BROOD MARES IN DEMAND,

ESPECIALLY WHEN THEY ARE DAUGHTERS OF LUCY, 2:18 1-4, AND LADY THORN, 2:18 1-4.

A Battle Royal at the American Institute Between A. H. Moore and William Simpson for the Famous Mare Sapphire—The Philadelphian Took the Prize for $5,000—Close of the Palo Alto Sale—Mr. Steel's Handsome Lot Commanded Attention.

The attendance at the Kellogg combination sale of trotters in the American Institute building yesterday was large, and it was remarked that nearly every man within the walls of the old frame structure was thoroughly conversant with the strains of blood that have played the most prominent parts in the successes of the trotting turf. Buyers were critical, and they had no use for culls, but when any animal of merit came before them they loosened the purse strings and bid boldly.

The total for Palo Alto's consignment of sixty-eight head was $21,295, an average of $313.16, and after the trotters from Senator Stanford's ranch had been disposed of, consignments from Messrs. Kilgore of Flemington, N. J., Robert Steel, Cedar Park Stock Farm, Philadelphia; D. S. Hammond, New York city, Isaac V. Baker, Jr., of Comstock, this State, and other gentlemen, were offered. Mr. Steel sold nineteen head for the tidy total of $12,510, an average of $658.42, while Mr. Hammond got $5,000 for the famous mare, Sapphire, by Jay Gould, out of the old race mare Lucy, 2:18¾, by George M. Patchen, and $1,100 for Thornetta, a daughter of Gen. Knox and Lady Thorn, 2:18¼, the renowned sister to Herr's Mambrino Patchen, and believed by many to have been capable of a mile in 2:12 or better away back in the days when sulkies, tracks, and other appliances had not reached the perfection of to-day. Sapphire is the dam of the stallions Nominator, 2:21¾, and Nominee, 2:24¾, and the bidding was spirited from the moment Mr. Kellogg introduced her. A. H. Moore of Cloverdell Farm, Colmar, Pa., stood upon the track near the mare, while William Simpson, the pawnbroker, conversed with a gentleman in the rear of the auctioneer's stand. The bidding was confined to these gentlemen, and the price pounted quickly until $4,000 was reached. Neither knew who his opponent was, and apparently neither cared. As fast as Mr. Kellogg called Mr. Moore's bids Your Uncle Simpson winked at the auctioneer, and every wink cost $100. Mr. Simpson winked his left eye so frequently in the course of the struggle that it refused to work after it had called forth $4,900, and as he couldn't or wouldn't wink the other eye, Mr. Moore took Sapphire for $5,000. The opposition for Thornetta was not nearly so strong, and Mr. Moore got her for $1,100.

"Came over for two, and I got 'em," was Mr. Moore's terse remark after the sale.

"And they can't be duplicated," was the comment of Editor Dudley Miller of the Horse World, who stood by.

Mr. Steel sent a remarkably fine-looking lot of horses into the ring, and his fellow townsmen, J. A. Wenderoth and Charles Nolan, showed their appreciation of home products by buying freely, the former securing the Electioneer stallion Don Montieth, 2:29¾, for $1,300, and the six-year-old mare Fatina, by Electioneer, for $1,000, while shrewd Nolan bagged a great prize in Nutrition, an eight-year-old son of Nutwood and Beckey, with a race record of 2:24¾, made last season, $1,800 being the lucky bid. George J. Harloy of Crestland Farm, Great Neck, L. I., was the contending bidder.

Erin, 2:24¼, the thirteen-year-old horse by Belmont, out of Eventide, dam of Kremlin, 2:07¾, Evermond, 2:24¾, consigned by A. Kilgore of Flemington, was cheap at $1,100, the price paid by F. A. Wagner of Hartford, and the twelve-year-old horse Alban, 2:24, by General Benton, out of Lady Morgan by Rysdyk's Hambletonian, was not dear at $925.

Daniel J. Campau of Detroit, President of the Driving Club, and President William Edwards of the Cleveland Driving Park, were two of the most distinguished strangers at the sale.

This is a summary of yesterday's sale:

Lasker Won as Usual.

HAVANA, Jan. 25.—The chess contest between Lasker and Golmayo was continued last night. The game played was the Zukertort opening. It was won by Lasker.

PAT SHEEDY STRIKES AGAIN.

He Cites an Instance Where Corbett Wanted to Wager Against Himself.

