GUERRILLA WARFARE IN COLOMBIA.

Panama Not Safe From Attack Without a United States Cruiser There.

Colon, Colombia, Jan. 27.—From organized attacks, such as that on Panama last year, we are now suffering from guerrilla warfare. Bands of men, who say they belong to the Liberal party, have visited several places along the line of the Panama Railroad and committed depredations. Last week the attached Emperador at night, broke into several of the shops, seized the officials and a weighs Sullivan, demanding payment of large sums of money, which being refused, they robbed the Chiriqui prisoners into the at Jaqueti-Mamoni.

But for the presence of the United States cruiser Philadelphia at Panama these bandits would become bolder, and both Panama and Colon would be at their mercy, there being but about seventy-five men at Panama and no protection in Colon except a few policemen.

It is reported that the revolutionists have changed their base of operations to the Isthmus of Panama now that the Colombian Liberal leader has been injured in Venezuela. While unpleasantly, the revolution has resulted in good, as the secret leaders, it is believed, meet and peoplehere look for further developments.

The seizure of the British steamer Yanoga has been settled by the Colombian Government paying her owners the sum of $30,000, in gold, for the release of the ship. It is said that the British Government considered the matter of no importance and dropped it.

JUDGE CANTRILL'S HOUSE BURNED.

It Was a Fine Old Kentucky Mansion. Insane Woman May Have Fired It.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 31.—Fire destroyed the mansion of Judge James F. Cantrill at George's to-day. The residence was one of the finest in central Kentucky, being of old style architecture and having been furnished with costly furniture and bric-a-brac obtained during years of travel by Judge and Mrs. Cantrill. The residence was insured for $[illegible] and the furnishing for $4,000. It is estimated that the loss is $[illegible].

Judge Cantrill is one of the best known men in Kentucky. He was presiding judge of the circuit court at the time of the assassination of William Goebel last January, and at present is a candidate for United States Senator to the place of William Lindsay. The residence was on Main street surrounded by the oak trees, making it one of the finest in the State. The fire originated in the apartments of Miss Sadie Cantrill, the insane sister of Mrs. Cantrill, and it is feared that she may have started the fire. Miss Cantrill was for some months almost unmanageable, and at the Eastern Kentucky Asylum here two years ago was forced into the strait jacket for violent discipline. She is said to be well [illegible], and if it was the displeasing treatment by the asylum authorities that caused Mrs. Cantrill to take her into her home, where she has been confined since. Miss Cantrill had a tendency for spending her wealth at hotels, and upon one occasion she furnished a flat in New York city at the outlay of many thousands of dollars.

HOT TALK OVER EX-GOV. HOGG.

Texas House of Representatives All Torn Up Over a Resolution to Allow Him to Speak.

Austin, Tex., Jan. 31.—Former Governor J. S. Hogg was hauled over the coals in the House of Representatives to-day. More than three hours were spent in debating the question whether he should be allowed the use of the hall for the purpose of making a public address in advocacy of certain amendments to the State legislation and then adjournment was taken until to-morrow morning, when the debate will be renewed. Mr. Hogg had announced his intention of delivering an address in the opera house here on next Tuesday night and when the House convened this morning a resolution was offered tendering him the use of the Hall of Representatives for the meeting. The resolution had no sooner been read than the political enemies of Hogg, all Democrats, all vigorously objected.

Many speeches were made in which Hogg was charged with all kinds of political offenses. He was ridiculed and criticised and got such a beautifying as was never before given to a public character by the members of a Legislature of this State. A number of Mr. Hogg's friends defended him. The discussion has aroused much bitterness between the friends and enemies of Hogg in the Legislature which will take a long time to heal. It is reported that Hogg will put a stop to further discussion by having the author of the resolution withdraw it.

EXTORTED CONFESSION RULED OUT.

A Prisoner Kept in a Dark and Cold Dungeon Until He Was Ready to Confess.

