FILLIES WIN THE STAKES.

HELEN NICHOLS AND YORKVILLE BELLE IN FRONT AT MORRIS PARK.

The Essex Stakes Only a Romp for McCafferty's Fleet Filly Helen Nichols—Garrison Pilots Yorkville Belle to Victory in the Hunter Stakes—Favorites Successful in a Majority of Yesterday's Events—Ajax and the Bertha B. Filly Run a Dead Heat for Second Place in the Essex Stakes

Backers of favorites had no reason to complain at Morris Park yesterday afternoon, four favorites getting home in front, while the winners of the other races carried a lot of money. There were two stake events on the card, the Essex, for two-year-olds, which was won by J. J. McCafferty's beautiful filly, Helen Nichols, and the Hunter, for three-year-old fillies, which Yorkville Belle took into camp in the most hollow style. Both were at odds on in the betting, and they won with such ease that the crowd did not enthuse, although the fight for second honors in the Essex Stakes was very warm, the Bertha B. filly and Ajax running a dead heat. The weather was once more perfect and the track fast.

With Eagle Bird, Maylose, Lawless, and Young Arion withdrawn from the Essex Stakes, the public could see nothing but Helen Nichols, and they eagerly accepted odds of 2 to 1 on the pretty daughter of Iroquois. Gov. Foraker, who had beaten Ajax twice in succession, with Garrison riding the big son of Dandie Dinmont, was played again to run into the place. Bergen had the mount on Ajax, though on this occasion, and after Helen Nichols had demonstrated her superiority by leading from start to finish, the talent watched the fight for second money. Ajax overhauled Gov. Foraker at the final furlong pole and appeared to have second position secure, when the Bertha B. filly shot up, making a dead heat with him, the pair running stride for stride for fifty yards or so. Helen Nichols is considered a very smart filly by the shrewdest of Eastern turfmen, and McCafferty looks wise whenever the great American Derby of a guaranteed value of $50,000, to be run next year at Chicago, is mentioned.

Of course Yorkville Belle was a prohibitive favorite for the Hunter Stakes, the daughter of Miser having nothing to beat but Derfargilla and Anna B. Derfargilla was the pacemaker, running the first mile in 1:50¾, with her opponents close up. At the head of the stretch Sims pulled out his wraps on the Rancocas filly, and she stepped along at a lively clip, running the next quarter in 25 seconds. Then the Belle strode to the front with Garrison sitting still, and won in a big gallop, having run the last half mile in 50 seconds. Anna B. was a poor third.

Fairy, with Garrison up, was favorite at odds on for the opening dash at six furlongs, with Aloha the most fancied of the others. Fairy and Rosa H. ran head and head for five furlongs, closely pressed by Vestibule. Garrison had to ride Fairy a trifle in order to win by a length from Rosa H. Aloha was third at the end, passing Vestibule in the last furlong.

Mary Stone was favorite for the second event at a mile. Sleipner going back from 2 to 1 to 5 to 1 at the post. When the flag went down Bergen paralyzed the spectators by going to the front with Major Daly and putting him a terrific pace, opening a gap of half a dozen lengths in the run to the turn. Sleipner took second place in the stretch, and wearing down the leader won by half a length in the fast time of 1:40. Penn rode Mary Stone poorly, and Fidelio beat the filly for third money.

Hy Dy and Arab were strongly played to win the third race, a selling affair at one mile. Experience went away at a quarter-horse clip, and opened up a big gap in the first quarter, giving way to Milt Young and Arab opposite the free field. Bergen made a vigorous finish on Arab, and won a good race by a length, second money going to Milt Young, who beat Now or Never two lengths.

On public form the Moyne gelding was the surest of sure things for the final race, a sweepstakes for two-year-olds, and the talent put a fortune on him. Getting away well, the race was never in doubt, Sims making all the running, and landing the favorite the easiest of winners. Prince George beat Eagle Bird for second place in a driving finish. Chiswick carried considerable money, but he performed in the most disappointing fashion.

Odds was quite a plunge on the imported horse Piccolo in the opening dash, but Fairy is in rare form just now, and the good thing may develop some other day.

Snapper Garrison and Col. McLewee must have smoked the pipe of peace. Garrison rode and won with Fairy and Yorkville Belle for the Ehret stable. Summaries follow:

TURF NOTES.

Dr. Hasbrouck is turned out for the season. He was cut down badly in his last race, and on being pulled up rather short wrenched his shoulder, which is now better. The great sprinter will be as well as ever next spring should he winter well.

Midnight, one of the Morris two-year-olds that showed remarkable trials in his work last spring, did some tall jumping in his morning exercise on Wednesday. He threw his rider and galloped like a wild horse down the stretch. He suddenly stopped at the foot of the six furlong shute, hesitated for a moment whether he should jump the fence or not, suddenly drew alongside the rail and jumped clewise and lay on the rail in that position for fully half a minute, when he fell over gracefully on his back in the inner field. He jumped up and was caught unhurt. The feat was witnessed by nearly every trainer on the track.

