CROWDED BALL FIELDS.

AN OLD-TIME HOLIDAY ASSEMBLAGE AT THE POLO GROUNDS.

The New Yorks Break Even with Cincinnati, but Brooklyn Takes Two Games from Louisville and Steps Into Second Place—A Big Drop for Cleveland—Boston Creeping Up—Nearly 100,000 Persons See the Twelve League Games Yesterday.

With the exception of the New York and Cincinnati teams, every club in the National League either won two games or sustained a double defeat yesterday. The twelve games were witnessed by large crowds, and a majority were closely contested. It was an unfortunate day for the Cleveland Spiders, for they dropped from second to fifth place, thus allowing Brooklyn, Philadelphia, and Boston to advance. The New Yorks only won one game, but they still retain eighth position. The scores:

NEW YORK, 8; CINCINNATI, 6—MORNING GAME.

Six thousand cranks had a most exciting time of it yesterday morning at the Polo grounds. They saw an exceedingly entertaining game of baseball, which was finally won by the New Yorks amid a wild scene. Ward's men played in hard luck up to the last inning, and then the tide turned. Ed Crane pitched a strong, steady, pleasing game, and to his cleverness most of the honor is due. Anson's cast-off, Dwyer, pitched for Cincinnati and was hit safely eighteen times, but phenomenal fielding kept the New Yorks' runs down. Kelly laid off and Doyle caught, which allowed Harry Lyons to play centre field, and it must be said in his favor that he did excellent work.

New York scored two runs in the first inning on Smith's fumble of Burke's grounder, Tiernan's sacrifice, Ward's scratch hit, Connor's sacrifice, and a three-bagger by Davis, who was nailed at the plate in an attempt to score a home run. Cincinnati forged ahead in the third inning, Canavan scoring on his single and steal, Smith's sacrifice, and Vaughn's single. Comiskey crossing the plate on his base on balls, Smith's sacrifice, and Vaughn's base hit, and Vaughn tallying on a three-base hit by Dwyer, which was badly misjudged by Burke.

Doyle hit for two bases in the fourth, and stole third, but was caught at the plate by Comiskey on Lyons's easy grounder. Crane opened the fifth with a hard liner against the twenty-five cent seats for two bases, but the next three men could not bring him in. Doyle tied the score in the sixth by hitting safely, stealing second and third, and scoring on Lyons's timely single to left.

New York took the lead in the seventh, when Crane put a hit in left, was advanced to third on Burke's safe hit and Tiernan's sacrifice, and crossed the plate on Ward's long fly to Henry. Then came a bit of hard luck. Dwyer got his base on balls after Doyle had muffed his easy foul fly, and Latham sent him in with the tying run by a cracking double to left.

Both sides were blanked in the eighth, although the New York's had men on second and third, but a great double play by McPhee and Latham shut them out. Another double play in the tenth inning prevented the New Yorks from winning, although they had the bases full with only one out when Smith, Vaughn, and Comiskey did the trick. But in the eleventh there came a run of luck which made the crowd crazy.

Fuller led off with a hit and Crane neatly sacrificed him to second. Then Burke and Tiernan got their bases and the three corners were occupied. Ward bunted superbly in front of the plate and Fuller scored by a head-first slide, while Johnny beat the throw to first. Roger Conner hit a corker to right, bringing in Burke and Tiernan, and Ward scored the fourth run on Davis's long fly to Henry. This made the score 8 to 6, but the Porkers made things interesting in their half of the inning. Henry and Comiskey led off with safe hits and Smith got a base on balls.

Three men on bases and nobody out. The crowd preserved a deathlike silence as Vaughn walked forth. But when he only rolled one at Crane and Ed threw Henry out at the plate, real insanity was let loose. It only lasted a moment, though, for Dwyer got four balls and Comiskey was forced in with a run, and then Latham sent a long fly to Burke, on which Smith scored, too. But McPhee could only put up a fly to Lyons, which the latter caught easily, and bedlam broke loose again. The score:

BROOKLYN, 3; LOUISVILLE, 0—MORNING GAME.

Rhines and Kennedy were the opposing pitchers in the morning game at Eastern Park yesterday, and for seven innings they held the batsmen who confronted them down to few hits and no runs. Kennedy pitched the better ball of the two, allowing the Brooklyns but a brace of singles. Pinkney made both of these. The last one was in the ninth inning, when he led at the bat. Weaver, Browning, and Harrington followed, but Kennedy made each of them fan the air, thus making a glorious finish to the game. It was not until the eighth inning that the 4,000 rooters had a chance to root real hard. Then Stovey started the circus with a three-bagger to right, and Foutz flied out to centre, giving Stovey a chance, which he accepted for a score. Burns banged a beauty to right field for a couple of bases, and was advanced to third on Schoch's sacrifice. Daly got a base on balls, and then Dailey hit a line drive, which Pfeffer might have held if he had not been too anxious to make a grand stand play. Burns and Daly came in on the muff. The score:
