ADVANCE OF POST OFFICES.

FIGURES UNPRECEDENTED IN THE DEPARTMENT'S HISTORY.

Phenomenal Growth of the Receipts in the Free Delivery Service—$1,182,000 Wanted for the Carrier Service—New Letter Box Posts Needed in New York.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—First Assistant Postmaster-General Heath in his annual report calls attention to the unprecedented growth of that portion of the postal service falling within his jurisdiction. These include the division of salaries and allowances, controlling the salaries of postmasters, the pay of Post Office clerks and the general interior expenses of operating the Post Offices and the division of free delivery, controlling the exterior expenses.

During the last fiscal year 215 fourth-class Post Offices were advanced to the third class, 91 third-class Post Offices were advanced to the second class and 17 second-class Post Offices were advanced to the first class—figures unprecedented in the history of the department. All of the present indications, says Mr. Heath, show that the general business of the country will steadily improve, and as the next readjustment will not be had until March 31, 1900, he considers it impracticable to estimate now, even approximately, the amount required for the payment of postmasters' salaries during the fiscal year 1901. He recommends a separate appropriation of $1,420,000 for salaries of first and second class assistant postmasters, and the enactment of a law fixing their annual stipends at 50 per cent. of those received by the postmasters.

Probably no Post Office legislation, he says, has given such an impetus to the discipline of the force inside of Post Offices as that of the last Congress increasing the salaries of the clerks. This was only one step in the right direction, and he renews his former recommendation for the reclassification of clerks in first and second class offices.

The department, he says, has been hampered in its plans of consolidating post offices by the so-called Gorman Act, forbidding the abolition of a Post Office at a county seat. Mr. Heath cites the case of Greater New York where, but for this law, free delivery might be extended over territory not now favored. He recommends the repeal of the law on the grounds of economy and for the improvement of the service.

Attention is called to the phenomenal growth of the receipts in the free delivery service during the last year, they being 21.64 per cent. greater than any twelve months since free delivery was established in 1863, while the cost of maintenance has increased but 4 per cent. On July 1, 735 cities were enjoying free delivery, 14,000 uniformed carriers being employed in serving 30,000,000 patrons. In recommending an increased appropriation of $1,182,000 for the carrier service, the report points as a contrast the increase of $12,279,011 in last year's gross receipts, asserting that the appropriations have not kept pace with the increase of business, but have steadily fallen behind.

In his estimates for incidental expenses, Mr. Heath mentions the extraordinary and now pressing need which the department will soon be required to meet in New York City. For a number of years the Board of Public Works of New York had urged the department to move its letter boxes from the lampposts of that city, as the board intended removing the now unused lampposts. As far back as four years ago the department purchased the lampposts on Fifth avenue, cut them off about five feet from the ground, placed neat caps on them and attached letter boxes at a cost of $5.25 per post. At that time the postmaster at New York solicited propositions for the planting of posts to be supplied by the department, and the lowest bid then obtainable was something like $16 per post. The bidder explained this extraordinary price by claiming that to erect posts in the long and thick flagstones which were used in the principal streets of New York city he must run a great risk of breaking the flag, in which event the city would require him to replace the whole flagstone. The department was now working on a device for attaching the posts or pedestals to the flagstones without drilling through them, but even this in New York would cost considerable, and it is estimated that from 2,000 to 3,500 letter boxes in that city must, during the next year, be attached to new posts, which could not be erected at a cost less than $8 or $10 each.

