

DEAFNESS CURED

A Device That is Scientific, Simple, Direct, and Instantly Restores Hearing in Even The Oldest Person— Comfortable, Invisible and Perfect Fitting

190-Page Book Containing a History of the Discovery and Many Hundred Signed Testimonials from all Parts of the World — SENT FREE.

The True Story of the Invention of Wilson's Common Sense Ear Drums Told by George H. Wilson, the inventor.

I was deaf from infancy. Eminent doctors, surgeons and ear-specialists treated me at great expense, and yet did me no good. I tried all the artificial appliances that claimed to restore hearing, but they failed to benefit me in the least. I even went to the best specialists in the world, but their efforts were unavailing. My case was pronounced incurable! I grew desperate; my deafness tormented me. Daily I was becoming more of a recluse, avoiding the companionship of people because of the annoyance my deafness and sensitiveness caused me. Finally I began to experiment on myself, and after patient years of study, labor and personal expense I perfected something that I found took the place of the natural ear drums, and I called it Wilson's Common Sense Ear Drums, which I now wear day and night with perfect comfort, and do not even have to remove them when washing. No one can tell I am wearing them, as they do not show, and, as they give no discomfort whatever, I scarcely know it myself.

With these drums I can now hear a whisper. I join in the general conversation and hear everything going on around me. I can hear a sermon or lecture from any part of a large church or hall. My general health is improved because of the great change my Ear Drums have made in my life. My spirits are bright and cheerful; I am a cured, changed man.

Since my fortunate discovery it is no longer necessary for any deaf person to carry a trumpet, a tube or any other such old-fashioned makeshift. My Common Sense Ear Drum is built on the strictest scientific principles, contains no metal, wires or strings of any kind, and is entirely new and up to date in all respects. It is so small that no one can see it when in position, yet it collects all the sound waves and focuses them against the drum head, causing you to hear naturally and perfectly. It will do this even when the natural ear drums are partially or entirely destroyed, perforated, scarred, relaxed or thickened. It fits any ear from childhood to old age, male or female, and aside from the fact that it does not show, it never causes the least irritation, and can be used with comfort day and night without removal for any cause.

With my device I can cure deafness in any person, no matter how acquired, whether from catarrh, scarlet fever, typhoid or brain fever, measles, whooping cough, gatherings in the ear, shocks from artillery, or through accidents. My invention not only cures, but at once stops the progress of deafness and all roaring and buzzing noises. The greatest aural surgeons in the world recommend it, as well as physicians of all schools. It will do for you what no medicine or medical skill on earth can do.

I want to place my 190 page book on deafness in the hands of every deaf person in the world. I will gladly send it free to anyone whose name and address I can get. It describes and illustrates Wilson's Common Sense Ear Drums and contains bona fide letters from numerous users in the United States, Canada, Mexico, England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Australia, New Zealand, Tasmania, India and the remotest islands. I have letters from people in every station of life—ministers, physicians, lawyers, merchants, society ladies, etc.—and tell the truth about the benefits to be derived from my wonderful little device. You will find the names of people in your own town and state, many whose names you know, and I am sure that all this will convince you that the cure of deafness has at last been solved by my invention.

THE WAR IN THE ORIENT

Monday, Feb. 15.—Nineteen thousand Japanese troops were landed at Chemulpo, but a small landing force of Japanese near Talien Wan is reported to have been attacked and almost annihilated by Cossacks. The American steamer Pleiades, detained at Port Arthur by the Russians, slipped out in a storm and reported at Chee Foo. She brought the report that eleven Russian warships had been badly damaged in the several attacks, and that the whole Russian fleet had been withdrawn into the inner harbor. St. Petersburg dispatches show the rapid mobilization of troops and extensive preparations for a prolonged war. Nagasaki advises as to the effect that the Japanese are wild with joy at the report that twelve vessels were destroyed and eight captured by the Japanese fleet at Fort Arthur on the 9th. France formally announces neutrality. The sinking by a Russian torpedo boat of a Japanese merchant vessel has stirred Japan greatly, and is denounced as a wanton crime.

