OLD-TIME SLUGGING MATCH.

NEW YORKS WIN IT FROM BARNIE'S LOUISVILLES.

Clevelands Comes to Life and Whitewash the Brooklyns—Philadelphias and Pittsburghs Win Two Games Each—Bostons Beat St. Louis—Baltimores Outplay the Chicagos—Many Games Among the Amateurs.

The New Yorks won a slugging match from the Louisvilles yesterday and gained one point on the Clevelands, who covered the Brooklyn team with a coat of whitewash. But ten points separate Cleveland and New York this morning. The Philadelphias and Pittsburghs took double headers from the Cincinnatis and Washingtons respectively, and the Baltimores defeated the Chicagos in the Windy City. The champion Bostons as usual captured the St. Louis players, and now have seventy-five victories to their credit. The results:

New York, 23; Louisville, 14.
Cleveland, 6; Brooklyn, 0.
Boston, 6; St. Louis, 3.
Philadelphia, 6; Cincinnati, 2.
Philadelphia, 14; Cincinnati, 1.
Pittsburgh, 12; Washington, 3.
Pittsburgh, 12; Washington, 9.
Baltimore, 6; Chicago, 5.

NEW YORK, 23; LOUISVILLE, 14.

Five thousand persons saw an old-time slugging and pulling game at the Polo ground yesterday between the Louisvilles and New Yorks. It simply rained base hits and errors on both sides, but the home team excelled in making longer drives with men on bases, and consequently scored more runs. Wittrock, a young Southern League pitcher, faced the New Yorks, and his delivery just suited them. Petty began pitching for New York, and promised to do well until he made a great home run in the last half of the second inning. After that his bellows became out of order, and the Louisvilles gradually got onto his curves. Then Marcus Baldwin came in, and did well enough to keep the score down to reasonable proportions. Kelly replaced Wilson in the fifth inning, and the "King" received a great welcome. In the fourth inning Petty, while at the plate, accidentally struck Grim, the Louisville catcher, on the head with his bat. It stunned Grim so that he retired in favor of Weaver.

Ward sent the visitors to the bat, and Tom Brown opened with a safe hit. O'Rourke rolled an easy one to Petty, who threw the ball out to centre field in his attempt to catch Brown at second. The latter ran all the way home, and O'Rourke got to third. He scored on Bill Brown's double to right. For New York, Stafford was settled at first. Denny fumbled Ward's bounder. Doyle hit to left for two bases. Pfeffer made a great one-hand jumping stop of Davis's hit, throwing George out at first. Ward scored. Denny stopped Louisville's men with one hand, but couldn't recover in time to keep Doyle from racing in, in the second inning the visitors failed to score. For the New Yorks, Petty hammered the ball over the ropes in right centre field and made a circuit of the bases. In the third inning O'Rourke was sent to first on balls. Grim drove one over second that Fuller stopped cleverly, but Ward fumbled the ball long enough to allow O'Rourke, who had been caught on second, to come on to third. O'Rourke finally scored on Twitchell's long fly to Doyle.

The score was a tie now, and the cranks became interested. Doyle, the first man up for the New Yorks, was sent to first base on balls. He stole second cleanly. Davis smashed a single to right, and Doyle ran home. George started to steal just as Connor tripped out a three-bagger, and Burke brought Roger in with a pretty single over Denny's head. Pinkney, Denny, and Wittrock of the Louisvilles were quickly retired in the fourth. The New Yorks contributed scoring with a vengeance in the last half of the inning. Petty's long fly was squarely muffed by Twitchell. Stafford bunted safely. Now came two Boston tricks that worked successfully. With Ward at the bat, Stafford made an attempt to steal second and run back to first base. Pfeffer showed that he was ready to take Grim's throw, so, when Stafford made another dash for second, Ward pushed the ball for right field directly over the spot where Pfeffer had left to cover second. Stafford took third and Petty scored. Ward now stole second, and Stafford stole home while Grim threw to Denny. Doyle got his base on balls and Ward stole third. Doyle stole second. Davis and Connor got bases on balls, Ward and Doyle forced home. Davis and Doyle scored on Burke's third single. Wilson sacrificed, and Fuller sent both Connor and Burke across the plate with a pretty base hit to left. Petty came up for the second time and struck out. Denny muffed Stafford's fly, and Fuller scored. Stafford took second and came home on a wild throw by Weaver, who had taken the place of Grim.

