Hear Mr. Dotson Tuesday Evening

Mr. W. A. Dotson of the Portland Chamber of Commerce will speak at high school auditorium next Tuesday evening. His subject will be, "Port of Portland—Past, Present and Future." This subject is of such vital interest to the people of St. Johns that the auditorium should be filled to overflowing. Mr. Dotson is an earnest and convincing speaker, and is well versed in the subject which he will discuss. What the Port of Portland is destined to become is a most interesting proposition. Put other affairs aside for that evening and hear Dotson tell about it. This will be the fourth number of the free lecture course inaugurated by the Parent-Teachers' Association in connection with the St. Johns Chautauqua Committee.

Geo. Hall and son, Verne, and Mr. and Mrs. Currin, motored out to Oswego from St. Johns the other day. They yelled to the editor as he was moseying up the street. Gee, it was good for the sore eyes to see some of our old tillicums of the halcyon days when we lived in the city of saints.—Oswego Times.

The report from the various lieutenants on the food conservation campaign in St. Johns have been received by Captain A. A. Muck, and they show that 1127 have signed the pledge cards, while only 59 refused. The showing made is evidence that the campaign was a complete one. The possibility is that a number of those who refused to sign did not fully realize what they were doing.

W. H. Dearing, the genial South Jersey street confectioner, has been one of the most ardent fans and James John boosters in the football contests that the season has developed, and yet he did not have any knowledge of the game when the series opened.

The dance given in Bickner Hall last Friday evening by the Knights of Pythias was a highly enjoyable affair and the dancing capacity of the hall was fully utilized. The next dance of the series to be given by the Knights will take place in the skating rink on the evening of December 30th. The proceeds of these dances all go to Liberty Bonds.

An amusing occurrence took place Tuesday afternoon. After the high school closed for the day, the pupils marched in single file with hands on shoulders of the one just ahead through the business streets preceded by a bunch of husky pupils carrying upon their shoulders a huge rough box, which was purported to contain the remains of the Jefferson eleven.

Her husband had just come home and had his first meeting with the new nurse, who was remarkably pretty. "She is sensible and scientific, too," urged the fond mother, "and says she will allow no one to kiss baby while she is near." "No one will want to while she is near," replied the husband. And the nurse was discharged.

A distressing accident took place at the Baltimore stop on North Jersey street at about 5:15 Tuesday afternoon, when George W. Newell was crushed to death beneath the street car wheels. Mr. Newell was formerly a clerk for Wadham & Kerr Brothers, of Portland, and it is said started to work Tuesday morning at the local ship plant, and he was on his way to his home at 1832 Everett street when the accident occurred. In his haste to get on the street car, which had not yet come to a stop, Mr. Newell lost his footing and was cast beneath the wheels. He was taken into the real estate office of J. S. McKinnay, where he expired almost instantly. Patrolman Black sent the body to the morgue by orders of Dr. Earl Smith, Coroner. Mr. Newell is survived by his widow and a brother.

Card of Thanks—We desire to express our sincere thanks to neighbors and friends and members of the Christian church for the kindness, sympathy and floral offerings during the illness and death of Mrs. Martha F. Woodrum and assure them that their kindness will ever be gratefully remembered.—Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Parker.

Tex Williford, of Jefferson High School fame, made the remark in one of the business houses of St. Johns to the effect that he would never comb his hair, wash his face, change his underwear, or look his fellow man in the face again if Jefferson lost the game to St. Johns. "You know," he ended, "there are some things a fellow can't stand." Poor Tex!—Contributed.

Mrs. Martha Woodrum died at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. H. Parker, at 521 Hartman street, November 16th, aged 80 years, 5 months and 12 days. About fifty years ago she lost her eyesight and had not been able to see since. She was a Civil War Widow, her husband having been killed by bushwhackers, during the war, in Missouri. For the past ten years she has made her home with her sister, Mrs. Parker, and for the past two years has been totally helpless. She was born in Kentucky June 4, 1837. Deceased is survived by two sisters, Mrs. E. H. Parker, of St. Johns, and Mrs. J. V. McNamee of Dille, Oregon, and one brother, S. B. Gilpin, of Scoggins Valley, Oregon; also by three grandchildren, Harry and Morris of Portland, and Larry in U. S. Army, besides several nephews and nieces and a host of friends. The funeral services took place at the grave at the Gaston cemetery, Rev. J. R. Johnson preaching the sermon. The St. Johns Undertaking Co. had charge of the remains.
