayor and the Relief Committee will have charge of the boxes.

Proceeds of seats for the entertainment at the Metropolitan Opera House on Thursday afternoon netted about $1,000. There was to have been an auction sale at the Madison Square Theatre, but the diagrams of the seats did not come in time, and this part of the programme had to be abandoned. T. H. French, Samuel French, J. E. Emmet, Daniel Frohman, and George Harrison each took a box at $100. Mayor Grant, John C. H. Matthews paid $50 apiece, and John R. Waters and J. H. Rice each took a $25 box. Lyman bought several seats at $10, and several at $5. Mrs. Henry Tuckerman bought thirty seats at $2, and A. A. Sherman bought twelve at the same price. The sale of the remaining seats at advertised prices will open at 10 o'clock this morning at the Metropolitan Opera House.

These additions to the relief fund were reported yesterday:

Donation, $5 in cash and $100 in clothing and provisions, Columbia, S. C. $1,210. Boston (total), $18,000. Poughkeepsie, $4,201. Providence, $12,711.

John G. Borden of Borden's condensed milk factory at Wallkill has sent a car load of condensed milk to Johnstown, valued at $2,300.

The butchers of New York will hold a meeting at 301 East Fifty-fourth street to-night to organize, with a view of raising a fund for the relief of the sufferers at Johnstown and Seattle. A committee has been appointed by the United Butcher Associations of this city to receive collections and forward them to the Mayor.

The total contributions received so far by Mayor Chapin of Brooklyn amount to $49,982.72. Jersey City contributed $1,200 more yesterday, making the total $11,252.

An excellent concert was given at the Reformed Church, New Jersey and Fulton avenues, in the Twenty-sixth ward, Brooklyn, last night, at which some of the clever musicians of that part of the town appeared, greatly to their own credit and to the considerable advantage of the fund for the sufferers.

ASSEMBLING OF DEMOCRATS.

To-day they will Choose Calvin S. Brice Chairman of the National Committee.

The scene in the Fifth Avenue Hotel last night resembled the scenes on the nights just preceding the last Presidential election, except that the politicians were all Democratic. The special meeting of the National Democratic Committee, to elect a Chairman to fill the place made vacant by the death of William H. Barnum, will be held in Parlor D, R. in the hotel at noon to-day. Delegates kept arriving all yesterday afternoon, and, although only eleven were on hand last night, local politicians were thicker than bees about a disturbed hive.

The Republican party was represented by the lusty figure, and square sun-burned face of Senator Erwin of Lawrence. The Senator lounged about shaking hands with his Democratic friends. It was generally conceded that Calvin S. Brice, who conducted the educational campaign of last year, would be the only candidate for Chairman. There was at one time a remote possibility that Senator Gorman of Maryland and William L. Scott of Erie, Pa., might begin a contest for the vacant chair, but both of these gentlemen have declared that they are positively not candidates.

The members of the committee who were at the hotel last night were Secretary S. P. Sheerin of Indiana, Charles S. Thomas of Colorado, J. J. Richard-son of Iowa, Henry D. McHenry of Kentucky, Arthur Sewall of Maine, A. P. Gorman of Maryland, John S. Barbour of Virginia, O. M. Barnes of Michigan, A. M. Sulloway of New Hampshire, Calvin S. Brice of Ohio, Col. Tisbur, proxy for H. F. Luoney of Tennessee, and Hiram Atkins of Vermont. There being no possibility of a contest, the meeting to-day is not likely to be very full.

Messrs. Sheerin, Brice, Gorman, and Sewall had a long talk last night. The subject discussed by them could not be learned. The committeemen present were unanimous in saying, when talking with the reporters, that tariff reform would make a jolly good platform for the campaign which the next National Committee will conduct. A well-known Democrat, who rules his party in a big Western city, said to the reporter:

"The Democratic party has had enough of tariff reform. That pap will not be administered in '92."

Mr. Barbour of Virginia said that his State would vote the Democratic ticket, no matter what the platform was. Mr. Barbour was pleased at the action of President Harrison in carefully treasuring up the fat pieces in the bosom of his rig family. He thought that this would hurt the Republican party, and consequently bring votes to the Democrats. He was also pleased at the vigorous fight going on in Maine for possession of the Collectorship.

