TROTTING AND PACING.

A Shivering Crowd Watches the Racing at Guttenburg.

Sundown at Guttenburg yesterday, found the judges and timers shivering in the stand, trying to finish up the harness-racing programme. A small crowd of enthusiasts was huddled on the outside edge of the track under the wire, trying to keep warm. Starter George Coleman had to turn his overcoat collar up over his ears before the 2:28 trot, unfinished from Friday, was decided; the sun was nearly out of sight when the third heat of the free-for-all trot and pace was called, and when the amateur drivers came out to start the road wagon race, no one could see what was being done on the track 200 yards away from the stand. Regardless of all the drawbacks, however, the racing was most interesting.

Gadabout, winner of two heats on Friday in the 2:28 trot, was thought to have an easy thing of it yesterday; but much to the astonishment of every one she could do no better than fourth in the fourth heat, which was won by Nicola. The fifth heat saw another non-heat winner show in front and the fifth was taken by Lady Harrison. Nicola won the sixth heat in the dark, and bets were made that the race would not be finished. In a hard drive, however, Gadabout won the seventh heat and first money. Blue Wilkes won the first heat in the free-for-all trot and pace, but Tutie Wilkes captured the next three. It was impossible to finish the wagon race, the last heat of which was trotted when it was so dark that the timers could not see the faces of their watches. According to the standing of the horses, Kingwood, the old Speedway favorite, would win the cup. Summaries:

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 20.—Five eight-oared crews competed in Yale's annual fall regatta this afternoon. There were two races. The freshmen of the scientific school defeated the freshmen of the academic department by a quarter of a length in a race over a course seven-eighths of a mile long. The time was 5 minutes and 25⅘ seconds. It was one of the hottest interclass races that have been rowed at Yale in years. In the second contest the Harlequin Club crew defeated the sophomore class by a boat length. Time 5 minutes and 6 seconds.