Green B. Morris at one time owned Hettie T., the dam of Lady Mary. He was very fond of her and purchased the filly from Mr. F. Wishard after she defeated Marshall on Wednesday evening.

Jockey McCafferty tells a funny story about the esteem in which he is held as a rider by track frequenters. When the numbers were being hoisted for the last race on Wednesday the jockey was walking on the promenade on the grand stand. He stopped to look at the numbers and directly in front of him sat a lady and her escort. The fair one said: "Dear, who is that riding Lady Mary?" "Bix, Rafe, or somebody," was the reply. She said: "Put $20 on the filly for me. There is one thing certain, he can ride as well as McCafferty, anyhow."

Father Bill Daly is open to make a big wager that he wins as many races at the Washington meeting as anybody. "I commenced the spring well there," said Bill, "and I intend to earn my winter out bill there."

Wyndham Walden shipped most of the English yearlings to Middleburg yesterday in special cars.

Russell burst his foot open in his race on Wednesday when he was defeated by Banquet and Kildeer.

G. W. Johnson, the Oneck Stable's $30,000 two-year-old, has thrown out osselets on his ankles. Trainer Walter Rollins will have them punched and fired at once.

Elmer ran away two miles and a quarter yesterday morning, broke through to the inner field, and ran plump into a board fence, injuring himself so that he will not race this season.

RACING IN ENGLAND.

Isinglass Wins the Middle Park Plate.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The race for the Middle Park Plate at the Newmarket second October meeting to-day was won by Mr. H. McCalmont's bay colt Isinglass, Ravensbury second, Baron de Rothschild's Lenichinn third.

The conditions of the race are 500 sovereigns, added to a sweepstakes of 30 sovereigns each, for two-year-olds; colts, 8 stone 10 pounds; fillies and geldings, 8 stone 7 pounds; winning penalties; the second horse to receive 200 sovereigns, and the third 100 sovereigns out of the stakes; entrance, 5 sovereigns, the surplus money to be divided between the second and third; six furlongs (104 subscribers).

Racing at Hawthorne.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Only two favorites won at Hawthorne to-day, two second choices and two long shots capturing the six events.

Belle Stout, the favorite, won the first division of the race for two-year-old maidens. She came fast at the finish, nailing Scottish Belle on the post by a length. The Belle beat E. H. Sherley for second money by a neck. Northwestern won the second half in hollow style. He was off first and was never headed. Linda was second with Au Fait at her saddle girth. Dixie cut out the running in the six furlong run. Foxhall, the favorite, and McMurtry left his rack in the stretch, and in an exciting finish McMurtry beat Foxhall a nose. Dixie ran a good third. The fourth race, at six furlongs, was won by Louise, the favorite, under a pull, a length from Ormonde, who was three-fourths of a length in front of Gunwad, second choice.

Donohue cut out the running in the first of the mile selling races. When he quit, St. Albans came through and cantered home three lengths ahead of Dowagiac. Donohue was third. Top Gallant, the favorite, was fourth.

Bankrupt was the favorite in the last race, at one mile. Johnny Greener shot to the front and made the running to the three-quarters, where he died away, and Jack Richelieu, at 15 to 1, won easily.

Another Race Track for New Jersey.

At a meeting held in Harrison, a suburb of Newark, on Oct. 12, the Harrison Jockey Club was formed, the following officers being elected:

President, J. B. Collins; Vice-President, Mitford Buell; Secretary and Treasurer, J. F. Callahan. Mr. Collins, who was at Morris Park yesterday, says that a track will be built in Hudson county this winter, and that it will be opened next spring. It is Mr. Collins's intention to race next winter.

Reference's Fast Mile.

That speedy gelding Reference, 2:18, by Referee, owned by the popular clubman, Matthew Riley, trotted a mile over the Fleetwood track in 2:14 without making a skip or break.

As Mr. Riley remarked after the trial, "This is rather quick for a road horse."

BIG FIELDS AT POINT BREEZE.

Seventeen Horses Too Many to Start in the One Race.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—Harry C. won the postponed slow class to-day, but the field was too large to be a fair test, many a good horse being unable to get through in time. Many of the drivers murmured because the class was not divided, as the 2:29 trot was, but had they made their wishes known to the judges in time this would have been done and another $400 hung up. This also applies to the still larger field in the 2:24 trot, unfinished. But three drivers said they would like a division, and under the circumstances the association cannot be blamed.

The danger of these excessively large fields was shown in the first heat for the 2:24 trot. At the start Quintin, with Brother G., was against the rail in the second rank, Cohanset Boy, next him, broke and swerved a little toward the rail, but that little was enough to bring him into collision with Brother G. Quintin was thrown out, the lines caught his feet, and the stallion started to run. Before he had been dragged far Quintin got free, and the horse, a very valuable one, charged through the rear end of the field, colliding with some, but the rubber tire saved any smashing, and Brother G. gradually slowed up and then stopped. Quintin was not hurt badly.

