WAS STRAUSS MISREPORTED?

Official Record of What He Said About Mrs. Morton and the Governor.

School Commissioner Charles Strauss takes exception to a report printed in THE SUN of his speech made before Mayor Strong on April 15, when he appeared in opposition to the Page-Pavey School bill, in which it appeared that he made attacks upon both Gov. Morton and Mrs. Morton because of their reputed actions regarding the measure under discussion. Under date of April 18, Mr. Strauss wrote to THE SUN as follows:

My attention has just been drawn to the report in your issue of the 16th inst. of the hearing before the Mayor on the School bill.

Your report makes it appear that I had assailed as being in the Governor's message, statements regarding the character of the trustees, the number of children out of school, and the competency of teachers. As none of these matters are mentioned in the Governor's message, it is manifest that the report erroneously attributed my criticism of these statements to the Governor.

The statements which I did criticise, and in which I used emphatic language, had nothing to do with the message, and had no relation whatever with the Governor; I certainly did not say that anything in the Governor's message was "a malicious lie."

Indeed, I was extremely careful to refer to the Governor in the terms of respect to which his office entitles him. Your course throughout this discussion has been so uniformly fair that I am led to ask that you publish this correction.

THE SUN being always glad to correct any wrong which may have been done to any one by it, sent at once for copies of the official stenographic reports of those parts of Mr. Strauss's speech which treated of either Gov. Morton's actions or those of Mrs. Morton. Whether Mr. Strauss was misrepresented or not in the condensed report of these parts of his speech as they were printed in THE SUN the reader will be able to judge by comparing the two reports which follow:

From the Official Stenographer's Report.

I saw Mrs. Morton and some of the members of the Public Education Society following a level in the Senate Chamber on Feb. 16, the day before the hearing of the bill. From time and their energies to that day forth great pres- the accomplishment of sure was brought to bear what they believed to be a by Mrs. Morton. The most magnificent public good important member of the properly directed. The Governor's household was club on this occasion, how- lobbying with members of ever, seems to have been her husband's party, with misdirected in its efforts, women who were striving to emulate Mrs. Morton as a leader, and the bill, af- club, and I believe it is feeting 250,000 children, almost entirely composed became known as the of ladies, as the "pink tea" bill. This the topic of debate, solicit- measure is the result of ing the cooperation and the unreasonable, illegical, and unconsidered inter- sistance of their friends, ference of a lot of women it finally reached the pursuing a mere whim. the ordinary corruption I regret to speak about we hear of. These women these things which hap- held executive meetings, pen to a man by accident, and they did not and and which he might or it would not learn the truth. narily treat with confi- dence, although I am not bound by any considerations of that kind. I say that these things reached the home of the Governor, because I was a witness of the fact. I happened to be in Albany in the Senate Chamber on Friday evening (there was to be a meeting of the Senate committee next day, and I took time by the forelock and went there the day before). While I was in the Senate Chamber watching the proceedings I saw Mrs. Gov. Morton with some of the members of the Public Educational Society holding a meeting in a corner of the Senate Chamber. Mr. Mayor, this, of course, would not interest you unless it had something to do with this bill. Perhaps I do not violate confidence when I read from the New York Herald of the following morning a few brief lines stating just exactly what they did. You must remember that what I am speaking about now happened on Feb. 16, and, in connection with the Governor's message, it is important to note that that message did not make its appearance until March 19, and was published in the newspapers of the following day, about a month before.

[Here extracts.]

I do not usually offer newspaper extracts in evidence, Mr. Mayor, but having been an eyewitness of this action, barring the names of my colleagues, with all of whom I am not personally acquainted, I should say that this is a full and fair account of just exactly what happened there.

From that time on there was a constant pressure. Mrs. Morton, leading this movement in this public way, using the Governor's influence, using the prestige of being a member, if not the most important member, of the Governor's household, lobbying in the halls of legislation with gentlemen representing the same party as her husband belonged to, delegations coming up from New York city vying with each other, most of these delegations consisting of ladies, for the position of being the most conspicuous and nearest to the place where Mrs. Morton was lobbying, so that, Mr. Mayor, it seems perfectly ridiculous to announce to you that this serious bill, affecting the educational salvation of a quarter of a million of children of the imperial city of the chief State of the United States, was bandied about in the mouths of members of both Houses and became known as the "Pink Tea bill," under which characterization it was finally passed.

I don't like to be asked my view of this kind of interference. The President referred to George Washington, the Father of His Country. I think that the example that was made with reference to "The Father of His Country" might very well have been emulated with reference to Gov. Morton. I look upon it as a distinct introduction of an element much more dangerous than the common corruption which is charged—sometimes when it does not exist—in the public prints with reference to legislation, because it is an unreasonable interference, it is illogical interference, it is an ill-considered interference on the part of a large number of ladies with influence, who, banded together for the accomplishment of an object, not for the purpose of realizing its real benefits or conferring its real results upon the people by act of the Legislature, but for the purpose of pursuing the spirit of the moment, like a fancy, something trivial, something frivolous, that engages the attention for a time, and is in that sense wholly and absolutely objectless, except the desire to accomplish their purpose.

Mr. Mayor, there was a good deal of this social agitation. There were little executive sessions, I say executive sessions of their side, held by these club ladies against the Board of Educational bill, because nobody could be admitted without cards. Commissioner Holt had difficulty in entering the room with his own wife, so that it was absolutely impossible to spread before the ladies the real truth of the matter. I have been soliciting some occasion when I could come forth and preach this truth to these misguided women.

Mr. Mayor, I wish you would think of that. Think of it, that this legislation was induced, if not forced, at the point of the social bayonet, carried by Mrs. Morton, using it for possible political future favors upon those who refused her request.

Suspended the Rev. Dr. Brown.

OAKLAND, Cal., April 22.—The Bay Conference from the Congregational churches in the bay district met yesterday to pass upon the ecclesiastical standing of Dr. Charles O. Brown, pastor of the First Church of San Francisco, who was recently found guilty of unministerial conduct. Dr. Brown addressed the Conference in his own behalf, and then the Conference, by a vote of 49 to 32, decided to suspend him "until he shall have lifted from himself the burden of suspicion and doubt now resting upon his reputation."

BUFFALO LITHIA WATER in BRIGHT'S DISEASE

"Mr. G.," who is John Garland of Mecklenburg County, Virginia, aged seventy-four, when well nigh IN EXTREMIS from Bright's Disease, was restored to perfect health by

BUFFALO LITHIA WATER

Dr. Alfred L. Loomis, Professor of Pathology and Practical Medicine in the Medical Department of University of New York: "For the past four years I have used BUFFALO LITHIA WATER in the treatment of chronic Bright's Disease of the kidneys, occurring in gouty and rheumatic subjects, with marked benefit."

Dr. E. C. Laird, Resident Physician at Buffalo Lithia Springs: "Mr. G., age 74, arrived at Buffalo Lithia Springs June 21st in an exceedingly prostrate condition, exhibiting unmistakable symptoms of Bright's Disease, viz.: puffiness of the face, eyes suffused, impaired vision, breathing labored and distressed, heart involved, inability to take a recumbent position for any length of time, feet and legs so swollen that he could not wear his shoes, and Uræmic poison to such an extent that he was generally asleep when sitting in his chair. Examination of the Urine the day after his arrival, both chemical and microscopical, showed the presence of albumen, tube-casts, and epithelium, confirming the diagnosis of Bright's Disease. This situation, especially in view of his advanced years, seemed to preclude the possibility of benefit from any remedy. He was put, however, upon the Water of Spring No. 2, which, to my equal surprise and gratification, proved promptly and highly beneficial, and to such an extent that he rested comfortably in bed, which he had not been able to do for several months previous. His improvement, excepting an intermission at one time of a few days, was continuous and steady during a stay of twelve weeks at the Springs, and so rapid that when he left, not only had all symptoms of his trouble entirely disappeared, but he had gained largely in flesh and possessed a healthful vigor by no means common to men of his years. He stated that he felt as well as he had done at any period of his life. Eight months have now elapsed, and there has been no return, not the slightest, of any unpleasant symptoms."

BUFFALO LITHIA WATER

Is for sale by Druggists and Grocers generally, or in cases of one dozen half-gallon bottles, $5.00, f. o. b. at the Springs. Descriptive pamphlets sent FREE on application. Springs open for guests from June 15th to October 1st.

CRUSHED BY FALLING WALLS.

A Mother and Child Barely Escape from the Ruins During a Fire.

The coffee mill of the Powell Manufacturing Company, at 86 and 88 North Fourth street, Williamsburgh, was destroyed yesterday by fire. The building was of brick, five stories high, and was owned by Mrs. Josephine E. Weiskittel of 254 Vernon avenue. Two weeks ago the company began to remove its plant to another part of Williamsburgh. More than one-half of the stock and machinery had been taken away when the fire was discovered yesterday morning by a watchman in the Erie freight yard opposite the mill.

A two-story frame building at 84 North Fourth street was soon ablaze. The house was occupied by Michael Monahan. On the other side of the factory stood a two-story and basement brick house owned by the Havemeyer & Elder Sugar Refining Company. Peter Quinn and his wife occupied the lower part, and Robert Pellman, with his wife and their one-year-old child, lived on the second floor. The police saw that the wall of the mill adjoining the brick house was bulging out.

Policeman Meehan hurried into the house and told the inmates to leave. Mrs. Pelliman and her child were alone in their rooms, Pellman having gone to work. Meehan carried out the child and the woman followed. They had scarcely reached the street when the wall collapsed and the brick house was in ruins. Then the flames spread to 82 North Fourth street, a two-story and basement frame house. John Galiski had a grocery on the ground floor and lived over it. Mrs. Kate McMahon occupied the second floor. The firemen here checked further advance of the fire.

The rear wall of the mill fell, and was soon followed by the front wall. Fireman Edward Lynch of Engine 14 was struck by bricks and cut. He was attended by an ambulance surgeon and returned to his duty. It was after 7 o'clock when the fire was under control, and all that was left of the mill was a pile of debris. The only person in the mill at the time of the fire was the engineer. He got there ten minutes before the fire was discovered. He told the police that when he entered the premises he remained on the ground floor, and that there was nothing to indicate a fire in the building. The company placed its loss on stock and machinery at $20,000, and Mrs. Weiskittel's loss on the building is estimated at $10,000.

Local Business Troubles.

Frank Pollatschek, dealer in jewelry and European premium bonds, who lives at 223 East Seventy-first street, yesterday confessed judgments for $19,393 to the following: Sigmund B. Steinman, $6,523; Max Pollatschek, $6,384; Morris Pollatschek, $3,672; Theresa Steinman, $2,814, all for borrowed money during the past five years. Executions were issued, and the Sheriff levied upon Pollatschek's stock.

George D. Beattys has been appointed receiver in supplementary proceedings for Patrick H. McCann, who has carried on the Hotel Lincoln at Broadway and Fifty-second street for the past five years, on the application of Richard Vom Hofe, who obtained two judgments against him in November, 1894, for $645. Hays & Greenbaum, attorneys for Mr. McCann, said that all but about $100 had been paid on the judgments; that Mr. McCann could not meet the last installment on account of dull business, and a receiver was applied for by the creditor. Mr. McCann is a brother-in-law of Richard Croker.

Deputy Sheriff Mulvaney yesterday received an attachment for $4,000 against Isaac B. Noxon, cashier of the First National Bank of Sing Sing, who disappeared last month, in favor of James P. Blandford of Sing Sing for the amount due on a note of Mr. Noxon's. The latter is supposed to have some stock in the Carbon Steel Company of this city and Pittsburgh, and the attachment was served on the Treasurer of the company to attach Mr. Noxon's interest in the stock.

Schedules of Durland's Riding Academy Company at Fifty-ninth street and the Grand Circle show actual liabilities, $94,871; nominal assets, $7,888; actual assets, $4,508. The assets consist entirely of accounts due from about 250 persons.

Final Efforts to Save Holmes's Life.

PHILADELPHIA, April 22.—Lawyer Samuel P. Rotan, who defended H. H. Holmes, the murderer of Benjamin Pietzel, to-day admitted that he and Attorney McCaffrey of this city had telegraphed Coroner Caster of Indianapolis to come to Philadelphia. An effort is to be made to have Holmes's death sentence commuted to imprisonment for life. The Board of Pardons will meet on Tuesday at Harrisburg, and the rules require that an application for a hearing must be made two weeks previous to the first Tuesday in the month and be duly advertised. Assistant District Attorney Barlow read of the proposed visit of Coroner Caster with surprise. "Whatever the game is," he said, "it is to late. I do not anticipate any further bother about Holmes."

GIRL ENTICED FROM HER HOME.

Kept a Prisoner in Naugatuck for Three Months—Accuses a Fruit Dealer.

Herman Folk, a fruit dealer, of 87 Seigel street, Brooklyn, was charged in the Essex Market Court yesterday with enticing 17-year-old Maggie Goldman from her home at 17 Clinton street three months ago and keeping her a prisoner in Naugatuck, Conn., where she was subjected to abuse. According to the story of the girl, she is not the only victim of Folk, who, she says, receives $25 for every girl he lures away from New York to a resort located in Naugatuck. The girl went three months ago to the employment office of Max Singer, at 192 Stanton street, and asked for a situation as a house servant. She says that Singer sent her to the house of Mrs. Solomon, at 132 Eldridge street, but, on ascertaining that there had been some charges made against the house, the parents of the girl got her to leave there.

She went back to Singer some days later, and he introduced her to Folk, who said that he had a country residence in Connecticut and wanted a girl to take care of his children. She accompanied him to Naugatuck, where she was introduced to Mrs. Jacquin, keeper of a boarding house located on Water street. Here, she declares, she was stripped of her clothing and was compelled to submit to abusive treatment. She says that for some time she did not realize the character of the place, but it suddenly dawned on her and she made several attempts to escape. She was prevented by several men, who kept constant watch over her.

During all this time she was unable to communicate with her parents. She says that Folk made periodical visits to the house and assaulted her.

On Tuesday she cried and begged to be allowed to see her father and mother. Mrs. Jacquin said: "Why, I didn't know that you had any parents. I thought you were an orphan. I don't want any girls here who have parents living because it might make trouble for me. Here is your fare to New York. Go home to your parents."

For a Market Near Hester Street.

The Board of Aldermen yesterday referred to their Finance Committee two requests from the Park Department for permission to let out two lots of work without public bidding, one amounting to $120,000 for changes and repairs on the first section of the Harlem Driveway, and the other amounting to $100,000 for changes and repairs on the second section.

The Committee on Markets reported favorably on the Adler Assembly bill creating a public market and children's playground near Hester street. The Board passed a resolution urging the Legislature to pass this bill. Alderman Noonan offered a resolution requesting the Sinking Fund Commission to provide quarters for the Volunteer Firemen's Association. The resolution was passed.

MISS CONOVER GOT SLEEPY.

Got a Friend to Boost Her Through a Window and Went to Bed.

BELLEVILLE, April 22.—Nettie Conover, who lives on the Hudson county side of the Passaic River, visited this town yesterday. She drank a good deal, and afterward she met a young man of her acquaintance. The couple halted in front of the residence of Mrs. Andrew Garrison, in William street, and the woman insisted upon going into the house, although she was entirely unacquainted with the inmates. She persuaded her companion to boost her through a front window.

Then, without arousing any of the inmates, she made her way up stairs and into a spare bedroom. She threw herself upon the bed without removing her street apparel.

The pounding of her companion on the front door aroused Mrs. Garrison and her daughter, and when they learned the state of affairs they insisted upon the unwelcome visitor getting out. But Miss Nettie was deaf to the calls of her companion or to the indignant orders of the Garrison family, and she stubbornly refused to budge from the bed. Finally Justice La Faucherie and Constable Deighan were sent for, and the woman was dragged from the bed and locked up.
