

Bryan the Man

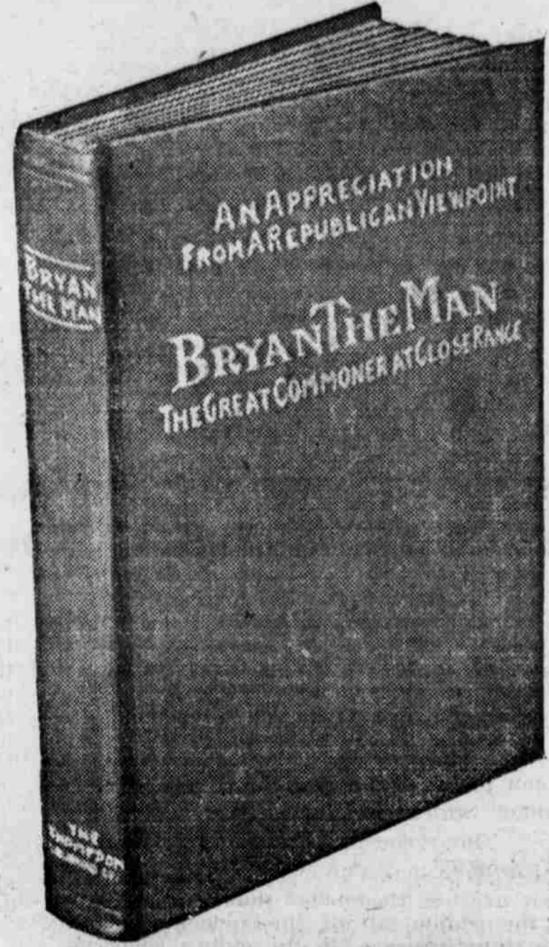

By A. W. GALE and GEORGE W. KLINE

An appreciation from a republican viewpoint, written by two members of an opposite political party. An intimate and impartial review of the personal side of his life and a history of his public career. The subject matter is presented in attractive narrative style, gathered from actual incidents, in his home and city, in his public life, political campaigns and world tour. Following is a list of subjects and chapters: Introduction; Bryan the Man; A Bryan Biography; Campaigns of 1896, 1900, 1904 and 1908; The Bryans in the Old World; The Home Coming; The Bryan Farm; Home Life of the Bryans; Bryan as an Editor; Bryan as a Humorist; Bryan as a Soldier; Bryan as a Lecturer; Bryan in the Pulpit; Bryan's Friends; Incidents of Bryan's Career.

A few years ago a little volume entitled "Letters from a Chinese Official, being an eastern view of western civilization," was published by an eastern publishing house, and enjoyed a large sale. This clever book was a severe arraignment of the religion, standards and purposes of our race. Mr. Bryan, during his tour around the world, took occasion to answer the arguments put forth by this writer, and takes the book up chapter by chapter, and combats the author's argument in a complete manner. The reply of Mr. Bryan is a superb vindication of western civilization and ideals.

This handsome little volume is neatly printed on fine book paper, substantially bound, and contains 97 pages. Sent to any address in the United States postpaid, on receipt of price, 55c, or given FREE to anyone sending two yearly subscriptions to The Commoner at $1 each. Address all orders to The Commoner, Lincoln, Neb.