The pacers in the 2:15 class are having a merry fight, as the time will show. Few better finishes were ever seen than that in the fifth heat, the five coming from the last turn abreast, and finishing so close that the last horse was lapped on the winner. Rebus, who was knocked out by his many hard fights in the spring with Dandy, has rounded to in Delhi, and finished his last heat in 2:16¾ from fourth position in the stretch was a remarkably good one.

An effort will be made to clear up the card to-morrow. This includes the fragments of to-day's races, the 2:33 pace and the 2:27 class, which, with thirty-four entries, nearly all of whom start, is divided with a purse of $500 for each. Summaries:

Trotting and Pacing at Mystic Park.

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—Warmer weather brought a large crowd to the Mystic Park races this afternoon. First on the programme was the 2:28 race, unfinished from yesterday, when five heats were trotted. Baby, the favorite, won the fifth heat yesterday, and this afternoon he took two in succession, giving him the race. Hot Shot took second money, Bird third. Time, 2:23, 2:20¾.

In the 2:25 class eight started. Edgardo took the first heat, but bad breaks lost him the next three to Stanley.

The 2:20 pacing race was the best of the day. The finish in the second heat was the best. This race was unfinished owing to darkness.

CAPT. SHANLEY'S STORY.

The Owner of Grover S. Gives His Version of the Race.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 13.—The telegraphic reports sent out from Philadelphia yesterday regarding Capt. Shanley's pacer, Grover S., created a decided sensation among local horsemen.

Capt. Shanley was very indignant, and today said to your correspondent: "The only truth contained in that report is that the horse is dead. No self-respecting physician conversant with the case would dare to claim the presence of poison in the animal's stomach. It is also claimed that I would have won $4,000 or $5,000 if the horse had lost. I had but one pool ticket which would have brought $10 if Grover had won. The horse won two heats. The horses scored several times before the start was made in the fourth heat. My horse was a trifle behind at the quarter pole, but he was forging ahead when he staggered against the fence with a great stream of blood flowing from his mouth and nostrils. When Lyman, the driver, reached him he was dead. The judges said that they could smell laudanum on his breath. I could not. The judges suspected foul play. I asked to have an autopsy held. I think he died from a ruptured blood vessel. Grover S. was valued at $10,000, so it stands to reason that I would not kill such a valuable animal for $4,000 or $5,000."

DISHONEST DRIVERS PUNISHED.

The Pacer Guy Gets a Great Race at Lexington.

LEXINGTON, Oct. 13.—With the most pleasant day that the Breeders' Meeting has seen since it began last week, the sport was greatly marred this afternoon by crooked work, that resulted in the suspension of two drivers. Added to this was a severe and very questionable action by the judges in another race, by which another driver was first expelled, and afterward suspended.

The first two cases were decided correctly, the owner of Pearl McGregor, N. S. Burlew of Charleston, W. Va., having pulled the mare yesterday, while Ben McCall of Pittsburgh was as certainly guilty of keeping Dandy back in the dash this afternoon. Pearl McGregor was very unsteady to-day, so that John Goldsmith, who had won the third heat last night without having to call on the mare, could not keep her on a trot in the fourth heat, and Prince Herschel got the race after all, lowering his record to 2:21. As the chestnut mare had failed to win, Mr. Burlew got off with a light sentence of suspension for thirty days.

After the free-for-all pace, in which Guy put in three fast heats, all below what was ever made here before in a race, the fourth in 2:08¾ being the track record, the 2:18 trotters had a dash of a mile and a sixteenth. Dandy was favorite at even money, but was back in third place on a break, and Catherine Seyburn got home first. The drive was so suspicious that the judges refused to accept the result, and ordered another trial.

McCall was taken out and Mike Bowerman selected to drive Dandy. The result was a very easy victory for the stallion in time more than two seconds faster than before, and McCall was declared suspended indefinitely and Bowerman got $100 of Dandy's winnings for his work.

There was more trouble during the contest for the Johnston Stake, in which five stallions started. Geneva, the favorite, got two heats in slow time for him, but in the third there was a collision at the first turn that struck his sulky and caused him to break.

This was charged to Broomal, and, though he finished several lengths in front, he was placed last, and his driver, Adam Vogel of Bowagiac, Mich., was expelled.

After a few minutes this was changed to suspension, and later on it transpired that there is a grave doubt whether Broomal had anything to do with the foul.

Camden, the driver of Bannermark, states that it was his horse that swerved against Dirego, carrying him over on Geneva's sulky. It is likely the hasty decision, already modified, will be reversed entirely.

The Lexington Stake, for two-year-olds, was a gift to Silicon, the Kentucky filly being much too speedy for her field.

As the Johnston Stake stands unfinished, it comes first to-morrow, and then the special stake for trotters of five years and under follows.

Kremlin is a hot favorite for this and the balance of the card, for the wind-up consists of the Kentucky Stake for three-year-olds and 2:27 class trotting. Summaries:
