AT THE SEATTLE EXPOSITION

Seattle, July 17.—One of the most interesting exhibits to be found at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition is in the fisheries building and is the collection of fishes imported from the Hawaiian islands. There are no less than one hundred of these finny specimens of almost every conceivable size, shape, form and color imaginable. Some are black and yellow, others a pale green while some are tri-colored with specks and stripes resembling an American flag.

Their tints are as gorgeous as the rainbow and as radiant as a butterfly. Their shapes are odd in the extreme. Some have the head of an ant-eater, others are more than half head with eyes in the top of the back. One particular variety have more the appearance of butterflies than fish and move about as gracefully as a sunbeam upon a wave. This is the first importation of live fish ever taken from the Hawaiian islands and their unique appearance causes thousands of visitors to linger about the aquariums looking upon their pristine beauty in wonder and amazement.

That an exposition can be conducted on "dry" principles and at the same time conducted advantageously, is thoroughly demonstrated by the receipts and attendance of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition.

The grounds and buildings are well officered by an efficient police force, but their duties are confined chiefly to directing visitors about the grounds and supplying desired information. With the immense crowds drawn by special day attractions, there has been no scenes of disorderliness or brawling, and an arrest is practically unknown. In no way has the absence of liquor interfered with the regular business of the Pay Streak, and the concessionaries operating the best attractions speak of the orderliness of the crowds attending the various shows.

The convenience with which the entire exposition is arranged, finds great favor with visitors, and the ease with which all points of interest are reached is particularly commendable. Trans-continental travel is taxing the capacity of the several railways, and the city is thronged with a constant changing stream of visitors.

Benjamin Franklin's cane, which he presented to General LaFayette as a token of friendship, is one of the historical exhibits in the Pennsylvania booth at the Seattle world's fair.

A Tacoma policeman had his badge and money stolen from him while viewing the exhibits in the main government building at the Seattle world's fair. This is the only case where the "light fingered gentry" have plied their trade on the grounds of the exposition, which is a remarkable record for a big fair.

That beauty has curative powers can not be denied after reading this testimonial. Judge Silas B. Spier of Mt. Clemens, Mich., suffered a severe sprain of his ankle in a runaway accident in Portland, Ore. The next day he arrived in Seattle and paid a visit to the most beautiful exposition and is authority for the statement that he was so enraptured by the beauty of the fair that he walked around all day on his injured ankle and at night felt no ill effects.

Owing to the success of the Pay Streak attractions at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition six new "laugh houses" are being erected.

A cone of apples twenty-seven feet high and ten feet at the base stands in the center of the Oregon building at the Seattle world's fair. About the base of it is grouped the horticultural exhibit, the whole making a most pleasing display.

The method of harpooning seal by the Eskimo is graphically illustrated in a large pond in the Eskimo village at the Seattle world's fair. There are a number of live seal swimming about, but the harpooning is done on a "dummy."

Some $1,200,000 is shown in the gold booth at the Seattle world's fair, consisting of bricks, nuggets, and dust. The bricks were all made in the treasury department exhibit in the main government building.

Dizzy Spells

That dizzy spell is an important message from the heart—a plea for help. If this message receives no attention others come: Shortness of breath, palpitation, weak or fainting spells, smothering or choking sensations, pains around the heart, in side or shoulders, and so on, until it receives the necessary help, or is compelled to give up—stop.

You may furnish this aid with Dr. Miles' Heart Cure which cures heart disease in every stage.

Every day we read of sudden deaths from heart disease, yet it is a fact that the heart had been pleading for help, and gave up the struggle only when it had exhausted the last spark of vitality—and they call it sudden.

"For more than six years I was troubled with my heart. I would have dizzy spells, then difficulty in breathing, choking sensations, my heart would flutter, become painful. I could not breathe lying down. I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and in a few weeks I was entirely cured."

—MINNIE E. JOHNSON, Olivia, Minn. The first bottle will benefit, if not, the druggist will return your money.

Subscribers' Advertising Dept.

A great many of our subscribers have been quick to realize the handsome profit they can make by advertising in our Little Advertisement Department. We started this department of little advertisements expressly for our subscribers, so they could advertise at the very low price of 6 cents per word, their farms, homes, lands, surplus live stock, poultry, eggs, bees, birds, pet stock, seeds, plants, nursery stock, produce, implements they had outgrown but which were still useful, etc. It didn't take our big army of subscribers long to find out that it pays to advertise in The Commoner's Subscribers Advertising Department. The rate of six cents per word is relatively much smaller than the cent a word rate charged by papers of 1,000 circulation. The Commoner has a guaranteed circulation of 145,000, so the actual cost to you is about 1 cent per word for 24,000 circulation. Some of our subscribers now, not only advertise their miscellaneous wants, but have built up a regular mail order business from these small advertisements, and raise stock, etc., on purpose for their customers secured by advertising. A good many sell goods and articles of their own make, or act as agents for manufacturers.

You can make money and build up a nice little business of your own by using this department to place your proposition before The Commoner's big army of readers. If you have anything to buy or sell it will pay you to use this department at all times.