Pat Sheedy does not seem to be at all disturbed over Jim Corbett's somewhat caustic reply to his late remarks upon the methods of modern fighters. "My letter had one good effect at least," Sheedy said yesterday. "It has stung Corbett into manly action. He now descends from his high pedestal and says that he will fight Mitchell or Jackson in the order named, or if they are not agreeable, any man in the world, next fall.

"So far so good. I now maintain that his present position is also untenable. As champion he cannot select his adversaries. Jackson, Goddard, Mitchell, or any other pugilist of first-class standing, who posts a challenge, accompanied by a substantial forfeit for a battle within a reasonable period from the date of the champion's last conflict, is entitled to consideration.

"Corbett assails my infallibility as an oracle, and says that I predicted his defeat by Sullivan in three rounds. I do not claim to be infallible on sporting or any other matters. Neither did I say that Sullivan would whip him in three rounds. What I did say was, that Sullivan would whip him in three rounds or not at all. I knew Sullivan's style, and knew just about how long his steam would last. Corbett, however, must have become impressed with that belief, for he, so I am reliably informed, forwarded $5,000 to San Francisco to bet against $2,500 that Sullivan would defeat him. He apparently did not then have that supreme confidence in himself that he now professes, and he cast an anchor to windward.

"This assertion is no mere heresay. I obtained this knowledge from a gentleman who accompanied him on his way to the battle ground. The latter saw him deposit the money to his brother, a bookmaker in San Francisco, in response to the latter's demand for coin to put up for a finger bet. So trustworthy do I regard my informant, that I am willing to bet Mr. Corbett $1,000 that he speaks the truth.

"It is a 100 to 1 shot that when the time for fighting does come around Corbett will be coaxing for an 'angel,' or backer, as he calls him, to put up the money. It is $1,000 to a nickel that he won't risk his own."

"Billy Smith of Boston."

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—The mysterious welter weight, who has been fighting in California for the past two years as "Billy Smith of Boston," came to this city to-day and stated that he wanted to make a match with Tom Williams, who recently arrived in New York from England. Capt. Cooke at once wired Judge Newton of the Coney Island A. C. that Smith was prepared to fight Williams at the Coney Island Club in April, or before, at 140 pounds, weigh in on the afternoon of the fight, for any sized purse which suited Williams.

Smith admits that he is travelling under an assumed name, because of the opposition of his family to fighting. He said that he was born at Eastport, not quite 22 years ago, and that he went West in 1890 to see a brother who lived there. He claims to have done some boxing in St. Johns, N. B., Maine, and in this city, but attained no special prominence. After some minor battles in Portland, Or., and 'Frisco, he came into notice, and since that time has made a big reputation in 'Frisco and throughout the West, his last victory of importance being over Danny Needham.

He further said that Jack Dempsey is running the Pastime A. C. in Portland, Or., and is looking well. Jack, he says, will fight again, providing that he gets a good offer.

Jack McAuliffe is Willing to Fight Abbott.

Stanton Abbott has challenged Jack McAuliffe, and the latter is ready to make a match under the conditions named in Abbott's cablegram to Richard K. Fox. Speaking of the challenge, Jack said last night:

"I know full well that the English boxers are afraid to come over here. Burge put in an appearance, to be sure, but then he couldn't fight at the limit, and was therefore out of the question. I know nothing about Abbott. He may be a wonderfully clever fellow, but I'll take a chance at him for $2,500 a side and as much more as he likes up to $25,000.

"I am sure the Crescent City Athletic Club will offer a fat purse for this fight, and I am ready to sign articles right off if Abbott will agree to fight at 133 pounds, give or take two pounds."

Jack, yesterday, posted $1,000 with Billy Donanue, the horseman, to bind a match with Burge.

Gymnasts Entertain at Dr. Savage's Institute.

A gathering of 800 spectators were present in the gymnasium of Dr. Watson L. Savage's Physical Development Institute last night on the occasion of the January exhibition and competition held by the Doctor's pupils. As a general athletic entertainment the affair was a pronounced success, excelling any previous effort by the institute members.

As a special attraction Dr. Savage had a class of forty-one lively boys on the floor. The lads took part in a combination wand and dumbbell drill, jumped over the buck, and formed several very neat pyramids.

There was more fencing than usual, and it was all very interesting. Those who manipulated the foils were: Capt. Nicholas and Archie McClave, J. H. Blair, Jr., and Fulke, and Capt. Nicholas and George Mayer.

The competition was lively and developed some good men. The competitors were as follows: R. Nauenberg, F. G. Le Fevre, W. L. Bride, M. Mack, J. O. Lauterzund, D. Fox, M. Kempner, and J. W. Ehrich. The judges awarded three medals, which went to E. De Groot, Apelestis, and W. H. Smith.

