

Hale expressed the opinion that the president had not taken a square ground upon the right of congress to direct the transmission of papers by the heads of departments. "I do not," said Mr. Hale, "know that the right has been questioned, and I hope it never will be."

On January 14 Senator Tillman delivered another speech in which he denied certain statements made by Postmaster General Meyers and Attorney General Bonaparte. Speaking of the differences of recollection between himself and Attorney General Bonaparte he declared: "I am ready to have my record in the past for truthfulness, honesty and integrity stand against his." Mr. Tillman asserted he was not only dealing with President Roosevelt, "but with all the cabinet officers who are in league, because, according to the newspapers, they are discussing me at cabinet meetings and are determined to accomplish my ruin if possible. I was prepared to have the attorney general deny that I told him anything about this," continued Mr. Tillman. "I was prepared to have the officers, sent to me from the postoffice department and to whom I explained my reasons for asking for a fraud order against Dorr, deny my statement. When I deal with as unscrupulous men as I do now I am prepared for anything, even the assassin's knife. My mail is being held up. I will not say my room has been broken into, because there are keys that can open everything in this capitol. They may not have stolen my papers, but they are gone."

The Copeland hotel, Topeka, Kan., was destroyed by fire. A dozen persons were seriously injured and I. E. Lambert of Emporia lost his life.

By a vote of 20 to 13 in the senate and 61 to 36 in the house, the Tennessee legislature has voted to override the veto of Governor Patterson, thus making state-wide prohibition the law of that state on July 1, 1909.

CHEAP CHARITY

Mother Alphonsa, the daughter of Nathaniel Hawthorne, devotes her life to those afflicted with cancer. It is to her that New York owes its admirable Hawthorne cancer home.

At a recent meeting in aid of the home Mother Alphonsa spoke of charity—a subject whereupon surely no one could speak with more authority.

She said that too many people went in for cheap charity, that too many resembled a certain railroad president.

A manager came to this president and began:

"Old John Faithful's health has broken down. He had to leave last week. After his long service, I think, sir, we ought to do something for him, don't you? He's very poor."

"How long has John been with us?" asked the president.

"Forty-seven years, sir."

"He always did his duty?"

"He never missed a day, sir."

"And now he's broken down completely, eh?"

"The chances are he'll never leave his bed," said the manager.

"The poor fellow," said the president, "we certainly must do something for him."

He turned to his secretary.

"Perkins," he said, "make out John Faithful a free pass for life."—Washington Star.

FOREST RESERVE

The following joint resolution passed the Idaho legislature in February, 1907, and is reprinted by request:

"Be it resolved by the legislature of the state of Idaho, that the forest reserve policy of the general government as administered is detrimental to the interests of the state of Idaho in that it has resulted in a practical transfer of jurisdiction over more than one-third of the state to a bureau of the general government which has substituted rules and regulations inconsistent with the legal rights of the citizens of the state, under the general laws by which the state is presumed to be governed.

"That it has included within its boundaries more than one million acres of land belonging absolutely to the state of Idaho, granted to the state by congress under the admission act, which said act and the constitution of the state provides the sole means of disposal; that the grant of sections 16 and 36 was for the exclusive use of public schools; that while congress has provided for homestead entries within the forest reserves under burdensome and impractical conditions, the state can not hope for a substitute growth under such conditions, as no people would care to make their homes in a section of the country subject to such limitations and restrictions as will naturally prevent the growth of the communities large enough to bring schools, churches, and other institutions incident to community life; that contrary to the best interests of the state and people, the mineral lands are included within the forest reserves, and while theoretically they are open to prospecting, the limitations of forest reserve rules are such as to render it practically impossible to secure an investment of sufficient capital to develop mining claims after the prospector has found them, and capital will not, except in rare cases, invest in mining claims or locations within the forest reserves as they prefer to operate under well defined legal rights rather than permissions and privileges dependent upon the pleasures of departmental forces.

"That we favor the creation of forest reserves, properly located and administered where they will best serve the purpose of future propagation of timber and conservation of a water supply where such conservation is necessary; but that we sincerely regret that the present location and administration of forest reserves retard the growth and development of Idaho far beyond any possible benefit that can ever accrue from them to the state or general government.

"That we favor the amendment of laws where they are found to be defective rather than a suspension of them, which causes peoples' rights to be suspended at the will and pleasure of a departmental agent, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to our senators and representatives in congress."

of some kind are the heritage of nearly every one, from the infant and the colic, the middle aged and the distressing, miserable headaches, to the aged with nervous, muscular and rheumatic pains.

A remedy to relieve in all cases must be founded on the right principle, and that accounts for the wonderful success of

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills

They never fail to cure all cases of pain, because they treat the Pain Source—the nerves. By soothing the irritated nerves they lessen the tension, build up the strength, set the blood coursing through the veins, and thus allay all pain.

"Periodic headache, that unfitted me for business several days at a time, has been my life experience. I found first relief in Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and since then I invariably ward them off by taking a pill when I feel them coming on." E. M. MOEBERRY, Windsor, Ill.