There will probably be nothing done at the meeting to-day besides electing a Chairman and adopting resolutions expressing sorrow for the death of Mr. Barnum and of F. W. Dawson of South Carolina. The Chairman will be elected for the unexpired term of Mr. Barnum, who began his second term as Chairman last June. In the terrible four years, and it has been customary to permit the Chairman to enjoy two terms. The Chairman of the National Committee is not always the Chairman of the National Campaign Committee, the post Mr. Brice has held last fall. Some members of the committee were greatly exercised over an alleged determination on the part of one or two states to have the next Presidential Convention held in California. They thought that this movement was anti-Cleveland.

COLUMBIA'S ALUMNI.

Making Merry in the Old College and Paying Honor to Dr. Barnard's Memory.

The old building with the classical portico in Columbia College yard saw its last festal occasion last night. The portico was made brilliant with Chinese lanterns, and under their particolored radiance the glee club sang college songs and the popular ditties of the day, while the banjo club rendered airs best suited for that instrument for the delectation of the sisters and sweethearts of the students, who had assembled in large numbers.

After the concert the Alumni Association held a meeting in Library Hall, which was devoted to memorial exercises in honor of the late President Barnard. Eulogistic speeches were made by Charles F. Da Costa, who presided, Prof. Van Amringe, F. W. Hinrichs, and others, and a commemorative statement setting forth the services of President Barnard to this college in the form of a panygeric was adopted by the 150 alumni who were present. John B. Pine acted as secretary.

A collation, to which the graduating class was invited, was served in the museum of the alumni, wound up the evening's exercises.

The old building, which was illuminated for the last time, is to be at once torn down to make way for a hall to be devoted to lectures and kindred uses.

The Twelve Freeholders Acquitted.

Freeholders Totten, Rollston, Smith, Noonan, Mehonugh, Tierney, Steger, Griffin, Hennessey, Mulroy, Boyle, and Kommerly, who were tried in the Jersey City Court of Pleas, on Monday for passing two alleged fraudulent bills for county supplies, were acquitted yesterday. Judge Lippincott charged the jury when court opened, and he all but instructed an acquittal. The jury was out only fifteen minutes. Immediately after the verdict the Judge charged the jury in the case of Freeholder Hennessey, who was tried on Monday on an additional charge of forgery. It was alleged that he had forged the name of James O'Neill to warrants issued by the Board of Freeholders in payment of county supplies. It is alleged that Hennessey furnished the goods himself under the name of James O'Neill. It is against the law for a Freeholder to sell the county anything in the routine of his office, and that was the reason he used the fictitious name. The Judge's charge in this case, too, was almost an order to acquit. He said "If Hennessey's intent in using the name of O'Neill was merely to furnish supplies in other than his own name, he could not be convicted of forgery, and that is the only crime charged against him in the indictment."

The jury acquitted him. It stood ten for acquittal and two for conviction on the first ballot.

Castle Garden's Deadlock.

The fifth attempt to get the Board of Emigration Commissioners together for the election of a President to succeed ex-Commissioner Taintor was made yesterday. It wasn't a success. Mayor Grant and Commissioners Hausell, Rorke, and Ulrich went down to Castle Garden, but Commissioners Stephenson, Starr, and Hurlbut stayed away. It takes five members of the Board to make a quorum. The Commissioners present signed a call for another meeting on June 24, and adjourned. It is said the conflicts Commissioners want Commissioner Ulrich for President of the Board, while those who stay away from the meetings are for Commissioner Hurlbut. If the deadlock isn't broken pretty soon there may be no money for Castle Garden employees in July. The death of Commissioner Forrest and the resignation of Commissioner Taintor left two vacancies on the Finance Committee. Until these vacancies are filled no pay rolls can be prepared.

She Wanted to Die Because Her Lover was Faithless.

Lona Bernhardt, a tall, blond Nuremberger, who has been since her two months' residence in this country a servant in the family of Simon Wallenstein, a fancy goods dealer, of 561 Avenue A, tried to kill herself last night by cutting her throat. She has been very gloomy since she met a young farm hand who had worked for her father in the Fatherland. He told her that her lover was paying attentions to another girl in Nuremberg. She went down in the cellar during the thunder storm, drew some sharp instrument across her neck and fell to the floor. She was taken to Bellevue.

Still Haggling with Mr. Fish.

Frederick S. Tallmadge of the Special Centennial Committee appointed to arbitrate in the disagreement between Stuyvesant Fish and the Plan and Scope Committee growing out of Mr. Fish's refusal to account for the expenditures of his Entertainment Committee before drawing money from the Centennial funds said yesterday that the committee would meet for action as soon as Secretary Clarence W. Bowen returns to the city.

Among the vouchers filed in the Comptroller's office yesterday accounting for the last $5,000 which the city will pay over of its appropriation appears the item of $5,000 as the cost of the breakfast and reception in the Equitable building upon the President's arrival from Elizabethport.

Raleigh Votes for License.

RALEIGH, June 11.—This city yesterday voted on the license question with this result: For license, 1,210; against license, 1,021; majority for license, 189.

SUPREME COURT JUDGES AFTER HIM.

Policeman Farrell Grazed While a Truckman Tried to Run Over Them.

Supreme Court Judges Miles Beach and Edward Patterson are going to take a recess this afternoon, and appear at Police Headquarters at the trial of the formal charges they have made against Policeman Christopher Farrell of the Leonard street station. Judge Beach told a SUN reporter all about it at his home last evening.

"One morning last week," he said, "Judge Patterson and I happened to meet in a car on the Sixth avenue elevated road as we were coming down to court. We left the car at the Chambers street station and walked along Chambers street, on the south side, over toward the Court House. Church street is, as you know, very narrow, and when we got there we found it completely blocked. There was a Sixth avenue car going north on the track, just turning into Chambers street. Behind the car was a loaded truck, Judge Patterson and I waited a little while for the way to clear, but it did not. There was a little room, though, between the horse which drew the truck and the rear end of the street car, and we attempted to get by. We had just stepped off the sidewalk when the driver of the truck reined his horses in toward us so suddenly and at so sharp an angle that we were almost knocked down. I think one of the thills of the truck did graze me, but I managed to get back to the sidewalk in safety, while Judge Patterson leaped and caught the street-car platform. As I regained the corner I noticed a policeman standing there looking at us, and smiling at what had happened. I was indignant that he should coolly allow such a thing to happen under his very gaze and not lift his finger. I said to him:

"'Sir, you are a very inefficient officer.'

"Then Judge Patterson came back to the corner, the truck having passed on beyond the street car, and he made some remark to the policeman of the same nature. The policeman again smiled blandly on us and drawled out:

"'Well, if you'll come down to the station house and make a complaint against the driver I'll try and arrest him.'

"I said: 'I won't do that, but I will make a complaint against you.'

"Then Judge Patterson and I walked on, the street having cleared. The more we thought of it the more we felt it our duty to report the man's gross neglect of duty to his superiors. When I got over to the Court House I drew up and sent to Police Headquarters a letter addressed to the police authorities stating the facts in the case. I had noted down the officer's number. We received in reply a request that we prefer formal charges, and we have done so. Now we have been notified that the man's trial is to come off at 10 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, and Judge Patterson and I are going to adjourn court at the noon recess for a little longer time than usual and go up to Police Headquarters in the interest of public right and decency and tell of this man's neglect of duty. It is outrageous that a policeman, a paid servant of the city, should stand idly by in such an instance, when people's lives were endangered by a careless truck driver, whether the people concerned were Judges or hod carriers or whoever they were."

MISS MANOLA REBELS.

She Says that Tenor Ondin Pushed Her Rudely, and so She Won't Sing With Him.

Marion Manola, the sprightly prima donna of the McCaull Opera Company, is in rebellion, and her place in the opera of "Clover" has been filled since Monday night by Miss Joseghine Knapp. The cause that Miss Manola gives for her refusal to play her part of Stella is that she was rudely treated by Eugene Oudin, the tenor, and that Manager Stevens did not secure her proper protection as prima donna. The rude treatment complained of occurred, so Miss Manola asserts, at the performance of the second act of "Clover" at the Johnstown benefit at Palmer's Theatre. Miss Manola appears dressed as a soldier in this act, and sings a duet with Oudin. They march down the stage together during the song, and Miss Manola claims that on this particular occasion Oudin, as they reached the footlights, shoved her aside with his shoulder. She wrote to Manager Stevens that Mr. Oudin owed her an apology, and that she would not play again until the apology was made, and she has thus far kept her word.

Oudin explained to the manager that the movement that Miss Manola described as a rude action was merely a motion ordered by the orchestra leader to bring himself and Miss Manola to the middle of the stage. He had no idea of pushing the actress, he said, and did not dream that she was offended.

Miss Manola called at Manager Stevens's office on Tuesday, and the manager told her that her determination to play no more with her part precluded all possibility of his securing an apology from Oudin, even were it due, and he added that she was under contract to fill the role assigned her, and must not or take the consequences. Miss Manola's summer engagement with McCaull has begun in a week's time, and, if she does not play her part will be played by Helen Bertram, who used to be with the "Corneil" company.

A Picnic of Deaf Mutes.

