MONMOUTH'S MEETING ENDS.

IT WAS THE MOST SUCCESSFUL EVER HELD IN THE COUNTY.

The Final Day's Sport Marred by Jockey Pickering's Criminal Riding, Which Caused the Death of the Three-year-old Gelding Julio—Moyne Gelding Wins the Carteret Handicap, While Mars and Pickpocket Run a Dead Heat.

The Monmouth Park Association's meeting for 1892 came to a close yesterday afternoon, and the universal opinion voiced by racegoers was that it was a great success. Mr. Walcott and his associates have reason to congratulate themselves. The only incident that marred yesterday's sport was the final race in which Pickering by foul riding on Schuylkill caused the death of the gelding Julio, and gave the well-known light-weight Jockey Penn a fright that the lad will not recover from in some time. The stake features of the programme were the Carteret for two-year-olds, and the Jersey for three-year-olds. Messrs. Brown & Rogers won the former with their speedy gelding by Gleneig out of Moyne, while the same owners' Pickpocket ran a dead heat with the Morris colt Mars for the three-year-old prize.

The weather promised to be showery during the morning hours, and it lived up to its promise with a vengeance, as it rained hard until after the fourth race had been decided, leaving the course a river of soft mud. This undoubtedly had a great deal to do with the outcome of a majority of the races, as Locohatchee and other horses that could be named were greatly handicapped by the condition of the track.

The Moyne gelding and St. Michael opened equal favorites for the Carteret Handicap, but the talent put so much money on the unnamed youngster that at post time he was a decided first choice. Fairly long prices could be had against any of the others. The race was decided in the first quarter of a mile, as the Moyne gelding demonstrated his superiority in that distance. Taking the lead in the opening furlong he was never approached by any of the others, except Lustre, who ran a strong second for three furlongs. Simms called on the favorite then and he drew away at his pleasure and won by three lengths, romping over the finishing line. Lustre beat Ajax as handily for second money. The true story of the race is that the winner outclassed his opponents at the weights in the mud so much that it was no contest. Lustre showed herself to be a very game, consistent performer. Willie Midgley, who rode Mr. Galway's filly, entered a claim of foul against the winner, stating that Simms had crossed him at the beginning of the last quarter. The stewards refused to entertain the claim. The race was worth about $8,000 to the winner.

Mars, Leonawell, Pickpocket, and Locohatchee were quoted at almost equal odds for the Jersey Handicap, the former having a very strong following, on account of his well-known fondness for the mud. Pickpocket's friends recalled the race when that colt beat Locohatchee over a sloppy track at Sheepshead Bay, and figured that he should be able to do it again, as Mr. Lorillard's long-striding son ofOmondaga is nothing like himself on a heavy or even a sloppy track. Kilkenny, the other Lorillard representative, and Entre were the outsiders in the betting. Mr. Rowe secured a prompt and good start, and the race was full of interest from the moment the flag fell. Mars, Locohatchee, and Kilkenny ran head and head, with Pickpocket and Entre a length away, and Leonawell trailing and catching the pelting mud in bucketfuls from the heels of the leaders. Around the upper turn Littlefield attempted to steal away with Mars, but Kilkenny was right after him, and Pickpocket, taking third place, showed that he was still a factor. Hamilton gave Locohatchee a few cuts of the whip, and that sluggard, going up to the leaders, showed prominently as the field straightened out for home. Kilkenny, under a push from Littlefield went to the whip, using the catgut liberally on Mars's flanks. Pickpocket and Locohatchee were only a length away, while Leonawell, under punishment, followed by mud, and the Lambley colors almost undistinguishable, essayed to join the leaders, but he quickly dropped back beaten. Littlefield persevered with Mars, and half way to the stand his efforts were rewarded, for the bulldog pertinacity of the Morris colt was more than Kilkenny could stand, and the son of Darebin gave it up. Midgley drawing his whip opposite the free field, Simms then brought Pickpocket up with a rattle, and the lightweighted son of Spendthrift assumed command of affairs opposite the grand stand, Locohatchee doing back as the brown colt moved up. Again Littlefield called on Mars, and the game three-year-old responded as gallantly as though the battle had but begun. Inch by inch he overhauled Pickpocket, and when the wire was passed the judges were unable to separate the brown from the bay. Three lengths away came Locohatchee. After a consultation it was decided not to run the dead heat off, and the stake was divided. No praise is too extravagant for Mars. He is the gamest of the game, standing a drive with whip and spur for almost five-eighths of a mile.