On the hitch and kick De Groot kicked 7 feet 7 inches. Jardin, Price, and Scheuer gave a good exhibition hitch and kick. In the potato races De Groot and Apelestis tied for first place in the first race, and Jerome strans won the second.

The final event of the evening was a spirited game of basket ball between the Whites and the Blacks. The Whites won by a score of 3 goals to 0.

No Columbia 'Varsity Crew.

As has become quite common at Columbia now, the 'varsity crew has been given up after it had been thought that it would be successful. The committee in charge had received assurances from enough men to make up a crew of three times the size required, but, as usual, when the time for practice came only a small percentage of them responded to the call. Those who did come were by no means as good men as seemed to be needed for a first-class crew, and everybody connected with the college became disheartened.

Walter B. Peet, who had consented to coach the men during the winter, saw very plainly that there was not much chance for a high class crew in the material at his disposal, and very promptly told the committee of the fact. He then resigned, and matters went from bad to worse. Finally the Rowing Committee met at the college this morning, and decided to disband the 'Varsity crew and to work hard to make the freshman crew a success.

This action will be a surprise to many of the alumni of the college, for the first reports of the men who were willing to row were so encouraging that it was expected that the college would regain its old place among the rowing colleges within a short time. The usual preparation has approached, however, and again the college will be without a crew to represent it at Lake George.

The New York Yacht Club Robbed.

It was learned yesterday that the New York Yacht Club had lost something like $1,200 through the dishonesty of one of its employees, C. E. Quinn, who had charge of the club's books at their Madison avenue home. Last May it was discovered that there was a shortage of something like $125 in his cash and an investigation was begun which resulted in the discovery that the club had been robbed of about $1,200. While the investigation was in progress Quinn left and has not since been heard of.

Quinn, when he received money for current cash expenses, would omit to enter the amount in his cash book, and would go and play the races. In May last he received $125 in cash, but made no entry of it in his books. When questioned about the matter he denied entire ignorance of the affair, and said he had never received any such amount. The officers of the club did not care to talk about the matter yesterday, and said it did not amount to much, any way.

Seventh Regiment Marksmen.

Company C's marksmen faced the butts at the Seventh Regiment ranges last night in the contest for the Kemp trophy. The scores: Private J. W. Halstead, 46; Private D. C. Meyer, 45; Corporal E. C. Robinson, 45; Corporal H. Coburn, Jr., 45; Private W. S. Savier, 44; Corporal W. C. Smith, 44; Private W. B. Greeler, 43; Private F. C. McLewee, 43; Lieut. A. McDougall, 43; Private L. B. Ruder, 42; Private A. B. Riely, 41; Private C. G. Hanft, 41; Private R. G. Sherman, 41; Private F. C. Wessel, 40; Private A. C. Knowles, 39; Private F. S. Lamb, 39; Private Hesse, Jr., 38; Private C. E. Austin, 38; Private S. S. Van Kirk, 37; Private W. H. Hanley, 36; Private E. S. Scofield, 36; Private I. P. Sherman, 36; Corporal W. S. Engel, Jr., 33; Sergeant H. B. Thompson, 30. Total, 1,004.

Brooklyn's Champion Skaters.

Park Commissioner George V. Brower of Brooklyn yesterday announced that the award of points to the contestants in the public championships at Prospect Park Lake on Tuesday had been recomputed at the request of some of the contestants, and that the cups would be awarded in a few days. The new count makes a decided change in the award of the honors, which are as follows:

Ladies' Championship First Prize—First, Mrs. A. Fleming Cook, with 30 points; second, Mrs. E. O. Houghton, with 28 points out of a possible 36.

Gentlemen's Contest—First, William Fitzmaurice, with 31 points; second, F. M. Arnold, 27 points.

An Alleged Big Jump on Skates.

During a jumping exhibition on skates yesterday afternoon at Prospect Park, William S. Bozart, a seventeen-year-old Brooklyn boy, is said to have covered a height of 3 feet 8½ inches. It is a remarkable performance, if found to be correct, as the best running high jump record on skates is 3 feet 1¾ inches, made by A. F. Camacho, an amateur, in this city on Feb. 9, 1885.

Next Summer's Great Trotting Circuit.

