CANNOT FIGHT IN PUBLIC.

THE DUVAL A. C. ARE NOW LAYING PLANS FOR A PRIVATE MEETING.

Doubtful if Even This Can Take Place, for Gov. Mitchell Still Repeats that Corbett and Mitchell Cannot Fight in Florida, and the Sheriffs of Duval and St. John's Counties Will Support Him—Talk of the Battle Being Decided in a Circus Tent.

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 17.—Major Lovell of Leesburg, under whose command the First Battalion State troops will be on Jan. 23, was in the city to-day looking about for quarters. The Sheriff of Duval county, in an interview, is reported as saying:

"I have been ordered by the Governor to stop this fight, and I propose to carry out his instructions in all sincerity, whether they are unpleasant or not."

"Will you ask the Governor to declare martial law?"

"I will not unless I see indications of stubborn resistance. I am satisfied that if the plan for the fight is persisted in, unless some intervention is secured, there will be no trouble. The people should, in my judgment, look squarely at the true situation and make every effort to prevent the forcing of an unpleasant issue. I have already made my plans to prevent this meeting, and I know that they will not miscarry unless their execution is restrained by the action of the courts."

The Duval A. C. to-night gave the United Press representative the following statement:

"The Duval A. C. make this their final and most positive announcement, that the Corbett-Mitchell contest will take place on Jan. 25, 1894. Reports have been sent out that Gov. H. L. Mitchell has ordered troops to Jacksonville for the sole purpose of suppressing the contest. Notwithstanding these reports, the club reiterates its past assertions and for a week has been arranging for an emergency of this kind. While the club does not believe that any violence would be participated in if the troops were sent here, yet we will not subject our patrons to the slightest danger of any kind.

"So thorough and complete are our arrangements that, should an emergency of any kind arise on the morning of the 25th, we are prepared to handle eight persons with the greatest convenience. This will be no disturbing affair, where the people were subjected to a long, tedious and hot ride; it will be done as quickly and conveniently as though it occurred in the arena now ready for this contest.

"Once more we say to all, friends and lovers of boxing, that if you are in Jacksonville on Jan. 24, 1894, and care to see the Corbett-Mitchell contest, you can do so after arranging for the necessary tickets."

The following statement from Corbett, dated Maynor, Jan. 17, has also been furnished:

"I take this opportunity of informing my friends throughout the country that I have received assurances from the Duval A. C. to-day, which warrant me in saying that the contest between Charles Mitchell and myself will positively take place at Jacksonville, or in that city's immediate vicinity, on Jan. 25, provided both of the principals appear in the ring."

The statement by the club means that the fight will be fought in the woods where the United Press representative announced it would have to take place weeks ago. Everything now depends on the ability of the promoters of the fight to keep the place selected a secret from the authorities, for it it becomes known Gov. Mitchell will undoubtedly have troops on the scene.

It is understood that the club managers have purchased a huge circus tent capable of holding 10,000 persons, and will bring it to Jacksonville on the cars. It is also probable action of the contest the club officials will not give a hint. They know that if the fight is to occur, even in the woods, without interference from the Governor, everything must be secret. It was thought that the fight might occur in St. Johns county, but Sheriff Ives has located. But Sheriff Terry seems to be as determined as Sheriff Bernard of Duval county. Sheriff Terry said to-day:

"The Corbett and Mitchell fight will not take place in St. John's county if the Governor so orders. I will do my duty according to my oath as Sheriff of this county. It I have to call upon the State troops."

When Charley Mitchell asked me about the matter, I told him that I would have to stop the fight in this county if ordered, and that I would pull one man or the other out of the ring. It takes two to make a fight.

I wish to emphasize my position in this matter publicly, so that there can be no misunderstanding with regard to my official attitude toward the affair."

The probabilities are, therefore, that some point in Duval county will be selected for the fight, as under the amended articles of agreement the men must meet either in St. John's or Duval county. It goes without saying, however, that the State authorities are on the alert, and will use every effort to prevent a secret fight.