Pessara, the favorite, beat the second choice, Correction, very neatly for the opening race, the little four-year-old showing all his speed. Picknicker was the choice for the mile handicap, and running in the front rank throughout he won in with ease, second place going to May Win and third money to that rogue Russell, who pinned his ears and would not run a little bit during the early part of the contest. Minnehaha had no difficulty in disposing of Marcellus. Yarrow, and Extra in the mile race, running under a pull for half a mile, and then drawing away with ridiculous ease. Marcellus was second and Extra third.

The concluding event, a selling race at seven furlongs, had only Boyle & Littlefield's Schuylkill and C. Littlefield, Jr.'s Julio and Simcrock as starters, Nomad, Diablo, and The Sheriff being withdrawn. Simcrock was favorite. As soon as the flag fell Pickering, on Schuylkill, cut across the track, forcing Fred Littlefield to pull up Simcrock. Julio, ridden by Penn, was nearest the rail, and gradually Pickering took Schuylkill across the track until at the point where the circular course crosses the straight track they were within three or four yards of the rail. Schuylkill was slightly in advance of Julio, not more than a neck, or half a length at most, and as they raced on they swerved toward the rail. Penn called warningly to Pickering to pull out, and almost immediately afterward, when the horse on Schuylkill did not alter his course and Julio was being crowded upon the rails, the little darky shouted angrily:

"What the hell are you trying to do?"

The words had scarcely passed Penn's lips when Julio stumbled against the fence and fell headlong. He slid along the track, scattering the mud in showers, slid eight or ten feet, and collided with a fence post. The effect was instantaneous and the horse was dead in a second. There was a stiffening of the limbs, a slight tremor, and Julio was dead. His neck had been broken. Penn's escape from death was miraculous. He fell between Julio and the fence and escaped serious injury, one of his arms being considerably bruised. He was badly frightened, but was wrapped in a blanket, placed in the starter's carriage, and conveyed to the jockeys' room, where he quickly regained all his faculties. The patrol judge reported Pickering a foul riding. With Julio out of the way, Schuylkill came on and won the race.

The Winners at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—First choices and non-favorites divided the six races at Garfield Park to-day. The latter were George W., Vallera, and Sull-Ross, who won after a dead heat with Tom Mackin. Of the other winners Rudolph was a second choice, Sam Farmer at 6 to 1, and White Wings at 12 to 1. The track was holding, and aside from the dead heat the finishes were processional.

In the opening race for maidens the choices were George W., Virden, and Coughlan, as named, and they ran in that order throughout in a procession. White Wings, Fred Houston, and Cadaverous were always in front in the second race and finished in that order. Thompson worried Gunshot the favorite, to death at the post. Vallera was a mighty choice for the handicap, and won pulled double by half a length from Marmose. The $2,500 selling stakes had five high-class contestants, with Carlisle the closing favorite. He led Major Tom and then Rudolph a full mile, when the latter passed and beat him easily. Major Tom finished ten lengths back. The well-backed Engarita was never in sight. St. Joe was favorite for the fifth, but Sam Farmer galloped home first from the start and Abandon beat St. Joe a length for place. Sull-Ross was favorite in the last lot. Tom Mackin led all the way, but Sull-Ross came fast at the end and made a dead heat. Consignee swerved, but was a good third. Sull-Ross got the run-off easily.

This was a day of surprises at Hawthorne, where only one favorite, Patrick, won, and the ring gathered in the gold. Of the top choices, Pioneer and Jubilee finished last, while J. B. Freed and Confusion ran badly enough to cause the Derby Stable. Mr. Barnes won at 8 to 1, Mollie M. at 20 to 1, Rouser at 8 to 1, and Vancluse at 10 to 1. The track was heavy.