A great cheer greeted Mike Kelly as he donned the chest protector and began catching for New York. The Louisvilles began pilfering bases at a great rate. Tom Brown, O'Rourke, and Weaver made hits. Brown scoring. Davis allowed Bill Brown's grounder to roll I to left field and O'Rourke scored. Weaver got home on Twitchell's sacrifice. Bill Brown reached third on Pfeffer's hit, and the latter finally scored on Wittrock's single. Ward muffed Tom Brown's fly, and Denny scored the sixth run of the inning. Ward now substituted Baldwin for Petty, but Barnie still kept Wittrock at the bat, and hits by Davis, Connor, and Burke went out in regular order, and the Kentucky fans were easily put to sleep. Kelly allowed two strikes to be called on him, and then hammered a base hit past Denny, but the latter a moment later doubled up Kelly and Fuller. Baldwin retired a single to left, and scored on Stafford's three-bagger to the same place. Louisville kept climbing in the seventh. Pinkney beat a grounder to Ward, and took second on Johnny's wide throw to Connor. Denny struck out. Wittrock was hit by the ball, and he and Pinkney moved up on Tom Brown's long fly to Doyle. Pinkney scored on O'Rourke's hit. Weaver was hit by a pitched ball, and on Bill Brown's single both Wittrock and O'Rourke ran home.

Weaver's men took another fall out of the unfortunate Wittrock in their half of the inning by scoring six runs on two bases on balls, an error by Pfeffer, hits by Burke, Fuller, and Baldwin, a double steal, and a three-bagger by Ward. Louisville was shut out in the eighth. New York got a run on Pinkney's muff of Davis's fly, a wild pitch, and a steal home on Weaver's throw to second to stop Burke. With two out in the ninth Weaver and Bill Brown singled, and Kelly allowed both to come home on a passed ball. The score:

CLEVELAND, 6; BROOKLYN, 0.

Dan Brouthers was a central figure in yesterday's game at Eastern Park between the Clevelands and Brooklyns. To begin with he started in to bat again, something he has not done since he regained the team a week ago. He made two of the scant six hits secured by the Brooklyns off Cy Young's speedy delivery. Then Dan actually stole a base, without any help whatever. Again, in trying to nab a high fly he caught the ball squarely on his head. In spite of all of Big Dan's efforts, however, the Clevelands won the game and shut out their opponents. The visitors batted George Sharrott's pitching hard. It was only by superior fielding that the Clevelands were prevented from scoring in the first two innings. After that he allowed Tebeau's team to hit the ball in every inning but two. Had the Brooklyns only been strong at the bat they might have made up for Sharrott's deficiencies. In several innings they were retired without getting a man on first base, and at other times when a player did manage to reach his base, no one was competent to send him around. Brouthers might have made a run in the sixth inning if he had not stupidly started to walk in toward home from third base while Foutz was attempting to beat the ball to first. Dan probably thought Foutz had been put out, and that would have retired the team.

The Clevelands, contrary to expectations, were a peaceable set of ball players, and exhibited none of that rowdyism which characterized their games at the Polo grounds a fortnight ago. McAleer tried to dispute a called strike in the second inning, but Lynch walked to the plate and called him down. The only play of note in the game was a running catch by Griffin of O'Connor's fly in the eighth inning. Buck Ewing did some clever base running. The score:

Baseball Games To-day.

NATIONAL LEAGUE AND AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

Chicago vs. Baltimore, at Chicago.

OTHER GAMES.

Star Athletics vs. Brooklyn, at Newark.
Paterson vs. Louisville, at Paterson.
Emeralds vs. Cuban Giants, at Van Nest.

Baseball Notes.

The New Yorks have so far won 10 out of 14 games with the Western teams.

The Louisvilles present a neat appearance in their new uniforms of maroon and gray.

Johnny Ward's fielding is a bit yellow just now, but he still keeps up his great stick work.

Manager Ward has accomplished arrangements to have the Philadelphias play off the tie game of Aug. 12 at the Polo grounds on Tuesday.

The New Yorks and Louisvilles play two games tomorrow, the first in the morning and the second in the afternoon. Rusie and German will pitch for the home team and Henning and Stratton for the visitors.

To Tambien Wins the Merchant Stakes at Latonia.

