

Will be a Big Thing

The opening of the Panama canal is bound to be the biggest thing that ever happened to the Pacific coast, commercially and otherwise. Instead of holding the isolated position that our states have ever since they were created, they will now be in as close touch with the different powers of the world as any other portion of our country. This means that the Pacific coast will begin to compete with the Atlantic coast for supremacy in all kinds of trade, and as a natural consequence portions of our states will become as large manufacturing centers as are now certain portions of the east. There will be great rivalry among the different sections to first secure the new industries, and those who go to it first will be the ones to win out and develop in excess of their neighbors. St. Johns should keep its weather eye open for every chance to build upward, and all its inhabitants work together harmoniously to attain any and all good things that may be presented. Boost, everybody boost, and the rest will come as a natural consequence.

Best in the World

Experts declare that Oregon has the best climate in the world for the production of flax, and they confidently predict that flax and flax mills will be to Oregon what cotton and cotton mills have been to the South. A co-operative manufacturing firm is being promoted at Salem, and it is expected to begin operations within the near future. Coarse crashes and twines for sewing wheat bags and for making nets will be the first articles turned out, but as soon as a market can be developed the finer grades will be produced, such as linen, damask, tablecloths, and towels. About 1500 acres of flax will be needed to supply the first year's output of the factory. The theory that flax impoverishes the soil is an exploded theory, it is declared. On the contrary, it prepares the soil for a heavy succeeding crop.

Several Good Snaps

Here's a snap in St. Johns. 5 room house for sale, lot 50x100, all fenced, fine porch, bearing fruit trees, cess pool bricked 32 feet deep, four blocks from car line; all kinds of chicken coops. Price for a few days, $750, one-half cash.

One more snap! Remember the bridge is going to be built—6 1/2 acres level land seven miles from Vancouver ferry, four room house, stable of 13 stalls, well and pump; $1000 dollars, cash.

Also, 40 acres nine miles from Astoria, second growth fir, one-half mile from railroad track, 2 1/2 miles from Knappa. For a short time, $1,000 cash. See J. Webster, adv.

A prominent citizen of Portland, who has recently returned from Europe, states that there is no doubt that there will be a rush of immigrants to the Pacific Coast as soon as the Panama Canal is open to general traffic. The steamship companies are selling tickets on the installment plan, accepting small weekly payments and allowing interest on such deposits. In this way families can pay for their transportation with comparative ease, whereas raising the money to pay for the tickets in a lump sum would be impossible. The prospective immigrants are mostly of the farming class and they are not particular as to just where they land. Anywhere the steamer happens to stop will suit them. They evidently figure that while some places on the coast may be better than others, any place is good enough.

The Youth's Companion

Seven college presidents and a number of college instructors, including ex-President Taft, will contribute to the Youth's Companion during 1914.

Then there is Gene Stratton Porter, whose stories of Indiana woods and swamps have made her famous, and Kate Douglas Wiggin, who never wrote a dull line in her life, and Mrs. Burton Harrison, who remembers when conversation was really an art as practiced in Washington and in the manor houses of Virginia. And this is just a beginning of the list.

If you know The Companion, you have a pretty clear idea of what is in store for next year's readers. If you do not know, ask us to send you sample copies—for instance, those containing the opening chapters of Arthur Stanwood Pier's fine serial—"His Father's Son." Full Announcement for 1914 will be sent with the sample copies.

For the year's subscription of $2.00 there is included The Companion Practical Home Calendar for 1914, and all the issues of the paper for the remaining weeks of 1913, dating from the time the subscription is received.
