LAST DAY OF THE CASE SALE

PRICES RULED MUCH HIGHER THAN ON MONDAY OR TUESDAY.

The Entire Consignment From Hickory Grove Farm, Numbering 155 Head, Sold for $84,505, an Average of $538.74—Three Splendid Mares in the Ring—Mr. Shoop of Racine Gave $9,500 for Two Daughters of Old Victoria, and Mr. Shults of Parkville Farm Paid $5,000 for Clara Wilkes, 2:17—The Stallion Breyn, 2:18 3-4, Sold for $1,350.

The last day's sale of the Hickory Grove Farm trotters, consigned by the estate of the late Jerome I. Case of Racine, Wis., was by far the most successful of the three, and both Auctioneer Kellogg and Jackson I. Case, Jr., looked pleased when the last animal was knocked down and their responsibility was at an end. Forty-six head changed hands yesterday for a total of $31,750, an average of $690.22, while the entire consignment of 155 head brought $84,505, an average of $538.74.

There were three mares of surpassing excellence in yesterday's lot, the half sisters Victoria Wilkes and Victoria McGregor, each with race records of 2:19¾, and Clara Wilkes, record, 2:17, made in the fourth heat of a race. Victoria Wilkes is by Onward and Victoria McGregor is by Robert McGregor, their dam being that great old mare Victoria, by Dictator, out of Lady Mingo by Iron Duke. Clara Wilkes is by Onward, out of Fisher, by American Clay, and she is perfect in outline, as sound as a newly milled dollar, and can go out and beat her record whenever asked to. Her race at East Saginaw two years ago against Prodigal, Wildbrino, and other fast horses was one of the most sensational contests on the Western turf in 1891. Victoria McGregor is a larger mare than Clara Wilkes, and she has a lot of quality, too, but good judges prefer the daughter of Onward. Naturally there was the strongest kind of competition for the two, and the bidding was very spirited. C. I. Shoop of Racine, a relative of the Case family, was aggressive and outlasted all others for the offspring of old Victoria, securing Victoria McGregor for $5,100, and Victoria Wilkes for $4,400. When Clara Wilkes was offered, John H. Shults, the best bidder in America when he wants anything, A. B. Darling, and C. I. Shoop entered the lists. Mr. Shults made his competitors dizzy by elevating the price from $3,100 to $4,000. The rest hung on until $4,500 was reached. Then Mr. Shults bid $5,000, and at that figure Clara Wilkes goes to Parkville Farm.

The nine-year-old horse Brown, with a four-year-old record of 2:18¾ that made him the champion four-year-old of his day, went very cheaply. Mr. Galvin of this city paying but $1,350 for the son of Combat and Gauntlette. Brown is a handsome horse, but he is not bred up to the mark on the paternal side, and although he has a number of his progeny on the verge of the 2:30 list, one two-year-old having a record of 2:32¾, breeders looked askance and wanted none of him. Mr. Galvin is a local horse dealer, and hopes to turn the first-year-it a profit.

Mystery, with a record of 2:28¾, made at three years, a daughter of Phallas and the Nutwood mare Mystic, was bought by J. H. Shults for $2,000. This young mare is very handsome, and is with foal by Egotist, 2:22¾, by electioneer, who will never appear upon the track again, however, as she is hopelessly broken down behind. George J. Harley of Crestland Farm, Great Neck, L. I., gave Mr. Shoop a profit of $100 on the Onward mare Rival, whose dam is Cut, by Brignoli, and whose second dam is the famous Crop, by Pilot, Jr., sire dam of Counsellor, 2:22¾, Code, 2:22¾, and Blanche Amory, 2:20.

This is a summary of the sale:

ED CORRIGAN LOSES.

His "Huron" Case Against the Coney Island Jockey Club Dismissed.