ATTEMPTED MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Miller Jumps Into a Well After Attacking His Wife and Cutting Himself.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Nov. 7.—William Miller, a gardener in the employ of E. G. Burgess of Mountain avenue, is in a padded cell at the police station after having attempted to kill both himself and his wife. On Sunday he made an attack upon his wife. She escaped. He made a cut across his own throat and then ran and jumped down a twenty-foot-deep well. The cold water brought him to his senses for the time and he yelled for help. The Burgess family and other neighbors succeeded in rescuing him. He was put to bed and yesterday, having recovered, he threatened to shoot his wife for saving his life. She ran to the street, calling for assistance. As the police were taking him to the police station, he again drew a pistol and tried to shoot himself. He was disarmed. He will be brought before Justice Darlington to-morrow for a hearing.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Nov. 7.—The Montclair Town Council last night passed the amended ordinance granting to the North Jersey Street Railway Company a franchise for a street railway to the south end of the town through Bloomfield street and Orange road to the Orange line. The ordinance provides for a ten-cent fare to Orange from Montclair when a direct route is made.

The identification was made by Mrs. Charles Eang, with whom the dead woman boarded. The girl was a domestic servant, but was out of employment.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

TUESDAY, Nov. 7.

With the exception of the Chicago grain and provision market, no important domestic market—either financial or commercial—was open yesterday. As there was no holiday abroad, however, the foreign markets were open, and on the London Stock Exchange the internationally listed American railway shares were generally firm, the majority of the list being quoted above the New York parity. The London cable advices said that the strength was in anticipation of Republican victories in the several State elections. A more favorable view was also taken of the situation in South Africa. A feature was Southern Pacific, which opened at a price equivalent to 42¼ in the New York market, and advanced steadily, closing at a price equivalent to 42⅝, compared with 41⅞, which was the closing in the local market on Monday.

The following table shows the closing London prices for leading American stocks, New York equivalents, and Monday's closing quotations:

	Monday's Closing Prices.	Closing N. Y. Equiv.	Monday's N. Y. Close.
Consols, money	109⅝	109⅝
Consols, acct.	109⅝	109 13-16
Atchison	23⅝	23⅝	22⅝
Am. Pacific	27⅝	27⅝	26¼
Erie	19⅝	19⅝	18⅝
Erie pf.	38⅝	38⅝	38
Ill. Central	118⅝	118⅝	115⅝
Lake Shore	185⅝	185⅝	184
N. Y. Central	141⅝	142	138⅝
Nor. Pacific pf.	77⅝	78	76
Pennsylvania	68⅝	68⅝	132⅝
Reading	21	20⅝	21⅝
St. Paul	120⅝	120	120⅝
Union Pacific pf.	78⅝	78⅝	76⅝

Money was quoted in London at 2½ per cent., and the rate of discount in the open market for both short and three months' bills at 4½ per cent. The firmness of discounts was said to be chiefly due to Treasury bills to be tendered for on Friday, but another important element is the state of the Continental money market. Gold was reported to be in strong demand for the Continent at 77s. 10d. There continues to be talk in London to the effect that ultimately gold will be shipped to New York. Bar silver in London was steady at 26 13-16d. an ounce. In the Paris market 3 per cent. rentes were quoted at 100 francs 10 centimes for the account. Foreign gold premiums were quoted as follows: Buenos Ayres, 136.80, against 136.50 on Monday; Madrid, 25.42, against 25.45; Lisbon, 41, against 42; Rome, 6.67, against 6.60.

HORSEPLAY AT RUTGERS.

Sophomores Attack Freshmen and Make Captives Do Stunts.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 7.—Last night a body of Rutgers College sophomores captured two freshmen, Daniel Applegate of Red Bank, N. J., and Volney Schilck of Warsaw, N. Y., and after giving them an exciting cross country run, marched them to the residence of Prof. Edgar Shumway on Livingston avenue and tied them back to back on the porch. Prof. Shumway was not at home, but his wife heard the racket and went to the rescue. When her husband came home he found her struggling with the knots. He set the captives free. Meanwhile the party of hazers went down to the Second Reformed Church, where a number of freshmen were attending a sociable. As the freshmen came out the sophomores charged upon them and a scrimmage ensued in front of the church. Bystanders interfered and the rush was stopped. The sophomores retired from the field bearing with them Eugene Erler of Newark as a prisoner. He was released after performing a few stunts for his captors.