Tuesday, Feb. 6.—Confirmation received of the rumor that Japan had effected a landing in Manchuria. The wires carried many rumors of engagements, but nothing definite was heard. Russian claims are to the effect that a Japanese torpedo boat was sunk during the Port Arthur engagement on the 9th. St. Petersburg reports that General Pflug telegraphs that the situation at Port Arthur is unchanged. The Paris Figaro publishes a dispatch from its St. Petersburg correspondent to the effect that the Russian Vladivostock fleet had encountered a fleet of Japanese transports and sunk several of them, but Baron Haysha, Japanese minister at London, denies it, saying that the Russians encountered two minor Japanese merchantmen and destroyed one of them, the other escaping to Fukuyama, island of Yezo. A report from Chee Foo, seemingly reliable, is to the effect that the Russian gunners in the forts at Port Arthur, mistaking three Russian torpedo boats for the enemy, fired upon them and sunk them before the mistake was discovered. In response to voluntary offers of assistance from volunteers in other countries, Japan has said that she will fight the war alone. The new war loan was subscribed three times over. The full details of the Chemulpo fight on February 8 confirms the first reports that the Japanese won a decided victory.

Wednesday, Feb. 17.—War rumors are flying thick and fast, but nothing definite develops. St. Petersburg reports are to the effect that Russia is wary of Great Britain and will keep an eye on India. This is considered unworthy of credence, although the rumor is persistently floated. Rumored from Chemulpo that Japan has landed 120,000 troops in Korea. The Russian cruiser Boyaria, cruising in Port Arthur harbor, was blown up by mines of her own planting. There are persistent rumors that Russian troops are practicing barbarity, but Russian officials deny them and say they originated in the minds of those who have an ulterior motive in discrediting Russia. The London Times' Fort Arthur correspondent says that seven Russian warships are disabled and helpless there, and that eleven Russian ships were put out of action by the Japanese in the first naval engagement of the war.

Thursday, Feb. 18.—The Baltic sea fleet is reported as moving eastward. Japanese claim to have torpedoed the Russian warship Boyaria, but Russians claim a forgotten mine did the damage. Further evidence of a sea fight at Port Arthur on the 11th is given, but nothing official is known. Japanese troops are embarking from all the larger ports. The Port Arthur-Chee Foo cable has been severed.

Friday, Feb. 19.—An official statement at Tokio denies the claim of Admiral Alexieff that Japanese warships were damaged at Port Arthur. Russian troops are centering on the Yalu river in Korea, and Wuji is expected to be the scene of a collision. A French army officer believes the Japanese siege of Port Arthur will result in its downfall. Russia counts confidently on the eventual support of Germany. The increasing possibility of war with Great Britain is discussed without reserve at St. Petersburg. The desire at Washington to close the integrity of China incident without awaiting the formal response of Russia has nonplussed officials at St. Petersburg. Russia will attempt a policy of delay until her army force is mobilized.

Saturday, Feb. 20.—Russia declines to grant an exequatur to the United States consul at Dalny. Her refusal disturbs the state department, but the program that will be followed is not indicated. A Chee Foo correspondent says an American squadron is coming and marines will be landed. Russia has abolished the censorship on outgoing news. Ice on the Yalu river is beginning to go out. Russia has placed her response to the Hay note in the hands of Ambassador McCormick. Harbin is fast being made the base of Russian military activity in Manchuria. A rumor at London that the empress dowager of China is dead is not confirmed. The rabid anti-British feeling in Russia has caused a warning note to be issued by London newspapers.

Sunday, Feb. 21.—Minister of War Kuropatkin has been relieved of his duties and appointed commander-in-chief of the Russian army. Uncles of the czar have asked permission to go to the front. French officials are watching affairs in the Balkans with nearly the same anxiety as in the far east. Russian scouts are reconnoitering in the vicinity of Wiju, Korea. Powers of Europe are fast piling themselves on a war footing. Spain is especially active and the fear seems to be growing that a general conflagration is imminent. Chinese at Mukden refuse to aid Russians in guarding the railway.