A Postponement at Charter Oak.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 25.—More wet weather greeted the Grand Circuit horses to-day, causing a postponement at Charter Oak Park. There was an unusually large number of visitors in town, and the Hartford Purse, for three-year-olds, is the attraction. If it can be got at to-morrow an immense crowd will watch the young fliers. Chimes Girl is now a doubtful starter, as the filly has developed a corn on her foot, and it will make it necessary to draw her. The probable contestants are Belle Flower, Trevelyan, Starlight, Curfew, Vera, MacLeay, Connor, and Tamerlane. The 2:10 pace will be finished early, then the 2:17 trot follows, with the stake and 2:29 trot to complete the card.

Valuable Horses Destroyed by Fire.

NASHVILLE, Aug. 25.—Last night, about 12 o'clock, the stables at South Side Park, Columbia, were discovered to be on fire. The flames spread rapidly. The stablemen were unable to quench them.

Meeting of the Metropolitan Championships Committee.

The committee having charge of the arrangements for the Metropolitan championships at Manhattan Field on Sept. 10 met yesterday afternoon at the office of Chairman James E. Sullivan, 241 Broadway. The allotment of tickets to the various clubs in the association was finally arranged and they will be to-day forwarded by President W. B. Curtis, together with a prospectus conveying full particulars.

A letter was received from Chairman Howard E. Raymond of the I. A. W. Racing Board sanctioning the proposed addition of a two-mile safety bicycle championship to the programme. The committee considers this the greatest card so far, as A. A. Zimmerman, New York A. C., and Berlo and Taylor, Manhattan A. C., are already pledged to compete.

So many applications from athletes outside the Metropolitan district have been received that the committee wish to call the attention of intending competitors to the following article in the conditions for competition:

In association championship meetings no person not a member of good standing of a club belonging to the association will be eligible to compete.

Any entry received from an athlete debarred by this restriction will be rejected. The Manhattan Field will be put in trim immediately after the bicycle meet next Saturday, and the comfort of the large crowd expected will be well catered for, thus taking a block of 100 tickets can have space reserved on the stand by sending early notification to Chairman Sullivan. In view of the elaborate programme in preparation no entry will be accepted which does not reach "J. E. Sullivan, 241 Broadway," on or before Saturday, Sept. 3.

Gossip of the Courts.

Subscriber—Cusick's court is at 36 Chapel street, Newark.

What Casey writes to Prof. Coggins that if the programme is not changed he will be at home to-morrow night.

Capt. Billy Rose and Major Carmody had a little run around to the extent of four games yesterday, but the Captain never got beyond the 100 mark in any game. It is due to the Captain however to say that he had not struck a ball in a fortnight, and the slightest let up in practice affects his match play considerably. Now, with the Major and others it is different.

On the morning of the 28th inst. at 11 o'clock the postponed double-handed match between William Courtney and Tom Sinnott against Johnny Grady and Peter Connolly will come off on the courts of the South Brooklyn court. Courtney says he has a little experience to settle with his opponents, and will present a new stroke which he thinks will prove more damaging than anything that has ever been seen in a court before.

Ex-Alderman Jim Dunn of Brooklyn proposes a big scheme to usher in the fall and winter season at the Brooklyn Handball Club's court. He wants a team tournament arranged in which any parties can enter. He thinks Jerry Carroll and Jim Dunn, good partner, Lawlor and a good partner, Dr. Smith and John Macolm, Courtney and Grady, and, of course, I want to be included into my great partner, Prof. Coggins, were to meet for something worth playing for, it would enliven matters up amazingly. I have been thinking over the affair for some time, and I cannot see why all the men whom I have named should not enter. I further think, with all due respect to the playing abilities of Messrs. Casey and Lawlor and others, that the Professor and myself can just about trim up anybody."

News of the Wheelmen.

It is a disputed question in Hoboken as to the record of three of the principal cycle paths in that city, and to settle the dispute it has been decided that Edward Zulaut, Fred Meese, and H. Zulaut will ride a forty-mile race to Mt. Tabor, N. J., on Sept. 3.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE SUN: Sir—Sir: I have received a large number of requests for invitations to our cycling carnival, to be held at Manhattan Field to-morrow afternoon,
