MONDAY, July 13.

On a very moderate volume of trading, prices on the Stock Exchange declined steadily from start to finish, and final figures were, in the main, materially below those of Saturday. The limited and almost entirely professional speculation was influenced by a number of causes. Chief among them were the absence of the local demand for stocks that was the feature of Saturday's market and the failure of London operators to resume their purchases. As a matter of fact, foreign arbitrage houses that bought a few stocks here on Saturday, with the view of disposing of them to advantage in London this morning, were compelled to throw them over here at the best prices obtainable. The apathy of London may have been due in part to the fortnightly settlement which began to-day, and which will not be concluded until Wednesday. It is possible, too, that the tone of the principal weekly financial papers issued in London on Saturday has influenced the sentiment of foreign operators regarding American railway securities. Cable advices are that the details of the settlement indicate no extensive long account in American shares, and that the rates for carrying them through the new account are 2¾% ¥ cent.

After the professional element had begun to sell stocks, and prices had declined, the speculative community began to attach importance to the possibility that a third ticket may be put in the field by the sound-money Democrats. A higher market for sterling exchange and the withdrawal from the Sub-Treasury of $375,000 gold for export to-morrow, and $75,000 by a firm of bullion brokers, were not without effect upon Stock Exchange sentiment. The withdrawals of gold from the Treasury to-day reduce its net gold balance to about $98,500,000; though the official figures, which are as a rule about twenty-four hours behind the actual transaction, show a larger balance. The exports of specie to-morrow will include $300,000 withdrawn from the Sub-Treasury last week, but not shipped on Saturday. Interior banks continue to make moderate demands upon their correspondents here for gold, but are, as a rule, referred to bullion brokers. Requests for currency are, of course, honored in the usual way.

The noteworthy dealings in stocks were in Sugar Refining, which supplied nearly one-fourth of the total transactions, and sustained a net loss of 2⅜ ¥ cent., and in St. Paul, which closed 1⅜ ¥ cent. lower than on Saturday. On much smaller transactions than those recorded for the last named, C., B. and Quincy, Chicago Gas, Rock Island, United States Leather preferred, Manhattan Railway, and Louisville and Nashville sustained net losses averaging more than 1½ ¥ cent. The usually less active stocks suffered similarly, though a few exceptions must be noted, namely, Hocking Valley, Laclede Gas, C., C., C. and St. Louis, and Chesapeake and Ohio. In none of these stocks, however, did the dealings exceed 1,000 shares. The closing was dull and heavy at about the lowest prices.

Meridian, Miss., July 6.—"Fields have been kept thoroughly clean. Now think crop fully three weeks earlier than last year. Plant is very strong, fruiting beautifully and showing many grown bolls. Look for considerable open cotton in July. Expect picking will begin last week in July. Labor is plentiful. It is well to remember that July and August are critical months for fruiting. Shall need showers about every ten days. Excessive rainfall or drought would curtail the magnificent prospects, but at present the prospects are brilliant." Charlotte, N. C., July 8.—"Rain more or less every day for two weeks. Had heavy rains since the 5th. Streams are swollen and rivers overflow their banks. Plant sappy and growing very fast. Position critical at present. This wet spell will delay early maturing and early picking." The future trading was as follows:

TO-DAY'S FEATURES—Liverpool declined sharply to-day and prices here weakened in sympathy. Good general rains were reported in the Gulf States during the forty-eight hours ended 8 o'clock this morning, especially in Texas, where most needed, the rainfall in that state alone in two days aggregating 2.68 inches. Stop orders were reached, Liverpool was less active, and the decline in principal cotton markets in this country contributed to the depression. The principal factor in the speculation was the breaking of the drought in Texas.

COFFEE FUTURES—Declined 5 to 10 points, closing barely steady, with sales of 6,000 bags. There was a holiday in Havre. Hamburg advanced ⅛ to ⅛ pfg. American visible supply of Brazil, 375,808 bags. American warehouse deliveries last week, 47,370 bags. The receipts are considered liberal, but the smallness of the visible supply of Brazil in this country prevents bear sales. The decline this afternoon was due to selling against accepted firm offers. Rio was steady at unchanged prices, receipts, 11,000; stock, 136,000; the exchange, 9¾d. Santos firm and unchanged; receipts, 12,000; stock, 136,000. Rio on the spot was easier; No. 7, 12½c. Sales, 1,000 bags No. 7 at 12½c., and 2,000 bags Rio at 11⅞c., cost and freight. TO-DAY'S FEATURES—Wheat advanced early in the day, influenced by better cables small Indian shipments, a decrease in the quantity on passage, and an expectation that the world's shipments for the week would show a falling off of about two million bushels. Liverpool advanced ¼d. on spring and Analysts were steady; there was a holiday in Paris. The Indian shipments for the week were only 80,000 bush., against 312,000 in the previous week, and the world's shipments 4,887,000 bush., against 7,255,000 in the previous week. The quantity on passage decreased 2,240,000 bush. The English visible supply decreased 925,000 bush. But before the close there was considerable selling induced by the disappointing visible supply statement, which, instead of showing a decrease for the week, reported an increase of 21,000 bush. The clearances of wheat and flour from New York last week were 827,100 bush. Corn advanced. The receipts were smaller than had been expected and the weather in the corn belt, it is claimed, is too hot. Chicago received 368 cars and expects 510 to-morrow. The visible supply increased 88,000 bush. Oats were higher. The visible supply decreased 320,000 bush. Nebraska and Iowa report damage by rust. Shorts covered at Chicago. Chicago received 171 cars and expects 205 to-morrow. Chicago, July 14.—"The leading feature in wheat early was the very light shipments from the Baltic, Black Sea, and Danubian ports, which amounted to only about 2,700,000 bush., making the world's wheat shipments to Europe for the past week only about 5,000,000 bush., or 2,000,000 under the theoretical requirements. These show considerable falling off both from a week ago and last year. We notice that stocks of wheat now at the Black Sea and Danubian ports are only about 5,000,000 bush., while those at Continental ports are only about 1,000,000 bush. The amount on passage decreased 2,000,000 bush. as a result of the light exports from foreign ports. Should the shipments continue on a light scale it undoubtedly will eventually prove a very bullish factor, as it will mean large exports from this country. The bearish factor was the large local receipts, 490 cars, and the big estimated receipts for to-morrow, 410 cars. This and the decline in Wall Street stocks brought out free selling, and the increase of 21,000 bush. in the visible supply, against a decrease of 9,100,000 bush. last year, helped the decline, prices breaking over a cent in bush. from the high point recorded early. There was a small decrease of 257,000 in the English visible. There was free buying of corn and oats by shorts, anticipating September corn advancing quickly to 28c. ¥ bush., and September oats to 16½c. The reduction in Eastern freights seemed to be the potent factor. Traders were watching the weather closely. It is said corn is in need of moisture through Iowa, Nebraska, and Illinois; this may prove a factor in the near future."
