IRISH GET SPALDING TROPHY

NEW YORK A. C. BEATEN, 120 POINTS TO 97.

Metropolitan Championship Meeting an Easy Gallop for Celtic Park Men —Sheppard Runs a Great Half Mile and Rodgers Goes Fast in the Mile Run.

The annual track and field championship of the Metropolitan Association of the A. A. U. at Travers Island yesterday developed practically into a dual meet between the New York A. C. and the Irish A. A. C. After a fairly close contest about three-quarters of the programme the Irish club gathered power toward the finish and won by a total score of 120 points to 97. This being the third victory for the Irishmen the Spalding trophy now becomes their permanent property. The Xavier A. A. scored 4 points and the St. Bartholomew A. C. a similar figure.

The 100 yard run opened the day's fun. Schick, the former intercollegiate champion, wearing the winged foot, failed to land his trial heat, being beaten by Castleman. This made it necessary for the ex-Crimsonite to start in the heat for second men, which he won by a scratch. Robertson, Young, Castleman and Northridge, all of the Irish A. A. C., won their heats and qualified. The final was a close race, but Castleman won by a small margin from Young, with Robertson third. Northridge a few inches behind and Schick bringing up the rear.

The half mile was a cracking race. There were eleven starters, five of whom were from the New York A. C., four from the Irish A. A. C., while the Mohawk A. C. and Pastime A. C. produced the other two. At the crack of the gun Sheppard of the Irish A. A. C. went out in front, closely followed by Jack Wright of the same club. Paul Pilgrim, the Olympic champion, was in fourth place. Sheppard led all the way. About 300 yards from home Pilgrim made a vain effort, but he fell away soon. Then J. A. Miller, who had been laying behind, shot out and overhauled Bromilow on the homestretch. Sheppard won by about five yards in the great time of 1 minute 56 4-5 seconds.

The great surprise of the day occurred in the mile run. Harvey Cohn of the Irish A. A. C. was favorite and his victory was supposed to be a foregone conclusion. After about a half mile or so Cohn went to the front and stayed there until the bell rang for the last lap. Then to the consternation of the Irish contingent Rodgers of the New York A. C. shot by Cohn and won by twenty yards. Haskins, a former University of Pensylvania runner, representing the New York A. C., came with a rush and snatched second place from Cohn.

The 440 yard run showed that Hilman has not yet recovered from the accident which he met on the way to Greece last spring. On the backstretch he showed a bit of fight, but when it came to the finish he was not there and Colliton won.

The hurdle events showed consistent work by McCulloch of the New York A. C. over the high sticks, but when going well in the low obstacle event he came a cropper and it put him out of the running. Castleman fell in the high hurdles when he was well up with the leaders.

Dennis Horgan proved a good point winner for the New York A. C. His put of the shot, 47 feet ½ inch, was the best ever recorded for a metropolitan championship and wiped out an old mark of 46 feet 7 inches made by George R. Gray in 1891. Although hampered by a sprained foot John Flanagan captured the "56" and hammer, and the latter with the best performance of this season so far. Martin of Sheridan retained his title with the discus.

Van Duyn, formerly of Syracuse University, represented the Irish A. A. C., but was protested on the ground of being a professional coach at the Louisville Military Academy, Louisville, Ky.

VAN CORTLANDT PARK FINAL.

Floyd Wins From Peebles, the Prestwick Amateur.

Play for the president's cup brought out forty-six cards in the New York Golf Club competition yesterday at Van Cortlandt Park, and the Greater New York championship also proved an attraction at the public links. Wolff of the Ocean Country Club, by default, and Walter Peebles, the former Prestwick player, although only scoring 92, beat W. E. Trull, Jr., by 7 up. MAHER'S CASE STARTS COMMENT.

Gimcrack Stewards' Reprimand Is Much Criticised.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—The action of the stewards of the Gimcrack meeting in reprimanding Danny Maher because of trouble between him and H. Jones, who rode the favorite for the Gimcrack Stakes, is the chief topic of conversation in turf circles. The verdict is coming in for much criticism. Maher's mount, Glacis, undoubtedly interfered with the favorite, Mypet II., so as to destroy the latter's chances, but Jones, who rode the favorite, answered the question, "Do you think Maher did it on purpose?" in the negative.

Jones declares he has no sort of feeling against Maher whatever. Where Maher was wrong and what he was before the stewards for was the language he used in the weighing room when accused of erratic riding. Mr. Raphael, the owner of Mypet II., has written to the Jockey Club stewards courting a further inquiry.

HARVARD DOES A RECORD ROW

AMERICANS COVER THAMES COURSE IN SMASHING STYLE.

Reporters Give Time as 18 Minutes 50 Seconds, but Coach Wray Says It Was 3 Seconds Faster, Equal to the Record —Crew Finishes Full of Life and Snap.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.

PUTNEY, Sept. 1.—The Harvard crew rowed over the full course from Putney to Mortlake at noon to-day, covering the distance in 18 minutes 50 seconds, according to the figures of the men on the press boat. James Wray, the Harvard coach, who was much closer to his men than the reporters, clocked the trial as 18 minutes 47 seconds, equal to the record for the course. A good tide and a fine easterly wind helped the oarsmen. The following records were taken on the course:

Mile, 4 minutes 13 seconds; Hammersmith Bridge, 7 minutes 30 seconds; Barnes Bridge, 16 minutes 4 seconds; the ship at Mortlake, 18 minutes 50 seconds. The average rate of rowing was thirty-three strokes to the minute. At the finish the rate was thirty-four.

Riverside critics consider the row a marvellous performance. Real astonishment is expressed, as it was not expected that Harvard could give such a splendid exhibition. A scratch eight, picked up by the Harvard crew at Barnes Bridge, took them to the winning post in beautiful style. Their boat evidently suits the Harvard men perfectly, and but for the excessive heat it is possible that they would have done the course in even slightly better time.

Although the heat was very trying, it was not quite so great as it was yesterday at noon. Dr. Manahan accordingly decided to let the men take the test, after he had suitably equipped them against any danger of sunstroke. This he accomplished by rigging them out in large white sun hats, in which they rowed. The hats gave them quite an original appearance, but seemed comfortable. If anything, they helped them along by taking the wind from behind.

The trial comes as a revelation to the critics and onlookers, who now are marveling at the tremendous lot of power the Harvard men get into the swing of their stroke. The feeling along the river now favors Harvard's chances and the betting is veering around to odds on them.

The only fault that could be found with the Harvard crew was a bad start and that occasionally the stroke side oars were out of time. Tom Sullivan says that the Harvard crew will start favorites. The betting now is even.

The Cambridge crew this morning did a fast mile, making it in 4 minutes 3 seconds, just under record time; but no comparison between the day's performances of the two crews is possible, as Harvard did the full course.

Wray and others on the Harvard launch Rapide agreed on 18 minutes 47 seconds, which equals the record for this course. This may be taken as accurate, as the Rapide was abreast of the crew at the finish, while the press boat was obliged to view it some distance behind and was unable to clock the finish with the same accuracy.

Before the start Wray, considering the perfect conditions, said: "We will do better than 19 minutes with great ease to-morrow." The Harvard crew justified Wray's confidence. They tackled the task with the utmost enthusiasm and finished perfectly fit. Dr. Manahan told the correspondent of THE SUN after wards that they were quite ready for a similar trial this afternoon if required.

This equalling of the record astonished the rowing experts and the extreme optimism of Cambridge supporters, which received a rude shock when Harvard first appeared in full stature, yesterday vanished.

While the crews were at Bourne End the odds were strongly in favor of the light blue. They have been weakening since, and if the race were rowed to-morrow Harvard would surely go to the starting point at odds on favorite.

This morning's magnificent work on the course practically finished Harvard's hard work. The coming week will be devoted to starting practice and easy paddling. The crew rested this afternoon, spent the evening at the theatre, and to-morrow will go motoring in the country. They will return to Putney on Monday and will appear on the river in the afternoon.

Harvard's happiness was greatly related at this morning's performance. Wray, who maintains his constant attitude of a race not being over until it is finished, contented himself by saying that he was satisfied, and that the Harvard men would certainly put up a good race. He told THE SUN correspondent that their condition, which has been improving since they left Bourne End, will continue to improve till the day of the race. He continued:

"If we have anything approaching to-day's conditions the record will certainly be smashed, and if I am any judge it will be one of the finest races ever seen on this river side."

Referring to-day to the criticisms made by Vivian Nickalls, Wray said nothing about Harvard profiting by Nickalls's advice. He says Harvard ought to change its style of rowing, ought to get new oars, or ought to get a new boat to replace the present one, which he dubs a "tub," and generally finds fault. Wray is undoubtedly sore over these and similar criticisms, which, however, are not general. He says: "I can only answer them by pointing to to-day's trial and waiting till after the race, when the performance of Harvard will be the best possible reply."

The Harvard crew seemed quite fresh after going over the course in the terrific heat, which to-day touched 93 in the shade. The heat did not seem to affect them, while the Cambridge crew showed signs of flagging under its effects.

When asked how the men were affected by the climate, Wray said he considered the talk about the climate all nonsense. He believed that if the men were properly looked after they would keep in perfect condition. "All that is necessary is not to allow them to get the climate idea in their heads," said he. "If you tell them that the climate is going to affect them it will."

Throughout the stay of the Harvard men Wray has been telling them that the climate will not affect them, and it has not.

CRICKET.

Staten Island and Paterson Draw—Cobb Bats Well.

Few cricket games were scheduled in either series of the local organizations. There were two important contests, the Staten Island team meeting Paterson and Kings County being opposed to Montclair.

The Staten Island-Paterson match was played at Livingston and resulted in a drawn game. M. R. Cobb was in fine batting shape and ran up a score of 64. The totals were: Staten Island, 171; Paterson, 69 for 9 wickets.

The Kings County team had the Montclair eleven as opponents in a league championship game at Prospect Park. The wicket was all in favor of the batsmen. Every man on the home team succeeded in reaching double figures. J. S. Mahon headed the list with a hard hit innings of 39. E. J. Atwood played steadily for 30, G. W. Barnes retired when he had contributed 27. B. Wimpenny put together 19 in good style. E. B. Reece added 13 and J. D. Maclennan was not out for 11. The totals: Kings County, 152 (declared); Montclair, 79 for 7 wickets.

The West Indian team B had no difficulty in defeating the Jamaica club at Prospect Park. The feature of the game was the individual scoring of C. Levy and C. Straker for their respective sides. Levy was not out for 36 for Jamaica and was the only man to reach double figures. Straker retired for 57 for the home team. The totals: Jamaica, 76; West Indians, 114.

The Union County eleven journeyed to Prospect Park and defeated the Thistles. W. W. Goddard had the remarkable analysis of 5 wickets for 4 runs, and in addition worked the "hat trick." The Goddard brothers were greatly in evidence in the game, E. P. Goddard taking 5 wickets at a cost of 17 runs and H. O. Goddard making top score for his side with a fine innings of 38. The totals: Thistles, 35; Union County, 87.

The O. N. T. club forfeited a scheduled game to the West Indians at Prospect Park. A drawn game resulted in the return match of the Manhattan Rovers and the Brooklyn Wanderers at Prospect Park.

In the first game Team C, captained by A. W. Smith, won by 4 goals to 1 from Team D. In the second test game Teams E and F played a hard game, in the course of which but one goal was kicked. FLUKY WINDS ON THE SOUND.

Queen, Yankee and Effort Winners in Indian Harbor Regatta.

The fall regatta of the Indian Harbor Yacht Club was sailed yesterday on the Sound in winds that were very fluky. At the start, at noon, there was a light sailing breeze. When the yachts reached the Long Island side they found calms, while on the Connecticut shore a nice breeze was blowing which at times reached a strength of fifteen miles. The wind was from the northwest.

The schooners Queen and Elmina met in the big class. Unfortunately this race was spoiled by the start. The Elmina stood in for the line from the east and were round under the lee of the Queen before she reached the line. The committee recalled the yacht, but those on board evidently did not hear, for the Elmina kept right on.

It was a reach to the first mark with balloons and the Queen took a good lead. Then, with smaller headsails, they had another reach to the next mark at Lloyd's Point, but before reaching the mark the Queen ran into a soft spot and was becalmed so long that the Elmina passed her, and as they hauled the wind for the last leg had a lead of twelve minutes.

The Queen made a substantial gain on the beat of six and a half miles, but finished some distance astern. She won the race, however, because the Elmina was disqualified for not having crossed the starting line properly.

The 70 footers Yankee and Rainbow sailed in their regular class, and as the Effort had not a competitor she sailed against the 70 footers in a special class and won. The Rainbow crossed the line in the lead, with the Effort under her lee and the Yankee to leeward of the Effort. The Yankee had good way on and as once pulled clear of the Effort and reached for the first mark very close to the Rainbow.

At the first turn the Yankee and Rainbow carried balloons and ran off their course so far that they were able to set spinnakers for the latter part of the second leg. The effort, which sailed a straight course, made a good gain. The Rainbow at the second mark was 30 seconds ahead of the Yankee and the Effort was 40 seconds further astern.

On the windward work the Yankee gradually closed on the Rainbow until near the finish, when she forced the Rainbow to give way, the Yankee being on the starboard tack. This gave the Yankee the lead and she crossed the line a winner 2 minutes 7 seconds ahead of the Rainbow. The Effort kept well within her time on the windward leg and won the special race.

In the 30 footer race the Banzai took the lead at the start and was followed by the Dahinda, Neola II, Cara Mia and Phryne. The Melody was handicapped 4 minutes. The Banzai kept her lead to the finish and won. The Rascal took the lead in the raceabout class soon after the start and made a runaway race of it.