The action of Ed Corrigan against the Coney Island Jockey Club, growing out of the controversy over the running of Huron in the Futurity Stakes of 1891, was tried before Judge Dugro in the Superior Court yesterday. It will be remembered that some time after Corrigan bought the colt at the Belle Mead sale, the jockey club told him that J. J. Carter, agent of the Belle Mead farm, had declared Huron out of the Futurity. Huron developed into a crack, and Corrigan wanted to start him for the rich stakes. He insisted that he had bought the colt with all his engagements, and that Carter's declaration was unauthorized. On this showing Judge McAdam gave Corrigan a mandatory order, and Huron started in the race. He finished second to His Highness, but the jockey club withheld the second money, and Corrigan has an action pending for the recovery of his share of the stake.

The jockey club appealed from the order of Judge McAdam, and the General Term of the Superior Court decided that the club had the right to prevent the horse from starting. In the meantime Corrigan had brought the present suit to compel the club to permit the horse to start. As soon as it appeared by the evidence of Corrigan yesterday that the race had been run, Judge Dugro said he would dismiss the complaint, as a decree compelling the club to let the horse run on a past occasion would be futile.

A. H. Hummel, for Corrigan, said that his client, by the authorities, had the right to have the Court pass on the eligibility of the horse in that race and counted on an appeal. John M. Bowers, for the club, contended that the Court could not be asked for a judgment that could not be carried into effect. Both counsel agreed, however, that it was better to let the case proceed, in order that the appellate courts may have the evidence before them.

Corrigan testified that he bought the colt at the auction of the Belle Mead horses, near Nashville, in 1890, for $400. The catalogue, which he produced, said the horse was booked for the Futurity. Auctioneer Capt. Kidd announced that all horses were sold subject to their engagements. He believed that Gen. Jackson, owner of the horses sold, made the same announcement. He sent the affidavits of Capt. Kidd and Gen. Jackson to the club, stating that the colt had been sold subject to the engagements, but had not been put by the club in the list of entries.

Samuel E. Rourke, Secretary, and James G. K. Lawrence, President, of the club, testified that John J. Carter, agent of the Belle Mead farm, had notified the club that the colt was declared. Carter had been accustomed to send notifications about the Belle Mead horses. They contended that the colt had not been sold subject to the engagement.

In rebuttal, Corrigan said that Carter's notification was made after the sale and had not been authorized by him. Mr. Lawrence said that after the affidavits of Corrigan and all the evidence was before them, the club had decided the day before the race that Huron was ineligible.

Judge Dugro said that on further consideration he would not specify the ground of dismissal of the complaint. He believed that even on the merits the defendant should succeed. He would simply dismiss and leave the whole matter to the appellate courts. He gave counsel until Friday to submit findings.

AMERICAN YACHTS BARRED.

Not Eligible to Race for the German Emperor's Silver Shield.

If the latest reports from England are true the new international yachting trophy known as the Meteor Challenge Shield, which his imperial Majesty the German Emperor has presented to the Royal Yacht Squadron, is not open to American yachts. So Mr. Royal Phelps Carroll's new boat will not have a chance to race for it next summer.

With American yachts barred and its donor sailing on an English-built yacht, its value as an international yachting trophy will not be very great. Mr. Carroll's ambition will have to be satisfied with such smaller game as the Royal Victoria Cup and other trifles. The new shield is of embossed silver, ornamented with thalers of different periods, some of which are rare coins. The year 1888 is represented by three twenty-mark pieces bearing the heads of the Emperors William, Frederick III., and William II. The imperial arms are displayed in the centre; the shield rests on a velvet mount, with the imperial crown above and the Emperor's presentation inscription below. The whole is enclosed in an oak cabinet.

The race will be open to all yachts of any rig, rating not less than 100, belonging to any European yacht club; no handicapping; time allowances according to Yacht Racing Association rules; to be sailed in cruising trim in or across the Channel; distance, 80 to 100 miles; no race unless six yachts start. The conditions will be that the shield goes to the winning yacht, which has to defend it the following year; if won three times by the same yacht it becomes the property of her owner.

LASKER OFF TO HAVANA.

There Is Still Considerable Mystery About Walbrodt.

The German chess expert, Emanuel Lasker, left in the City of Washington for Havana yesterday. To a SUN reporter who saw him off he had the following statement to make regarding a match against Walbrodt:

"Since seeing you last on the proposed match between Walbrodt and myself I have seen in some English chess periodicals that Walbrodt did receive a letter from the Havana chess officials in which he was invited over for a six weeks' visit to Havana. The Havana club, in the letter to Walbrodt, even proposed to invite me, and if I should agree to play a match with Walbrodt this contest was to be played during this season. Should I, however, decline to meet Walbrodt, then the latter would be asked to play short matches against the local magnates, to give exhibitions of simultaneous play, &c.

"Up to to-day I have not received any information from Havana respecting the proposed match with Walbrodt, and it seems very strange to me that Walbrodt should be invited to Havana to fulfil engagements for which I have been engaged. As I said the other day, I shall be but too much pleased to meet Walbrodt over the board, but I could not afford to do this without having first settled on terms with the Havana Chess Club and with Walbrodt. Immediately on my arrival at Havana I shall cable to THE SUN stating whether Walbrodt is expected there."

News for the Skaters.

The skaters do not utter a word of complaint about the severity of the weather, but indulge in the hope that the mercury will not get any higher for some time to come. As a result of the cold snap, all the skating resorts are doing a rushing business, and the prospects are good for a continuance. Skating on the big lake is now excellent, the ice being thick and smooth. All day yesterday and until late in the evening a crowd of merry skaters glided over the surface of the lake, and the frosty air resounded with the shouts of the merrymakers.

The small pond at Fifty-ninth street and Fifth avenue swarmed with youngsters, who are not losing any precious time while the ice lasts. Croton, Van Cortlandt, and the other small lakes were also crowded, while Prospect Park Lake was jammed with skaters.

The snow which fell early in the week, together with the big crowds which have invaded Prospect Park day after day, have combined to make the skating less delightful than it was at the beginning of the cold snap. The ice is pretty much cut up, and the surface is rather rough. Skating is not yet possible on the big lake. The snow has not been cleared away. However, the ice is open to the public beyond the second bridge and the flower gardens. The cold yesterday only served to put greater zest into the skaters. They thronged Brooklyn's pleasure ground and, in spite of the roughness of the ice, enjoyed themselves as only skaters can. Long before noon they took possession of the boat house, and the lakes were soon in use. In the evening, in spite of the increasing cold weather, men and women continued to alight from the cars at the park entrances, and the sport went on with unabated zeal until the hour for closing came.

RIO PARK, Jan. 11.—The entries are coming in to Secretary James B. Weaver at a lively rate for the skating contest to come off on the river here on Jan. 18. The Donoghue boys have entered, and so have Elwood Prickett of Bethlehem, Pa., Howard Mosher of Storm King, and a number of other well-known skaters. The ice has snow on it still, but much has blown off, and if necessary a course of smooth ice can be uncovered with little trouble.

The ice yachts are not out much. A challenge has been received by the North Shrewsbury Club from William Seaman of the South Shrewsbury Ice Yacht Club for the third class challenge pennant held by Charles Irving's Georgie. The club will have a meeting tonight and accept the challenge. Thomas Riddle of Oceanport is building a new ice yacht and will have her out in a week. She will be lateen rigged with some improvements.

Donoghue Not Yet a Professional.

Much amusement has been occasioned among skating and athletic circles here by the announcement that the Canoe Club will consider Joe Donoghue has sacrificed his amateur status by pressing his skates in compleis for money and depositing a portion of the stake.

There is no amateur definition observed in the United States which could be interpreted to debar Donoghue on the grounds referred to.

STONINGTON PAYS 60 TO 1.

M'ELMEEL'S GELDING BEATS POLYDORA AND BERWYN HANDILY.

Jack Rose Shows His True Form and Wins the $500 Purse—Fancy Colt and Joe Courtney the Only Favorites to Win.