The Governor is said to be thoroughly aroused, and it is asserted that he will manage to keep himself informed of the plans of the club, and try to surround whatever spot may be selected for the fight with State troops.

Snapper Garrison, the jockey, who has been selected timekeeper for the Duval Club, is expected here to-morrow morning.

Finals in the Star A. C. Bouts.

Ten bouts still remain to be contested before the final winners in the Star Athletic Club's amateur boxing tournament can be announced. The men have been weeded down until only the pick of the original big entry remains. The club has secured Wokal's Assembly Rooms, Long Island City, for this evening, when the final bouts will be sparred. The eligible list is as follows:

One-hundred-and-ten-pound Class—M. McDonald, Star A. C.; J. Collins, Liberty A. C.; J. Warwick, Young A. C., and M. Lyons, Star A. C.

One-hundred-and-twelve-pound Class—H. Apfel, St. George A. C., and J. Murphy, Star A. C.

One-hundred-and-twenty-eight-pound Class—C. Miner, Clinton A. C.; J. Barnett, Prospect A. C.; C. W. Sibres, Williamsburgh A. C., and J. Maley, Star A. C.

One-hundred-and-forty-pound Class—D. Wunderlich, Lexington A. C.; M. Gallagher, Williamsburgh A. C.; P. Jackstone, Greenwood A. A., and H. Fischer, Greenwood A. A.

In addition to the above the bouts for second prizes will be sparred.

Dixon's New Scheme For Saving His Nightly Gate.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 17.—George Dixon is showing at a theatre here this week. His usual offer of $50 to any local man who can stand before him four rounds brought out a young light weight named Paddy Lemons last night. He had little chance, however.

Before time was called to begin the round Dixon struck Lemons an unexpected blow on the point of the jaw, which put the ambitious young Cleveland lad out of the game and rendered him unconscious for several minutes. There were loud cries of indignation from the audience.

Gehring to Spar Jack Skelly.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 17.—Jack Skelly, the well-known Brooklyn light weight, has been matched to spar Charley Gehring of this city for points. Gehring has made a great record in amateur ranks. He is a member of the Neptune Boat Club. The men will spar at catch weight.

Gossip of the Ring.

S n Reader—John L. Sullivan was born in Boston on Oct. 15, 1858.

Joe Choynski is doing a little training in a quiet way, so as to be in form in the event of some club offering a purse for himself and Steve O'Donnell.

It is said that Jack Dempsey and some well-known middle weight will furnish the preliminary bout to the Corbett-Mitchell fight, if they fight at Jacksonville.

Sol McCarthy says that he would like to fight "Mike Donovan's Pickaninny" to a finish. If the latter declines Billy Farley will meet Jay Tuttle, the good man in Australia.

Australian Billy Murphy is now sojourning among the down Easterners. He has been matched to fight Mike Sears six rounds at Lalb, Me. The contest will take place on Jan. 26.

Mike Cooney of Boston informed a reporter of THE SUN yesterday that he would fight Mike Leonard if the latter makes it worth the while. Cooney is confident he can lower Leonard's crests.

Harry Pidgeon, the Canadian light weight, told a SUN reporter yesterday that he was prepared to arrange a contest, either to a finish or for a limited number of rounds, with any 135-pound man in America.

George Godfrey has decided to reenter the ring. In a letter to a friend, Godfrey says that he never felt better in his life. He further says that he is open to fight any heavy weight living, Joe Choynski preferred.

New Bedford, Jan. 17.—Patsey Downey, the feather-weight fighter of this city, has been matched against Harry Dailey of Australia, and if he wins the fight he will be matched against Champion Plimmer of England for a big purse.

To the Editor of THE SUN—Sir: Having clearly demonstrated that I am a better boxer than Sammy Kent, I will make him a new proposition, that is, to fight him at 114 pounds, give or take two pounds, before any club offering a suitable purse. JOE GRIM.

Jack Slavin, brother of Frank Slavin, arrived in this city a few days ago from the West. Jack says that besides doing $3,000 in a business enterprise in Chicago he also came out winner twenty pounds in weight. At Sydney, the champion barmaid of Australia who accompanied Jack, is looking in prime condition. Jack intends to remain in New York, but says he has settled on no plans for the future.

Albert A. Sprague to Look After the Harvard Freshman Crew.

CAMBRIDGE, Jan. 17.—Capt. Davis of the Harvard crew has appointed Albert A. Sprague of Chicago as temporary captain of the freshman crew. He comes from St. Paul's School, Concord, where he rowed on the winning crew in the club races. He weighs 162 pounds. He was elected almost unanimously by the present candidates, and his election was explained by Capt Davis.

RATHER ON THE FAKE ORDER.

Jack McAuliffe Got the Decision, but Ryan Fought Poorly.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17.—The six-round bout last night at the Grand Opera House between Jack McAuliffe, the light-weight champion, and Jim Ryan, the Australian middle weight who acquitted himself very creditably in a ten-round "go" with "Young Mitchell" recently, had every evidence of being a fake. McAuliffe was as fat as a young porker, and did not come anywhere near showing his old-time skill in the ring. His lack of condition caused many of his supporters to become suspicious before a blow was struck, and an appeal was made to the management to have all bets declared off. This was refused. Ryan was outfought in every round, and his display was far inferior to that shown in his bout with "Young Mitchell."

The previous reputation of the men, and the belief that the contest would be decided on its merits brought out an immense crowd, which filled the big opera house from pit to dome. It reminded old ring-goers of the days when the California A. C. was at the height of its prosperity. The silk-hat element was out in force, and Judges, lawyers, and professional men were liberally sprinkled through the audience. Betting was lively for a time, but when the change came from even money to 4 to 1 on McAuliffe, it became noised about that all was not right, and speculation ceased. The fight by rounds:

First Round—McAuliffe immediately started to force the fighting, landing two heavy lefts on the chest, receiving a hot left on the throat. A minute later he reached the Australian with another hot left swing on the chest, and the round closed with Ryan on the retreat.

Second Round—Ryan came up somewhat more aggressive, reaching Jack on the mouth and kidneys, receiving two hot lefts on the neck. Three left swings on the chest started him on the retreat again.

Third Round—Ryan started hostilities with a well-intended left swing, which fell short. McAuliffe landed a hot left on the jaw and Ryan reciprocated with one on the same spot. Ryan showed an inclination to wrestle.

Fourth Round—Ryan reached the American with a hard left on the mouth, but was punched furiously on the eye in return, and resumed his defensive attitude. Ryan's eye commenced bleeding, while Mac spit blood freely. In the rallies McAuliffe plainly showed his superiority.

Fifth Round—McAuliffe rushed at his man and, after a hot exchange, floored him with a hard right square on the ear. Ryan led his left, but fell short, and was promptly punched on the jaw. The latter's poor work was loudly commented upon.

Sixth Round—McAuliffe came up bleeding from the mouth, but strong. He landed two hard lefts on the Australian's sore eye, slugging him, and followed his man all around the ring. It looked as though something was radically wrong. The round closed with Ryan on the retreat, and the referee promptly gave the decision to McAuliffe.

Waldron and Plimmer Are Out.

Louis Waldron, who has been acting as Billy Plimmer's manager for some time, announced last night that he had quit the little Englishman and that Plimmer will have to look out for some one else to attend to his interests. This information comes in the nature of a surprise, for it was generally conceded among the friends of both that their relations had been decidedly amiable.

Waldron says that while he has the highest regard for Plimmer he must admit that Plimmer of late has been acting rather queerly.

"I believe he is troubled with an abnormal swelling of the head," pursued Waldron, "or he wouldn't have acted in the way he has. When I undertook to manage him I was to make all his matches and pilot all his interests throughout the country. We worked on a share-and-share-alike basis. We did pretty well until the hard times compelled us to lay off.

"Plimmer complains that I kept him idle, and did not like the idea of working one week and laying off the next; but I'm sure that is no fault of mine. I alike other theatrical organizations we started out late in the season, and it is only natural that I couldn't secure steady engagements."

Waldron says he will make an attempt to manage "Young" Griffo.