The associated deaf mutes of New Jersey held a picnic in Roseville Park, Newark, yesterday for the purpose of helping to raise a fund to send two delegates to the congress of deaf mutes in Paris. They had music and danced waltzes and other round dances. Among them was Martha Morehouse of South Orange avenue, Newark, who is a second Laura Bridgman. She is deaf, dumb, and blind. She can tell what her sister says by feeling her lips when she is speaking. When deaf mutes are communicating with her she feels of their fingers. There were about 250 deaf mutes present at the picnic and all seemed to enter heartily into the enjoyment.

Police Commissioner Daly's Resignation.

Police Commissioner Patrick J. Daly of the Long Island City Police Board has sent his resignation to Mayor Gleason. The Mayor says he does not know whether he will accept it or not, as Mr. Daly proved himself an efficient Commissioner. Mr. Daly gave no reason for resigning. It is generally believed that the resignation will be followed by a Sunday liquor tax question and the opposition to the methods pursued by the Police Commissioners in granting licenses had some bearing on it. The recent excise arrests made in Long Island on Sunday were attributed to a "tip," although he denies that that is true. A feeling of insecurity had taken possession of the liquor dealers of the city, and it is thought that some pressure was brought to bear on Mr. Daly.

Must Purify that School House.

President Wilson of the Board of Health took hold yesterday of the complaint of the unsanitary condition of Public School 32 in East Eighty-eighth street. The school is on a lot belonging to the Rhinelander estate. The sewer connection has been cut off and several tenements have been condemned. An order was issued from the Board yesterday for the immediate construction of a sewer connecting with the sewer on East Eighty-eighth street, and for proper steps to insure the drainage. The order will be served on the Board of Education and the trustees of the Rhinelander estate.

An Acknowledgment from Mr. Parnell.

J. M. Wall has received this acknowledgment from Mr. Parnell of the money collected by the Irish Parliamentary Fund Association ($12,000) and forwarded to him some time ago in aid of the defence fund:

"My Dear Sir: I have duly received your letter of the 26th ult., enclosing the magnificent sum of $2,400 in U. S. currency, which I have delivered to the treasurer of the association, the Hon. Eugene Kelly, that I am deeply gratified by these continued proofs of the sympathy and the support of his organization, which I value most highly."

Found a Corpse in the Ruins at Last.

The workmen who are busy clearing up the ruins of the fire that destroyed a lot of frame buildings at Thirty-seventh street and Broadway on March 19, found the remains of a man beneath a pile of bricks in a burned stable on Thirty-seventh street, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The body is supposed to have been that of a tramp who went into the stable to sleep, and was killed when the wall caved in one night about two months ago. It was generally held at the time of the accident that a tramp had been killed, and the firemen made a search but did not find the bodies.

Overcome by the Heat.

Thomas Walsh, aged 49, a driver, of 345 East Twenty-ninth street, at 3 Mercer street, St. Vincent's Hospital.

Charles Coleman, 50 years old, of 536 East Thirty-seventh street, at 529 Bowery, Bellevue Hospital.

Benjamin Lewis, aged 60, of 1,056 Second avenue, at 140 First avenue, Bellevue Hospital.

NEW JERSEY.

Jefferson Carson, a horseman known throughout the State, died yesterday in New Brunswick of a kick he received from a stallion. The stallion got caught in some way in his stall and Mr. Carson was trying to liberate him.

The $1,000 contributed for the Conemaugh sufferers by the Hoboken Common Council is likely to cause trouble. Ex-Mayor Timken and some other citizens say the Council had no right to give the money, and they intend taking steps to compel the Councilmen to refund the money from their own pockets.

Chancellor Merritt granted a hearing yesterday to Ezra L. and Daniel Bethell, cousins of Frazee Lee of Plainfield, who died recently leaving $250,000 to the Second Plains Baptist Church and only $7,000 to his relatives. The cousins are contesting the will on the ground of undue influence. Lee and his brother, who died a short time before he did, were called the Plainfield hermits. They lived penuriously and worked hard on their farms. Their money was made mainly by the rise of real estate.

Ex-Mayor Collins and ex-Judge Seymour, the counsel for Jersey City's old officials, and Senator Edwards, the counsel of the new officials, had a conference in City Clerk Scott's office yesterday. Mr. Collins, for the old officials, agreed that the new officials should not be disturbed in their offices, and Senator Edwards agreed that the new officials should place no obstacles in the way of the old officials appealing from the decision of the supreme court sustaining the new charter. The appeal was filed yesterday, and if the agreement made at the conference is carried out the appeal will probably be decided within two weeks. All the new city Board held meetings yesterday and transacted city business.

AN UPROAR IN THE CHAMBER

THE BOULANGISTS SHARPLY ATTACK THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT.

They Say the Masses Won't Be Terrorized, But Will Exercise Their Liberty—To Shoot the Police if They Interfere.

PARIS, June 11.—M. Gellibert des Seguins interpellated the Government in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon in relation to the suppression of the Boulangist meeting at Angouleme on Sunday. He said the violence used by agents of the Government had aroused a strong feeling in the country, and he protested against further official interference with the rights of the people. He said things had come to such a pass now that the instant "Vive la République!" or "Vive Boulanger!" was cried the officials began to make arrests. The people were indignant at such arbitrary action. He warned the Government that it was vain to attempt to terrorize the masses. They would persist in exercising their liberty, notwithstanding the efforts of the Government to deprive them of it. [Applause from the Right.]

M. Constans, Minister of the Interior, replied to M. Gellibert des Seguins. He said the Government had ordered a display of military force at Angouleme because the people in receiving certain political leaders had obstructed the highways. (Interruptions from the Right.) Demonstrations like that of Sunday were generally the work of paid agitators. At Angouleme agitators had been summoned from adjoining departments. (Here there were protests on the part of the Boulangist members, and M. Laur was called to order.) M. Constans, continuing, said that M. Deroulede, one of the persons charged with rioting, had seized a Commissary of Police by the collar and had injured his foot. The Commissary had only performed his duty in arresting him and those who assisted him. The Minister then declared that the Government would send more policemen to Angouleme if such a meeting was again attempted.

M. Laur—Just try, and I will blow the brains out of the first one who approaches me.

The President again called M. Laur to order, and also M. Cuneo d'Ornano, who had joined M. Laur in resenting the Minister's language.

M. Constans, resuming his speech, said the Government had to deal with a flagrant offence, and not merely with isolated cases. Similar scenes to those at Angouleme had been enacted on the same day at Lyons and Correzo, and by the same political party.

Here another uproar occurred on the Right, and the Marquis de Breteuil had to be called to order.

M. Constans, in conclusion, said it was impossible to tolerate such provocations any longer, and the Government in the future would discriminate between those who were responsible for them. M. Constans was greeted with prolonged cheers from the Left as he resumed his seat.

The trial of MM. Deroulede, Laisant, and Lagerrie for resisting the authorities at Angouleme when they forbade the Boulangist meeting there on Sunday, was begun at that place to-day. The prisoners were charged with rioting and threatening the police.

M. Goblet, commenting on M. Ferry's speech of Thursday last, said that M. Ferry was not the Republican leader, and, therefore, was not entitled to make advances to the Right.

TO SUPPRESS THE SLAVE TRADE.

A Conference of the Powers Will be Held This Year to Devise Measures.

LONDON, June 11.—Sir James Ferguson says there is little doubt that a conference of the powers will be held this year for the purpose of devising measures for the repression of the slave trade in Africa. The British Government, late in March, communicated with the Government of Belgium on the subject, and it was arranged that Belgium should take the initiative in inviting the powers to the conference. Communications are now passing between the two Governments with reference to the preliminaries that must be arranged before the conference meets, and informal communications have also taken place with the representatives of the other Governments concerned.

It is hoped the conference will result in such joint measures for the repression of the traffic as will be effective and at the same time in accordance with justice and under the regulation of international law.

He dealt with the local and land and tenant question, and with the evils of Irish coercion.

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS.

Latest Information from All Quarters.

A Chicago despatch says: The Executive Board of the Inter-State Commerce Railway Association has given its decision in the application of the Chicago and Alton for a more even distribution of the live-stock traffic from southwestern Missouri River points among the various competing roads. The Board finds that "the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, during the current year, has obtained a larger share of the live-stock traffic than it is entitled to," and suggests that the management of the road "restrict such traffic to an amount not exceeding two train loads per week until the inequality is corrected." The benefit of this restriction, the Board says, is to be given to the Chicago and Alton for the time being, "so far as it can be done properly." If this plan fails to produce the desired result, the Board reserves the right to propose some other arrangement, and intimates that it may become necessary to temporarily advance the rates upon one or more roads.

A despatch from Pierre, Dak., says: "Two civil engineers are making up a surveying party to start next Monday to survey a railroad through to the Pacific coast, probably touching at Minnesella in the Black Hills, making Pierre the initial point on the Missouri. The New York Central Railroad has made a contract with the Edison company for putting an electric light plant into the Grand Central Station. It will require 1,400 incandescent lights to supply all the offices, passenger rooms, and the big train shed.