It was a gold day for jockeys, horses, and the talent on the hill yesterday. The sport began with Fancy colt, post favorite, winning the first race by four lengths from Lismore. Spot, considered the real cinch, finishing last. Stonington, a 60 to 1 shot in the second race, came at the finish and won rather easily by a head, Polydora, second pick, beating Berwyn, the favorite, also by a head. Joe Courtney, top choice in the third race, won handily, Dago, at 6 to 1, taking the place from Riot, second choice. Jack Rose showed remarkable improvement in form in the fourth race by beating Fagot, second choice, with Martin up. There was a lurid criticism in the ring over the result. W. H. Roller's filly Blossom, at 4 to 1 chance, led all the way in the scramble for two-year-olds, and won by a length. Inspector C. beating Annie G. filly for the place. Anxiety filly, the favorite, came in fifth. Tingle, second choice in the last race, won the purse easily from April Fool, Red Elm beating Van S., first choice, for third place. Summary:

Favorites Beaten and Jockeys Injured.

GLOUCESTER, Jan. 11.—Not a favorite won to-day, but victories by second choices were frequent. The track was very hard and three horses fell, Golden and Piedmont in the first race and Madge L. in the fifth. Graham, who rode Piedmont, was seriously hurt, having his head injured and a collar bone broken.

First Race—Five furlongs. Apollo, 140, 3 to 1 (Gaines) won; Aftermath, 140, 5 to 2 (Witzemann), second; Wrestler, 140, 5 to 1 (Gravers) third. Time, 1:05.

News from the Horse World.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 11.—Last night six car loads of trotting stock from Senator Stanford's Palo Alto and Vine breeding farms left this city for New York in charge of Frank Covey, where they will be sold.

GLENS FALLS, Jan. 11.—The famous stallion Autograph, 2:17, owned by W. E. Spier, was sold to James Golden, the trainer and driver, to-day. Mr. Golden is acting in the interest of Boston parties. The price paid is not known, but it reached five figures. Autograph was foaled in 1883, and is by Alcantara, out of Flaxey, the dam of four in the list.

The Favorite's Boxing Show.

The Favorite Athletic Club held a stag last night at Clarendon Hall, on East Thirteenth street. The programme was started with the usual exhibition bouts. The first special skirmish was between James Brennan and Tom Lynch, two feather weights. It was a four-round go. In the first two rounds Brennan had the best of it. While making a rush in the third round his opponent ducked, and Brennan turned a complete somersault over the ropes. The last round was very even, and the bout was declared a draw. The next best "go" was between J. Moore, Pastime A. C., and H. Hofner of New York. The Pastime boxer pounded his adversary at will. In the last round Hofner was very groggy, and another hard punch would have put him to sleep. Moore got the decision. John Luke and Alex Hurla next donned the mitts. The former won in three rounds. There were many other bouts, and the programme did not end until a late hour.

BROOKLYN YACHTSMEN MEET.

A Large Attendance at the Thirty-sixth Annual Meeting.

The thirty-sixth annual meeting of the Brooklyn Yacht Club was held last evening at 44 Court street, Brooklyn. There was a large attendance, and considerable business was transacted. The Secretary's report showed a membership of 162, an increase of six since last year, and twelve new boats. The Treasurer's report showed all debts paid and a fair balance on hand. The Measurer's report showed a fleet of 74 yachts, divided as follows: Mainsail yachts, 27; jib and mainsail yachts, 6; sloops, cutters, yawls, and schooners, 33; steam yachts, 5.

The following officers were elected: Commodore, R. J. Sutton, schooner Loyal; Vice-Commodore, William T. Murphy, sloop Bess; Rear Commodore, George L. Robinson, cat Dolphin; President, Daniel O'Reilly; Secretary, William Cagger; Treasurer, Willard Graham; Measurer, H. W. Kilbourne; Trustees, George F. Foote, Charles H. Oliver, George B. Lyons, A. S. Richshaffer, M. J. Hanify, S. S. Golding, Albert Cluman, Peter B. Steele, and F. H. Jesunott; Membership Committee, A. G. Walden, William Dodman, and C. H. Frost; Regatta Committee, R. C. Hopkins, Henry Stanwood, and F. W. Bobbett.