Mike Leonard Knocks Out Jack McGuinness.

There was some exceptionally hot fighting at Miner's Eighth Avenue Theatre last night, where Mike Leonard and Dolly Lyons are meeting all comers this week. Jack McGuinness, a west side light weight essayed to stay four rounds with Leonard. McGuinness gave Mike a hard tussle for one round, but in the second, Leonard went at his man and before two minutes had expired McGuinness was measuring his length upon the floor, effectually put to sleep.

Lyons had a comparatively easy task with his opponent, Harry Frazier, who gave Billy Dimmer such a tough "go" a few weeks ago. After being punched very hard, Frazier concluded he had enough and cried quits in the second round.

CASEY ON HANDBALL RULES.

The Great Master Says that The Sun's Rules Should Prevail Everywhere.

From the Chicago Herald.

Champion Phil Casey has written as follows to W. McGurn regarding rules that caused the failure of a match here between McGurn and Patrick Quinn:

"There has been no rule in my court for five years, except THE SUN's rules, as they are called. It is a known fact that I learned to play in the old school and under the old rules, or, in other words, 'go as you please.' These are the rules I played Lawlor under. The rules have been changed since, and, when I look back and think of how little ball playing there is in serving from the wall, I am surprised that some intelligent person did not change them 100 years ago.

"It is simply ridiculous to call handball a game played under the old rules when compared with the present rules. There are six courts within ten miles of my place, and THE SUN's rules govern all of them. In St. Louis and San Francisco, in fact all of the courts of any account in America at present, are conducted under the rules of the Brooklyn Handball Club. Furthermore, no match will ever be played in this court for fun or money except under the present rules. So much for the progress of the game in the East.

"If you ever see them play racquets you will observe that they play from, or at least serve from, the ace line. It is a fact that when racquet was first played they served from the front wall, the same as the old-time handball players. The rules were changed so as to stand at the ace line, and then they had to make a line high enough on the front wall so that the ball could not be served too sharply and give the player outside a chance to play at it. In Spain at the present day they have a line on the front wall three feet from the floor, and any ball striking under that is not up. I forgot to mention that the tell board in a racquet court is sometimes eighteen inches high, so as to give your opponent a chance to get a play at it.

"It must be taken into consideration that the players of the present day are in keeping with all progress, and can play so much better than they could fifty years ago. Hence the change. I cannot see where science is displayed by going up to a wall and striking the ball so hard that it does not bound to give the outside man a chance to play at it. It looks vicious, brutal, and should never be allowed in any handball court. These are my honest sentiments in reference to the game; notwithstanding, if I could, I believe, play under the old as well as under any rules.

"I trust that if William McGurn makes any match with Quinn or any other person he will play under no rules except those suggested by THE NEW YORK SUN."

ON THE SEVENTH'S RANGE.

Laidlaw Beats Breen in a Three-mile Skating Race.

MONCTON, N. B., Jan. 17.—The three-mile skating race last night between Breen and Laidlaw, at the Metropolitan Rink, was one of the most interesting of the series between the men. Laidlaw won by about twenty-five feet. Time, 9 minutes 43 seconds.

HARVARD BASEBALL OUTLOOK.

Only One of Last Year's Winning Nine to Play Again.

From the Boston Herald.

Compared with some recent years, the outlook for the Harvard baseball team is not very favorable. Cook, L. S., alone remains eligible of those who played in the Yale games last year. He has given up the position of captain, but will play as usual, probably on third base, or perhaps in the field. For the rest of the material the new captain, when chosen, will have to draw from last year's substitutes and from the class nines.

It is still early to form an estimate of the strictly new material. Very little of it has shown up yet. The fall practice failed to discover any which seemed to be above the class standard. The work since the recess has been simply for men who are trying for pitcher and catcher. Of these Perry, '97, and Paine, '97, both give promise of making good pitchers in the course of a year or two. Wiggin, L. S., Highlands, '95, and Ames, '96, however, are probably the three from no which the pitcher will be drawn. Wiggin and Highlands will not go into training until after the mid-years; Ames is with the candidates, and has already shown marked improvement over last year. The brunt of the pitching, however, will fall on the first two mentioned. A few months' training under Reefe ought to make both of them much more effective than last spring.

