

The Heroic Dead

The first three American soldiers killed in the trenches in France are sleeping in French soil, honored by the American army and the people and army of France. Their final interment took place last week.

With a guard of French infantrymen in their picturesque uniforms of red and horizon blue standing on one side and a detachment of American soldiers on the other, the flag wrapped caskets were lowered into the grave as a bugler blew taps and the batteries at the front fired minute guns. As the minute guns went off the French officer commanding the division, in this section paid tribute to the fallen Americans. His words, which were punctuated by the roar of the guns and the whistle of shells, touched, both the French and Americans. In conclusion the French officer said: "In the name of the French army and in the name of France, I bid farewell to Private Enright, Private Gresham and Private Hay, of the American army. "Of their own free will they had left a prosperous and happy country to come over here. They knew war was continuing in Europe, they knew that the forces fighting for honor, love of justice and civilization were still checked by the long prepared forces serving the powers of brutal domination, oppression and barbarity. They knew that efforts were still necessary. They wished to give up their generous hearts and they have not forgotten old historical memories while others forget more recent ones.

"They ignored nothing of the circumstances and nothing had been concealed from them—neither the length, and hardships of war nor the violence of battle, nor the dreadfulness of new weapons, nor the perfidy of the foe. Nothing stopped them. They accepted the hard and strenuous life, they crossed the ocean at great peril, they took their places on the front by our side and they have fallen facing the foe in a hard and desperate hand to hand fight. Honor to them. Their families, friends and fellow citizens will be proud when they learn of their deaths.

"Men, these graves, the first to be dug in our national soil and only a short distance from the enemy, are as a mark of the mighty land we and our allies firmly cling to in the common task, confirming the will of the people and the army of the United States to fight with us to a finish, ready to sacrifice as long as is necessary until final victory for the most noble of causes—that of the liberty of nations, the weak as well as the mighty. Thus the deaths of humble soldiers appear to us with extraordinary grandeur.

"We will therefore ask that the mortal remains of these young men be left here, left with us forever. We inscribe on the tombs 'Here Lie the First Soldiers of the Republic of the United States to Fall on the Soil of France for Liberty

Was Civil War Veteran

Edward D. Hurlbert was born near Silver Lake, Indiana, July 11, 1842. He enlisted in Company F, 35th Regiment of Indiana Volunteer Infantry and was mustered into service December 10, 1861. He was promoted to Corporal, Sergeant, to Second Lieutenant, and finally to First Lieutenant; was honorably discharged October 23, 1865, by reason of the close of war. He came to Nebraska and took up a homestead in 1871, was married to Sarah E. Cowgill December 1, 1872, from which union three children were born, all of whom are deceased. His wife died December 12, 1879. He was married to Luc-retia Berry at Lincoln, Nebraska, December 2, 1885. He came to Oregon and settled in St. Johns in March, 1886, in the home where his widow still resides. He accepted Christ as his Savior and joined the Seventh Day Adventist church in the spring of 1876, of which church he remained a faithful member until his death, November 10, 1917, at the age of 75 years and four months. He was a member of the first city council of St. Johns, about sixteen years ago. The large attendance at the funeral and the beautiful floral offerings showed the high regard the people of St. Johns had for him. His casket was draped with the flag under which he served four years, and it was buried with him. The pall bearers were: Messrs. T. J. Monahan, P. T. Hanson, S. I. Ogden, S. R. T. Gatton, K. C. Couch and B. F. Belieu, the first four named having known him more than thirty one years.

Fifty thousand head of Mexican cattle, 2,000,000 pounds of dressed medium and prime beef, and 10,000 horse and burro hides are without a market, according to D. B. Eastman, representing Mexican cattle interests, who is in San Francisco. And at the same time Americans are observing meatless days and shoes are selling at record prices. "I am offering 50,000 head of cattle at six cents delivered in Los Angeles or San Francisco," Mr. Eastman declared, "and the dealers tell me they don't want them; that their storage rooms and feed lots are full. Two different export concerns have turned down 2,000,000 pounds of frozen inspected beef at 11 cents and there is no market for 10,000 hides."—Portland Journal.

"A Military Necessity"
—General Dodge.

FROM its beginning, the Union Pacific has been "The National Railroad," a patriotic institution. Lincoln and other great men urged its construction for national protection and development.

The prophetic vision of those who founded this great railroad during a period of national stress is now apparent in these times of international conflict. Again the Union needs its Union Pacific.

The Union Pacific is doing its utmost to expedite the enormous war shipments from the Treasure States it serves. Grain, cattle, minerals, lumber, wool and oil are needed as never before.

For new equipment alone the Union Pacific is spending over $10,000,000 to give American people and industries still better service.

This is aside from even greater sums necessary for double-tracking, additional yard and engine facilities and other improvements designed to add to the traffic carrying capacity of the property.

Just now some of our ordered equipment is unobtainable for immediate delivery because our Allies must be served first—so we will win. The Union Pacific and The Union Pacific States must use available equipment to its greatest efficiency.

The 41,000 employees of the Union Pacific and the 11,000,000 people of the western wealth-producing states now have an international obligation to fulfill.

Were Lincoln to speak today in behalf of the Union Pacific, as he urged its building, he would insist on those high service standards for which we are striving.