The following amendments to the constitution and by-laws were adopted:

To amend article 6, section 2, of the by-laws by substituting "fifteen" for twelve dollars as the amount of the annual dues, and amend second paragraph of section 3 of same article by substituting the words "six months' dues" in place of the words "six dollars" as the amount a member may be in arrears before being reported to the club by the treasurer.

To amend article 11, rule 3, of the by-laws by striking out the paragraph "Lengths mentioned are." By changing the first sentence so as to read, "Yachts shall be classified for all club races according to load water line length as follows."

To amend article 11, rule 3, of the by-laws by inserting "load water line" before length, so as to read, "Add the load water line length and the square root of the sail area," &c.

To amend article 10, section 1, of the by-laws by substituting for it the following:

There shall be an annual regatta given by the club, to take place in the month of June, over the stipulated club courses.

The Regatta Committee shall recommend, at or before the regular meeting in April, the date for the regatta and the clubs which shall be invited to participate, which matters will be decided forthwith by the club.

At the conclusion of the meeting the newly elected officers entertained their fellow members at the club, 311 Washington street.

Yachting Notes of Interest.

The Carmita, the Foster 46-foot fin keel, is laid down at Lawley's, and the steel work will soon be started.

Lawley, it is said, is figuring on a steel schooner for Henry Bryant. The latter, now that he has decided not to build for cup defence, may decide to build for cruising.

Commodore Joseph Macdonough, the well-known California yachtsman and the owner of the fast San Francisco schooner Aurora, is already out with a challenge for the schooner Miranda, recently purchased by Mr. Coleman of San Francisco for use in the Pacific.

It is said that one of the steamers which Lawley is building is for John Stetson of Boston, who intends to go in for yachting again, but on a smaller scale than in the Sappho.

The Minnetonka yacht Fortuna, owned by H. S. Hovey of Boston, will visit Chicago during the exhibition.

The South Boston Yacht Club, which was organized in 1868, will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary on Feb. 2.

The members of the Columbia Yacht Club will hold a progressive euchre party to-night at their club house at the foot of West Eighty-sixth street. Messrs. Roweley, Weaver, Shiller, Mitchell, and Barnett are the committee in charge.

The steam yacht Comanche, bound from this port to Jacksonville, arrived at Charleston, S. C., yesterday.

At Last They Will Get to Work.

Athletes and those interested in athletics throughout the metropolitan district will be agreeably surprised to learn that the executive elected at the last annual meeting of the association is about to do some work.

Since the meeting of the Board, on Oct. 16, when a little routine business was disposed of, legislation has been at a standstill. At that meeting President Curtis was instructed to prepare a list of the standing committees, and submit it, for approval or otherwise by mail, to the members of the executive committee, on whose motion the President acted, failed to mail their approval or disapproval, and the old year went out without developing a satisfactory solution of the mystery.

At length President Curtis disposed of the vexatious tangle by the same heroic measures employed by Alexander in the Gordian knot. A special meeting has been called for Jan. 21, and meanwhile the following committees, who have received notice of their appointment, are expected to restore order out of the chaos into which the neglected business of the association had drifted:

Schedule—J. E. Sullivan, M. A. Cuming, and Hugh S. Hyde.

Finance—J. G. Tighe, A. J. Murphy, and W. Hilliard.

Legislation—W. B. Curtis.

Membership and Club Investigation—C. C. Hughes, W. J. Linihan, C. J. Leach, Hugh S. Hart, and G. Wood.

Trial and Reinstatement—W. J. Linihan, C. J. Leach, T. A. Collett, J. Steil, and C. J. Harvey.

Registration—J. R. Woodruff, R. Conn, W. Hilliard, and A. W. Rider.

Protest—T. A. Collett, C. White, D. F. Coughlin, and A. J. Morberg.

Y. M. C. A. Gymnasts.

The third competition of the series for the championship of the Eastern District Y. M. C. A. was held in the gymnasium Tuesday evening. Two