To catch Wiggin and Highlands are Scannell, '97, Henry, '96, and O'Malley, '96. O'Malley has not come out yet, and of the other two Scannell, possibly, has an advantage over Henry. He caught on the Boston Latin School nine for three years, and is a good recruit. He has in him the possibilities of a strong catcher, and it will rest with him to make the necessary development in the next three or four months to secure a place for himself. In case these men fail to come up to the standard, Corbett will have to go behind the bat. He prefers, however, to field, which is his natural position.

The other positions on the nine will be subject to close competition. The candidates will not be called out until after the mid-years. New men may come to light then, but the material which is now known to be available probably represents the best that can be had. There are two freshmen of promise, Paine and Stevenson, both from Hopkinson's School. Paine will probably try for first base in case he fails to make a favorable impression in pitching. Dickinson, '94, is the only other candidate for first.

For second base there are Hayes, '96; Hapgood, '94, and Lowell, '94, with a possibility that Wrenn, '95, will be eligible to play. Whittemore, '95, stands out most promisingly for short stop, although Linfield, '94, will try for the place.

In case Cook plays in the field, Stevenson, '97, and Winslow, '96, will have the closest struggle for third base. Paul, '96, who played well on into the season last year on his freshman team, is another good man.

The outfield will have a number of candidates, with Corbett heading them. Gonterman, '94; Paine, '94; McCarthy, '94, and Manley, Gr., a graduate of several years' standing, are likely to prove the best men for the other two places. Naturally, many who see little hope for themselves in the infield will try for the outfield, increasing considerably the competition for the positions.

There has never been a time when so few places were assured. Cook alone is a fixture; eight other players will be chosen.

MURPHY MAY PLAY HERE.

The New York Club Negotiating for Yale's Great Short Stop.

Directors Wheeler and Talcott are working energetically to strengthen the New York baseball team, and there is every indication that their efforts will be successful. They say that nothing will be left undone to put a first-class team in the field, and when Manager Ward returns the latter part of the month, a plan will have been adopted by which will insure some lively baseball in this city next season.

It was decided, at a conference between Messrs. Talcott and Wheeler last Tuesday, to try and secure William Murphy, Yale's great short stop and batsman of 1892 and '93. Director Wheeler, who is an old Yale athlete, visited Murphy at New Haven to come to New York at his expense, and Murphy may reach this city to-day.

Murphy has certainly made a remarkable record as a college player, but how well he will perform in the League can only be told after a fair trial. His work at short stop and with the bat while at Yale has eclipsed that of any of his colleagues. Highlands, Harvard's great pitcher, had no terrors for him. Murphy captained the '92 Yale team, but as he was opposed to the undergraduate rule, he refused at first to join the university nine last season and he played instead on Yale's Law School team. He was induced later to become a "varsity player, after earnest requests by Walter Camp and Trainer Murphy, his brother.

Boston is also after Murphy, but the little short stop has said that if he turns to be a professional his preferences are for New York. It is said that in case Murphy goes to Boston, Herman Long will come to New York.

All Deals for Richardson Abandoned.

President Byrne and Manager Foutz after a conference yesterday decided to abandon all deals for the transfer of Richardson, and to keep him in Brooklyn, providing that Richardson wants to play there. Foutz will write to Richardson and ask him his intentions. Nothing has been heard from Richardson since he left Brooklyn last summer after his wrangle with President Byrne.

Baseball Notes.

"Doc" Kennedy is on the police force.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 17.—James Canavan writes from Worcester, Mass., that he has received the contract to play with the Cincinnati Baseball Club the coming season and has signed it.

William Barnie, manager of the Louisville Club, was in town yesterday looking for players. He met Hemming, the pitcher, in Brooklyn during the afternoon, and signed him for next season.

