"Don't forget to distinguish between net and gross income in making out 1921 income tax returns," advises Clyde G. Huntley, Collector of Internal Revenue. "Every taxpayer who had a net income of $2,000 or a gross income of $5,000, regardless of the net income, must file a return. This is very important and the taxpayer must govern himself accordingly or he will be liable to heavy penalties. These returns must be filed not later than March 15, 1922."

The new income tax law allows the following exemptions: Single person or married person not living with husband or wife, $1,000; head of a family, or married person living with husband or wife, $2,500, unless the net income is in excess of $5,000, in which case the exemption is only $2,000; for each dependent under the age of 18, $400. Head of a family under the law is defined as "a person who supports in one household one or more relatives by blood, marriage or adoption."
