FALSE STORY OF A SWINDLE.

A Reputable Firm in This City Unwarrantably Accused of Fraud.

A despatch from Dunkirk, N. Y., printed yesterday, said that in the town of Pomfret on Thursday a warrant for the arrest of Ignatz Gross of 85 Barclay street, this city, on a charge of larceny was asked for. It was charged that he was one of a band who had made a practice of swindling vineyard men by asking for a sample barrel of grape juice on the representation that a good market would be opened to the grower if the sample was satisfactory. The firm of Ignatz Gross is now at 356 Greenwich street, having removed from 85 Barclay street last autumn. Ignatz Gross had been in business in Barclay street for many years as an importer of Italian produce. He died about two years ago, but the business has been continued in his name by his family. His son, Rudolph Gross, said yesterday that he was astounded at the Dunkirk despatch, which told a preposterous story.

"I have not heard that any such application has been made," he said, "but I will tell you what the facts are upon which the story is built. The firm, as you will see by our business card, is advertised as 'importer of Italian and French produce and wines, direct receiver of California wines and Western sausage.' In 1894 a Mr. Famighetti of Fredonia, N. Y., who had been a customer of ours, tried to induce us to take some of the wines which he said were grown in that part of this State. We had not heard much of wines produced in this State, but finally, after repeated urging, and as the price was convenient, we last year told him to send on to us one barrel only of his wine as a sample, which we would receive on consignment, as we only do a commission business in domestic goods. He sent on a barrel, upon which we paid the freight. It is in our wine vaults to-day, have shown it to different men, but it does not sell because the quality is not satisfactory.

"I have written him at different times telling him to take the goods as there was no sale for them, and to reimburse us for the freight. His only reply was to send to us statement after statement of the bill, $10, for the wine. At last there came a letter from a lawyer, Thomas H. Larkins, dated Dec. 20, last, threatening to begin criminal proceedings against us if the bill was not paid. I wrote him on Jan. 2, reciting the facts, and telling him Mr. Famighetti could have the wine, which was here awaiting his order, upon payment of the freight charges and expenses, and I have heard nothing of the matter since."

FODDER FOR THE FIRE HORSES.

Gen. La Grange Says It Must Be Kept Up to the Standard of the Samples.

At the meeting of the Fire Commissioners yesterday, the matter of contracts for fodder for the horses of the department was taken up. Gen. La Grange said that he intended that the Board should not be hoodwinked into using third-class oats when first-class were paid for. "I believe," he said, "that the fault lies mainly with the commanders of the different sections of the department. It seems to me they are inclined to neglect their duties, and then to place the fault with the old administration. We pay $18,000 a year for horses and it must be seen that they are well fed. Every once in a while we get a bad lot of fodder, and if the matter is not watched the health of the department's horses will be placed in great jeopardy. If a contractor finds that he has bid too low, and if he comes out honestly and squarely and says so we will perhaps help him out, but we will not stand poor food. Arrangements will be made with the expert examiners of the Produce Exchange to examine samples of bidders, and if they are not up to the standard bids will be rejected until we get what we want."

There were two bids before the Board for the supply of fodder for the next quarter. These were presented by John Moonan and Horace Ingersoll. Ingersoll's bid was $210 lower than Moonan's, but Gen. La Grange said that if his samples were not as required he would not get the contract.

JERSEY REFORMERS FALL OUT.

An Alderman's Remark at a Goo Goo Club Followed by a Slander Suit.

Alderman Alexander Ross of Jersey City has begun suit against Alderman Al Heritage, one of his colleagues, to recover $35,000 for damages alleged to have been inflicted upon his character by some remarks said to have been made by Heritage at a public meeting. The meeting was held on Tuesday night in the Second United Presbyterian Church, under the auspices of a Goo Goo club, to protest against the action of the Board of Aldermen in granting a license to August Neumann to open a saloon within a few feet of Public School No. 25. The Aldermen who voted for the license were denounced. Alderman Heritage, who is a well-known pigeon shot and very bluff in his manner, declared that he had not voted for the license and stated that Alderman Ross was paid for voting for it. When Alderman Ross heard of his colleague's accusation he consulted his lawyer, William H. Speer, and was advised to bring a suit for slander. Both Aldermen are Republicans and were floated into the Board on the reform wave.

Mrs. Mary Hastings's Will.

LONG BEACH, Feb. 7.—The will of Mrs. Mary Hastings, who died at Monmouth Beach on Jan. 27 last, was admitted to probate to-day in the Monmouth County Court at Freehold. She was the widow of Hugh Hastings. Her estate, valued at over $300,000, names Sherman W. Knevals of New York as executor, and provides that he shall convert all of her property not otherwise specified into cash and divide it into three equal parts. Mrs. Katherine Woodward of London, England, and Mrs. Mary Ward of Monmouth Beach, daughters, are each to receive one-third of the estate, the remaining one-third to be divided equally between Mrs. Woodward, her granddaughter, Miss Susan H. Ward, and Hugh H. and Henry Ward.

The two daughters share alike in the furniture and ornaments contained in the Willowhurst cottage. The testator's jewelry is to be divided between the children of Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Woodward.

The will was made on July 19, 1895. Four cottages valued at $60,000 belong to the estate. They are opposite the Monmouth Beach club house. The rest of the estate is in bonds and stocks.

Ryan Gets His Life Sentence.

Stephen Ryan, who was convicted of murder in the second degree for killing James Welsh, the sailor, in the saloon at 34 Bayard street on June 22 last, was sentenced yesterday by Justice Smyth in the criminal part of the Supreme Court to imprisonment for life. Lizzie Carney, Ryan's mistress, was in court, and fainted when sentence was pronounced. She was indicted for complicity in the murder, but the indictment was dismissed. Justice Smyth discharged from custody Andrew Carmody and John Ball, who were arrested in the saloon at the time of the murder.

Roundsman Hugh O'Rourke Insane.

Ex-Roundsman Hugh O'Rourke, who was retired from the police force in December last, was pronounced insane by a Sheriff's jury yesterday. He has property worth about $20,000 and a pension of $750 a year.
