BEATEN BY PITTSBURGH.

THE SMOKY CITY TEAM BUNCHES ITS HITS IN THE FIRST INNING.

Boston Loses to Chicago and Drops Back to Third Place—Philadelphia and Cincinnati Win by the Same Score—St. Louis Drops a Game to the Baltimores.

The New Yorks moved on to Pittsburgh yesterday and dropped the first game of the series to the Smoky City aggregation. With the exception of one inning, Dad Clarke was troublesome, but the two runs scored by the home team in the first inning proved too big a lead for the New Yorks to overcome, and virtually won the game for the Pirates. Anson's Colts outplayed the Bostons at every point of the game played at Chicago. This defeat sent the Bostons back to third place. The Clevelands went down before the Philadelphias, and the Cincinnatis beat the Washingtons. St. Louis gave the Orioles a severe tussle, but was finally defeated. Although the Brooklyns did not play, Foutz's men went up one notch. The results:

Pittsburgh, 4; New York, 2.
Chicago, 4; Boston, 3.
Philadelphia, 10; Cleveland, 2.
Cincinnati, 10; Washington, 2.
Baltimore, 4; St. Louis, 2.

PITTSBURGH, 4; NEW YORK, 2.

PITTSBURGH, May 11.—Pittsburgh won the first game of the series from Freedman's club at Exposition Park this afternoon. While both teams made errors, there were many good plays on both sides. Pittsburgh scored two earned runs in the first inning, and at no time thereafter had the visitors much of a chance of gaining a lead. In the eighth inning the visitors made two singles when there was only one man out. Capt. Gleason was the next up. He yelled over to Connie Mack, who was on the bench, to watch him score the two men. The "Kid" was sorry he spoke afterward, for Sugden saw George Davis off the third bag and threw to Lyons, who put the ball on Davis before he could get back to the base. Gleason then hit to centre, and Stenzel gobbled the fly. In the second inning it looked like the visitors might pile up a few runs. There was one man out. Ely fumbled an easy grounder and allowed Gleason to reach first base. Stafford hit the ball to centre, and Stenzel allowed it to drop out of his hands. Sharp playing by the infield, however, prevented any run-getting.

These were the only two stages in the game that the New Yorks had any show to do much harm. Killen was in splendid form and he sailed the ball over the plate with great precision and rapidity. But for his own wild throw to Beckley in the fourth inning the score would have only been one run for New York. Killen was not only in great form, but he was in excellent humor. He only smiled when Ely and Stenzel made their errors in the second inning. In the sixth inning George Davis reached first on a life. Tiernan hit to the infield, but was forced on Gleason's life. Stafford hit a hot one down toward Lyons, who tried to stop it, but the ball rolled out toward centre field, G. Davis scoring. Capt. Gleason also tried to score on the hit, but was thrown out, Bierbauer to Sugden, which was a clever play. This ended the run-getting for the visitors.

Dad Clark was easy for Mack's men. In the first inning Donovan hit the first ball pitched for a two-bagger, and Elmer Smith singled, the ball bounding over Gleason's head, Donovan scoring. Elmer stole second, but was thrown out at third on Stenzel's life. Denny Lyons then caught Dad for a double, scoring Smith. Pittsburgh scored another run in the fourth on Sugden's single, Killen's life, and Gleason's fumble, which allowed Joe to cross the plate. Killen scored the fourth and last run for his team in the sixth inning on his own single and hits by Donovan and Smith. In this inning Capt. Gleason made a remarkable one-hand catch of a hot liner from Beckley's bat. The "Kid" had to jump about three or four feet in the air, but managed to get the ball and retired the side, saving Dad from having two more runs scored up against him. Fast playing by both sides several times prevented runs from being scored. The score:

CHICAGO, May 11.—Harrington's home run over left field fence tied the score in the ninth inning to-day after a game that was replete with fine fielding. In the last half of the ninth inning, however, Harrington's wild throw to first, after two men had been retired, gave a chance to Everett and Dahlen rapped out a double to centre and the game was won. Manager Arthur Irwin was in this city yesterday. He left for Pittsburgh last night accompanied by Seymour, who may get a chance to pitch before the New York players return home. Irwin said there was a marked improvement in the work of the New York players in the Louisville and St. Louis games and he expects the club to move up in the race from now on. "We are scoring more runs than any of the other clubs," added Irwin, "and runs, you know, win games. Fuller's arm troubled him, but he is now getting along nicely. Von der Ahe has no claim on Pitcher Campbell. The St. Louis Club's December offered $500 and two pitchers to the Dallas Club for Campbell last March, but the offer was refused. Campbell was released by Dallas, the release reading, 'We release you because your heart is not in your work.' He came to St. Louis last week and was willing to sign a St. Louis contract, but Von der Ahe said he would have to pitch a game against the New Yorks, and, if he made a good showing, would then sign him. Campbell refused to pitch without first being signed, and came to me when he could not come to an agreement with Von der Ahe."

Another candidate for honors in the championships at Shinnecock Hills in July has arrived from Scotland. He is R. B. Wilson, who learned his trade as a club maker with Tom Morris at St. Andrews from 1886 to 1889. In that year he accepted an engagement as a professional at the Minchinhampton Golf Club, Gloucestershire, and after serving in succeeding years at the Sheffield and District Golf Club, Ranelegh Golf Club, Wildernesse Golf Club, and the Beckenham Golf Club, in 1894 Wilson started a club-making shop at St. Andrews which he still retains an interest in. He is a player of some repute. In 1894, with Douglas Rolland, he won a foursome from Jack White and Hugh Kirkaldy at the Frith Park Golf Club by two up and one to play. With Andrew Kirkaldy Wilson also won a foursome for a stake at St. Andrews from Bob Martin and David Leach, winning by three up and two to play. He has to his individual credit a notable win in a St. Andrews prize tournament in 1894, when Wilson made the eighteen holes in seventy-eight strokes, and captured first money from a large field of professionals. Wilson intends to stay in this country, and is negotiating with the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club, Philadelphia Country Club, and the Country Club of Westchester.

Larned Leaves for England To-morrow—Talk of Pim Coming Here Again.

Larned has positively decided to take part in a tennis campaign on English courts. He will sail on the Germanic on Wednesday. He was troubled somewhat last week by an abscess on the side of his face, but is practically well now. He has had quite a little practice with Richard Stevens on the St. George Cricket Club courts at Hoboken. If the voyage and the foreign climate do not upset him, Larned should be a dangerous man against the best of the British players, if any reliance can be placed on his practice last week. According to Stevens, he showed better form than at any time last season. He has been playing hockey and riding a bicycle for several months, and is in excellent physical condition. Larned will make his first appearance abroad in the Irish championship meeting at Dublin May 25. Dr. Joshua Pim, who played here last spring at West Newton, holds the honors in this event. The Fitzwilliam courts are his strongholds, so it is very doubtful if Larned will win the Irish title, but he will continue playing in all of the other large meetings up to the all-England championship at Wimbledon, which is scheduled for July 13.

A Chicago correspondent writes to the effect that Dr. Pim will be here again this spring to play at West Newton. Harry Ayer, who managed last season's international tourney, has been in correspondence with many of the Irish players, and an effort is being made to bring over two or three of them for this year's tournament at West Newton. Ayer says that if the foreigners could be induced to play at the Neighborhood Club again this spring no t
