WEDNESDAY, June 21.

There was a sharp revulsion of sentiment on the Stock Exchange to-day. The ordering of $500,000 gold from London was accepted by the speculative fraternity as evidence that the tide in our monetary affairs has turned, and there was a general scramble to cover shorts. Prices were carried up pretty sharply all along the line, and despite a slight reaction in the last half hour, the list shows a net advance this evening ranging from ¼ to 3 ₹ cent. The sharpest rise was in Lackawanna, which rose 4½ points, and retained 3 ₹ cent. of the advance at the finish. There is very little of this stock afloat in the hands of speculators, and general report that the prices of anthracite coal will be advanced on July 1 was a spur in the sides of the bears.

Coincident with the engagement of gold for import the market for call loans eased off until money could be had at 6 ₹ cent. The outflow of currency to the West and South also was estimated as smaller than for some time past. The engagement of the half million gold, however, was followed by a rise of about 1 cent in the pound sterling above the abnormally low rates which had prevailed early in the day, and there was some question as to whether further imports of the precious metal would follow. It is understood, however, that a prominent foreign bank, which is always in the front when legitimate movements of precious metals are on the way, contemplates the importation of $1,000,000 gold. As might naturally be expected, the ease in money stimulated a pretty sharp rally in the industrial shares. The general improvement in sentiment was stimulated by news that the Treasury would anticipate the payment of interest maturing July 1 on its bonds, amounting to about $7,500,000. The issue of $2,500,000 of Clearing House loan certificates to-day was accepted as tending to insure continued ease in the loan market.

National Cordage scored a net advance of 2½ points on the positive statement that the plan for the rehabilitation of the property would be issued after Board hours, as it was. Manhattan attracted attention by a fall of several points after the opening, followed by an even sharper recovery in the afternoon. Outside of New York there appears to be no relaxation of the monetary stringency, and the Pacific coast appears to be the centre of disturbance at present. It was announced late this afternoon that two prominent banks of Los Angeles had suspended, and there were rumors that a San Francisco institution might not be able to open its doors to-morrow morning.

The heavier tone of stocks toward the close was due to intimations of these troubles, as well as to the rally in sterling exchange and the news that the Bank of England had made a slight advance in the price of gold.

Final sales compare with those of yesterday as follows:

GRAIN—Wheat declined ⅝c. to ¾c., but recovered part of this. BUTTER—Coffee futures were 5 to 10 points higher on the distant months, and 10 to 20 points lower on the near months. The European cables were lower. The Boston markets were unchanged. Futures closed steady, with sales of 22,750 bags, as follows:

COTTON—Covering of shorts caused an advance, especially in the distant months. The covering was due to the advices from Liverpool, where there was a small advance regardless of the rather sharp break in New York prices yesterday. It is said, moreover, that the private advices from Manchester are encouraging. Other factors which contributed to the advance to-day were the announcement of gold imports and the more cheerful financial advices.