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Arrangements were completed to-day which insure to Chicago during the World's Fair the greatest trotting meeting ever held in America, and which make the Western and Southern Circuit the strongest ever organized. The dates for Chicago, as originally announced, were from Aug. 14 to Sept. 25, but the Northwestern Breeders' Association was not able to secure the Washington Park grounds for these dates, and a meeting of all the secretaries of the Western and Southern circuits was held here to-day for the purpose of rearranging dates. After much wrangling Chicago and Indianapolis agreed to disagree, and the meeting at Indianapolis will take place during the first week of the Chicago meeting.

The dates as finally agreed upon are as follows: Sturgis, July 31 to Aug. 5; Grand Rapids, Aug. 7 to 12; Fort Wayne, Aug. 14 to 19; Independence, Aug. 21 to Sept. 2; Columbus, O., Aug. 21 to 26; Columbus, Ind., Aug. 28 to Sept. 2; Indianapolis, Sept. 4 to 9; Mason City, Sept. 4 to 9; Chicago, Sept. 4 to 16; St. Joseph, Sept. 18 to 23; Terre Haute, Sept. 25 to 30; Evansville, Oct. 2 to 7; Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 10 to 28.

New Rule for Trotting Stakes.

STURGIS, Mich., Jan. 25.—The Sturgis Fair Association have made out their list of stakes for the summer and fall meetings of 1893. The stakes are arranged on a new and more liberal plan than ever before, whereby the nominators do not pay the entry fee until the day of the races. For the summer meeting there are nine stakes of $3,000 each and four of $1,000, while for the fall meeting there are six of $1,000 each. The entries for both meetings close July 1.

ON THE CINDER PATH.

Athletics at the World's Fair.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—A. G. Spalding, the head of the coming World's Fair amateur athletic championship meeting, has just returned from New York. "I received a telegram from New York to-day," said Mr. Spalding, "asking if I could attend a meeting of the Plan and Scope Committee about the middle of February. I replied in the affirmative. At this meeting the committee will outline its plans. I hope to be able to present to the committee plans of the new grounds and complete details as to the amphitheatre, which promises to be the biggest ever erected in the world.

"While in New York I had conferences with A. G. Mills, W. B. Curtis, and J. E. Sullivan, Secretary of the Plan and Scope Committee. As to polo games, I hardly think the A. A. U. contemplate branching out in that direction. I had a talk with August Belmont on the subject. He thought that it would not pay to transport the ponies to Chicago, and did not favor the idea very much.

"The programme will consist of the usual amateur athletics. It will be simply a continuation of the early meeting, broadening, as it were, into an international affair. There is no telling to what bounds it may reach. The Chicago Athletic Association will be in charge, and, as is the club's initiative effect, everything possible will be done to make it a success."

Saturday, Feb. 18, has been finally fixed as the date of the next meeting of the A. A. U. Board of Managers. Notwithstanding the many airmises to the contrary the conference will be held in New York. The Boston A. A. generously tendered the use and hospitalities of their club house, but the Athletic and Central Association delegates naturally objected to the additional journey.

W. B. Curtis and Secretary Sullivan are setting to work on a programme of events for the three-day tournament at Chicago, under A. A. U. auspices. It will be in shape for presentation to the Board.

At least one day will be devoted to contests between the champions of each congress represented in each event on the standard programme. Handicap events on track and field will be made a special feature, while it is possible that an individual all-around championship, under the new system of scoring, introduced by Aleck Jordan, will form an additional attraction.

The Plan and Scope Committee will submit a slate of the sub-committees it deems necessary to handle the preliminary details, and any of them found loitering by the wayside afterward will be promptly superseded.

Manhattan Athletic Club Matters.

Deputy Sheriff Carraher yesterday received two executions for $15,655 against the Manhattan Athletic Club on the judgments obtained by Cornelius Vanderbilt Cross.

At the M. A. C. last night Chairman C. M. Maxwell was in a cheerful frame of mind as he glanced through the many further assurances of support brought in by the evening mail. He announced as the result of a hasty calculation that the gist of the communications represented an addition to the guarantee fund since the previous meeting of $10,000 from creditors and at least a similar amount from members.

He explained that the executions for $15,655 issued against the club were for the amount of judgments obtained by Cornelius Vanderbilt Cross had no terrors. They have been intrusted to the custody of M. G. D. Borden, one of the club trustees and a probable member of the new Board of Governors. Mr. Borden will hold them as a protection against a premature execution from any other quarter. Meanwhile the creditors are being received in regular sequence by Mr. Maxwell and sent away comparatively happy.

At the Handball Courts.

It was an unusual day's sport at the Brooklyn Handball Club's court yesterday. Players of high and low degree were numerous, and almost every one was anxious to take a hand. The coming tournament was a subject of much argument, and prospective winners were as thick as flies around a molasses barrel. Four of the contestants, namely, Robert Malcolm, Tom Holmes, John McEvoy, and William Schmidt, were on hand, and each appeared to be very confident of victory. At present McEvoy is laid up for repairs, and his opponents have very generously allowed him the privilege of first competing in the last preliminary round.

The special feature yesterday was a four-handed exhibition between Prof. Coggins and Major Carmody and James Dunne, Jr., and Capt. Billy Rose. It was the third meeting between the pairs, and young Dunne and Capt. Rose faithfully promised to make amends for their two previous defeats. Unfortunately the former was not at his best playing form, while the Professor, the most dangerous antagonist, fairly charmed the little sphere. It was a hurricane game from the start, and this is how the teams stood at the finish:

|---|---|
| Capt. Rose and J. Dunne, Jr. | 4 12—16 |

Bob Malcolm and Billy Schmidt played an interesting rubber of three games, a so "Young Casey," as Schmidt is called, and a the Glasgow's sturgeon. The first game was won very easily by the former. He had the second game well in hand, but Malcolm discarded his big glove, and by some extraordinary hitting pulled through by a good margin. Malcolm looked all over a winner in the third game, the score at one time standing 14 to 4 in his favor. At this point Schmidt braced up and played remarkably well, finally beating his big rival by five aces. The scores were:

|---|---|
| William Schmidt | 21 12 21—54 |

The greatest surprise of the day, however, was the defeat of Tom Holmes, whose hands were hardly ever in better condition, and William Emmons by William Schmidt and Mike O'Donnell. The latter played a waiting game, and when they did move up it was at a killing pace. The scores:

| | |
|---|---|
| W. Schmidt and M. O'Donnell | 3 21 21—45 |
| T. Holmes and W. Emmons | 21 11 16—48 |

Among other games played were:

A successful handball tournament was finished on Monday last at the Catholic club of Detroit. Gallagher and Egan carried off first prize, with thirteen victories out of fifteen games played, and Guinea and Fox took second prize, with twelve games won out of fifteen played.

The handball tournament carried on by the Central branch of the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A. was continued yesterday morning. Dave Foutz of the Brooklyn Baseball Club was among the players. Owing to his knowledge of the game, he is obliged to allow heavy handicaps to his opponents. Yesterday Edward Orr had five aces, Foutz defeated him by 21 to 10. Afterward "Scissors" tackled Assistant Director J. M. Verbeck, the latter being allowed nine aces. Foutz was beaten by 21 to 14. The other games were: Orr defeated J. G. Cavanagh (10 aces) by 21 to 18; Cavanagh (2 aces) defeated R. S. Weaver by 21 to 15. Quite one game at a time is played, but a man to win a match must get two out of three games.

Three Favorites Capture Purses—Sweetbread, at 6 to 1, the Longest Shot of the Day on the Hill—Mr. Engeman Predicts Racing at All the New Jersey Tracks.

Mr. George Engeman of the Clifton race course was one of the many visitors at Guttenburg yesterday. Mr. Engeman had a long talk with President Walbaum regarding a general reopening of the New Jersey race tracks. Mr. Engeman said that racing would be resumed at Clifton within a short time, and that a pool bill would pass the Legislature.

A notable incident of the racing was the ruling off of Jockey McGlone, who rode Heads or Tails in the second race. The colt was backed down from 15 to 1 to 6 to 1, his owner and his trainer backing the colt heavily. Leigh, a close second choice to Bryan, the favorite, won the race by three parts of a length from Bryan. Heads or Tails finishing sixth. McGlone made no attempt to get the colt to the front. After investigating his riding, McGlone was ruled off by the Executive Committee.

Three favorites won on the muddy track, and the other winners had plenty of backers. Sweetbread, at 6 to 1, being the longest shot of the day. Van Winkle, a close second choice in the first race, led all the way and won by a length and a half. Narbonne colt beating Thanks away off for the place. Sweetbread set the pace all the way in the third race, beating St. Denis in a drive. Brooklyn came in third. Johannes came at the finish and won the fourth race by a length from Lucy Clark, with April Fool, the top choice, third. Jersey Lass filly, first choice in the spurt for two-year-olds, led all the way, beating Tody Smith by a head in a lapping finish. Caracous won the last race in a drive. Vera beating Adaligas colt a head for the place.