Syracuse, Jan. 31.—Judge William M. Ross, in County Court to-day, declined to receive the confession of George Hodge, a prisoner at the Onondaga county penitentiary, charged with stealing money from the rooms of the penitentiary superintendent. It was shown by Hodges's attorney that the prisoner, after being accused of the theft by a fellow convict, had been shackled with his hands behind him and thrust into "the hull pen," a dungeon without light or heat, and kept there four hours, or until he said he was ready to confess. Hodge went on the stand and swore that he nearly froze and the shackles cut into his wrists, until he was willing to confess anything he was told to for the sake of getting out. The judge said that such methods of extorting a confession were a disgrace to the twentieth century, and he ruled out the confession, which was offered in evidence.

NO MORE PASSES ON B. R. T.

Only Cops and Firemen Will Ride Free. Road Will Save $100,000 a Year.

The Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company has decided to issue no more passes on its lines, and after the coupons in the passbooks now out are turned in no more free riders will be carried except uniformed policemen and firemen. President Rossiter estimated yesterday that the road has been carrying from 7,000 to 8,000 free riders daily. One day last summer 20,000 passes were turned in by conductors on the Brighton Beach line alone. That would represent $1,000 in fares. About 12,000 passes have been issued to all sorts of people, including capitalists, politicians, court attendants, saloonkeepers, detectives, schoolteachers and their friends. President Rossiter said that $100,000 was a fair approximation of the money value of fares represented by the pass coupons taken up in the course of a year. Hereafter President Rossiter and the directors of the road will pay their nickels just the same as anybody else.

HEARING AT SOLDIERS' HOME.

Commandant Davidson Hears Mrs. Hess, the Nurse He Suspended Under Charges.

Bath, N. Y., Jan. 31.—Commandant Davidson gave a hearing this afternoon to Mrs. Hess, the nurse at the Soldiers' Home Hospital, who was suspended on charges [illegible] in the Administration Building. The hearing was secret, and neither side was represented by counsel. Commandant Davidson conducted the examination of the witnesses. The charges were read to Mrs. Hess, who [illegible] as utterly false. The exact nature of the charges could not be learned from an official source. At the conclusion of the hearing Mr. Davidson said:

"The hearing is closed. I shall not give a decision until I have examined the statements more closely. The decision will be referred to the State Civil Service Commission and a copy of the same given to Mrs. Hess."

Dr. Spellman, the assistant surgeon, has been conducting a quiet inquiry among the patients at the hospital regarding the distribution of whiskey by nurses when not ordered by the doctor. During the investigation Dr. Shepard administration of the Home, it was brought out that excessive quantities of liquor were used at the home.

FALL DOWNSTAIRS FATAL.

Two Men Who Were With McClelland in the Bowery Held in $5,000.

William McClelland, who was found unconscious at the foot of a flight of stairs leading from the street to the lodging house at 262 Bowery on Sunday evening, and to avoid the result of whose injuries Frank G. Shipley, the night clerk of the lodging house, and Fortunello Gutillo, a porter in the place, had been locked up in the Tombs, died on Wednesday night in Bellevue Hospital without regaining consciousness.

Schirmer and Gutillo were arraigned yesterday before Coroner Baisch, who held them in $5,000 each pending the inquest. Schirmer furnished bail, Gutillo in default of bail was committed to the City Prison pending the inquest. It is alleged that they dragged McClelland to the head of the stairs and caused his fall.

GRAHAMS POLLEY HAS THE BOOKS.

Can the State Make Him Produce Them if Their Evidence Is Against?

A motion was made in the Supreme Court yesterday for an order directing that the minute book and the stock book of the Hoffman House corporation up to Sept. 27, 1899, be delivered to the district attorney, on the ground that it is not in the interest of justice that they should remain in the custody of Grahams Polley, who is the defendant under an indictment for perjury, Edward S. Stokes being the complainant. The controversy is over a transfer of stock.

Vernon M. Davis, Polley's counsel, opposed the motion on the constitutional ground that the defendant should not be obliged to produce evidence against himself. Justice Farsman reserved decision.

Ran a Mile Nearly Naked Through the Snow.

Paterson, N. J., Jan. 31.—Thomas Dunnigan, who is temporarily insane, escaped from St. Joseph's Hospital this morning about 1 o'clock. He jumped through a window and ran off through the snow. He had nothing on except a thin nightgown. Several of the orderlies and the two resident physicians gave chase. They followed the man's tracks through the snow for nearly a mile and finally came up to him at Lakeview, where Dunnigan was trying to get into a hotel. The man was shivering with cold, but he gave his pursuers a hard tussle before they overpowered him. He was taken back to the hospital in an ambulance. It is feared that the exposure may cause his death.

All on Account of a Jewelled Garter.

At a stag party given by De Long Council No. 725, Royal Arcanum, in the Amphion Assembly Rooms in Williamsburg about four years ago, a soubrette was among the talent. Some of the younger members were in a hilarious mood and they induced the young woman to auction off her jewelled silk garter. Older members of the order disapproved strongly, and the longer they thought it over the more they disapproved. Last Wednesday night some of them met in the Amphion rooms and arranged for the organization of a new council. They were addressed by Deputy Grand Regent Isaac E. Losee. It was thought that the new council would start with a membership of about two hundred. De Long Council has 1,100 members.

Runaway Girl Found in a Disorderly House.

Capt. Delaney of the Twenty-first precinct a few days ago received a letter from a Mrs. Nadler of 204 Webster avenue, Jersey City, saying that her daughter Rose, aged 21, had run away and was in a disorderly house at 235 East Twenty-ninth street. The captain raided the place and arrested the Nadler girl and Lizzie Courtney, who ran the place. The Courtney woman was held in $500 bail for trial.

A Belated Marriage Announcement.

A marriage notice in a Brooklyn paper yesterday was the first announcement of the marriage nine months ago of Dr. Charles H. Tag of 254 South Third street, Williamsburg, to Mrs. Laura May Williamson, the daughter of Mrs. Agnes M. Miller of 425 Greene avenue. Dr. Tag is an assistant to Dr. Silas C. Blaisdell in the Eastern District Hospital. The Rev. J. G. Ditmars, a Baptist minister, married the couple on April 28 last.

Wash suits with snow on the ground, straw hats and sipping air seem to ordinary men a "lion and lamb" combination. Women, bless em, have their own way of looking at things—insist on buying gauzy midsummer leghns in February.

Buying for themselves they want to buy for their boys.

They can here.

Boys' wash suits—Russian, Norfolk and Sailor blouses, with full bloomer breeches, in khakis, linens, crashes, ducks and seersuckers—trimmings unmeasurable—$1.25 to $6.50.

Not one of them will wash out of shape or shrink into a "hand me-down."

Boys' straw hats in perhaps fifty styles—all sorts of brands, colors, brims, crowns and trimmings.

THE UNIQUE BRAIN TEST XXIII.

Money.

First Prize, $50.00.
Twenty-five Other Prizes.

Who can give the greatest number of synonyms for money? It has occurred to the editor of THE UNIQUE MONTHLY that perhaps for no other term in the English language has the American people so many forms of expression. Some of these words are found in the dictionary and some are not, but they are all eloquent, if not elegant. For instance, a man will say, "I haven't got the dough," or "he hasn't got the wherewithal" in both cases, of course, money is meant. Then there is the word "Scads," meaning money, "filthy lucre," "dust," and perhaps ten to twenty others.

Who can make the best list of words or phrases that mean money? Words of specific quantity like dollars and cents are barred. Only words meaning money in indeterminate quantity are allowable.

The person who sends the longest list of acceptable words or phrases meaning money before the 10th of February will receive from THE UNIQUE MONTHLY a prize of $50. The twenty-five others whose lists come next in order to the best list will receive prizes of $1.00 each. All SUBSCRIBERS of THE UNIQUE MONTHLY are eligible; no others are eligible. One need not be a yearly subscriber to the magazine to be eligible; a six months' subscriber will have the same opportunity. Thus, if you will send in 25 cents for a half-year's subscription to THE UNIQUE MONTHLY and your answer, you will be eligible. Of course, when once you become a subscriber to the magazine, not alone this contest but all others during the term of your subscription are open to you. All words or phrases meaning MONEY used in any part of the United States or Canada are permissible in this contest. We expect this Brain Test to give great fun to our subscribers and to be of great interest to all our readers. The prizes will all be paid before the 20th of February. The contest closes, as said before, February 10th, and prizes will be awarded February 20th. In case of two or more people sending in the same number of words, the first prize will be divided. But there is not one chance in a thousand that such a thing will happen. MONEY—who can say it in the greatest number of different ways?
