SHIP ALL ELECTRIC FIRES.

They Came Thrice and Departed With a Bang and a Bit of the Mainmast.

A freakish electrical storm ran across the course of the Bristol City Line freighter Exeter City, which arrived yesterday from Bristol and Swansea, when she was in mid-ocean on the night of March 20. The mate was on the bridge when, at about 11 o'clock, the trucks of the mainmast and foremast bloomed with pale blue lights, like the ghosts of great globular flowers. The mate had been in sailing craft and had seen St. Elmo's fire before. He did not feel any surprise or show emotion at the appearance, but he was flabbergasted when all the steel stays of the ship grew luminous with electrical rope yarn spun by the spirits of the storm. The steel single shrouds of the masts were also woven with evanescent flame.

The mate marvelled much about the thing and all the ship's company above decks felt creepy. They had never seen stays and shrouds stoutened in that fashion.

The apparition lasted five minutes, when a northwesterly squall, permeated with hail and sleet, quenched it as a cataract might put out a fire. The squall lasted about fifteen minutes and after it had passed the whole ship was illumined again. The strange vision lasted about five minutes and vanished under another fierce squall.

It appeared again a little before midnight and set the sailormen to praying to the saint who is supposed to create the fire. The manifestation lasted a few minutes, when another frosty squall, out of the northwest, the worst of the lot, doused the electrical glim for the third and last time.

The glow on the after part of the vessel went first. Then there was an explosion that shook the freighter from stem to stern and from keelson to truck. The mate said he thought a meteor had hit her. He was sure it was not lightning, as there had been none at any part of the storm, and, anyway, it was too cold for lightning. Whatever it was it went off with a big bang. The next morning, when Capt. Watkins cast his eye aloft he saw that about three feet of the wooden tip of the steel mainmast had been splintered.

During the night a Russian sailor, J. Klondike, jumped or was washed overboard. He was much impressed and frightened by the spectacular eccentricities of the storm.

JOKE ON THE PRINCE OF WALES

Played by Princeton Students Thirty Years Ago—'71 Men the Perpetrators.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 30.—There has just been brought to light by the Princeton Alumni Weekly a joke which undergraduates of the college of New Jersey, in 1871, played on the present King of England. At that time many degrees and honors were being conferred upon the Prince, and three members of the class of '71 decided that they ought to contribute to the list. So they elected him unanimously an honorary member of the Princeton Medical Faculty. It hardly need be told that such a faculty has never existed at this university. Formal notice of his election was sent to the Prince, and in due time the following letter, addressed to Messrs. Maier, Field and Haine of Princeton College was received from Francis Knollys, then private secretary to the Prince of Wales:

"I am desired by the Prince of Wales to acknowledge your letter, announcing that he has been elected an honorary member of the Princeton Medical Faculty. His Royal Highness directs me to return his most sincere thanks for your communication and for the honor which has been conferred upon him. His Royal Highness will ever remember with pride and satisfaction the mark of distinction that he has received at the hands of the Medical Faculty."

Maier, Field and Haine were, of course, first-class naughty. The Prince's acknowledgment now decorates the room of a sophomore here who received it from one of the '71 men. It is not known that King Edward has yet been informed of the fictitious nature of the Princeton Medical Faculty.

INTERNATIONAL ZINC SALE.

Property Sold at Joplin, Mo., on Behalf of the Reorganization Committee.

JOPLIN, Mo., March 30.—The sale of International Zinc Company property under mortgage occurred here to-day. The property sold was the Free Coinage 110-acre tract of valuable zinc mineral land on which was a mortgage for $29,550, balance due on purchase money and accrued interest. The property was bought in by H. B. Shoemaker of New York, one of the Reorganization Committee of the new International Company, who is here in the interest of the Eastern shareholders. He bid it in for Judge Robinson.

Robinson and his associates signed agreement to make a deed to Charles H. A. Dougherty, one of the Reorganization Committee. Receiver W. K. Trimble and the Reorganization Committee are working together to reorganize the International company with a capital commensurate with value of the property. Several tracts will be put into the hands of a competent manager.

LAUNCHED TO BEAT DEUTSCHLAND.

Kronprinz Wilhelm Put Into the Water by the Vulcan Company.

A despatch to the North German Lloyd Line from Bremen announces the launching of the twin screw steamship Kronprinz Wilhelm at the yards of the Vulcan Shipbuilding Company at Stettin. The Crown Prince of Germany and a multitude saw the great ship glide from the ways. The weather was pleasant and there was no latent in the ceremony.

The ship is designed to be just a shade of a knot faster than the Hamburg-American liner Deutschland, which holds the record across seas. She will have engines of 35,000 horse power, 3,000 less than the Deutschland. She is 662 feet long, and of 66 feet beam. She is of 19,500 tons' displacement, or about 4,000 tons less than the Deutschland.

CASTRO ELECTED PRESIDENT.

Chosen by Venezuela to Serve Out the Unexpired Term of Andrade.

Señor E. Gonzales Esteves, Consul-General of Venezuela in this city, received the following cable despatch yesterday from Secretary General Torres Cardenas at Caracas:

"Gen. Castro has been elected Provisional President. Great enthusiasm."

Gen. Cipriano Castro has been acting as President of Venezuela since October, 1899, when he overthrew President Ignacio Andrade. His election is for the year which still remains of Gen. Andrade's term. Gen. Castro, will in all probability be a candidate for the Presidency at the general election for the full term of four years.

The Weather.

The area of low pressure which appeared over Texas, has moved to the west Gulf coast and together with a secondary depression over northern Missouri, covered the Gulf States and the central Mississippi Valley yesterday. The low pressure still hovered over Nova Scotia, covered the New England States. A high pressure area covered southern Colorado, extended from that point over all the West and Northwest. Rain fell in the southern Mississippi Valley and snow in the northern, snow also fell in the New England States, and rain in the Atlantic states and Tennessee valleys, and in the Southern Atlantic and Gulf states.

In this city yesterday it was fair and cooler; wind, high northwesterly; average humidity, 57 per cent; barometer, corrected to sea level, at 8 A. M., 29.91; 3 P. M., 29.85.

The temperature recorded by the official thermometer, and also by THE SUN thermometer at the street level, is shown in the table below:

HUSBAND SURPRISES WIFE.

An Exciting Time in a New Brunswick Hotel on Friday Night.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., March 30.—There was an episode at the Mansion House here last night. Early in the evening two couples arrived at the hotel and registered as "Al. Hartmann and wife" and "J. Smith and wife," all of New York. The proprietor, Mr. Mas, was away and the barkeeper gave them rooms. Later during the night four men who registered as "M. Jones," "J. Meyers," "I. Hayman" and "J. E. Butt" arrived at the hotel and took rooms.

One of the men was a detective, another a husband looking for his spouse and the other two were as witnesses. The four men had followed one of the women from New York city, and having located them at the hotel bided their time to surprise them.

About midnight Mr. Mas was awakened by a big row upstairs, and hurrying there he found an excited group, some of them partly dressed. Charges and counter-charges were being made with great rapidity and confusion. Each of the three men was called upon by the husband to witness the unfaithfulness of his wife. Then, before the wrangling proceeded any further, Mr. Mas ordered the whole party from the house.

The wife did not seem to be particularly disturbed by the evidence against her. Her escort was a well dressed young man. The second woman is a soubrette who has been singing at a local music hall.
