FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

MONDAY, April 27.

To-day's stock market was dull and weak. In the earlier part of the trading the professional element was not inclined to press sales for the decline, and, rather, showed a desire to repurchase the stocks sold on Saturday; but in the later trading they professed great discouragement over the lack of outside interest evinced in the market and laid especial stress in particular upon what they held to be an unfavorable statement of earnings of the Atchison system for March. This statement showed an increase in gross of $463,042 and a decrease in net of $243,584. For nine months the Atchison's gross earnings have increased $2,332,868, but its operating expenses have also increased $3,051,904. It is, of course, perfectly well understood by those conversant with the facts that fully $2,600,000 of this increase in the expenses of the Atchison system in the period stated is due to expenditures for permanent improvements rather than for operating expenses proper, and that the earning capacity of the Atchison system is, as a matter of fact, far greater at this moment than it has been at any time. These extraordinary expenditures will, in the nature of things, cease at no very distant date, and the Atchison system will be in a position to enjoy fully the benefits of the enormous winter wheat crop which is now all but assured along its lines. Nevertheless, the traders to-day maintained, as they always do when in a bearish mood, that anything stamped "net decrease" is a bad thing, and they, therefore, vigorously attacked the Atchison shares and the general market when the Atchison statement was made public. Another matter which also deterred many would-be purchasers of stocks to-day from acting upon their convictions, and was accorded a great deal of prominence by speculators for the fall, was the expected decision of the Court of Appeals in the franchise tax cases. As has been heretofore pointed out in this column, there is absolutely no assurance that this decision will soon be handed down, and that, indeed, the probabilities are that the decision will not be announced for some weeks yet. Since the decision in the Northern Securities case, however, market operators are inclined to believe that all court decisions in cases where corporations are concerned will be unfavorable to corporations. Hence, the more adventurous traders are inclined to take chances upon the fact that the action of the Court of Appeals in the present cases will be in the nature of a "bear" argument and also because the uncertainty as to the matter hurts the stock market anyway.

The general news of the day was not against values. Sterling exchange was stronger, and the sterling rate is now close to the point at which gold can be exported; but gold exports under present circumstances are still unprofitable, and even if metal shipments should be made the fact would be due simply to the pronounced fall in money rates in this market. It is very clear that the strength of sterling in the last two weeks has represented merely the repayment of maturing foreign loans which has made desirable by the cheapness of money here. It was rumored among the correspondents of foreign houses to-day that the Transvaal loan about to be brought out by the British Government had been deferred for a time; and this fact, taken in conjunction with the maintenance of the Bank of England's minimum rate of discount at 4 per cent., although the bank's condition clearly justifies a reduction of at least 1 per cent. in the rate, points to the probability that English financiers are desirous of strengthening their resources before the Transvaal loan is brought out. This matter, of course, may have some bearing on the question of gold exports from this side, but how it can unfavorably affect our market, in view of the low money rates which now prevail here, is puzzling. At any rate, the difficulty, if it proves to be a difficulty, will be of short duration.

Very many favorable reports of railway earnings were received to-day, and developments in the agricultural sections are still of the most favorable character. It is now admitted that for the first time in years there will be no extensive strikes of laboring men in the building and allied trades over the country on the 1st of May. The banks have gained $862,000 from the Sub-Treasury thus far this week, and the borrowing of both call and time money was on easier terms than ever. Despite the pessimism which has again overspread ultra-speculative quarters in Wall Street, it is worth while recalling that the market, even judged from a merely technical point of view, is acting very much as it should act after the sharp and sudden rise in quoted values which has recently occurred. Prices, indeed, have not yet had the normal reaction which is due after such an event.