Cincinnati, Sept. 2.—Six thousand persons saw the Latonia fall race meeting inaugurated to-day. The weather was perfect, the track dusty, but fast. C. H. Pettingill acted as starter, and W. S. Barnes and L. P. Tarlton, official judges. Costello rode two winners. Favorites and fielders broke even on the day. The greatest jump was the victory of Carolin Hamilton in the fifth race.

The principal event was the Merchants' Stakes, one mile, worth to the winner $1,615. Seven started, they being Aldebaron, 107 (J. Porter); Ida Pickwick, 109 (R. Williams); Afternoon, 109 (Frisbie); Poet Scout, 112 (Britton); Dave Vela, 114 (Julian); Parvday, 117 (Thorpe), and To Tambien, 124 (Jordan). A great plunge on Ida Pickwick, backed from 4 to 2 to 1, lengthened the price against To Tambien to the liberal odds of 6 to 1. It was a fast meeting of the two great mares, and although To Tambien was conceding Ida Pickwick a year and sixteen pounds, the former won easily by three lengths, in the fast time of 1:41¾. Ida Pickwick took the lead from the start and held the place, while Poet Scout, Afternoon, Aldebaron, and Dave Vela finished as named.

Sister Carrie, 101, (Grabam), won the opening race, one mile, in clever style from the 8 to 1 shot Kinneem, who beat Sabine out a length. Irish Chief, 3 to 1 favorite, was third. Time, 1:42¾.

The field in the second race, selling, six furlongs, had a dozen starters. Cora Taylor closed as favorite at 2 to 1. She ran third, however. Salvation, 112, 5 to 2 (Costello), won under a drive by a length from Gloaming, 20 to 1, shot Crab Cider, who beat the favorite a head for the place. Time, 1:16.

The third race, one mile and seventy yards, selling, had ten starters. It was won, with a little urging, by a length by the 5 to 2 favorite, Anna, 108 (Thorpe). Only 5 to 1 Gleaner was second, a neck in front of Parapet. Time, 1:47.

Caroline Hamilton, 108, 15 to 1 (Coste lo), won the first half of the divided five-furlong scramble by a length. Ohio Belle was second, lapped out by Frobarco. Time, 1:03.

The second half of the five-furlong scramble had nine starters. Jennie Barton, 100, 2 to 1, (Costello), won easily by a length from the well-played Tom Elmore, who, after getting away poorly, beat Annie Buckingham two lengths for place honors. Time, 1:03.

Notes from the Race Track.

Who will buy Lamplighter?

Goodale's riding of Prince of Darkness was wild and weird.

Weinberg disappointed Jimmy McLaughlin and his friends.

There should be strong competition for the Rancocas horses on Thursday next.

The long delay at the post killed the chances of Galindo, Prince of Darkness, and Candelabra.

Messrs. Gideon & Daly thought that Kinglet could win the Omnium Handicap, and bet on him quite heavily.

There was considerable comment over the fact that Simms rode Pecksniff instead of the regular Blemton jockey, Hamilton.

Bergen was quite jolly in the jockeys' room over the fact that he had been fined $500. "I've got too much money, boys, and I'd just as soon spend it this way."

The reason given for Balbriggan's poor showing in the third race was that the lead pads had been lost, and to avoid disqualification Mayer pulled her up.

Versatile is living up to his reputation as a great performer upon the turf. There were some who thought this horse's defeat of Gloaming a few days ago was a fluke, but yesterday's race showed differently.

Lamly has been repeatedly criticised for his riding of Stonewall. Taral lost with him yesterday. This speedy horse is a hard horse to ride, and before he passed into Mr. Dwyer's hands came near getting Jockey Flynn into trouble.

It was semi-officially stated yesterday that Guttenburg would not give alternate weeks to Clifton, but would race on every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday after the present week, and that it did not intend racing in opposition to Elizabeth.

Vernon Rod and Gun Club Shoot.

Only four members of the Vernon Rod and Gun Club turned out yesterday at the regular monthly shoot at Dexter Park. Each man shot at seven birds, twenty-eight yards rise, American Association rules. Dr. Little won the silver badge with a bluerock score of seven. F. and W. Thompson bally tied with six each for second place. The score: Dr. Little, 28 yards, 7; H. Ostermann, 28 yards, 6; W. Thompson, 28 yards, 6; F. Thompson, 28 yards, 6.
