FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

FRIDAY, Dec. 4.

The steady support extended to the market yesterday for the first time really in the course of the present week and which sufficed to check the declining movement in prices at the very outset of the day's trading made a strong overnight impression in speculative quarters, and to-day therefore there was a more or less general buying back of stocks previously sold in operations for the decline, the rise being facilitated moreover by a vigorous continuation of yesterday's especial strength in Great Northern preferred stock and by a pronounced exhibition of strength in various specialties on the security list. Toward the close of the day the upward movement lost force and prices suffered a fair reaction from the highest level touched, but the net advance was nevertheless sufficient to bring the average range of prices once more within close distance of the highest level of the year. Taking the market as a whole to-day it could not be said that the standard stocks were notably prominent in the dealings, although all these stocks shared fully in the rise. The leaders in the market were, aside from Great Northern preferred, the Wabash common and preferred issues, Chesapeake and Ohio, Colorado and Southern, Iowa Central, all the Erie stocks, and the Missouri Pacific and Texas Pacific shares. Indeed the tendency of speculation was very plainly to concern itself mostly with the low priced stocks, but satisfactory explanations for such large gains as were made in many of these stocks were nevertheless wanting. Mr. Gould has denied that a holding company for his properties is being considered. There are no known developments of a banking origin impending in the affairs of the Wabash Railroad Company, such as, for instance, were announced earlier in the week in the case of the St. Louis and San Francisco, and the only story to account for the sensational market developments in the Wabash stocks to-day was the repetition of a shopworn rumor that has attacked countless properties recently that Mr. Harriman was to interest himself in them. In the industrial list the features of strength were stocks usually little dealt in, such as American Linseed and National Enamelling and Stamping. The Consolidated Gas shares formed an exception to the general movement by declining.

There was a practical dearth of news during the day in the financial district. Call money rates did not touch yesterday's 3 per cent. price, but it seemed to be the case that such a slightly harder undertone in the money market as has been recently exhibited has been sufficient to temporarily stop negotiations for gold exports. At any rate the provisional engagement of $1,500,000 of gold for foreign remittance—which was in addition of course to the $1,500,000 actually taken on Tuesday—did not merge from a provisional into an actual form. In the commodity markets wheat was again strong on the receipt of more unfavorable crop news both from our own country and foreign lands, but it is reasonably clear that one great cause for the strength of wheat is the existence of a tremendous speculation for the rise in the staple. A feature of the stock market to-day was the purchase for the seeming account of London of a small amount of stock, estimated as being less than 20,000 shares. The only importance attaching to this occurrence was that it represented the only London buying that has taken place in the market for many days. The indications were that to-morrow's bank statement would be rather particularly unfavorable, although no heed was taken of the matter in view of the continued presence of abnormally large banking reserves. To-day's estimates were for a loss in cash by the banks of between $6,000,000 and $8,000,000, accompanied also by an increase in bank loans. It is realized, on the other hand, that especial banking necessities, such as the preparations for to-morrow's $30,000,000 Panama Canal loan, had to do with these results. The commercial agencies in their advance reports issued to-day concerning the state of business during the week laid especial stress upon the favorable effect upon business of the colder weather, especially in the latter portion of the period. It appeared to be the case, however, that business was not so uniformly active as it previously has been and the complaints were renewed of poor collections.

THE CURB MARKET.

The curb market to-day was again practically given over to trading in the mining issues, and in several of these an active speculation was carried on. Prices moved in an irregular manner, but the general undertone of the market was steady. The Cobalt shares were especially prominent. Cobalt Central advanced to 12 on active dealings and Nipissing, in which sales were also large, sold at 10¾. Standard Oil rose to 670, the highest price of the week. The bond market was quiet.

Transactions in detail in the market to-day were as follows:
