THREE HITS OFF FOREMAN.

NEW YORKS COMPLETELY PUZZLED BY THE LITTLE LEFT-HANDER.

Brooklyns Once More Cut the Feathers of the Clevelands—Cincinnati Badly Thrashed at Boston—Baltimores Resume the Lead by Outplaying the Chicagos.

The New Yorks were beaten again by the Pittsburghs yesterday because they couldn't hit the ball safely. The victory gave seventh place to the Pittsburghs, with a margin of one point over the Brooklyns, even though the latter administered another setback to the Clevelands. Tebeau's men lost first place to the Baltimores, who easily outplayed the Chicagos. The Philadelphias secured a hold on third place by trouncing the Louisvilles, and the Bostons, by burying the Cincinnatis, took fourth position. Washington won from St. Louis again in easy fashion. The results:

Pittsburgh, 6; New York, 3.
Brooklyn, 4; Cleveland, 3.
Boston, 13; Cincinnati, 3.
Baltimore, 9; Chicago, 1.
Washington, 12; St. Louis, 6.
Philadelphia, 9; Louisville, 3.

PITTSBURGH 6; NEW YORK, 3.

Three safe hits, two of which were made in the second inning, was the extent of the New Yorks' stick work yesterday. Little Johnny Foreman, the boy wonder, pitched superb ball all the way through and almost broke the backs of some of the locals who reached for his left-handed curves in vain. He gave six bases on balls and hit one batsman, but his wildness was not very fatal, except that it cut quite a figure in the only runs tallied by Irwin's players. The Pittsburghs played swift ball behind him, four dazzling double plays being put down to their credit. Ely, Bierbauer, Beckley, Jud Smith, and Stenzel figured in them and made other star plays besides.

Meekin was hit much harder than the score shows. But he had fine support, especially from Gleason, Clark, and Farrell, and though fourteen heavy drives were picked off his fast curves only six runs were chalked up, five of which were earned. On six different occasions the first New York player up reached his base in safety, but his comrades were utterly unable to get him around to the rubber. It wasn't weak batting, but Foreman's splendid twirling that was responsible for such disheartening circumstances. Umpire Campbell's decisions gave general satisfaction, although the visitors indulged in considerable needless kicking.

Both teams were blanked in the first inning, although each got a man to first. Irwin's men broke the ice in the second with three runs. Connaughton and Clark waited for called balls successfully, and Harry Davis lined a base hit to right, on which "Conny" scored. Farrell's first-class sacrifice moved the runners along, and both tallied on Meekin's two-bagger to left centre.

The visitors fathomed Meekin's fast delivery for four runs in the fourth, and took the lead. Donovan was hit by pitched ball, and Beckley made clean base hits, the first-named player counting; J. Smith sacrificed, and Sugden sent in Louis and Jacob with a single to left. Foreman received a base on balls, Elmer Smith fouled to Farrell, and Ely drove a safe one to right on which "Brownie" came in. Then Stenzel forced Ely, and the score was 4 to 3.

Although Meekin struck out both Stenzel and Donovan in the seventh, the Pittsburghs hung up two earned runs. Bierbauer and Beckley making singles and scoring on Jud Smith's two-bagger to left. The score:

BROOKLYN, 4; CLEVELAND, 3.

Occasionally it happens that a luckless player is fined by his manager for making a wild throw, but such a thing as having the management of another club "dock" a man never occurred until yesterday, when President Byrne of the Brooklyn Club mulcted Left Fielder Burkett, and as Jesse is not likely to be of the same mind as Mr. Byrne, and might refuse to pay, the fine was deducted from the share of the receipts due to the Clevelands. It was a wild throw the ball just where he intended to. It happened this way: With the score a tie the Brooklyns went to the bat in the ninth inning determined to score the winning run. Shindle opened with a pretty single to centre. After McCarthy had struck out, Shoch was presented with a base by young Wallace. The shouting of the occupants in the bleachers unnerved Cleveland's twirler to such an extent that he pitched a wild ball, which allowed the men to move up one base. Grim was implored to hit the ball out of the lot. A wabbly ball that looked as big as a house came sailing toward the plate. There was a sharp crack as Grim's bat met the ball, which shot past McGarr. Burkett came running in, expecting to cut off the run at the plate, but when he picked up the ball he saw that the game was already lost, and turning threw the ball over the left-field fence. For this act Burkett was fined the price of the ball, namely, $1.25. The score:

Baseball Notes.

The New York-Pittsburgh game this afternoon will begin at 4:15.

Dohesy will be able to pitch in Boston Monday, so Manager Irwin says.

Dad Clarke and Pink Hawley will the pitchers at the Polo grounds to-day.

L. W. Dorr, Burkett of the Clevelands was a pitcher on the New York team in 1890.

Meekin split a finger in yesterday's game; may not be able to pitch again for a week or ten days.

Mr. Freedman declares that he would not think of signing Rusie unless that player accepted the original terms of the New York Club.

George Mahoney, the noted Georgetown pitcher, and Priest, who pitched two seasons for the Orange A. C., have joined the Corning team.

J. H. L. The batsman is out even if he does not run on his third strike. The men on the bases are all forced when the batsman hits the ball, whether he runs to first or not.

Princeton and Yale will play their fourth game of the college series at Manhattan Field this afternoon; play to be called at 2:30 sharp. The Princeton players were practising on the field yesterday.

Manager Irwin has decided to lay off Harry Davis, and Tommy Bannon will play left field, beginning to-day. Bannon has been playing great ball with the Metropolitans this season, and leads the Atlantic League in batting.

Cincinnati, June 12.—Cincinnati's members of the reserve rule have been continuous over the woes of the crippled Reds in the East, and the team will receive a remarkable welcome home on Monday morning. The First Regiment band, a tally-ho coach and carriages have been engaged for a parade around town. Chief Deitsch has not only subscribed to the fund, but has detailed a squad of police to act as escorts. The subscription lists, which are perfect by the words, "Wheranks subscribe, &c.," contain hundreds of autographs, including those of Mayor Caldwell, Judge Ferris, and Joel Stone.

[illegible] in The Sun—Sir: In yesterday's issue of The Sun it was stated that the Recreation B. B. C. would meet the Cuban X Giants at Recreation Park on Sunday. Permit me to correct that misstatement, as it is not the Recreation B. B. C. but the Sidney A. C. team, that will play Oakley Street, the manager of the latter nine, having applied in the name of Recreation B. B. C. for the same Sunday dates, an action which has caused me to bring legal proceedings against him. There is only one genuine Recreation B. B. WINGED FOOT A FLYER.

M'CAFFERTY'S FILLY WINS THE CLOVER STAKES HANDILY.

The Favorite, Lady Louise, Was Never Dangerous—Shakespeare II. Wins Another Good Race—Eldolon, Glenmoyne, and Zanone Were the Other Winners.

John J. McCafferty's beautiful filly, Winged Foot, won the Clover Stakes with the greatest ease at Gravesend yesterday, defeating Golden Dream, Cockernony, Divide, Euphemia L., Lady Louise, and Fair Recluse, and running the four and a half furlongs in the fast time of 55½ seconds. The balance of the racing was extremely interesting, the fourth race, in which Shakespeare II. beat Patrician, being one of the best contests of the week. The track was fast and the weather perfection.

The Fleischmann candidate, Lady Louise, was favorite for the Clover Stakes, with Winged Foot second choice, and Golden Dream, who carried a five-pound penalty, next in favor, the outsider being Fair Recluse at odds of 20 to 1. Those who saw Winged Foot race for the Amazon Stakes, when, after getting away poorly, she was in a pocket all through the last sixteenth of a mile, put their knowledge to good profit yesterday, for on that race Golden Dream could not give her five pounds nor even three pounds and a beating, and as a consequence as much money went on McCafferty's handsome daughter of Buchanan as on any other horse in the race. Mr. Flynn threw his flag with the field well bunched, Golden Dream was the first to show, but Winged Foot shot past her with a dazzling burst of speed, and was two lengths to the good at the turn. Divide, Lady Louise, and Fair Recluse appeared to be slow getting into their stride, and were practically out of the race at the end of the first furlong. The race was an easy one for Winged Foot, McCafferty never moving his hands, and he was looking over his shoulder at the others when the filly passed the wire, three lengths in front of Golden Dream, who beat Cockernony as far for second money. Divide was fourth, Euphemia L. fifth, and Lady Louise sixth, Doggett pulling the favorite up when he saw that he was beaten. The race was worth $1,500 to the winner.

Eldolon was favorite for the opening race, a dash at five furlongs, for two-year-olds. There were ten starters, and, outside of the favorite, Nina Louise and Full Speed carried the bulk of the money. The start made by machine was a very pretty one. Full Speed went to the front with the others in a compact bunch at his heels. Eldolon and Nina Louise left the ruck at the head of the stretch and quickly settled Full Speed. Nina Louise followed, a hundred yards from the wire, and Eldolon won rather cleverly. Full Speed was beaten two lengths for second money. Second Chance, Grey Bird, and Her Own followed, noses apart. Taral said after the race that Full Speed seemed to be running easily at the head of the stretch.

Goldman and Taral were the almost equal favorites for the high-weight handicap at a mile, Gotham was full of running until he was collared in the stretch by Glenmoyne. He then promptly gave it up, and the gelding romped home, the handiest of winners, in the fast time of 1:42⅘. Inquiriendo came through in the stretch and secured second money very easily. Gotham was third and Lancer fourth. Eclipse, the only other starter, walking on the lower turn and being beaten a sixteenth of a mile. Inquiriendo changed hands before the race, and is now owned by Gibbons & Co. He was lame both before and after the race. This would be a fair race horse but for an enormous knee, which is the seat of his lameness. Glenmoyne raced as a good one, as he carried 126 pounds and won hands down. The stewards decided not to accept the entry of the horse Eclipse any longer.

The fourth race was the prettiest of the day. The three-year-old Shakespeare II. was conceding a lot of weight to Patrician, Emma C., and Dutch Skater, but the talent have the best kind of an opinion of the son of Pierlipe, and they made him favorite at 8 to 5. It was 2¾ to 1 Emma C., 3 to 1 Patrician, and 4½ to 1 Dutch Skater. Dutch Skater made the running for a very slow pace until after the half-mile pole had been passed. Then Emma C. joined Dutch Skater, and Doggett, who had been training with Patrician, moved up to Shakespeare's flanks. Doggett hoped that the latter had enough to let him come through, but as Taral challenged on the outside with Shakespeare II., Dutch Skater and Emma C. closed up, and Patrician was in a pocket. It was a case of pull up and come around, and Patrician, good as he is, could not do it, for the instant Taral called on Shakespeare II. the colt held his own, and in a superb finish won by nearly a length. Patrician was the same distance before Dutch Skater, who beat Emma C. a head for third money. The race was run exactly as the betters at Shakespeare II. and Patrician would have had it, and it was a pity for racing that Lakeland did not have Emma