A meeting was to have been held last Friday night for the purpose of organizing the most professional baseball league, but only three managers showed up, McLaughlin, Delaney, and Strong. It was decided to do nothing further in the matter until near the opening of the season.

BURGETTS, Jan. 17.—John Kimball, a well-known amateur pitcher of Millville, is to have a trial with the Baltimore League team on their Southern tour, which begins March 20. Kimball pitched for Salem last season and was very successful. While pitching for the Millville nine in a game with the Alerts of Bridgeton he struck out nineteen men. He is also accounted a good batter.

Manager McLaughlin of the Flushing Baseball Club will make a trip through New York State in April and expects to play several games in the different Eastern League series. Manager McLaughlin has selected a strong array of players, and the Flushings will be heard from before the season is far advanced. The team will be as follows: Woods, first base; Al Smith, second base; Moorehead, short stop; Heckman, third base; Fuchs, pitcher; Rafferty, catcher; H. Smith, left field; Sneeden, centre field; Lever, right field. Al Smith and Sneeden will alternate in the box.

Knickerbocker Yachtsmen Elect Officers.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Knickerbocker Yacht Club was held last evening at the Grand Union Hotel. There was a large attendance, and the officers' and standing committee's reports showed the club to be in a very prosperous condition.

The secretary's report showed 188 active and 8 honorary members, and that during the year 77 new members had been elected. The club fleet consists of 3 schooners, 31 cabin sloops, cutters, and yawls, 2 open sloops, 15 cabin cats, 8 open cats, 4 steam launches, and 6 naphtha launches, a total fleet of 69 yachts. The following officers for the ensuing year were then elected:

Commodore, Dr. Charles L. Browne, sloop Tempest; Vice-Commodore, F. G. Fauly, sloop Flora; Rear Commodore, Louis H. Zocher, sloop Liberty; Treasurer, Charles R. Smith, Jr.; Secretary, F. S. Crooker; Measurer, George M. Rae; Fleet surgeon, R. Ringer, M. D.; Board of Directors, George A. Gaze, William H. Ward, Harry Stephenson, J. O. Sinkinson, John J. Delaney.

A Crap Game Causes a Row in the Louisville Athletic Club.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 17.—The Louisville Athletic Club, which, aside from its gymnastic features, is the swell social organization of the city, is in a fever of excitement. It is all about a game of craps which has been in progress among many members. The constitution of the club forbids gambling on pain of expulsion. Fifty-seven members have been summoned to appear before the Board of Directors to answer the charge. Among those to be tried are four members of the football eleven, which defeated the college champions of the third, several members of the baseball nine, and three boxers. One of the directors favored presenting the facts to the Grand Jury and allowing the law to take its course, but this proposition was not listened to.

Our True Shooters Do Well in Canada.

HAMILTON, Ontario, Jan. 17.—Good weather and a large attendance characterized the first day of the Hamilton Gun Club's tourney. The list of entries includes the crack shots of the United States and Canada. The principal event of the day, a match for $700, twenty live birds, was unfinished on account of the large number of contestants. R. O. Heiks of Chicago, G. J. Marsh of Westfield, N. J., and J. A. Elliott of Kansas City each made clean scores. E. Andrews of Sardinia, N. Y., made 19. The other scores ranged between 18 and 8. Heiks of Chicago won the sweepstakes, twenty singles; Andrews of Sardinia was second with 19.

To-morrow there will be a match for $200 a side, at fifty live birds each, between Elliott of Kansas City and Wood of Toronto.

4,200 Rabbits Killed in Two Days.

LAMAR, Col., Jan. 17.—In a two-days' rabbit hunt last week 4,200 were killed, the highest individual score being 160. The game was shipped to Denver and Pueblo and distributed among the poor.

A TIE FOR FIRST PRIZE.

The Albions Win Two Games in the A. N. Tournament and Tie the Orchards.

Bowlers representing the Albion Club of Paterson and the Manhattan and Oriental clubs of this city battled for honors and glory in the American national tournament at the Germania Assembly Rooms alleys last night. The crowd was the largest of the season. By winning two games the Albions tie the Orchards for the championship. The scores:
